
adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

buffoello

phebeaux

me @@ non-natives esp. white people acting like the water protectors are already dead when listen up binch this fight has been going on for over five hundred years and you've only been in it in, what? five? 2? how old is your tumblr account?

Cuz buckle up, we're fighting, and this is the meme i meant to post before all the stuff about five hundred years of resistance anyways fuck trumasdfa #noDAPL

YEAH IF YOU COULD DONATE TO STANDING ROCK THAT'D BE GREAT
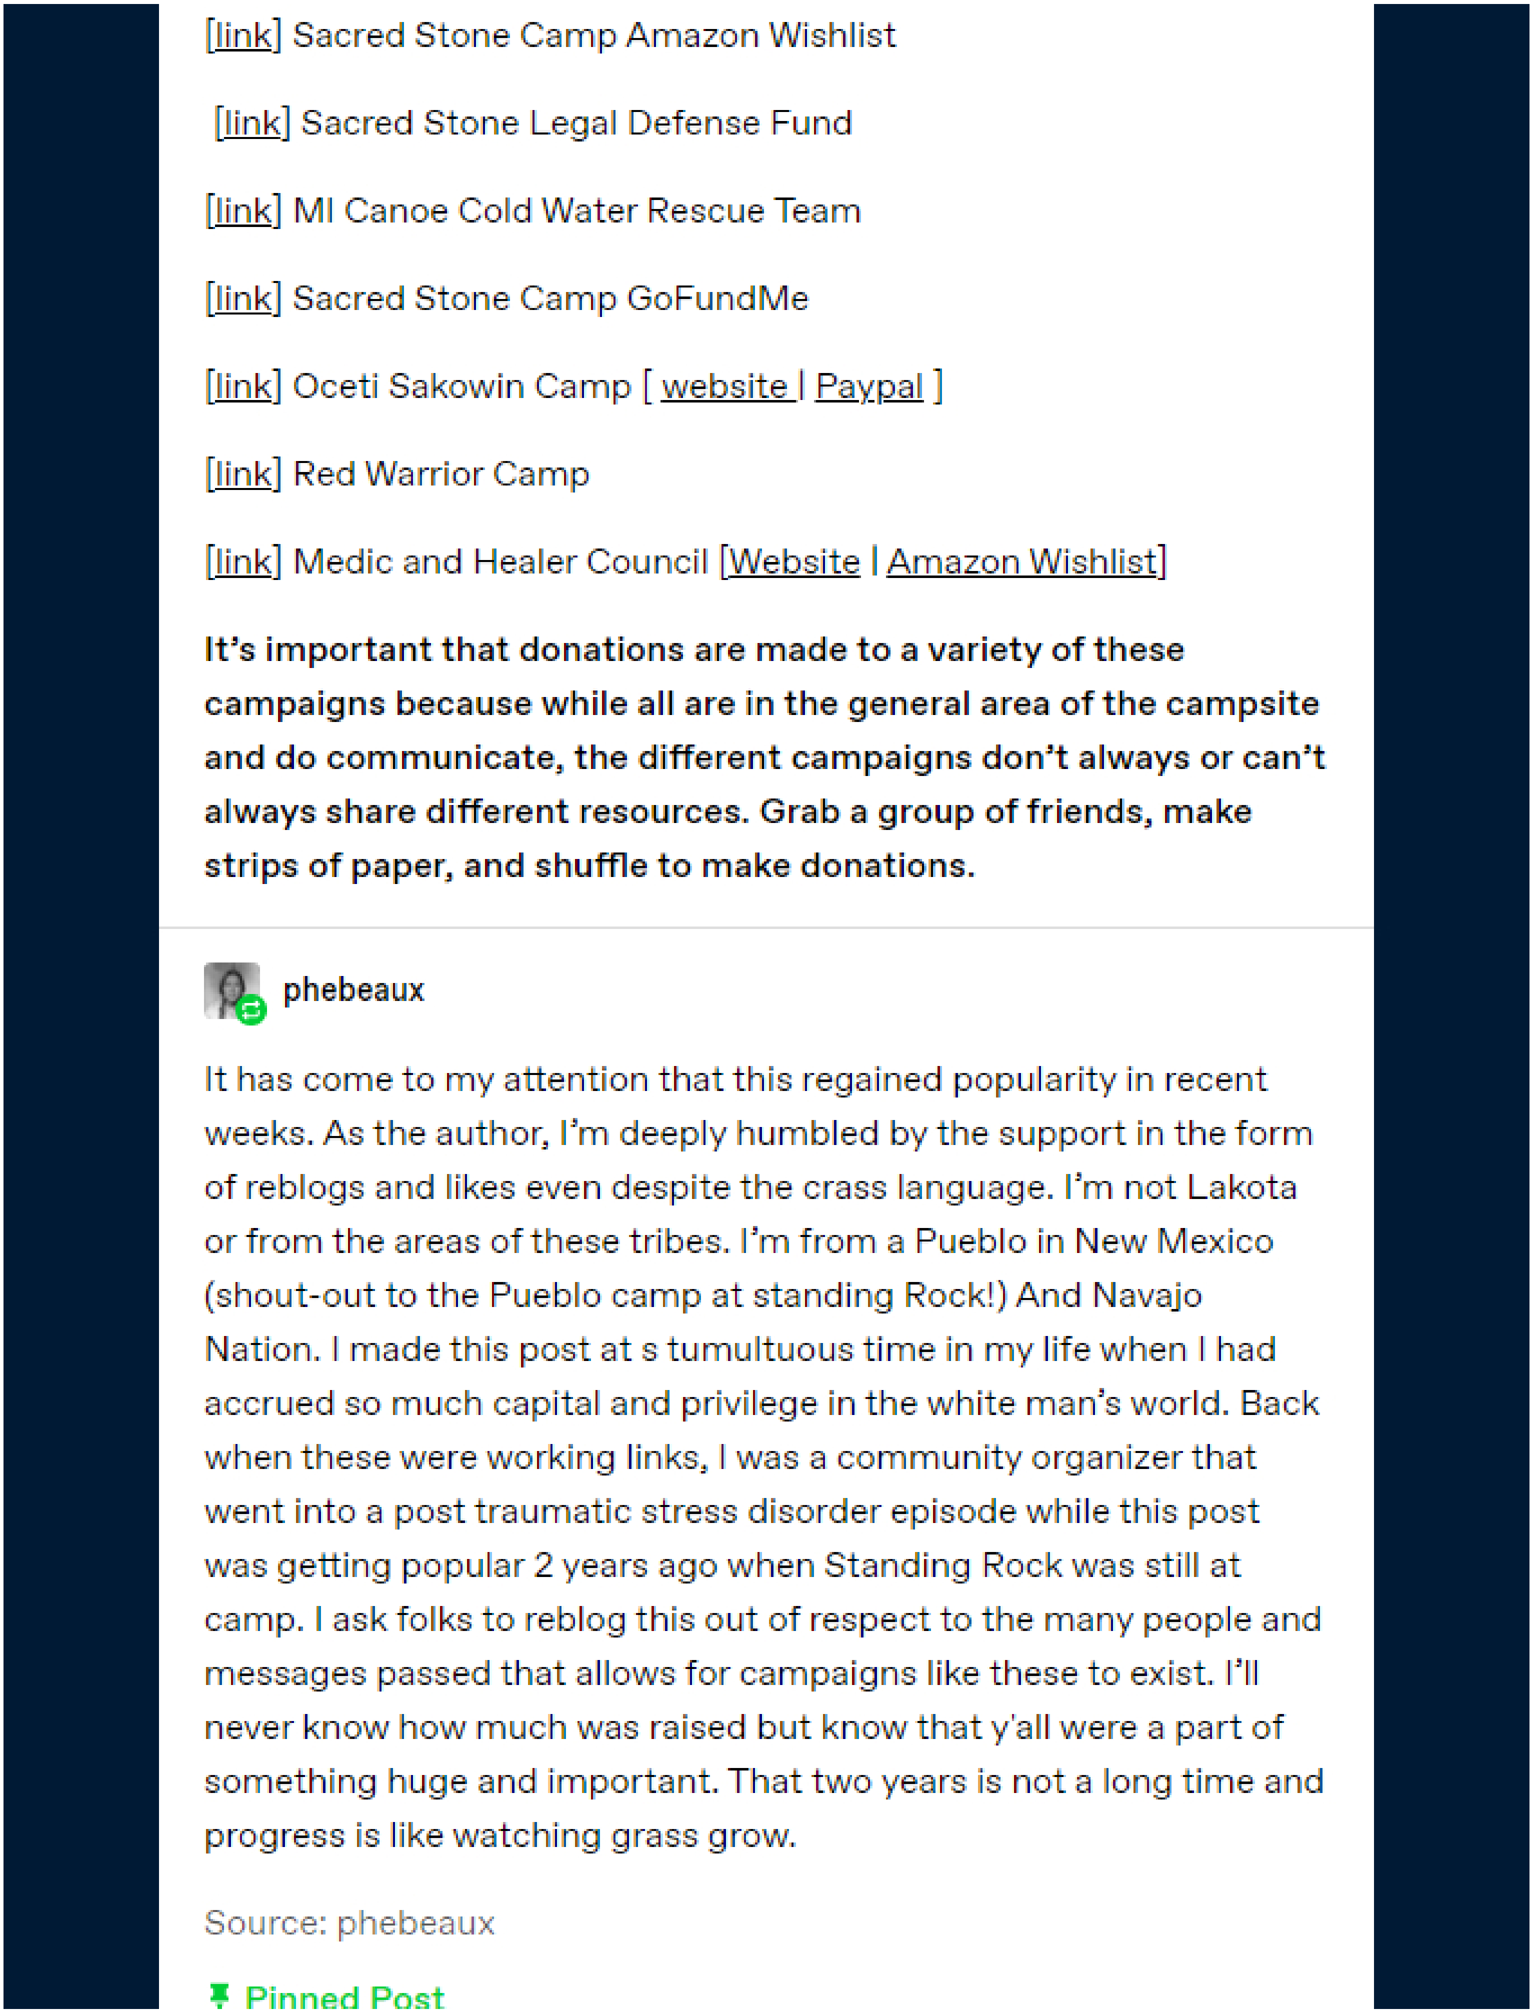
memegenerator.net

[link] Standing Rock Sioux DAPL Donation Fund



[link] Sacred Stone Camp Amazon Wishlist

[link] Sacred Stone Legal Defense Fund

[link] MI Canoe Cold Water Rescue Team

[link] Sacred Stone Camp GoFundMe

[link] Oceti Sakowin Camp [website | Paypal]

[link] Red Warrior Camp

[link] Medic and Healer Council [Website | Amazon Wishlist]

It's important that donations are made to a variety of these campaigns because while all are in the general area of the campsite and do communicate, the different campaigns don't always or can't always share different resources. Grab a group of friends, make strips of paper, and shuffle to make donations.

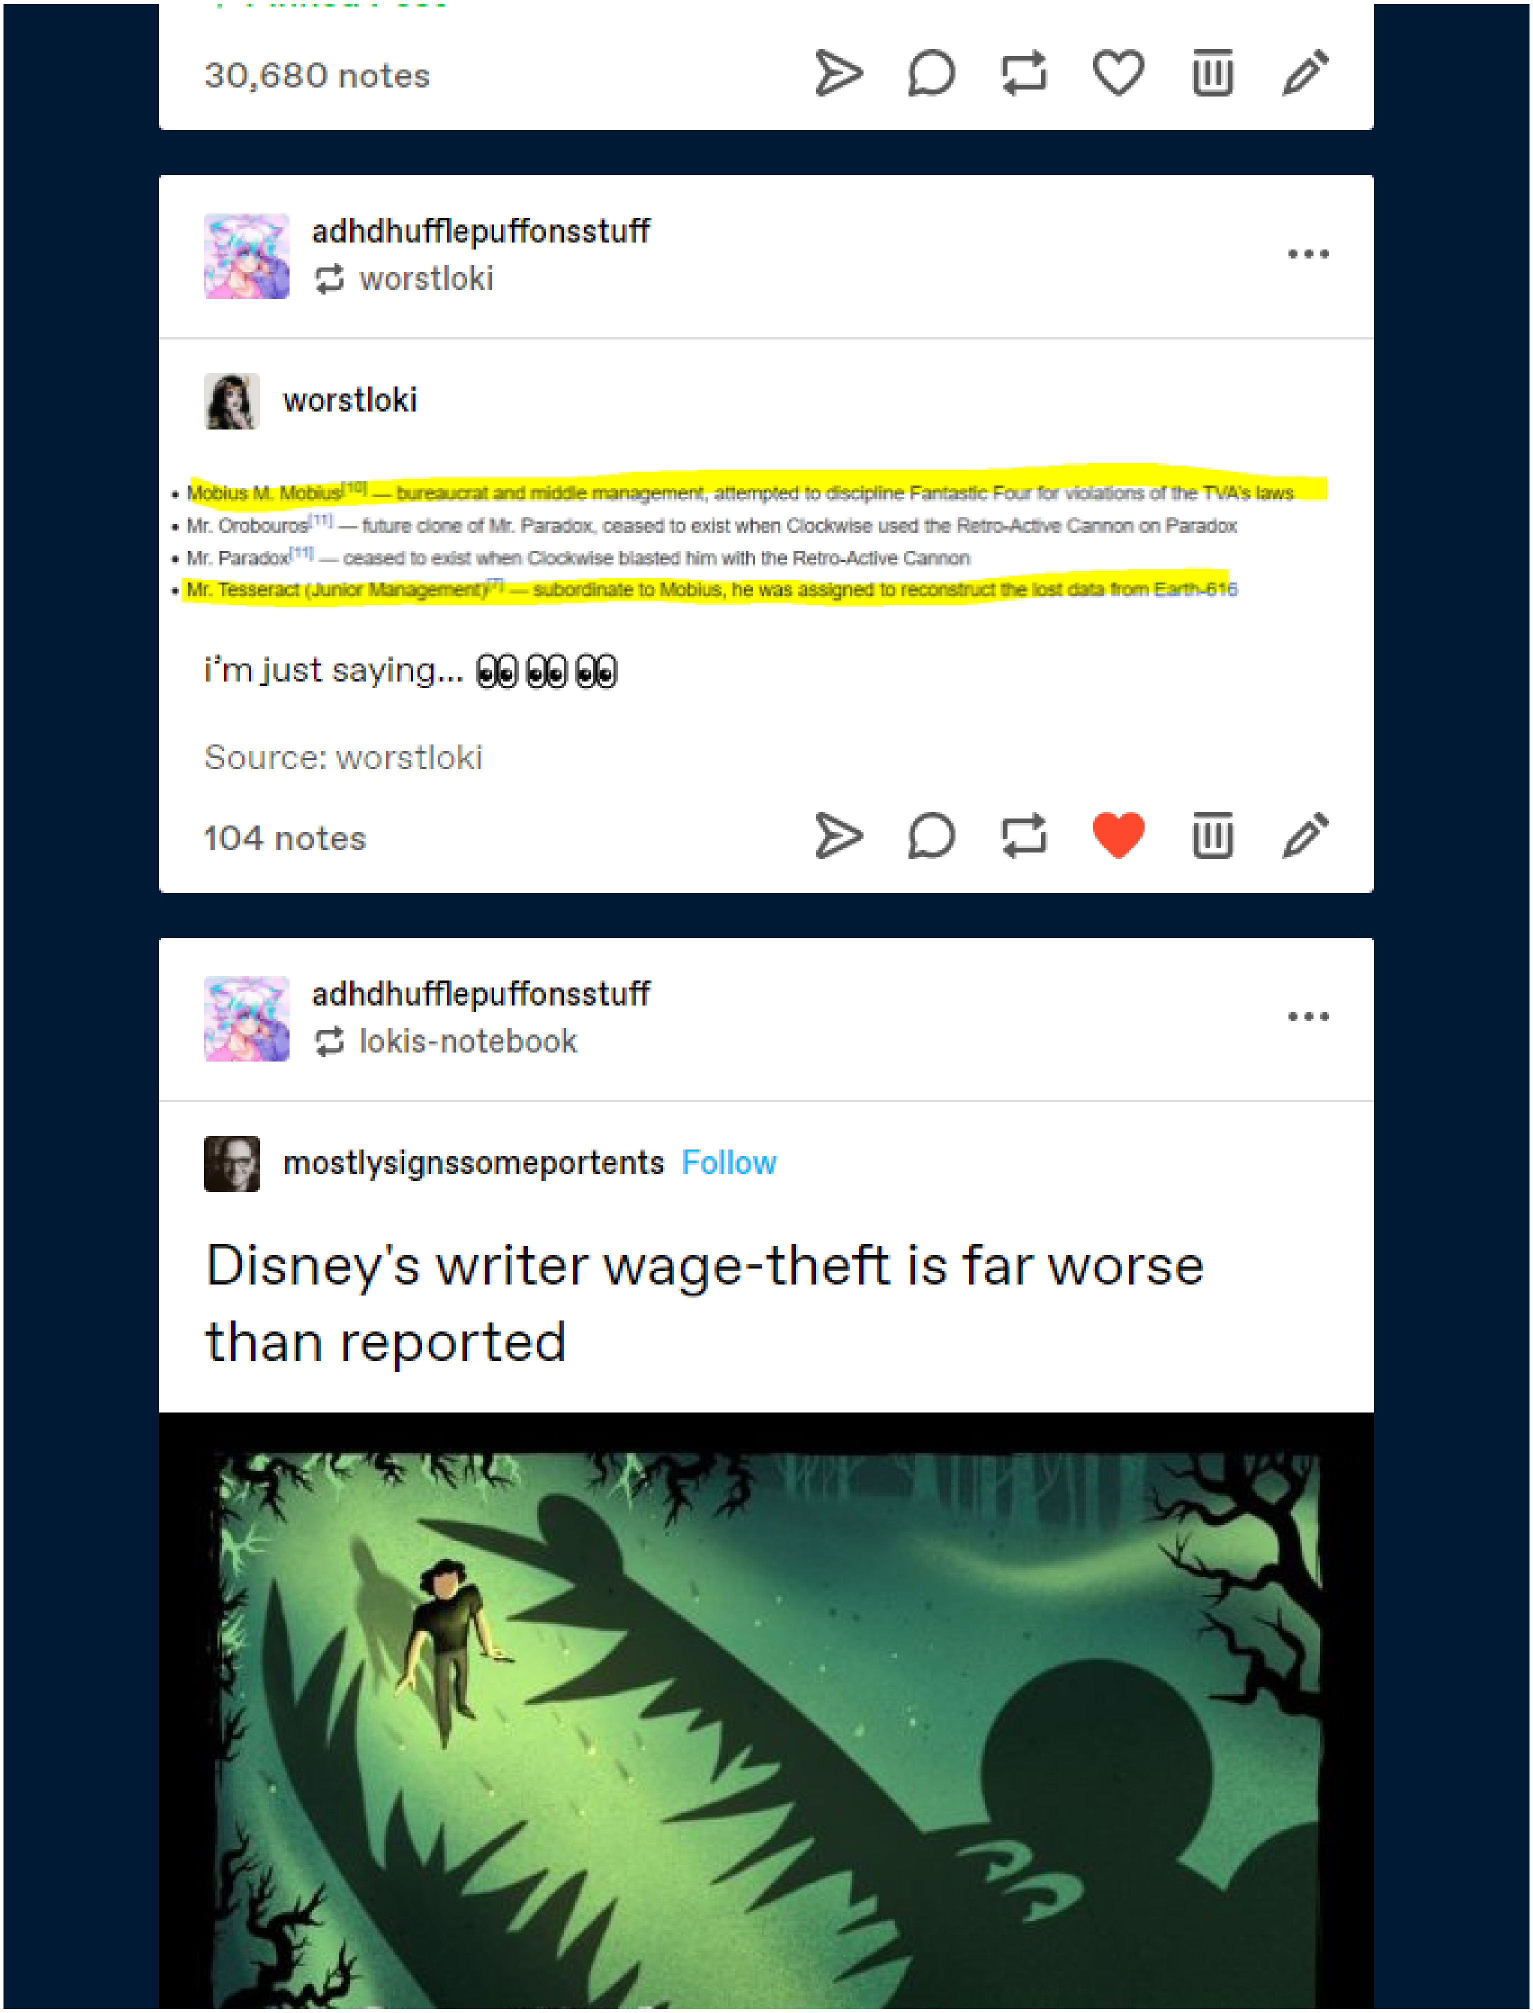
---

phebeaux

It has come to my attention that this regained popularity in recent weeks. As the author, I'm deeply humbled by the support in the form of reblogs and likes even despite the crass language. I'm not Lakota or from the areas of these tribes. I'm from a Pueblo in New Mexico (shout-out to the Pueblo camp at standing Rock!) And Navajo Nation. I made this post at s tumultuous time in my life when I had accrued so much capital and privilege in the white man's world. Back when these were working links, I was a community organizer that went into a post traumatic stress disorder episode while this post was getting popular 2 years ago when Standing Rock was still at camp. I ask folks to reblog this out of respect to the many people and messages passed that allows for campaigns like these to exist. I'll never know how much was raised but know that y'all were a part of something huge and important. That two years is not a long time and progress is like watching grass grow.

Source: phebeaux

Pinned Post



30,680 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

worstloki

worstloki

- Mobius M. Mobius[10] — bureaucrat and middle management, attempted to discipline Fantastic Four for violations of the TVA's laws
- Mr. Orobouros[11] — future clone of Mr. Paradox, ceased to exist when Clockwise used the Retro-Active Cannon on Paradox
- Mr. Paradox[11] — ceased to exist when Clockwise blasted him with the Retro-Active Cannon
- Mr. Tesseract (Junior Management)[7] — subordinate to Mobius, he was assigned to reconstruct the lost data from Earth-616

i'm just saying... 👀👀👀

Source: worstloki

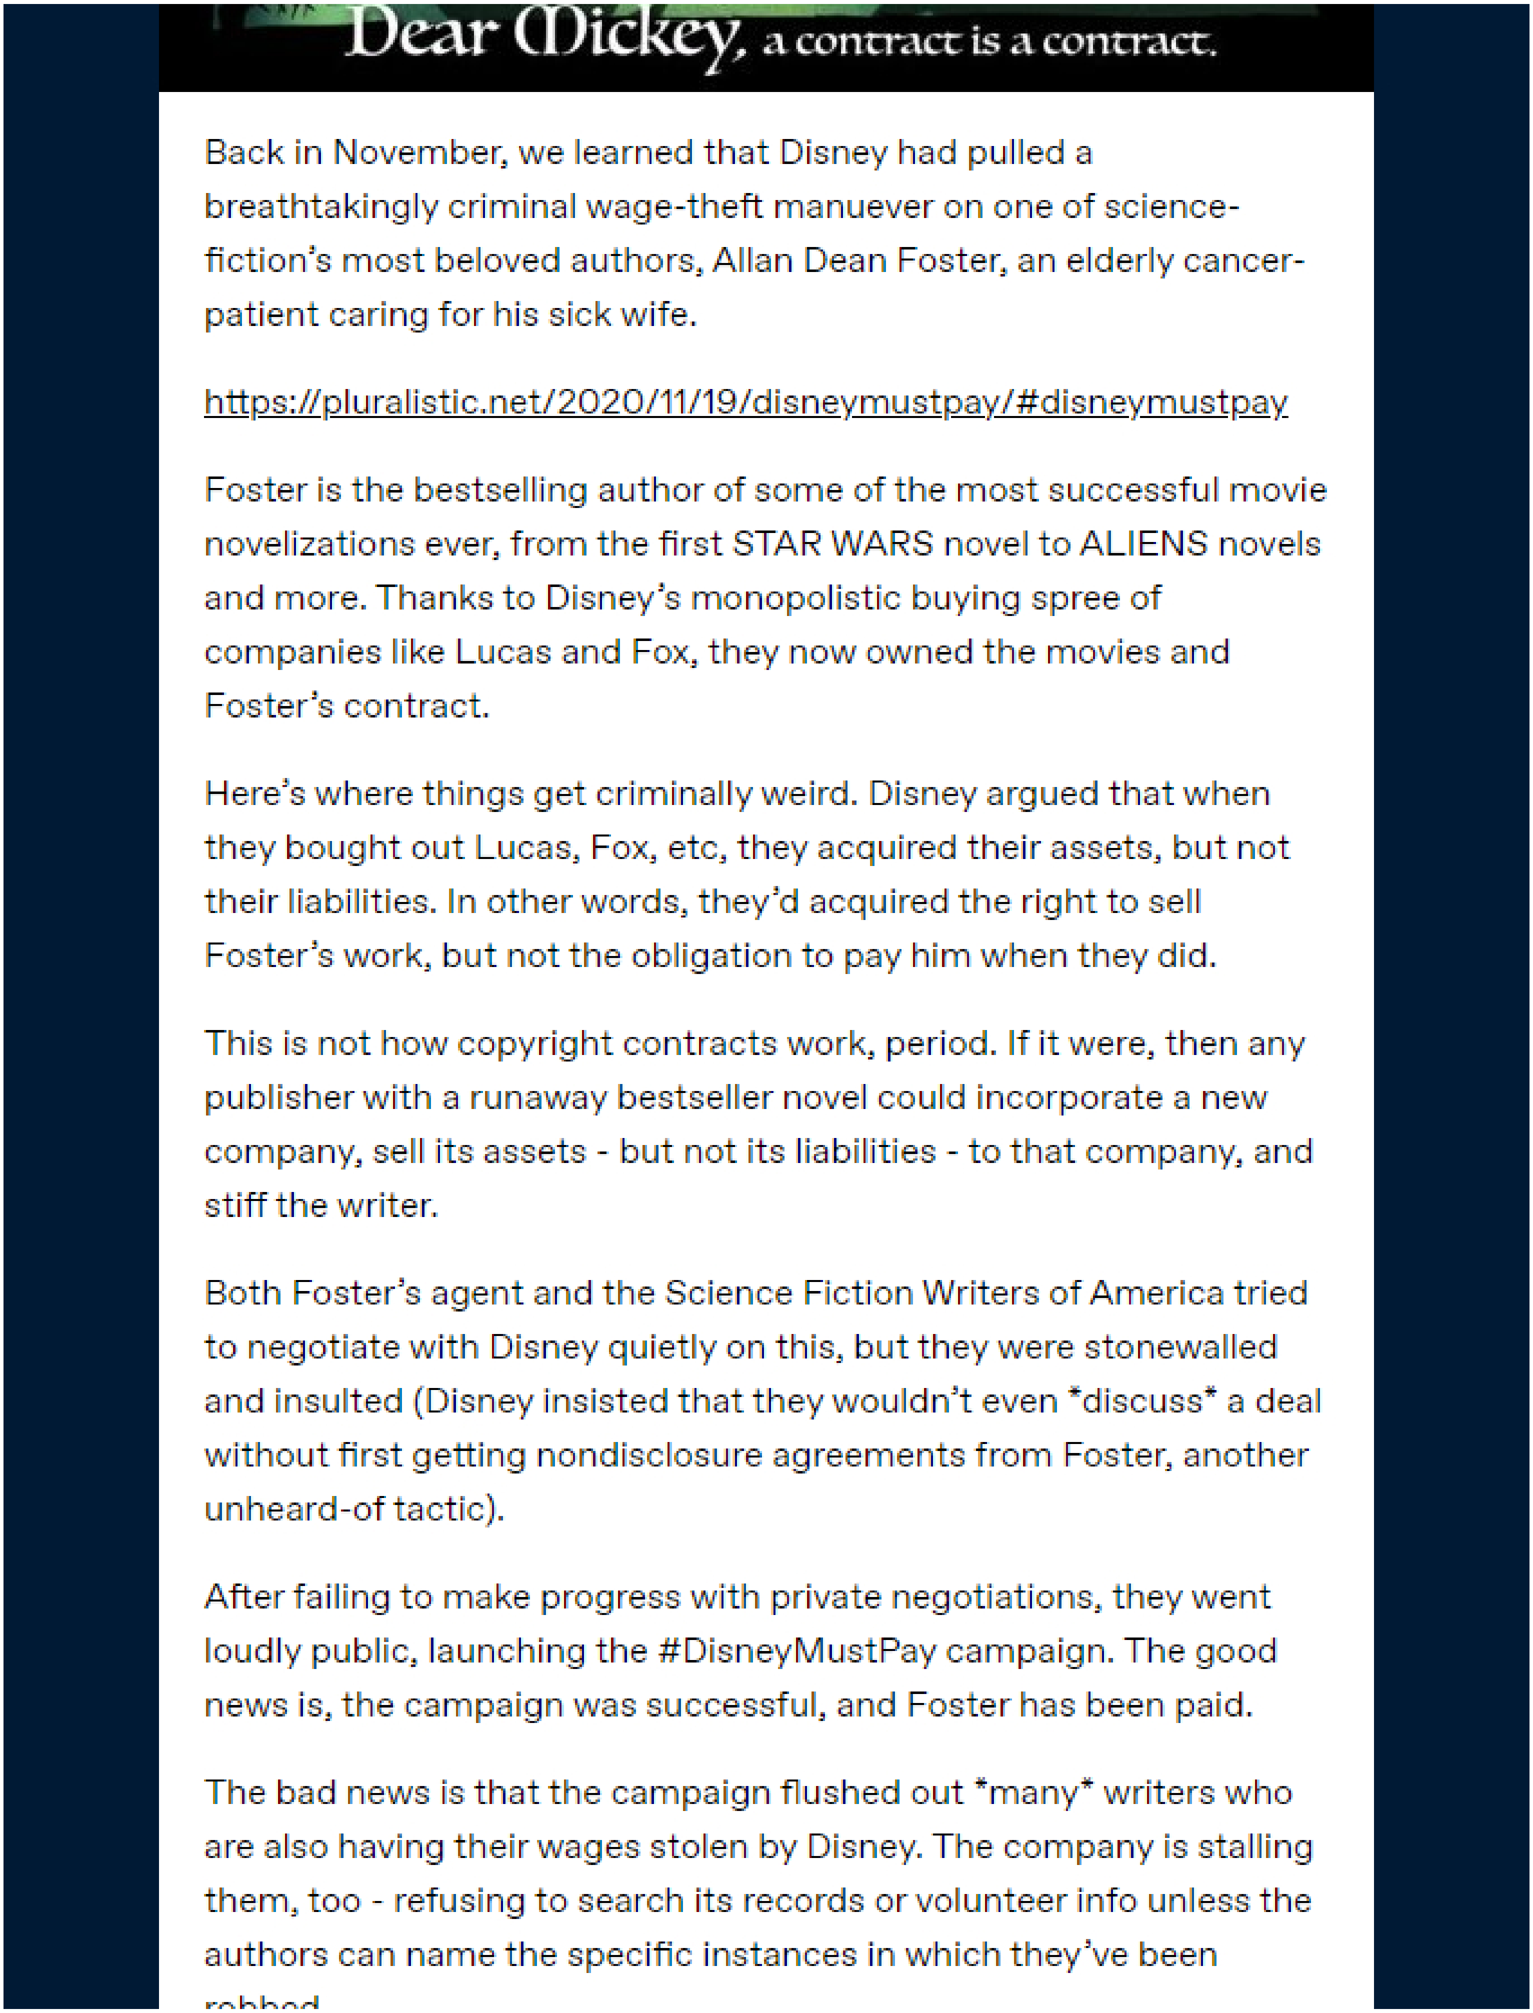
104 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

lokis-notebook

mostlysignssomeportents Follow

Disney's writer wage-theft is far worse than reported



Dear Mickey, a contract is a contract.

Back in November, we learned that Disney had pulled a breathtakingly criminal wage-theft manuever on one of science-fiction's most beloved authors, Allan Dean Foster, an elderly cancer-patient caring for his sick wife.

https://pluralistic.net/2020/11/19/disneymustpay/#disneymustpay

Foster is the bestselling author of some of the most successful movie novelizations ever, from the first STAR WARS novel to ALIENS novels and more. Thanks to Disney's monopolistic buying spree of companies like Lucas and Fox, they now owned the movies and Foster's contract.

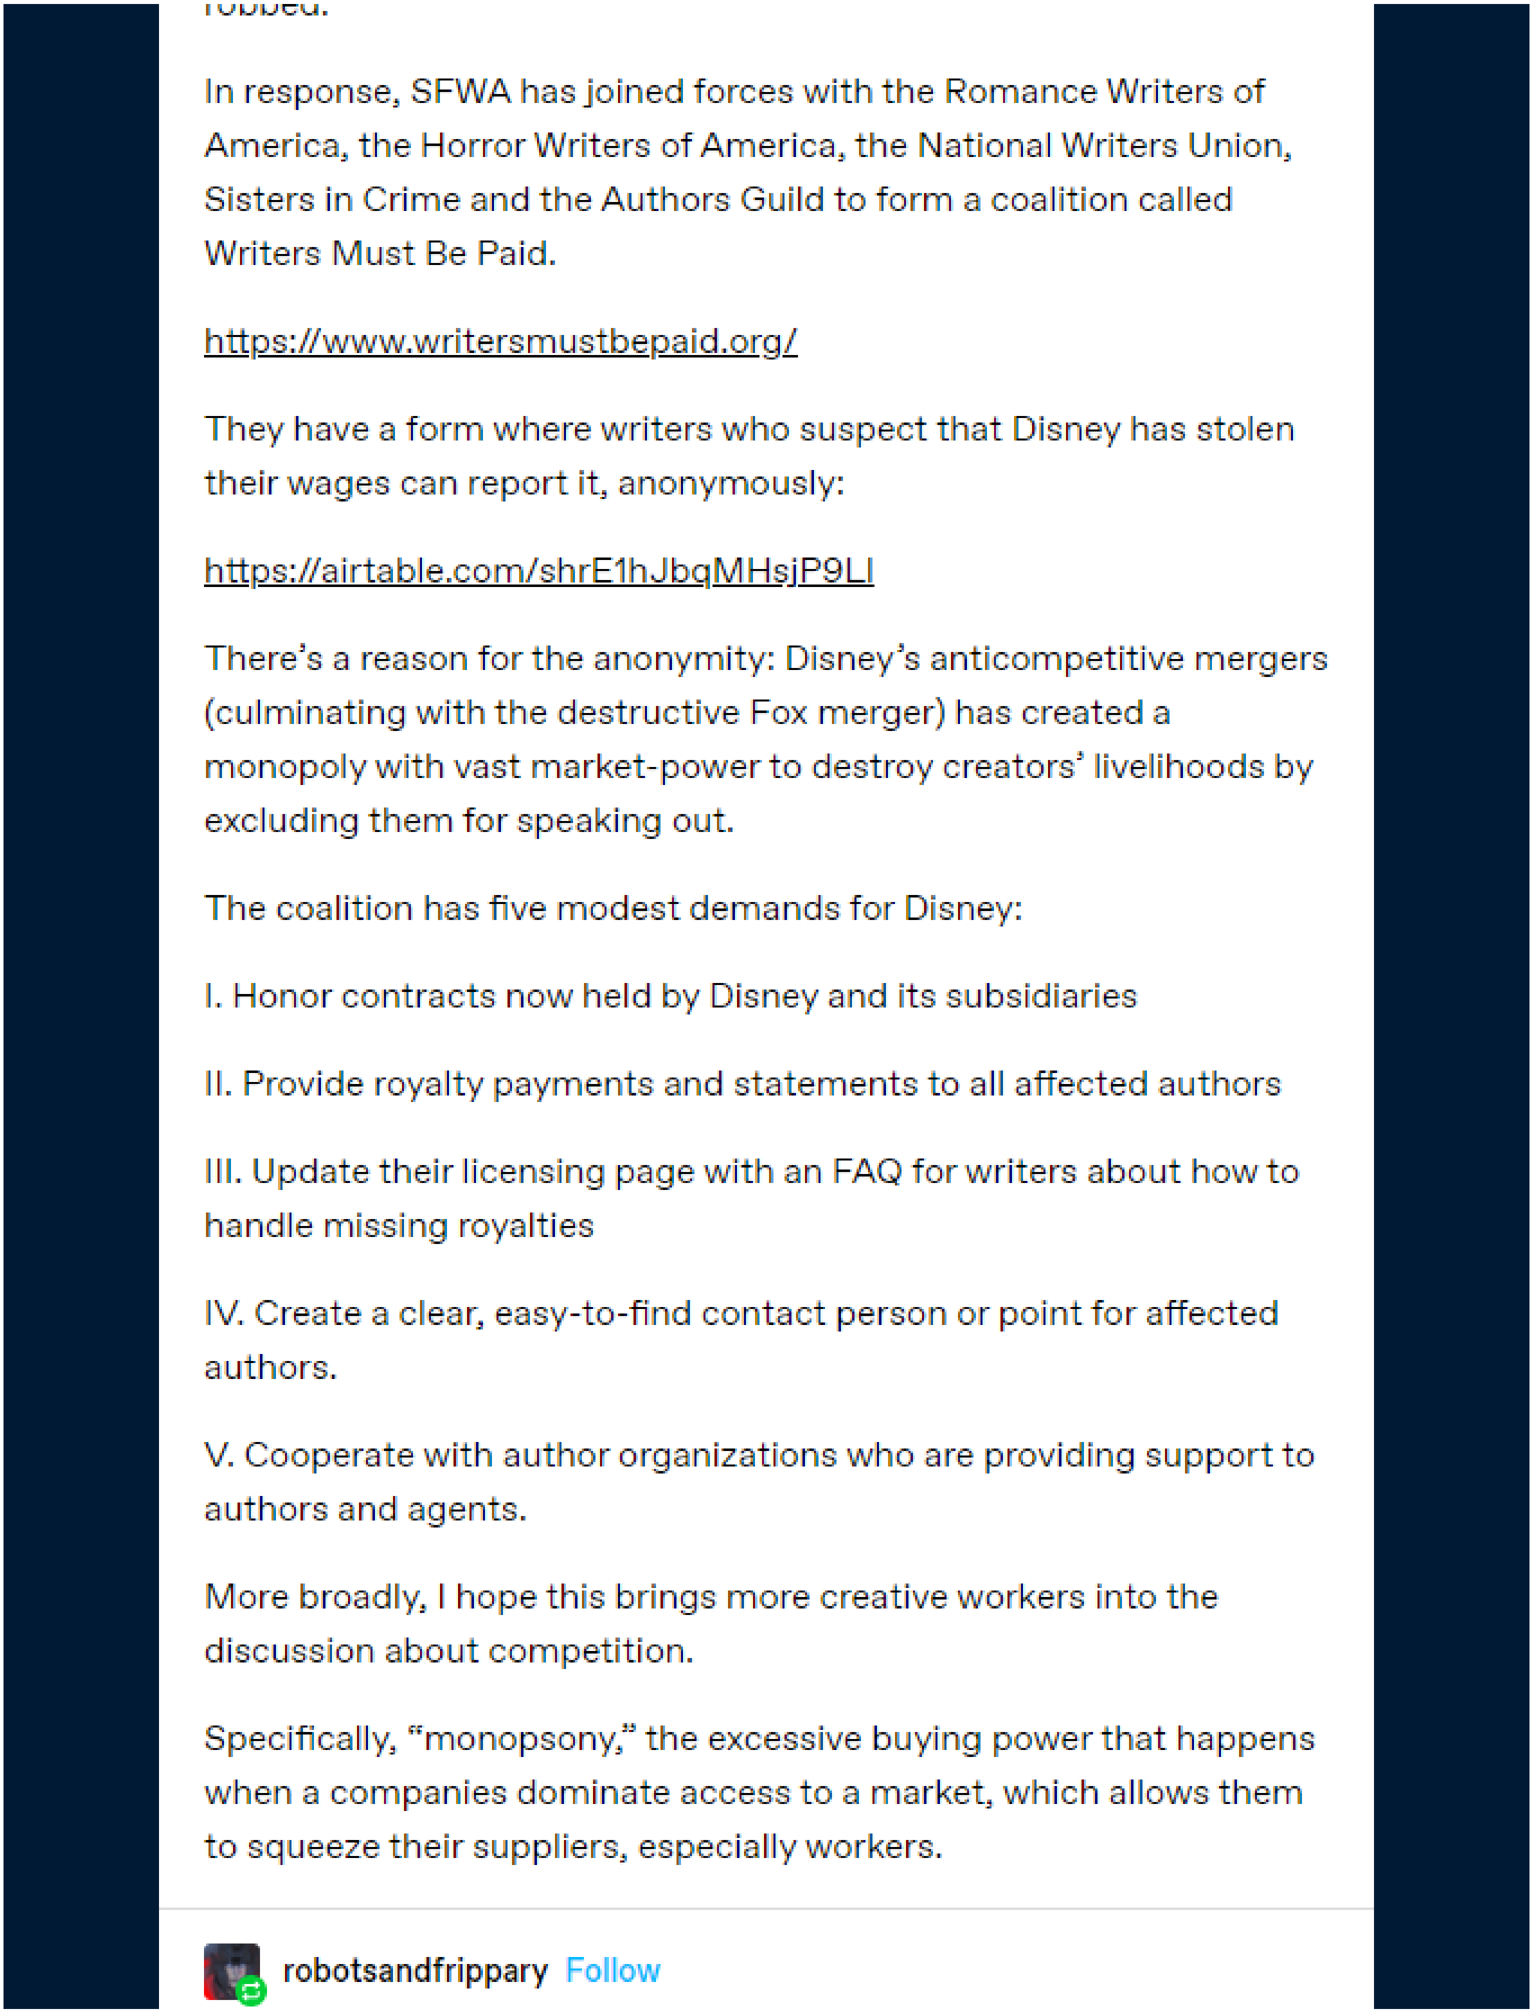
Here's where things get criminally weird. Disney argued that when they bought out Lucas, Fox, etc, they acquired their assets, but not their liabilities. In other words, they'd acquired the right to sell Foster's work, but not the obligation to pay him when they did.

This is not how copyright contracts work, period. If it were, then any publisher with a runaway bestseller novel could incorporate a new company, sell its assets - but not its liabilities - to that company, and stiff the writer.

Both Foster's agent and the Science Fiction Writers of America tried to negotiate with Disney quietly on this, but they were stonewalled and insulted (Disney insisted that they wouldn't even discuss a deal without first getting nondisclosure agreements from Foster, another unheard-of tactic).

After failing to make progress with private negotiations, they went loudly public, launching the #DisneyMustPay campaign. The good news is, the campaign was successful, and Foster has been paid.

The bad news is that the campaign flushed out many writers who are also having their wages stolen by Disney. The company is stalling them, too - refusing to search its records or volunteer info unless the authors can name the specific instances in which they've been robbed.



robbed.

In response, SFWA has joined forces with the Romance Writers of America, the Horror Writers of America, the National Writers Union, Sisters in Crime and the Authors Guild to form a coalition called Writers Must Be Paid.

https://www.writersmustbepaid.org/

They have a form where writers who suspect that Disney has stolen their wages can report it, anonymously:

https://airtable.com/shrE1hJbqMHsjP9LI

There's a reason for the anonymity: Disney's anticompetitive mergers (culminating with the destructive Fox merger) has created a monopoly with vast market-power to destroy creators' livelihoods by excluding them for speaking out.

The coalition has five modest demands for Disney:

I. Honor contracts now held by Disney and its subsidiaries

II. Provide royalty payments and statements to all affected authors

III. Update their licensing page with an FAQ for writers about how to handle missing royalties

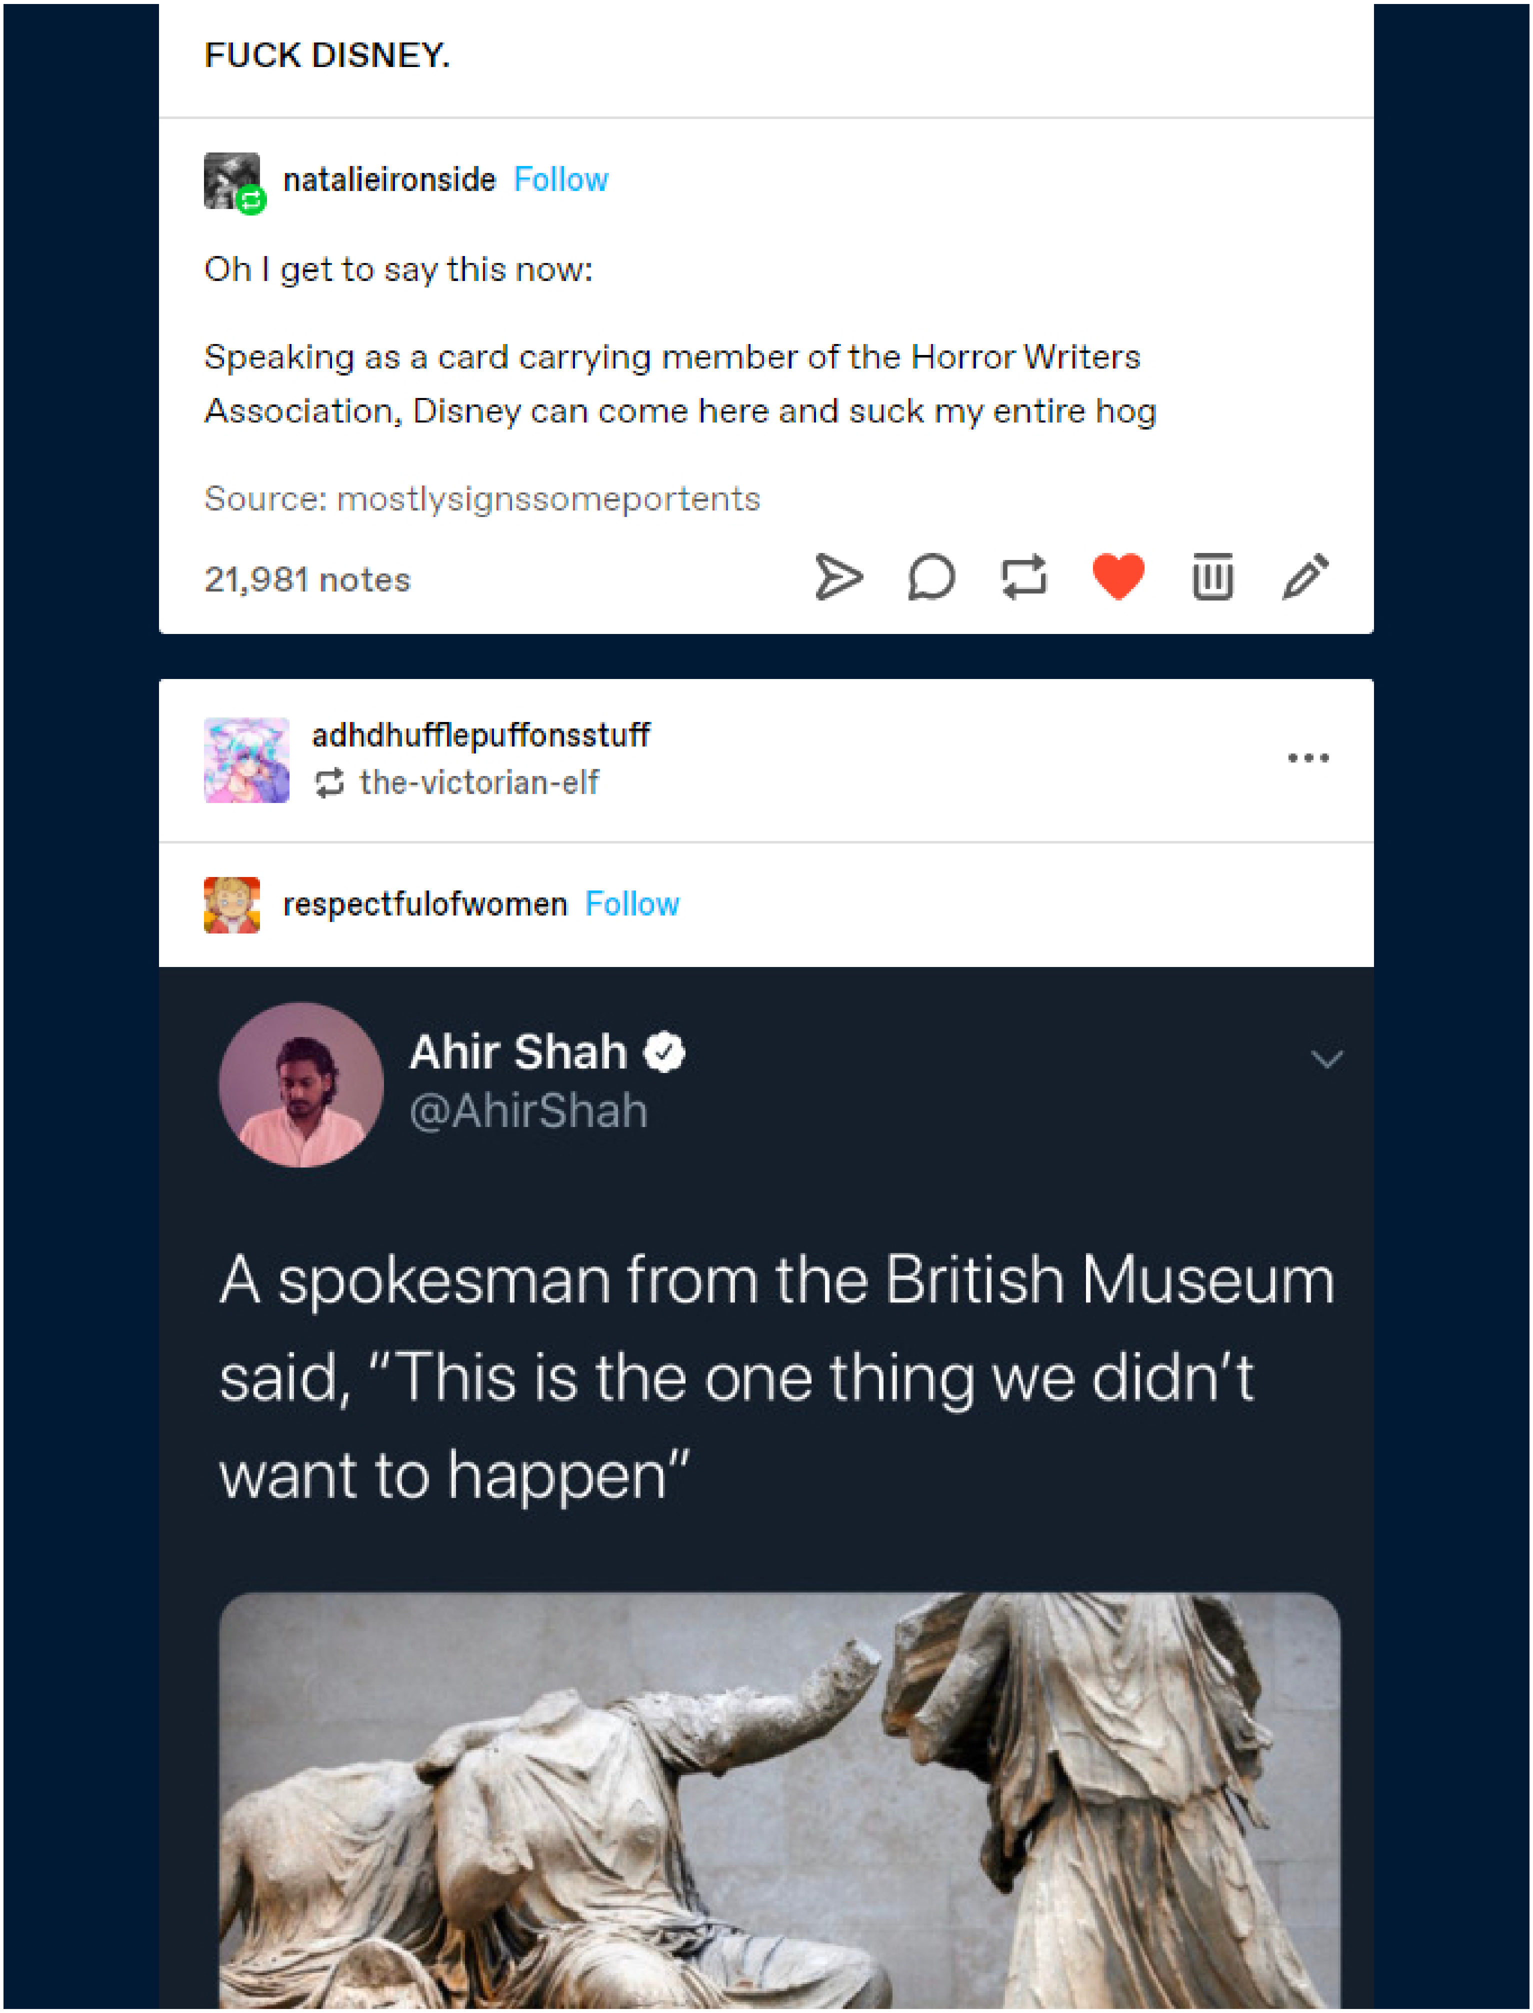
IV. Create a clear, easy-to-find contact person or point for affected authors.

V. Cooperate with author organizations who are providing support to authors and agents.

More broadly, I hope this brings more creative workers into the discussion about competition.

Specifically, "monopsony," the excessive buying power that happens when a companies dominate access to a market, which allows them to squeeze their suppliers, especially workers.

robotsandfrippary



FUCK DISNEY.

natalieironside

Oh I get to say this now:

Speaking as a card carrying member of the Horror Writers Association, Disney can come here and suck my entire hog

Source: mostlysignssomeportents

21,981 notes

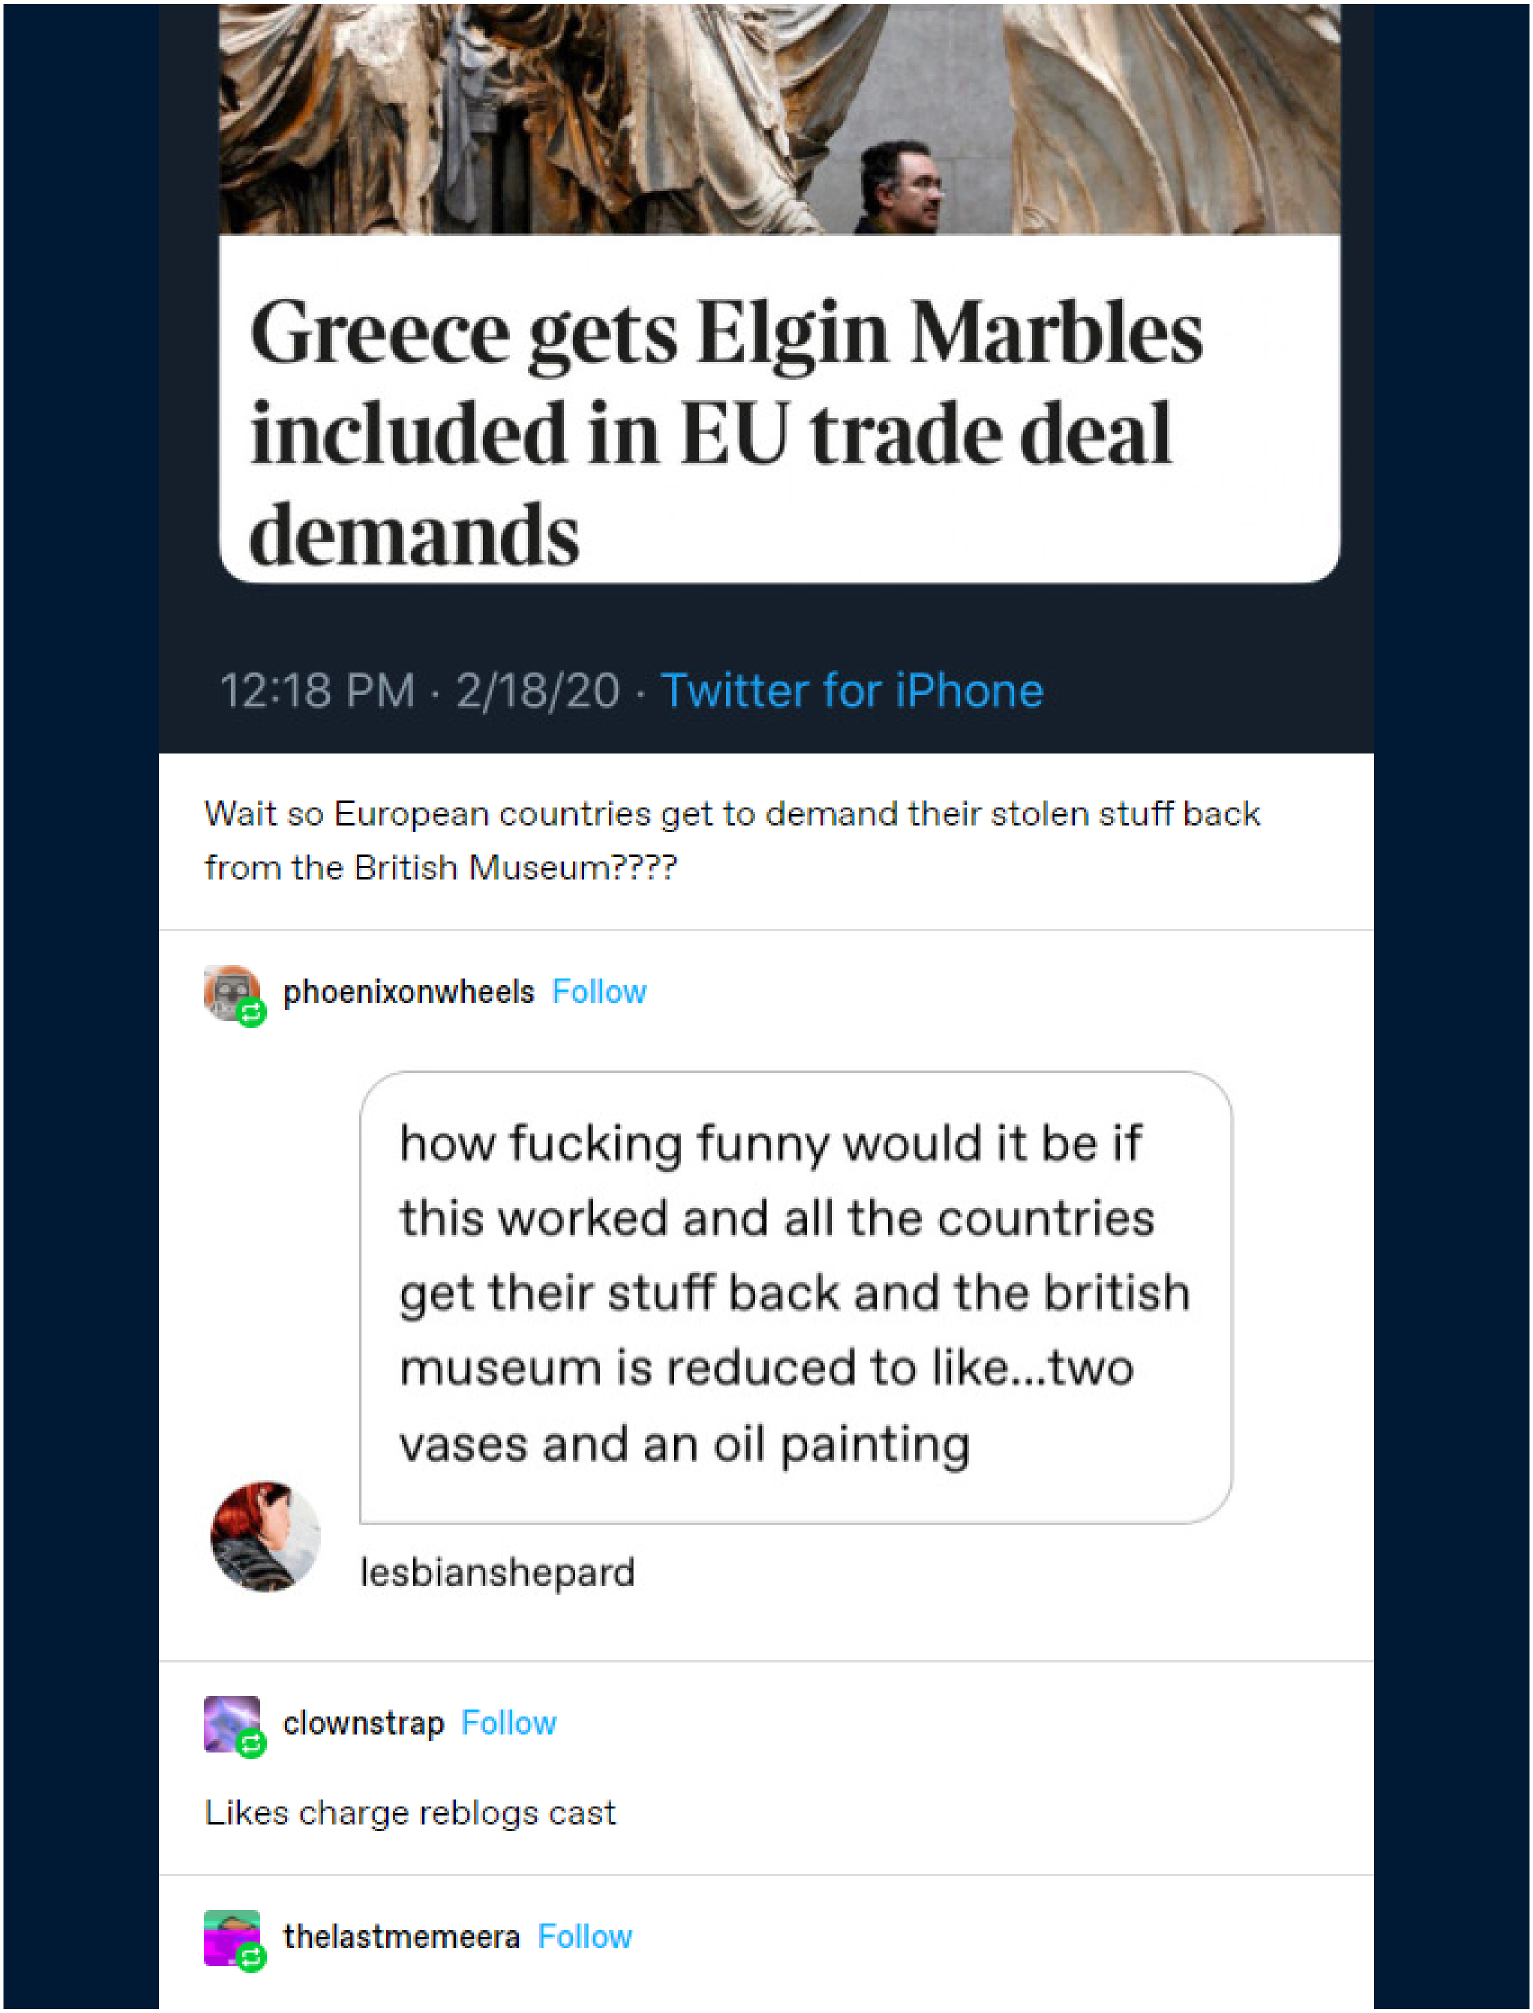
adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

the-victorian-elf

respectfulofwomen

Ahir Shah
@AhirShah

A spokesman from the British Museum said, "This is the one thing we didn't want to happen"



Greece gets Elgin Marbles included in EU trade deal demands

12:18 PM · 2/18/20 · Twitter for iPhone

Wait so European countries get to demand their stolen stuff back from the British Museum????

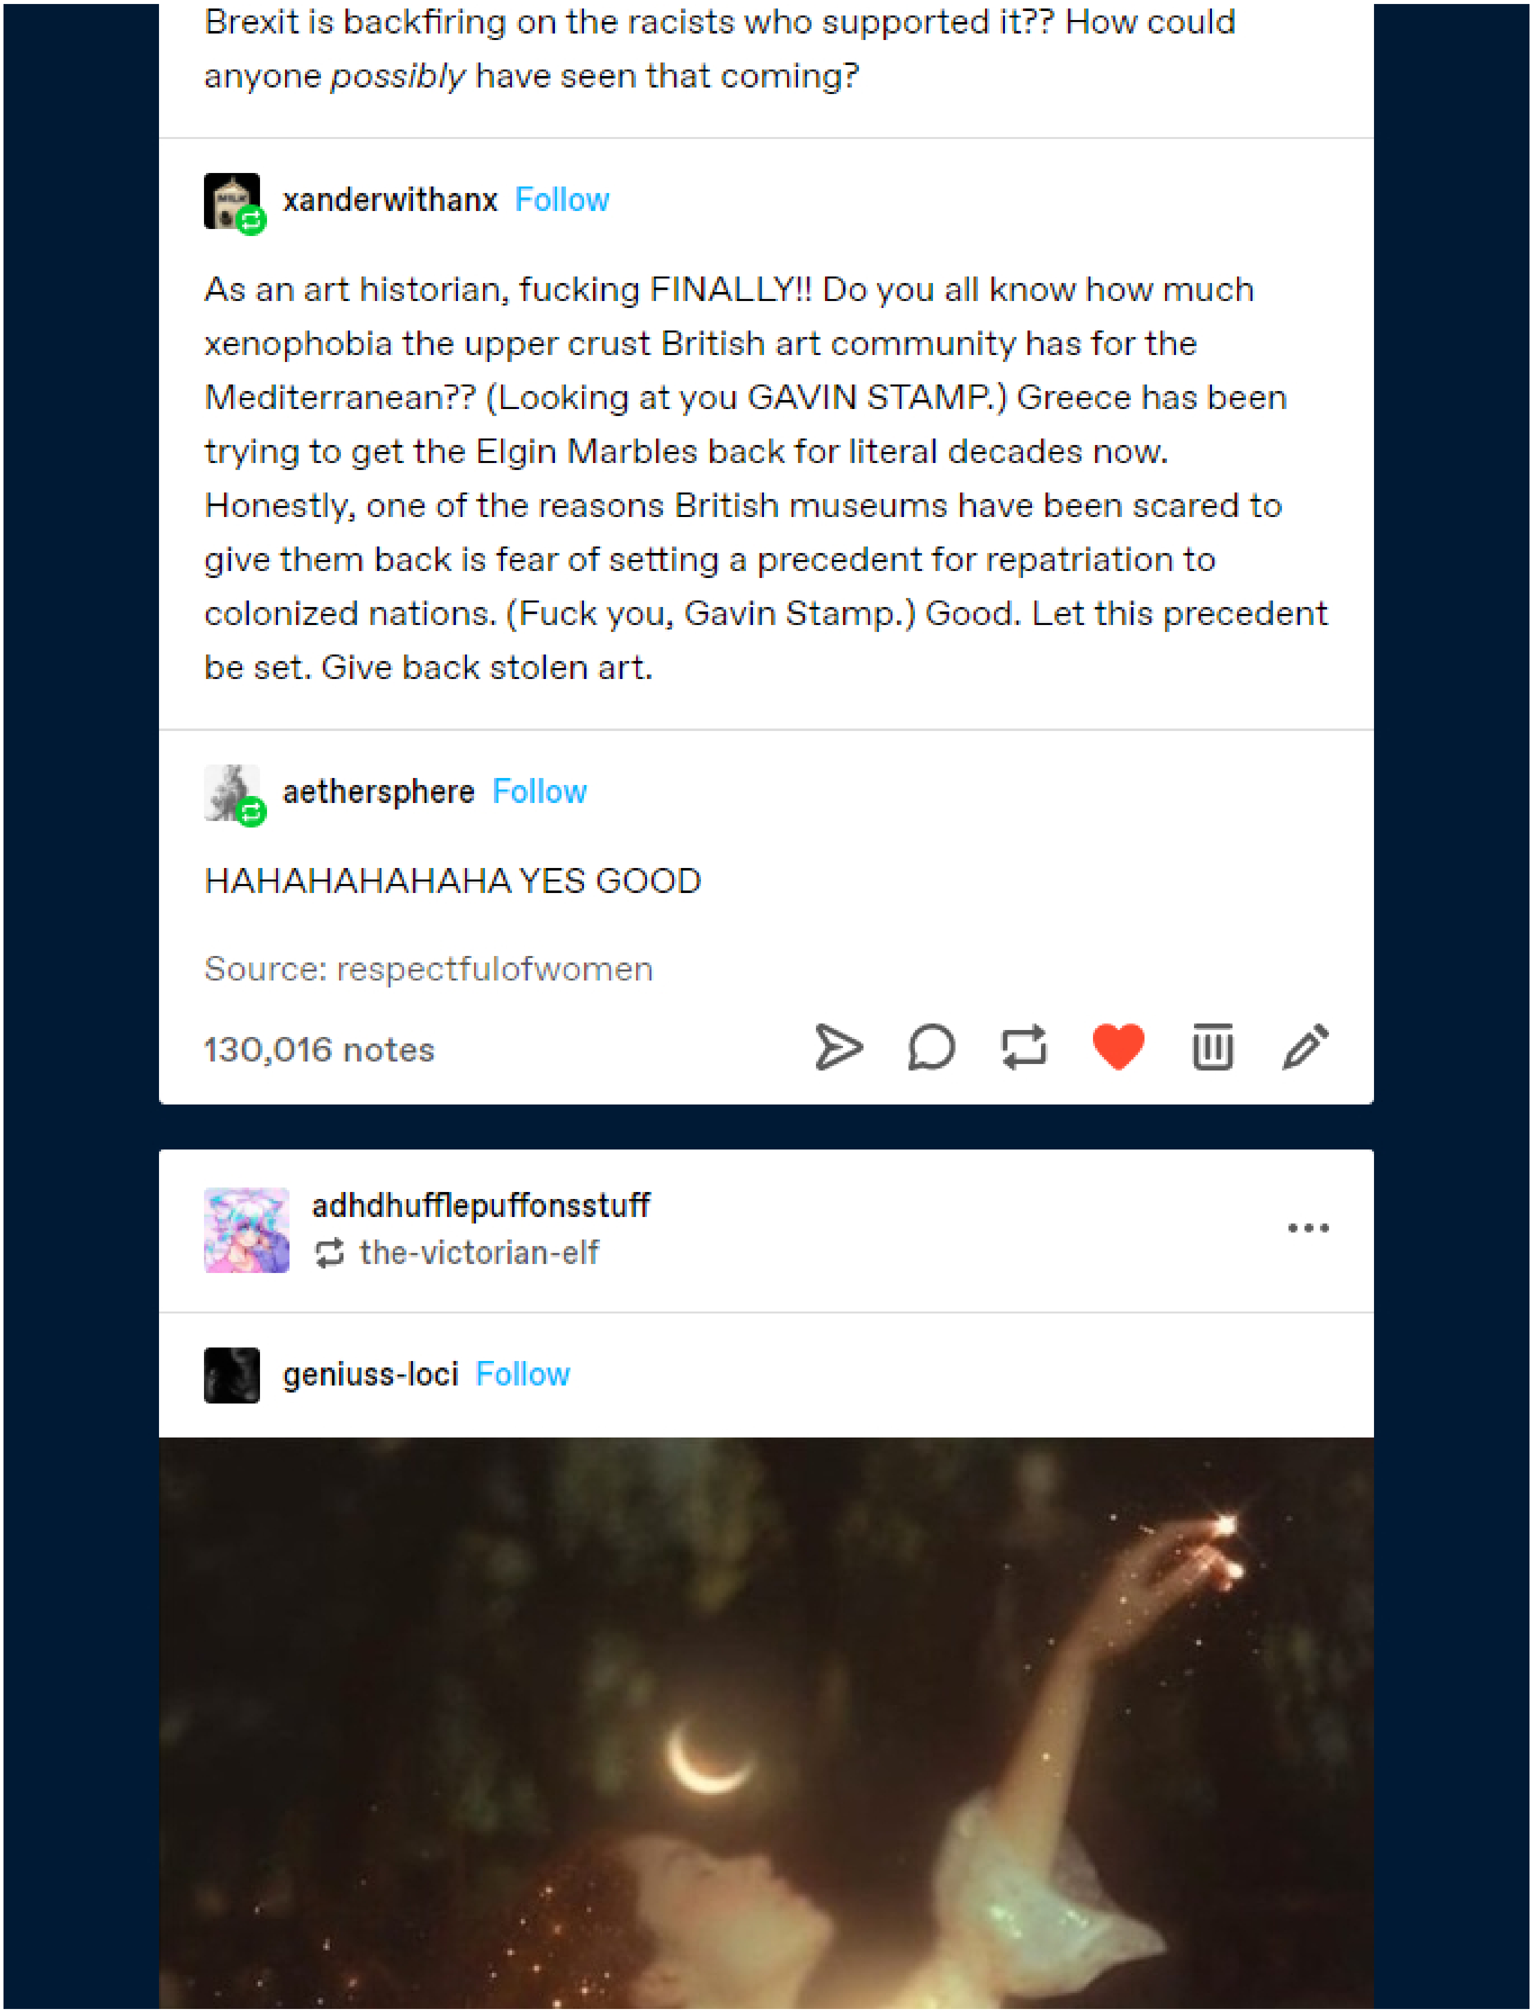
phoenixonwheels

> how fucking funny would it be if this worked and all the countries get their stuff back and the british museum is reduced to like...two vases and an oil painting
>
> lesbianshepard

clownstrap

Likes charge reblogs cast

thelastmemeera



Brexit is backfiring on the racists who supported it?? How could anyone possibly have seen that coming?

xanderwithanx

As an art historian, fucking FINALLY!! Do you all know how much xenophobia the upper crust British art community has for the Mediterranean?? (Looking at you GAVIN STAMP.) Greece has been trying to get the Elgin Marbles back for literal decades now. Honestly, one of the reasons British museums have been scared to give them back is fear of setting a precedent for repatriation to colonized nations. (Fuck you, Gavin Stamp.) Good. Let this precedent be set. Give back stolen art.

aethersphere

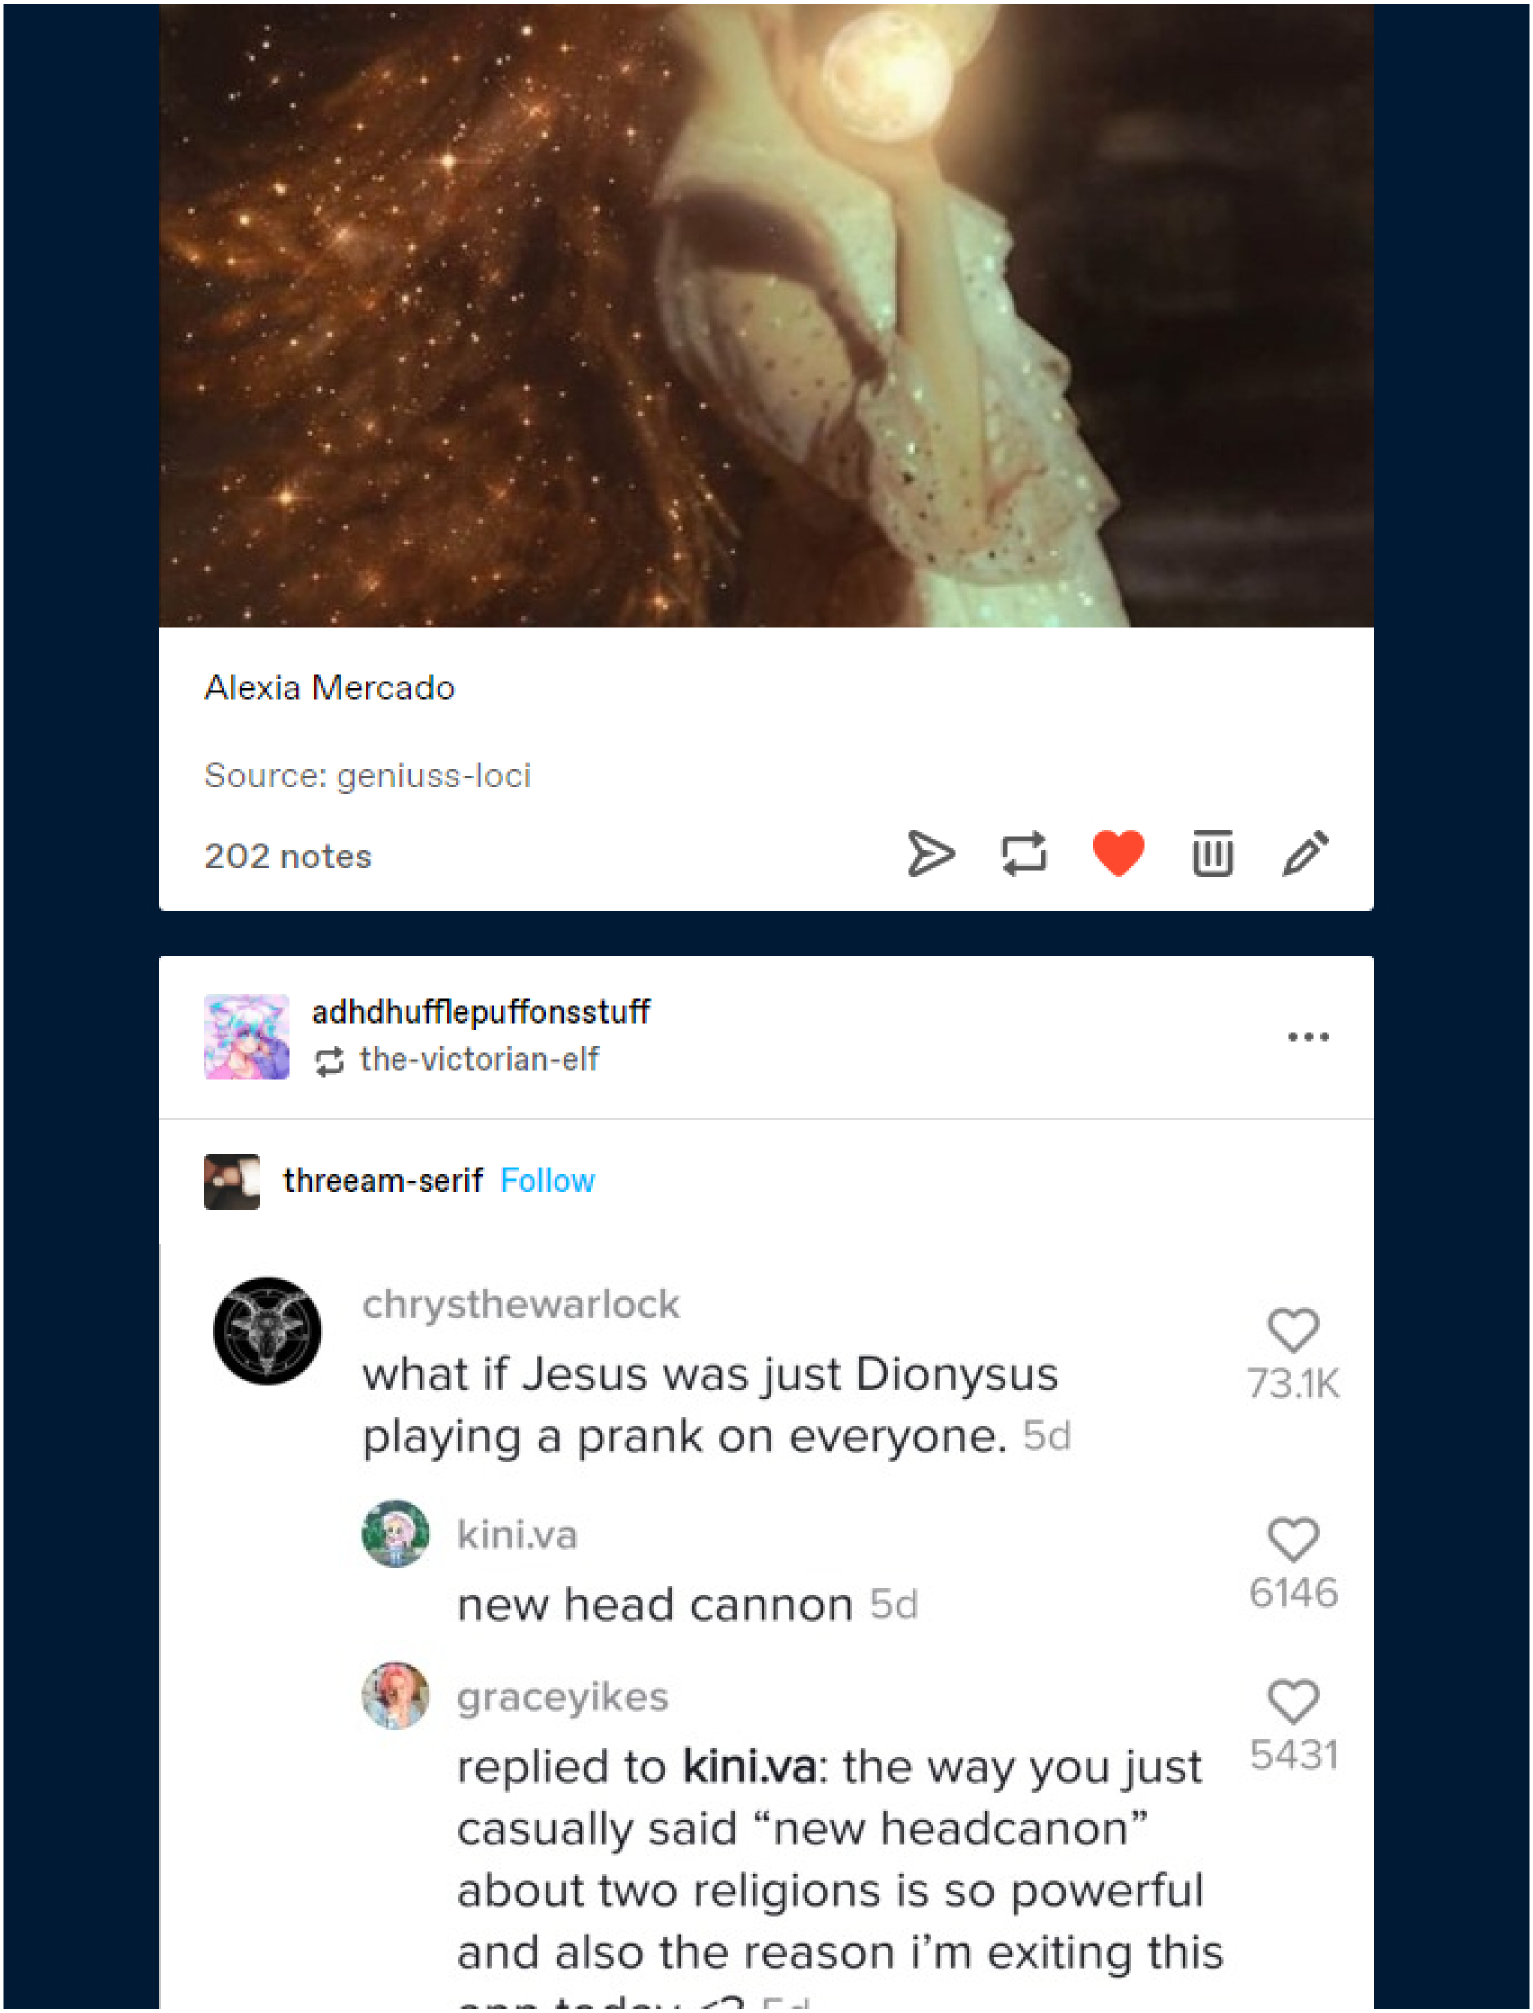
HAHAHAHAHAHA YES GOOD

Source: respectfulofwomen

130,016 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
the-victorian-elf

geniuss-loci



Alexia Mercado

Source: geniuss-loci

202 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

the-victorian-elf

threeam-serif

chrysthewarlock

what if Jesus was just Dionysus playing a prank on everyone. 5d

73.1K

kini.va

new head cannon 5d

6146 graceyikes

replied to kini.va: the way you just casually said “new headcanon” about two religions is so powerful and also the reason i’m exiting this app today <3 5d

5431 app today <3 5d

Source: threeam-serif

164 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

compassionatereminders

ariaflamor Follow

The only way out is Through.

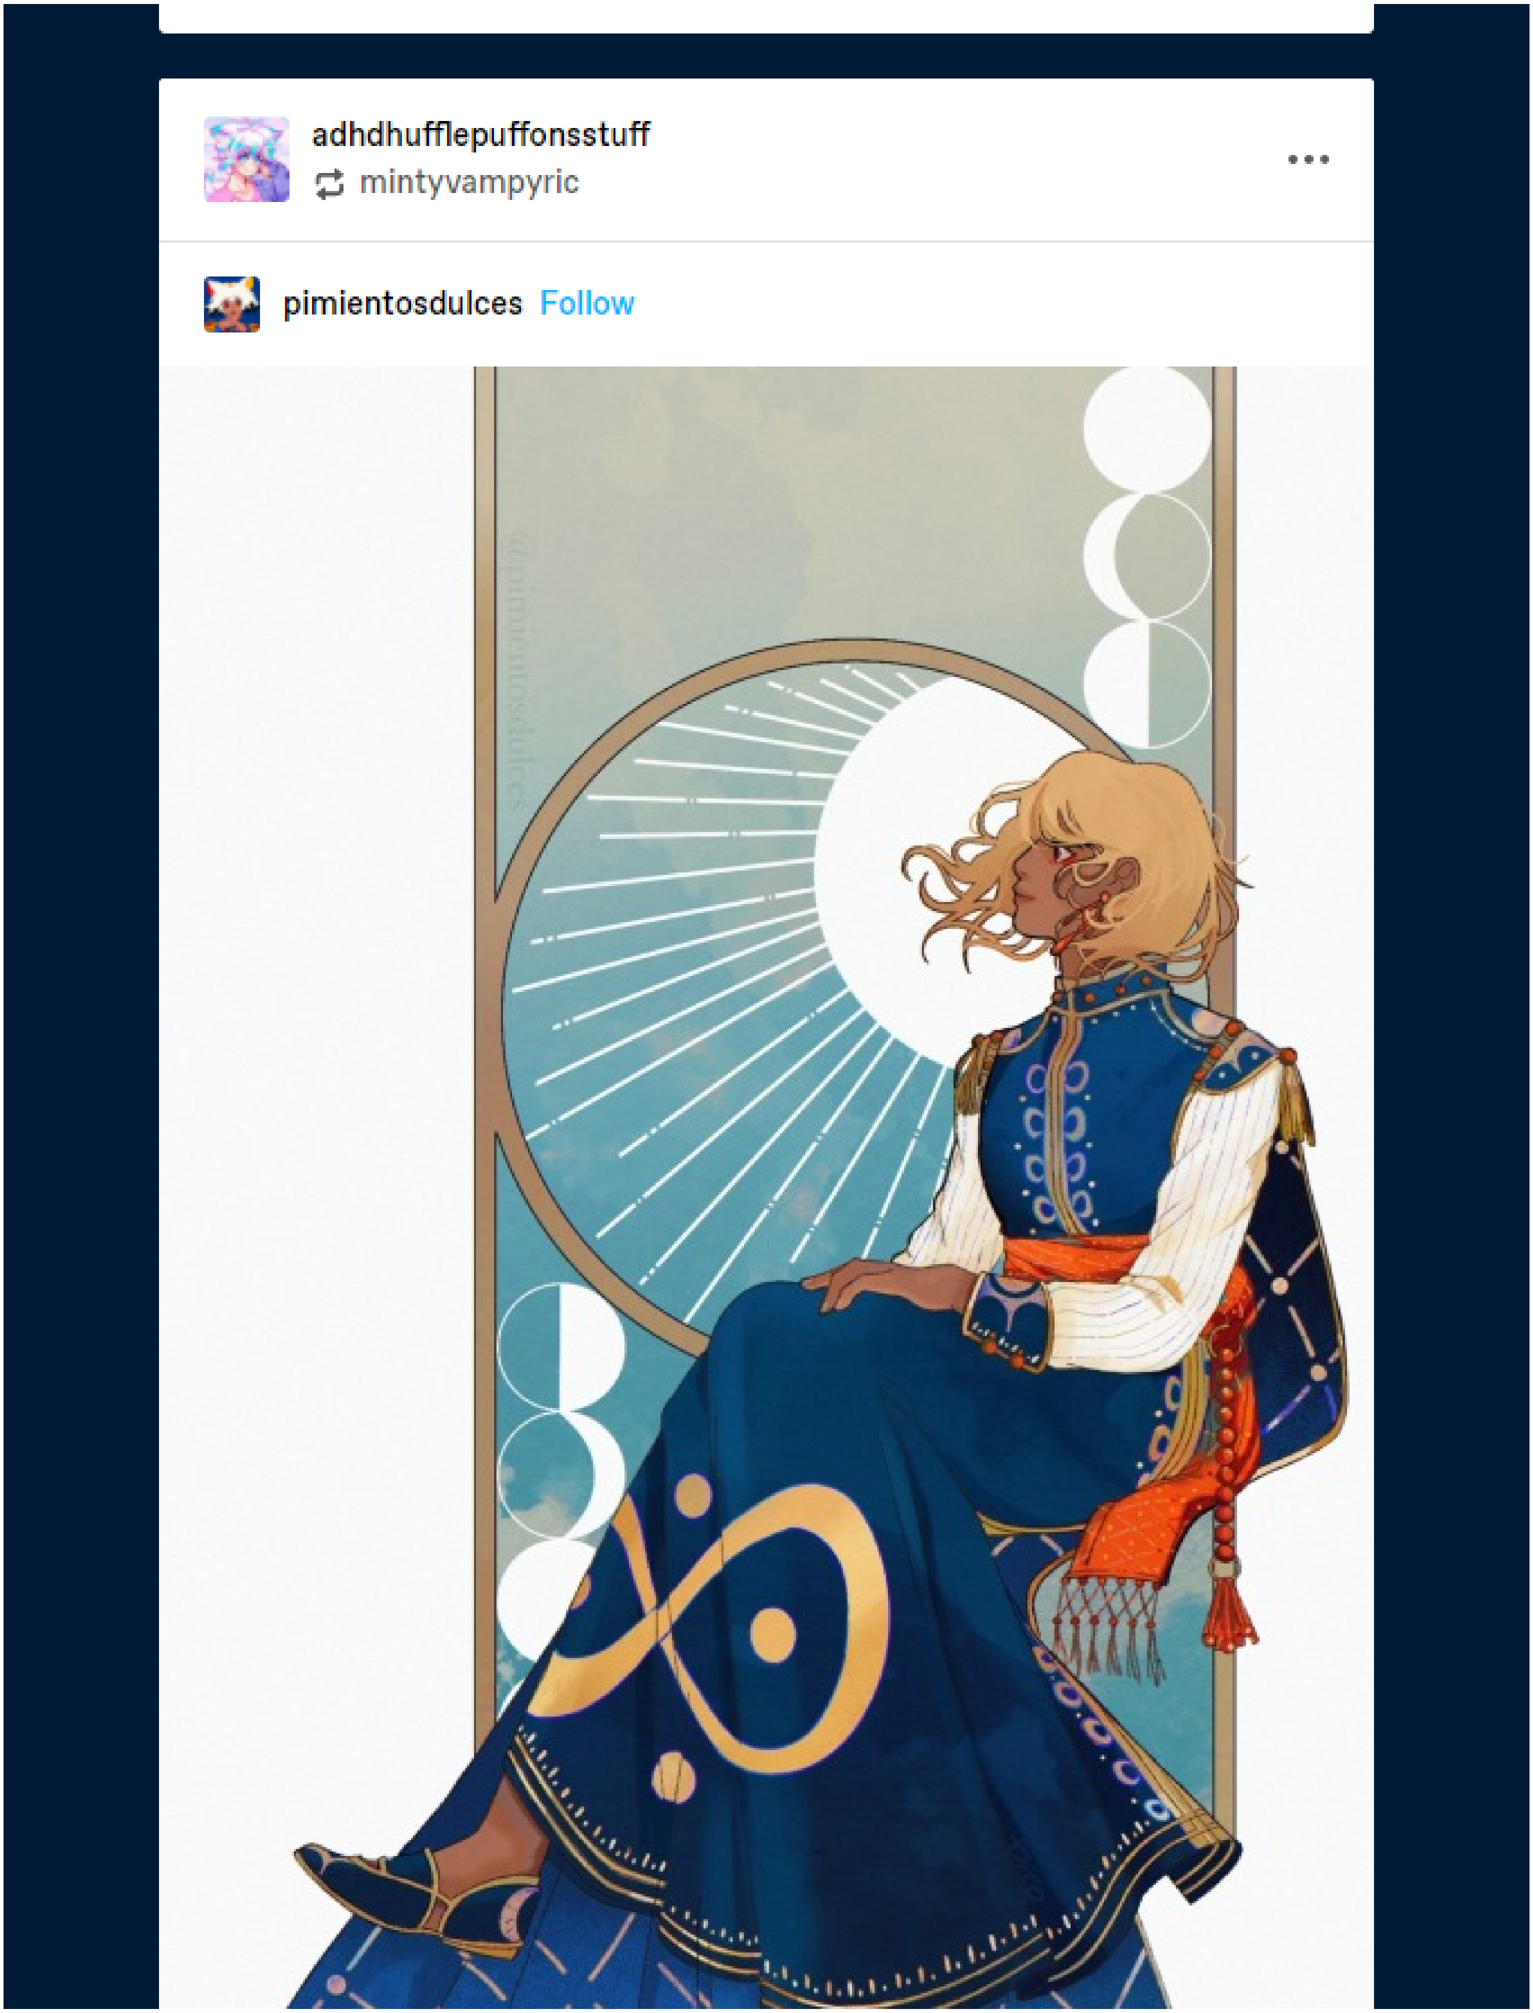
Source: ariaflamor

#recovery

583 notes

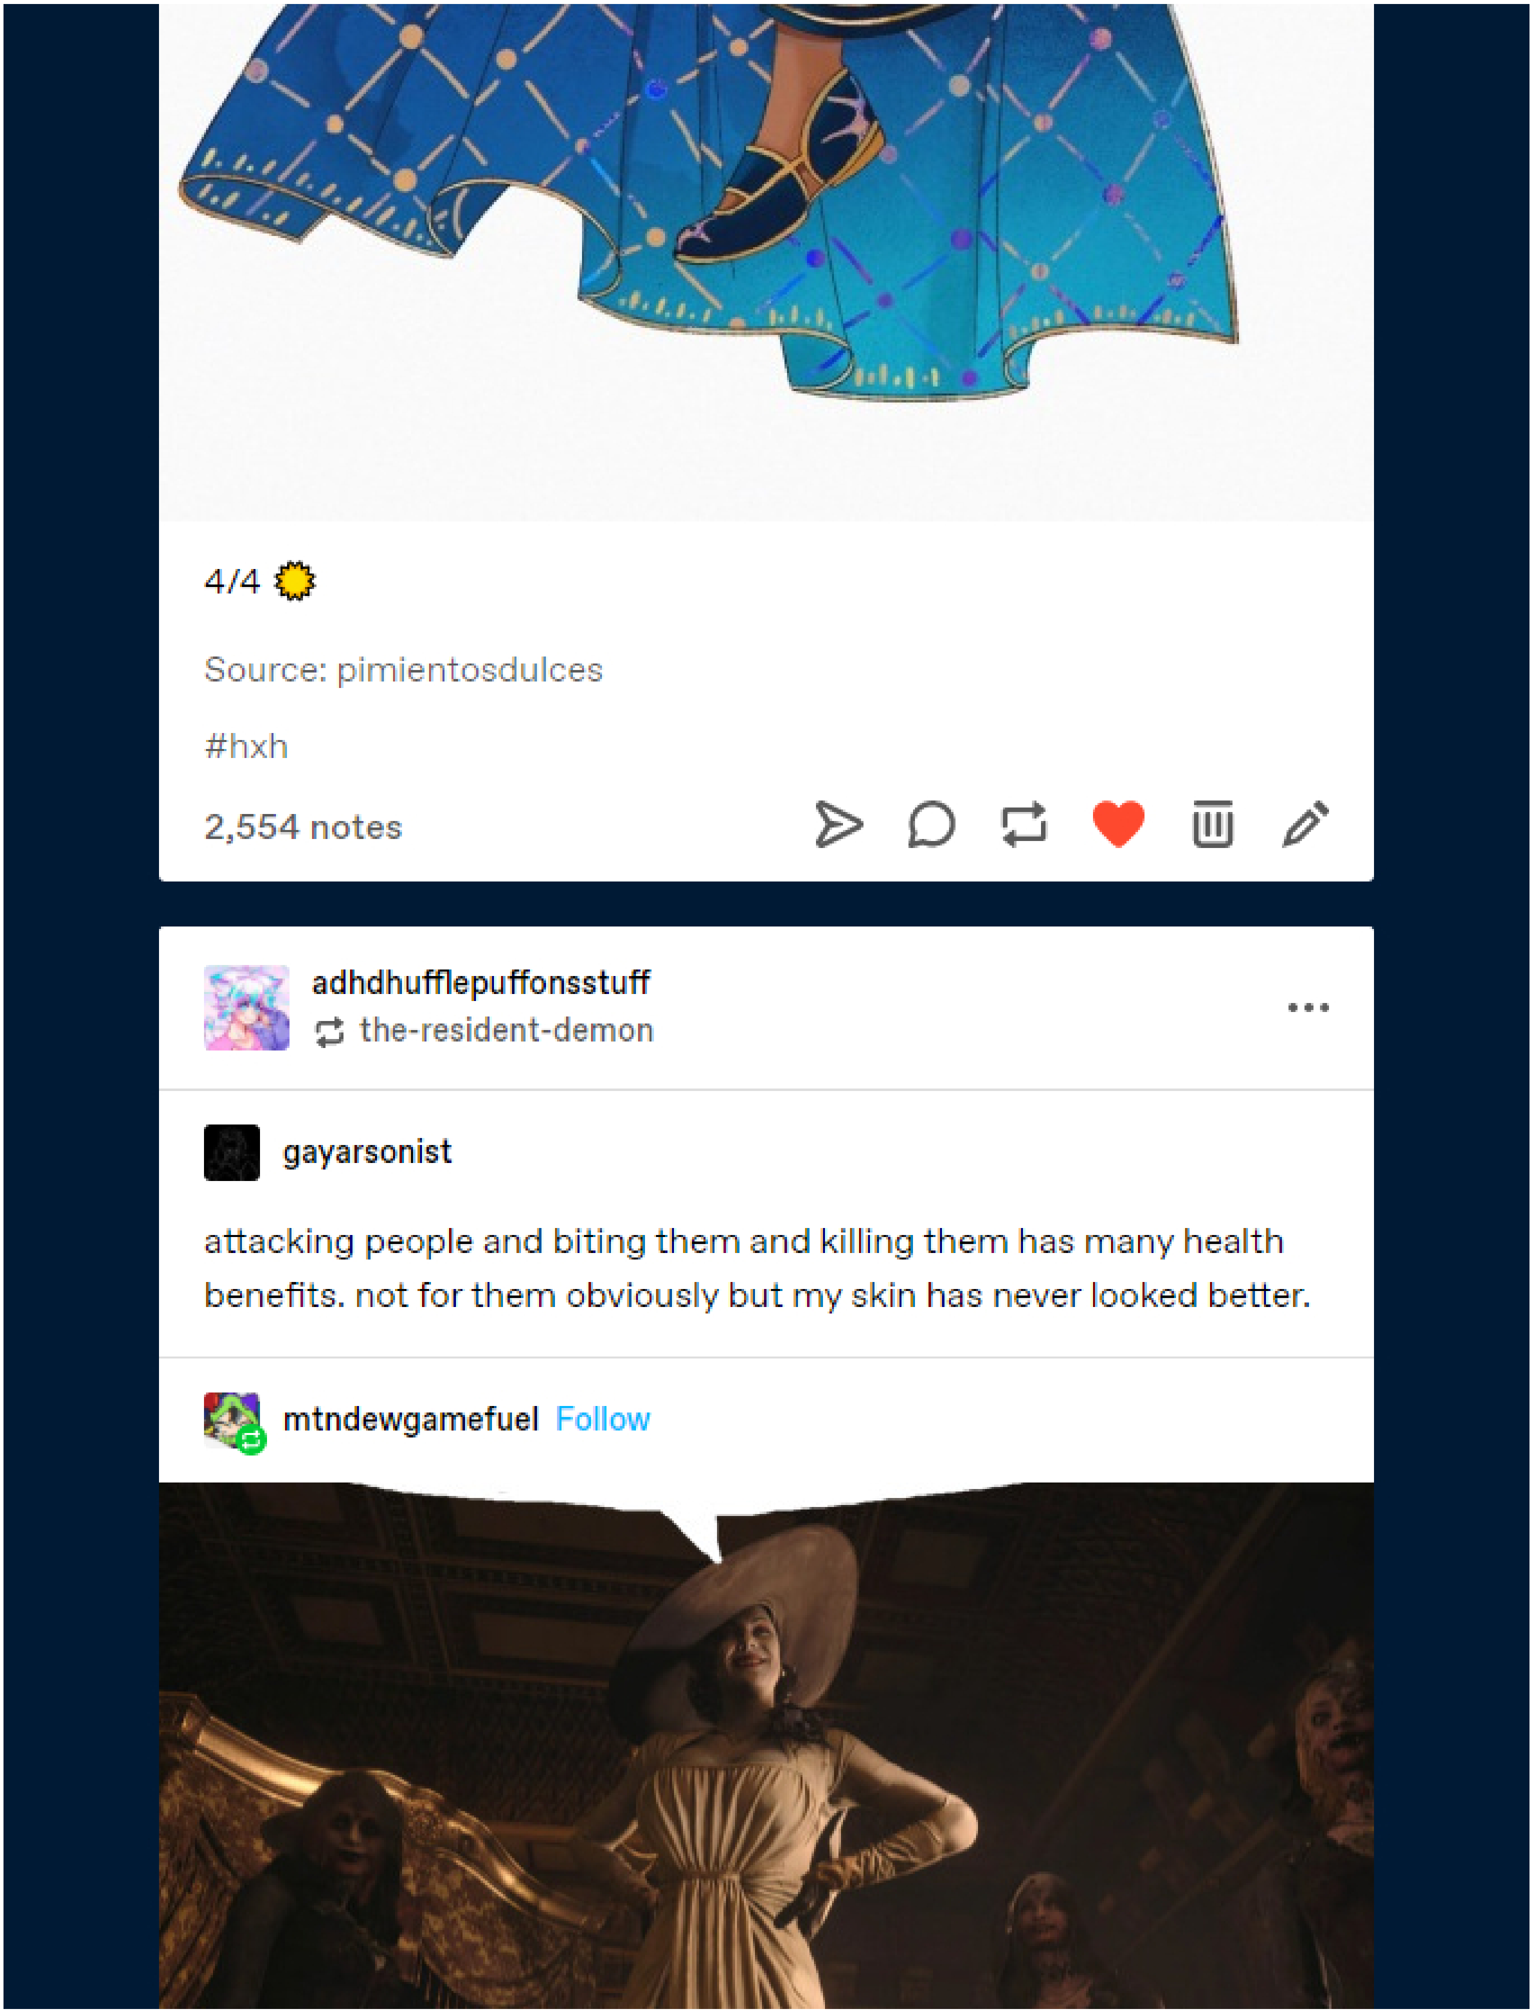


adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

mintyvampyric

pimientosdulces Follow

@pimientosdulces



4/4 ☀

Source: pimientosdulces

#hxh

2,554 notes

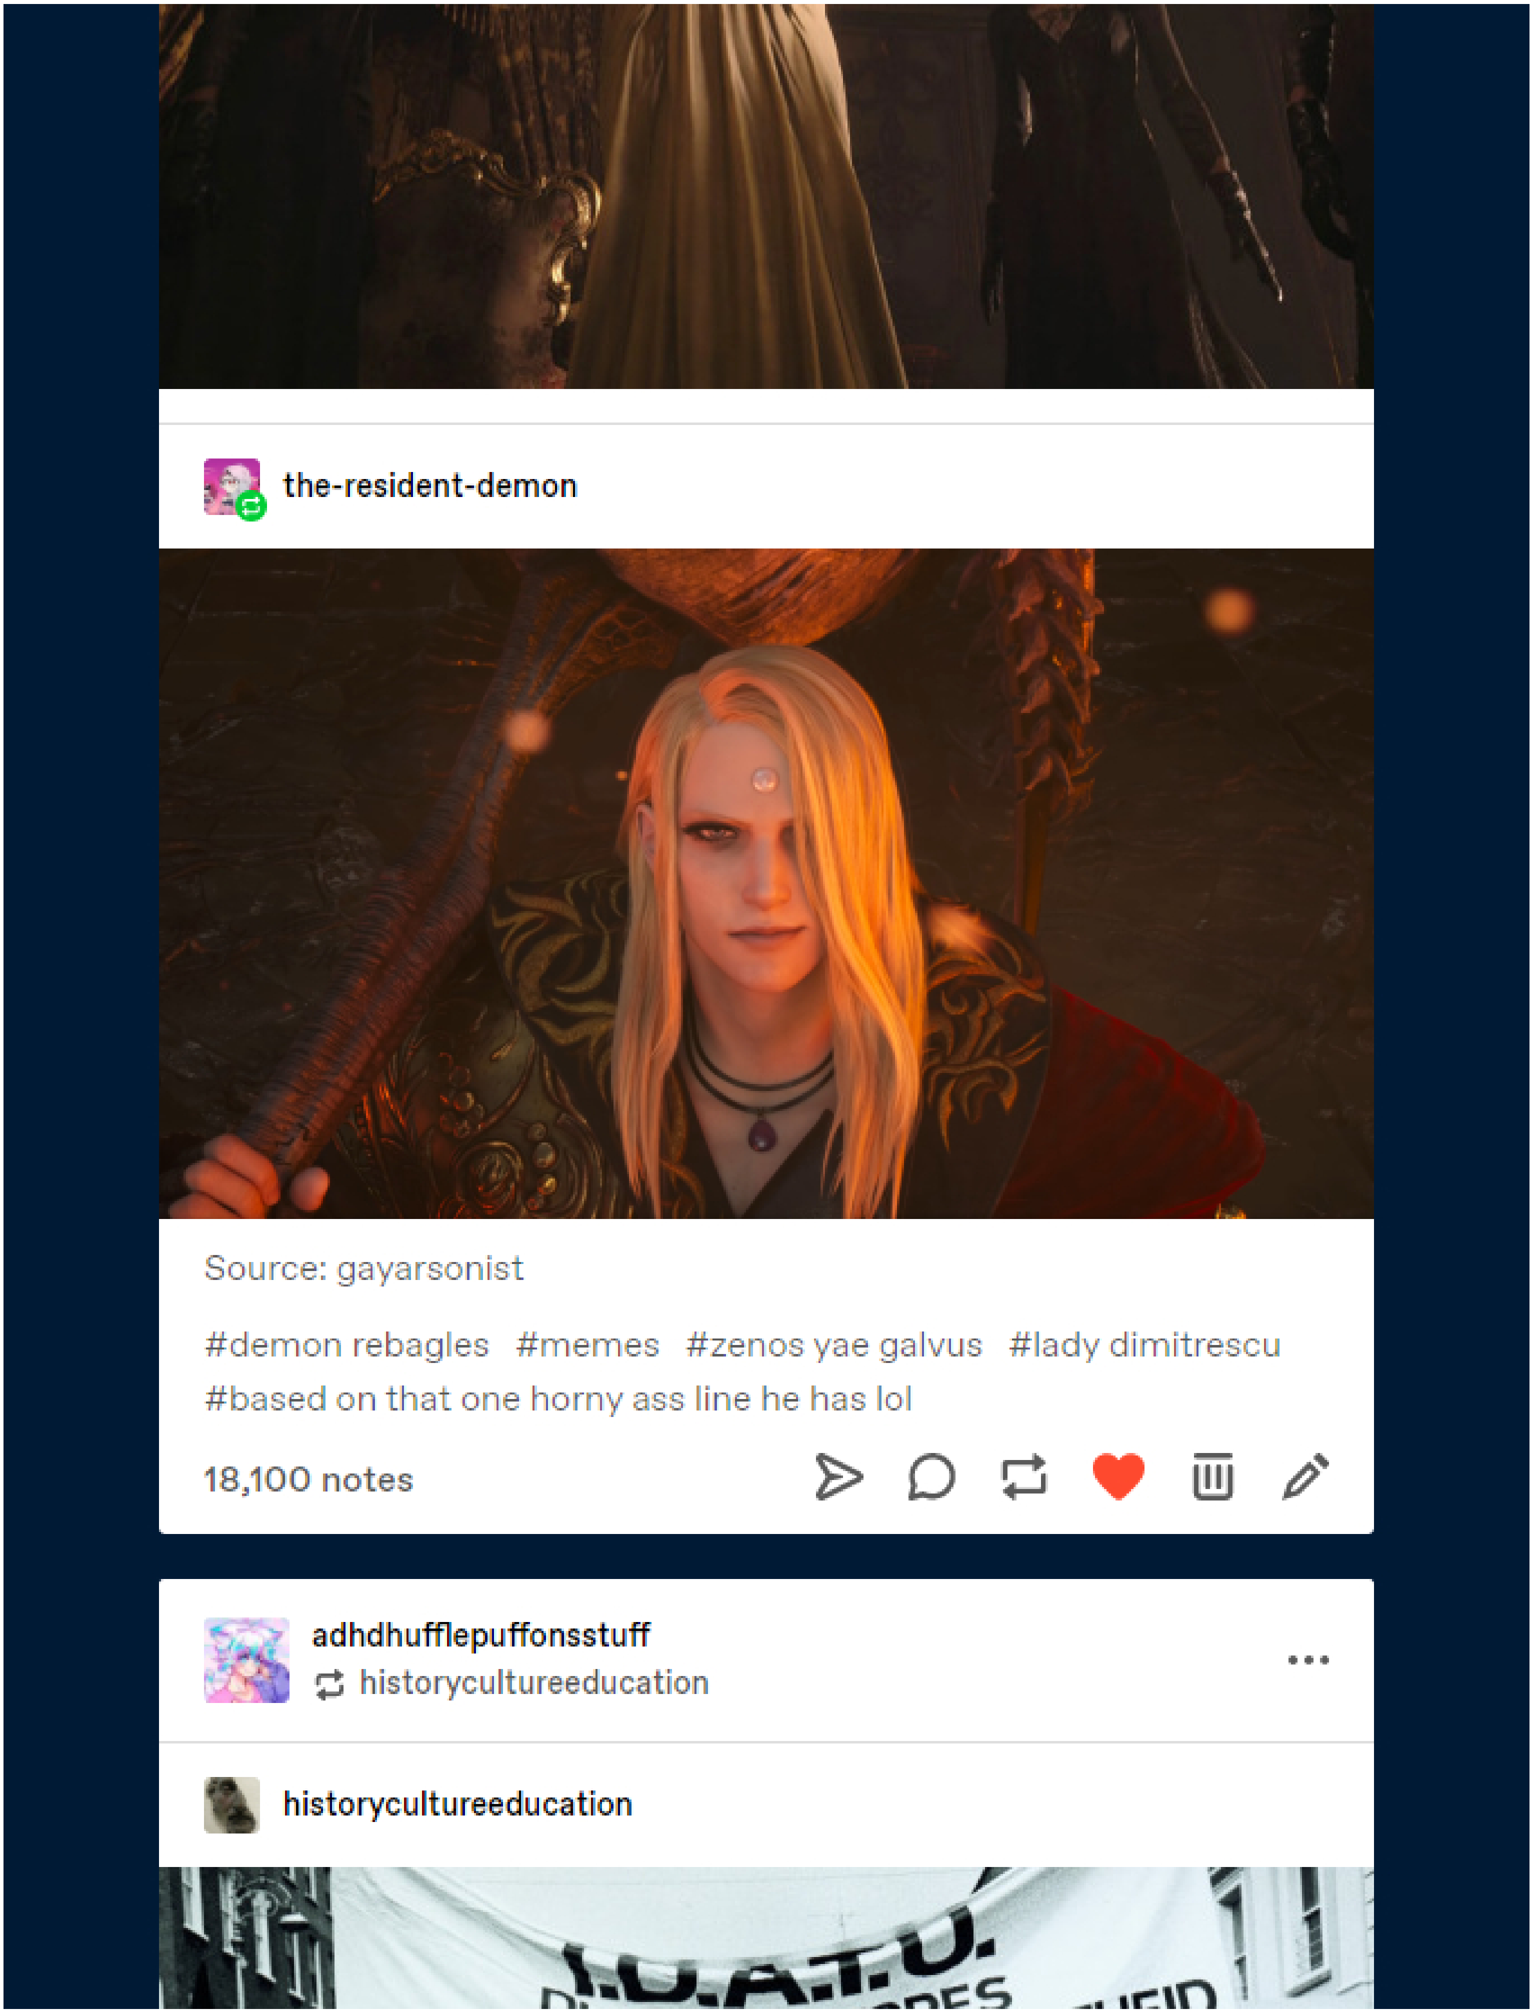
---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
the-resident-demon

gayarsonist

attacking people and biting them and killing them has many health benefits. not for them obviously but my skin has never looked better.

mtndewgamefuel



the-resident-demon

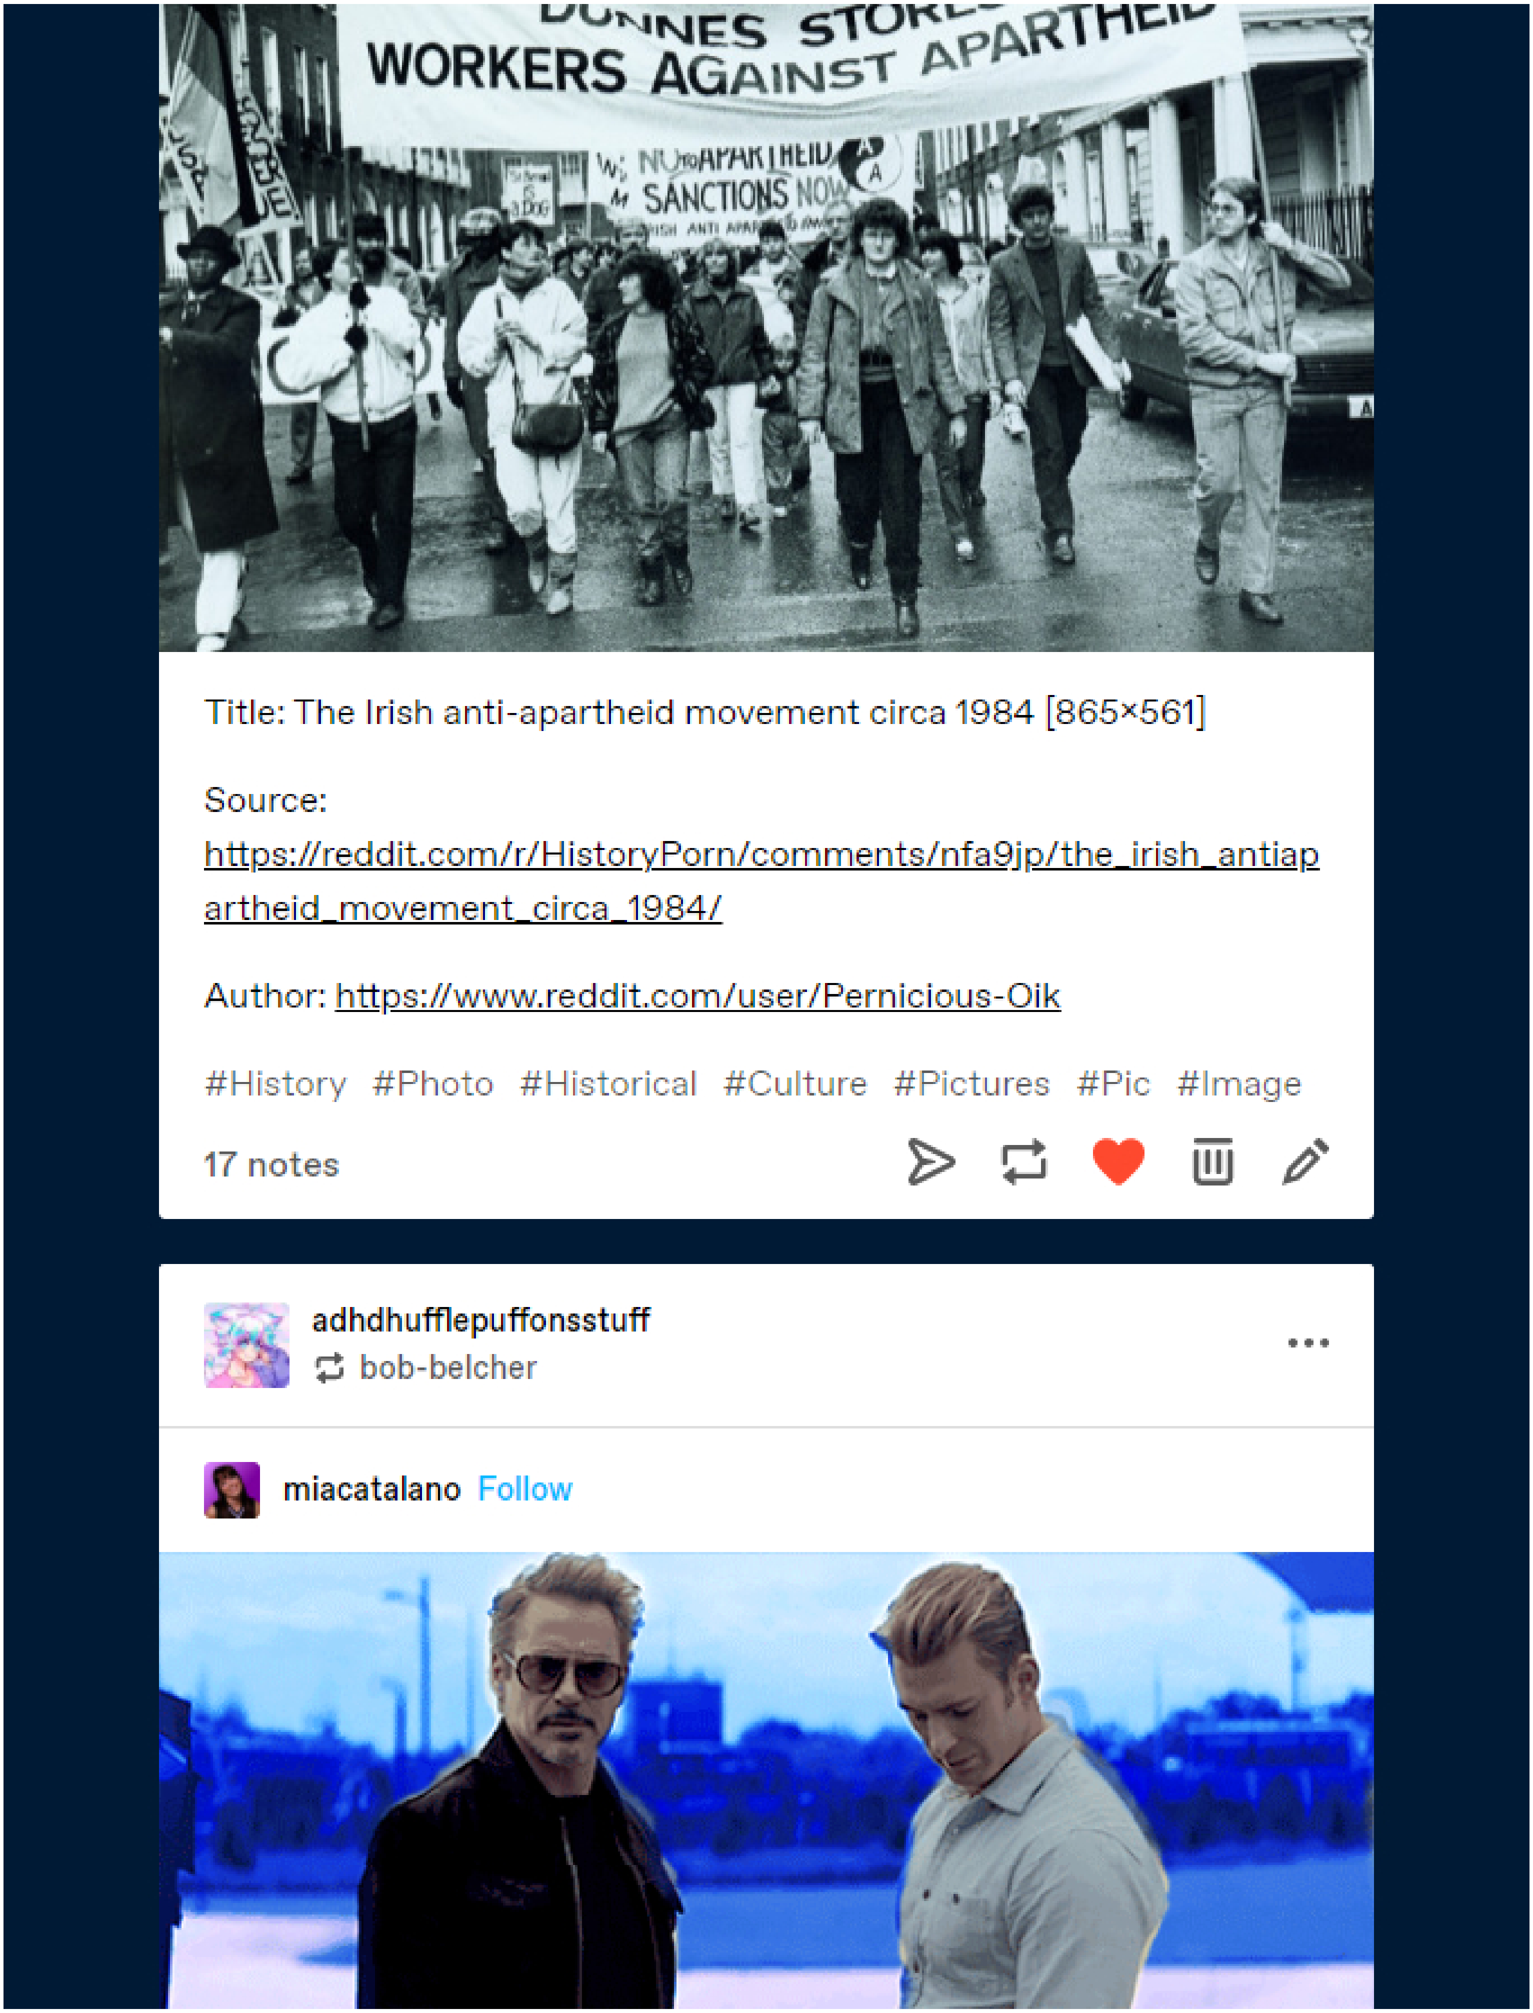
Source: gayarsonist

#demon rebagles #memes #zenos yae galvus #lady dimitrescu #based on that one horny ass line he has lol

18,100 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
historycultureeducation

historycultureeducation



DUNNES STORES
WORKERS AGAINST APARTHEID
NO TO APARTHEID
SANCTIONS NOW

Title: The Irish anti-apartheid movement circa 1984 [865×561]

Source: https://reddit.com/r/HistoryPorn/comments/nfa9jp/the_irish_antiapartheid_movement_circa_1984/

Author: https://www.reddit.com/user/Pernicious-Oik

#History #Photo #Historical #Culture #Pictures #Pic #Image

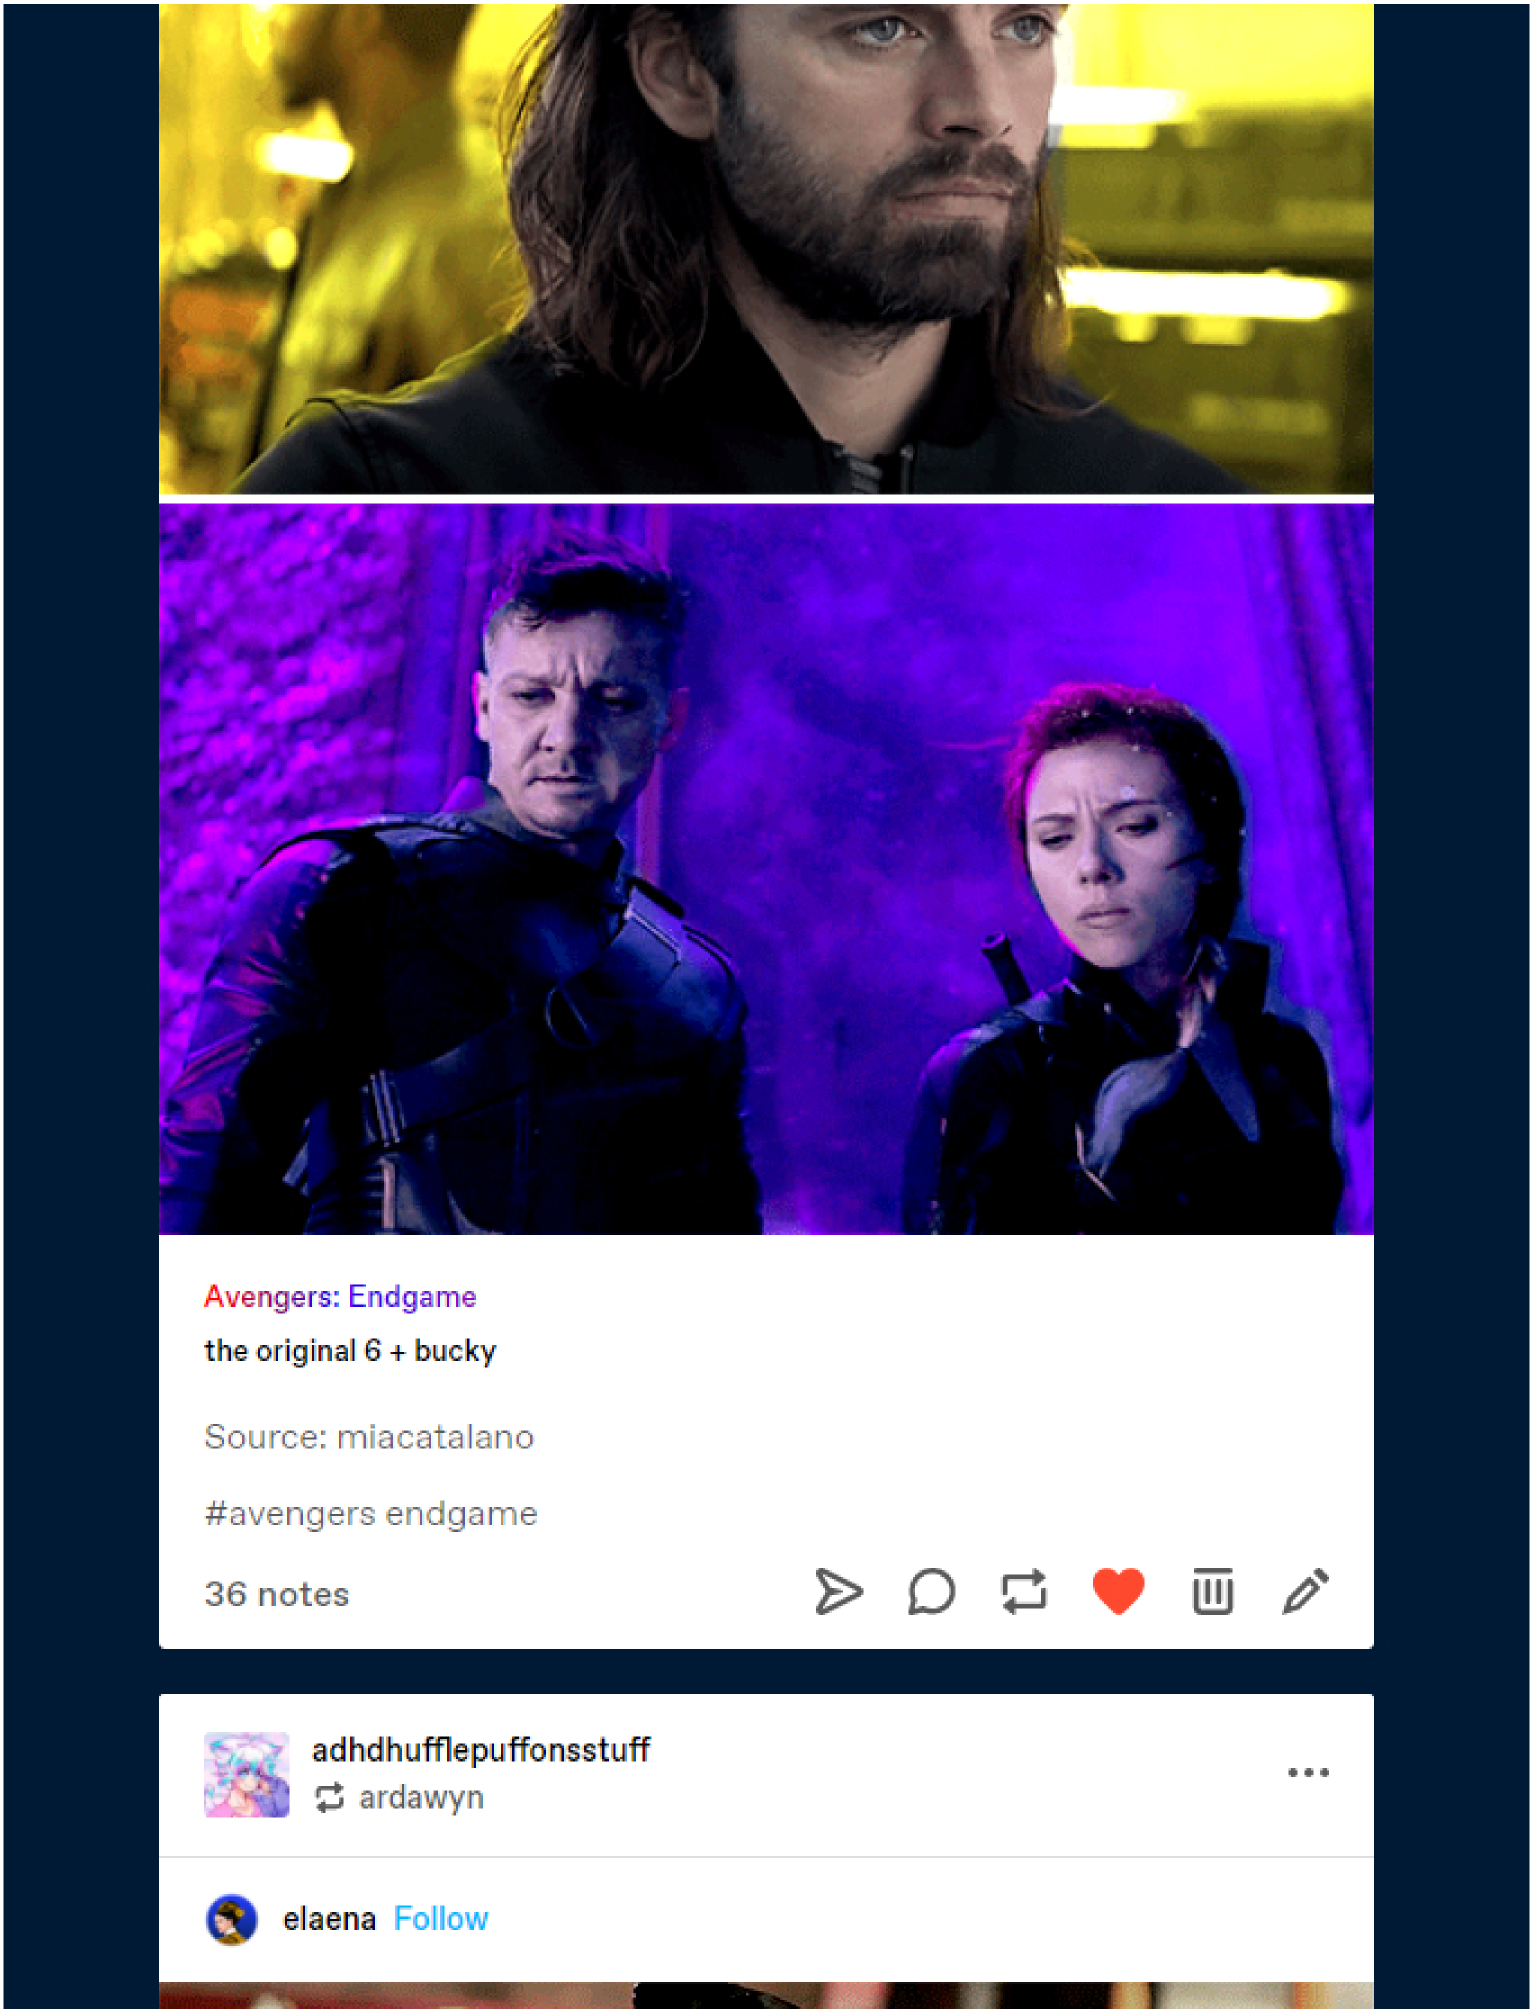
17 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

bob-belcher

miacatalano

Follow



Avengers: Endgame

the original 6 + bucky

Source: miacatalano

#avengers endgame

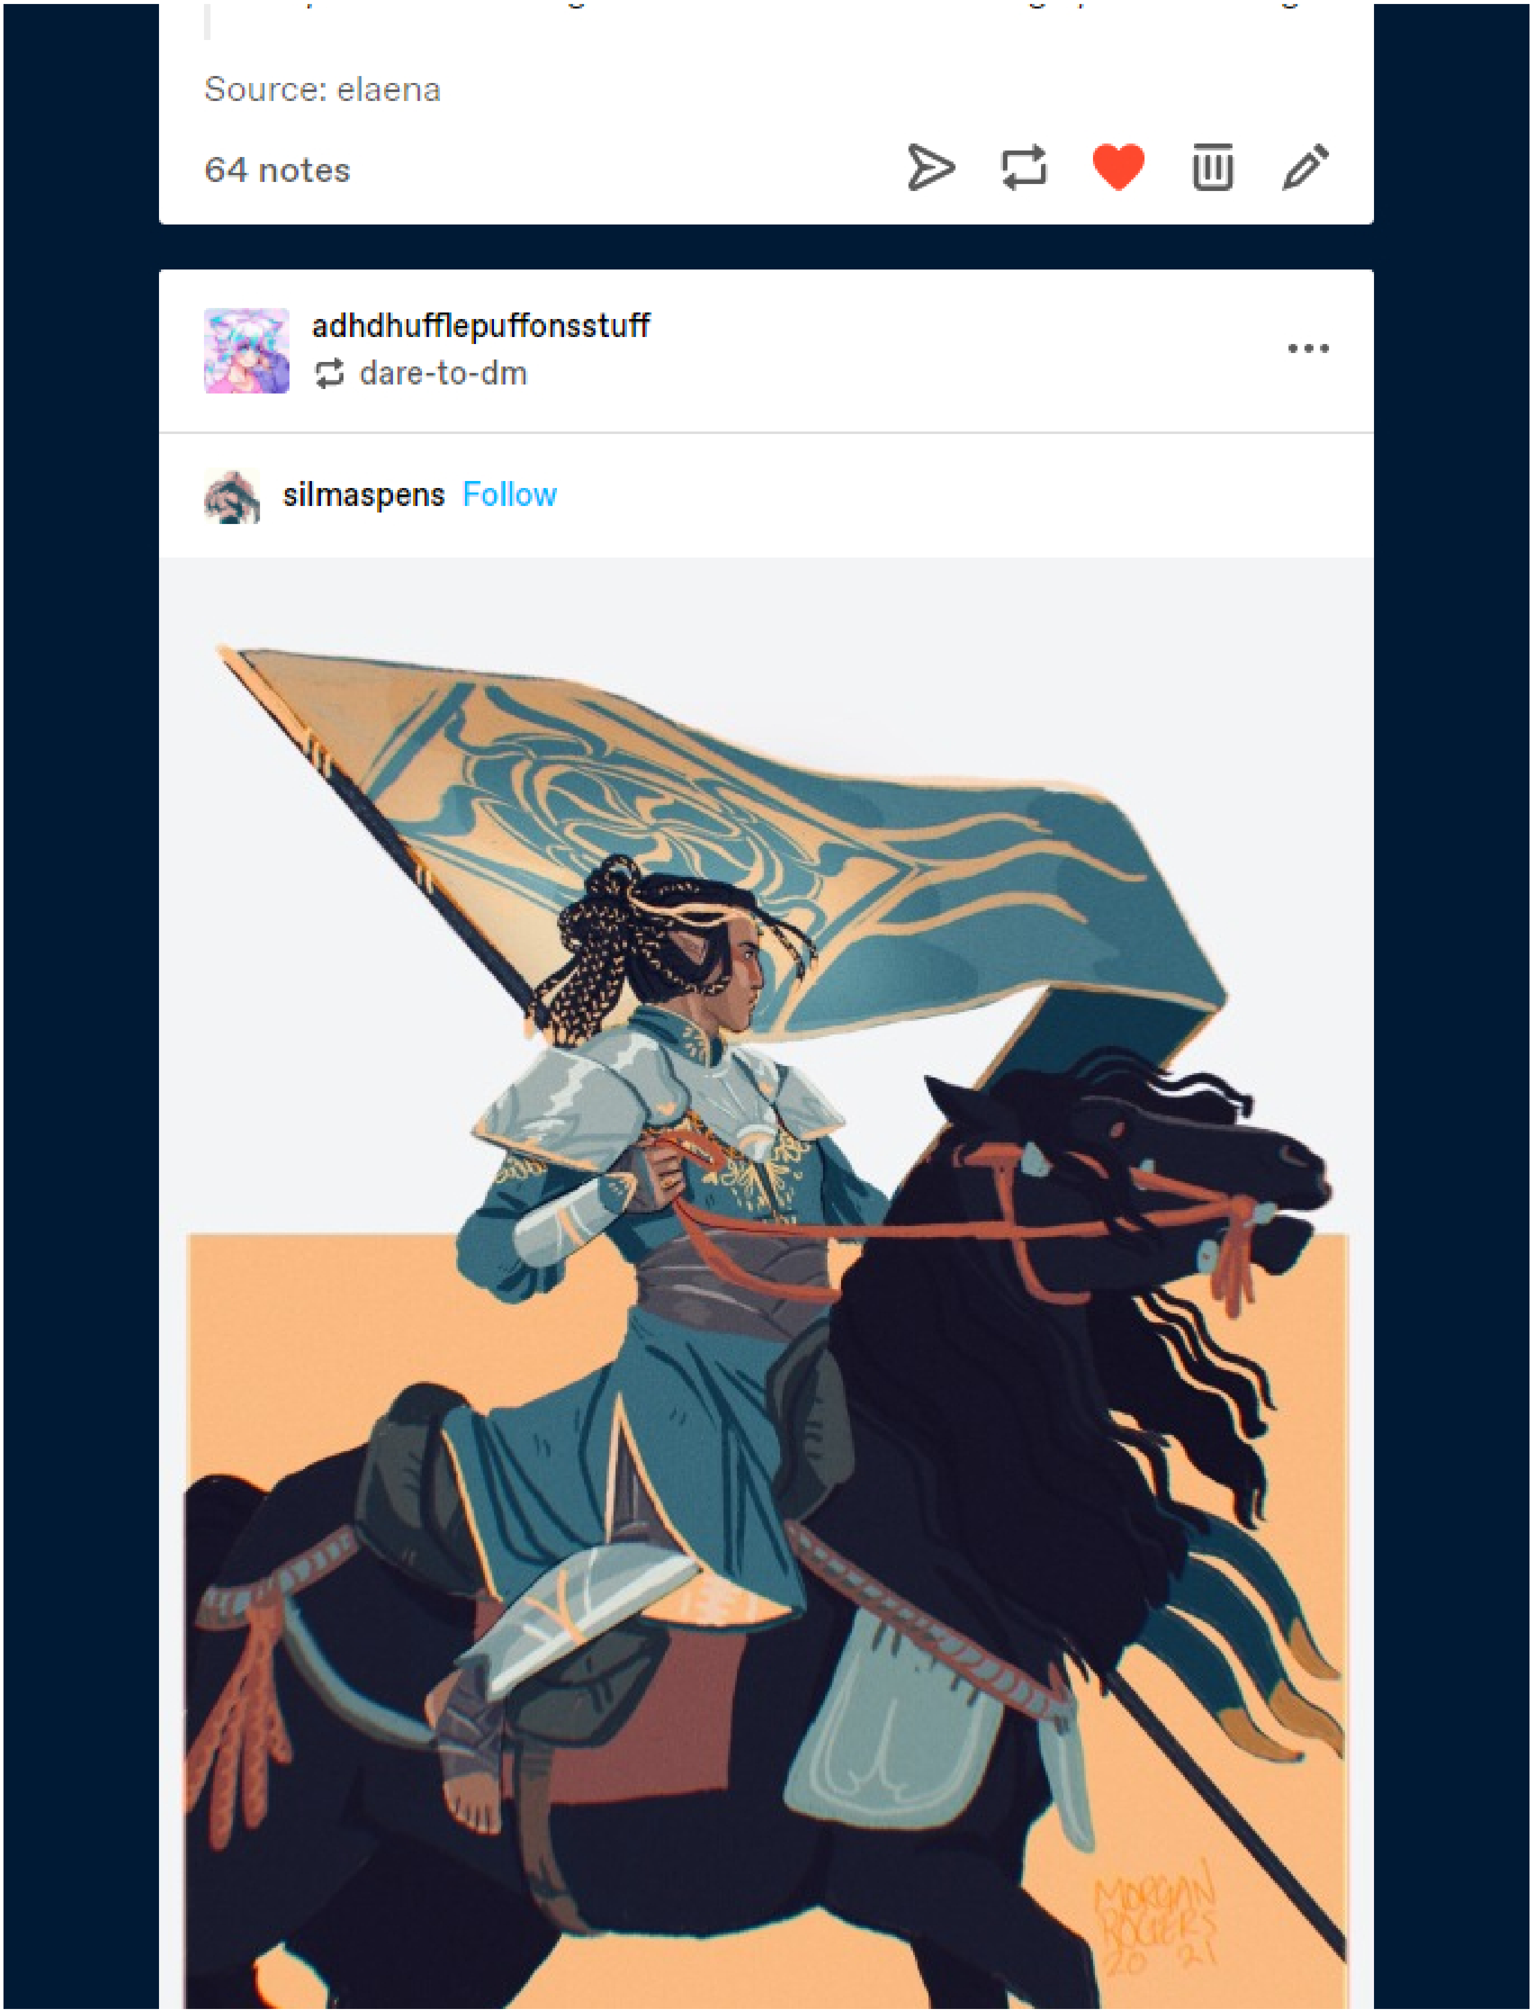
36 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

ardawyn

elaena Follow

empress of the ming | sun ruowei & hu shanxiang “first” meeting



Source: elaena

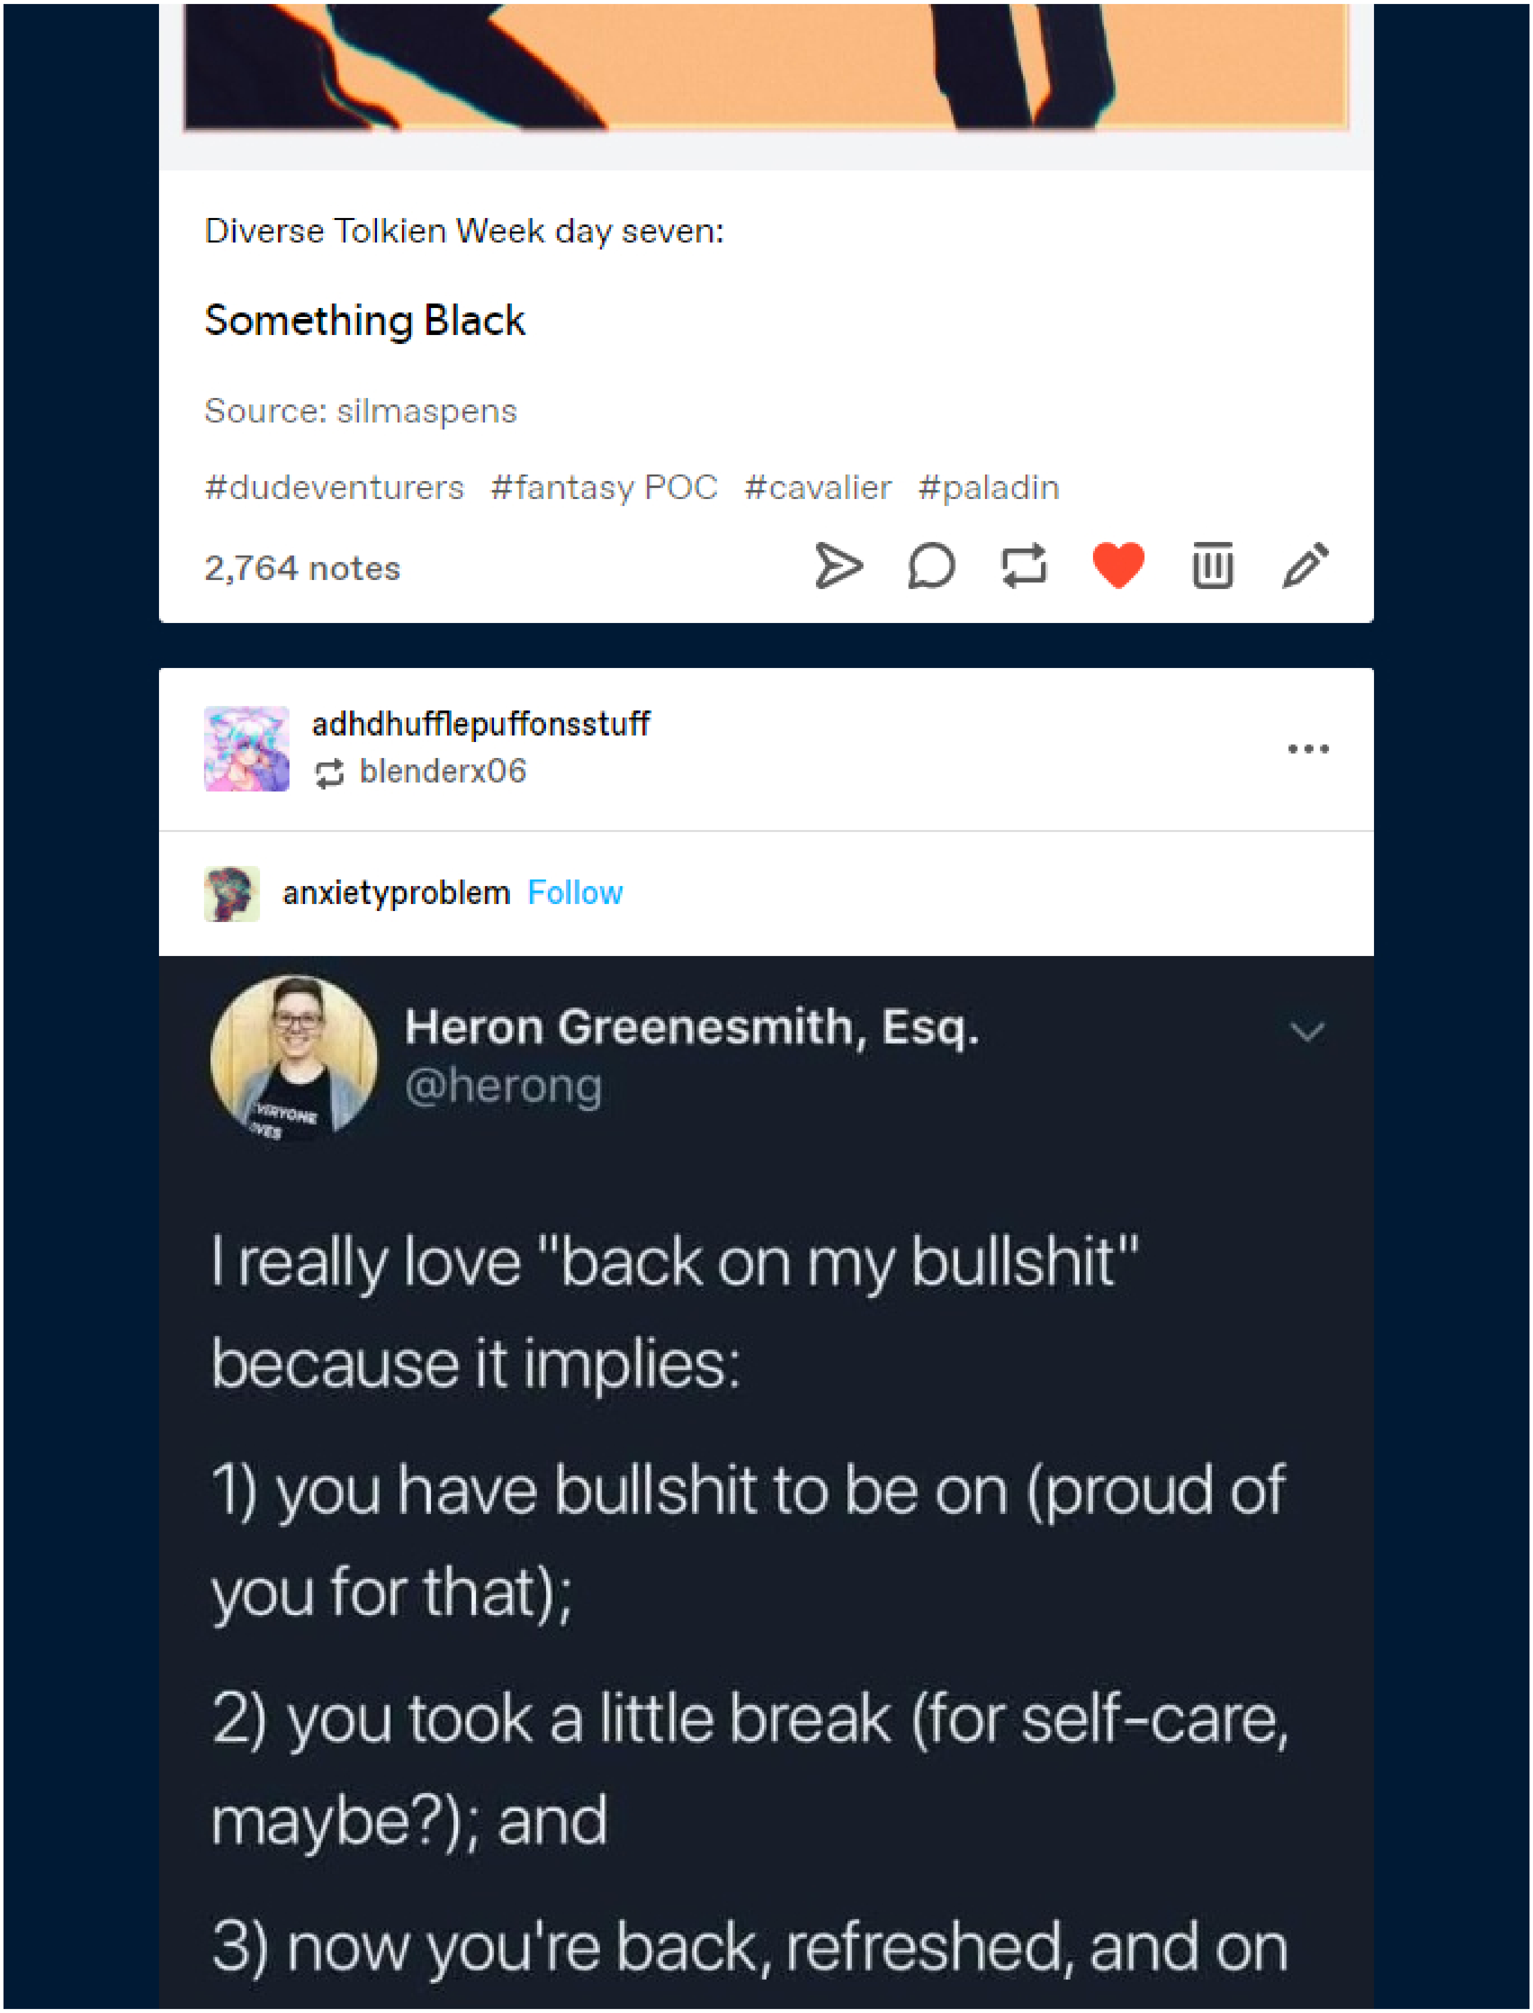
64 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

dare-to-dm

silmaspens Follow

MORGAN ROGERS 2021



Diverse Tolkien Week day seven:

Something Black

Source: silmaspens

#dudeventurers #fantasy POC #cavalier #paladin

2,764 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
blenderx06

anxietyproblem Follow

Heron Greenesmith, Esq.
@herong

I really love "back on my bullshit" because it implies:

1) you have bullshit to be on (proud of you for that);

2) you took a little break (for self-care, maybe?); and

3) now you're back, refreshed, and on your bullshit.

Source: anxietyproblem

38,302 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

interretialia

252percent Follow

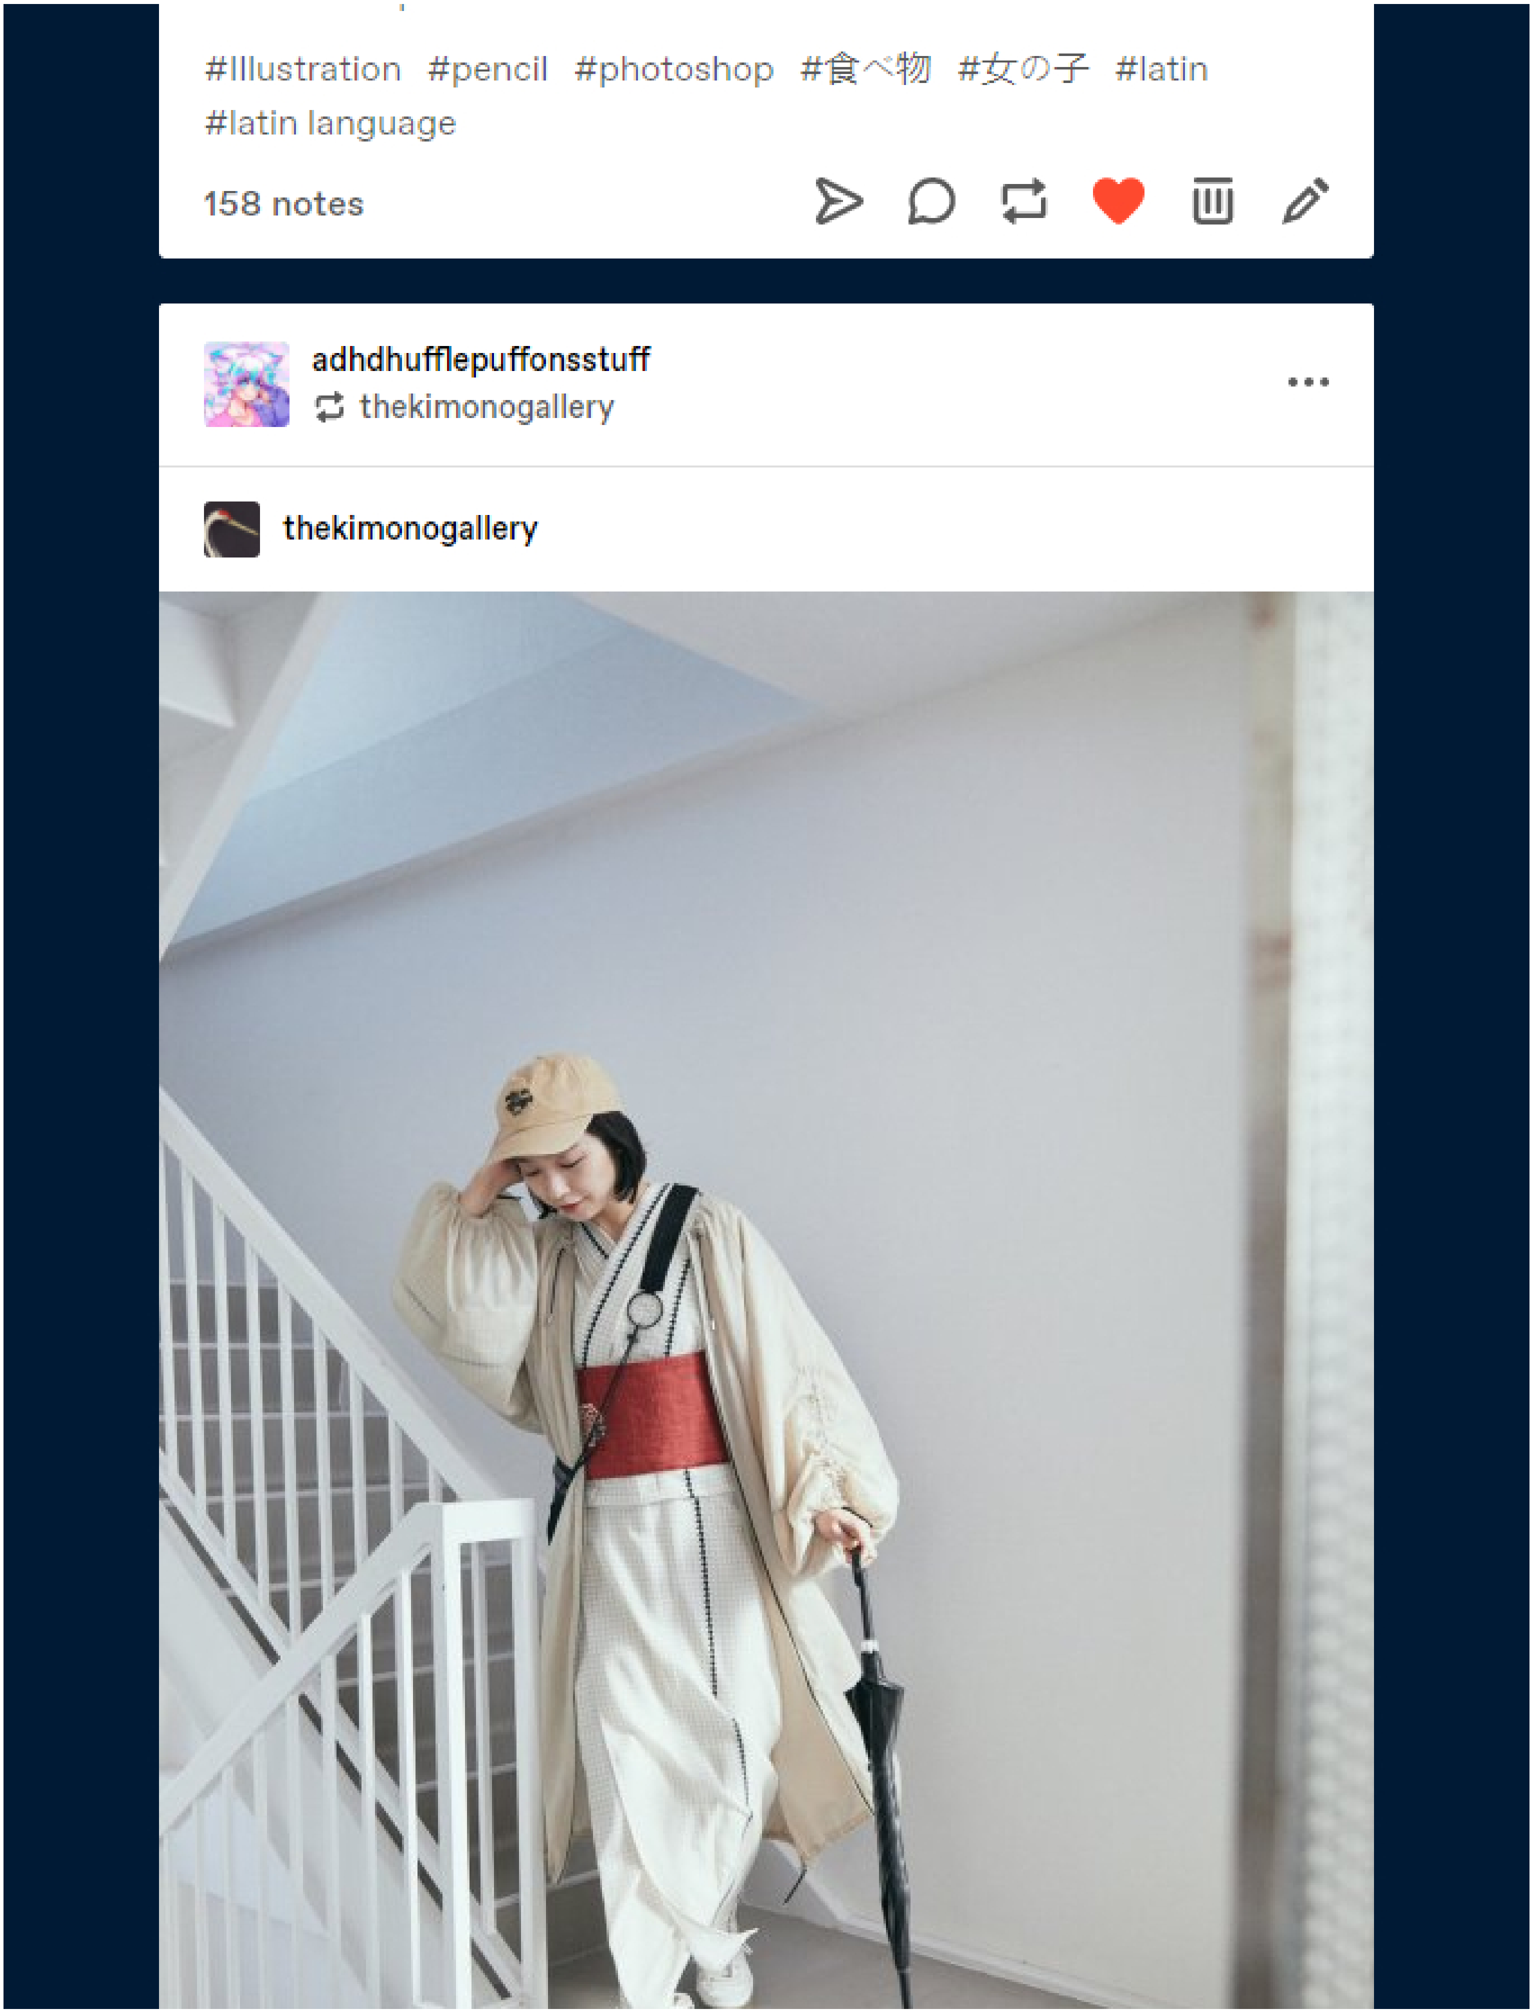
コーヒーとカフェオレ

interretialia

~~~

> Coffeum et Coffeum Lacteum

Source: 252percent
~~~



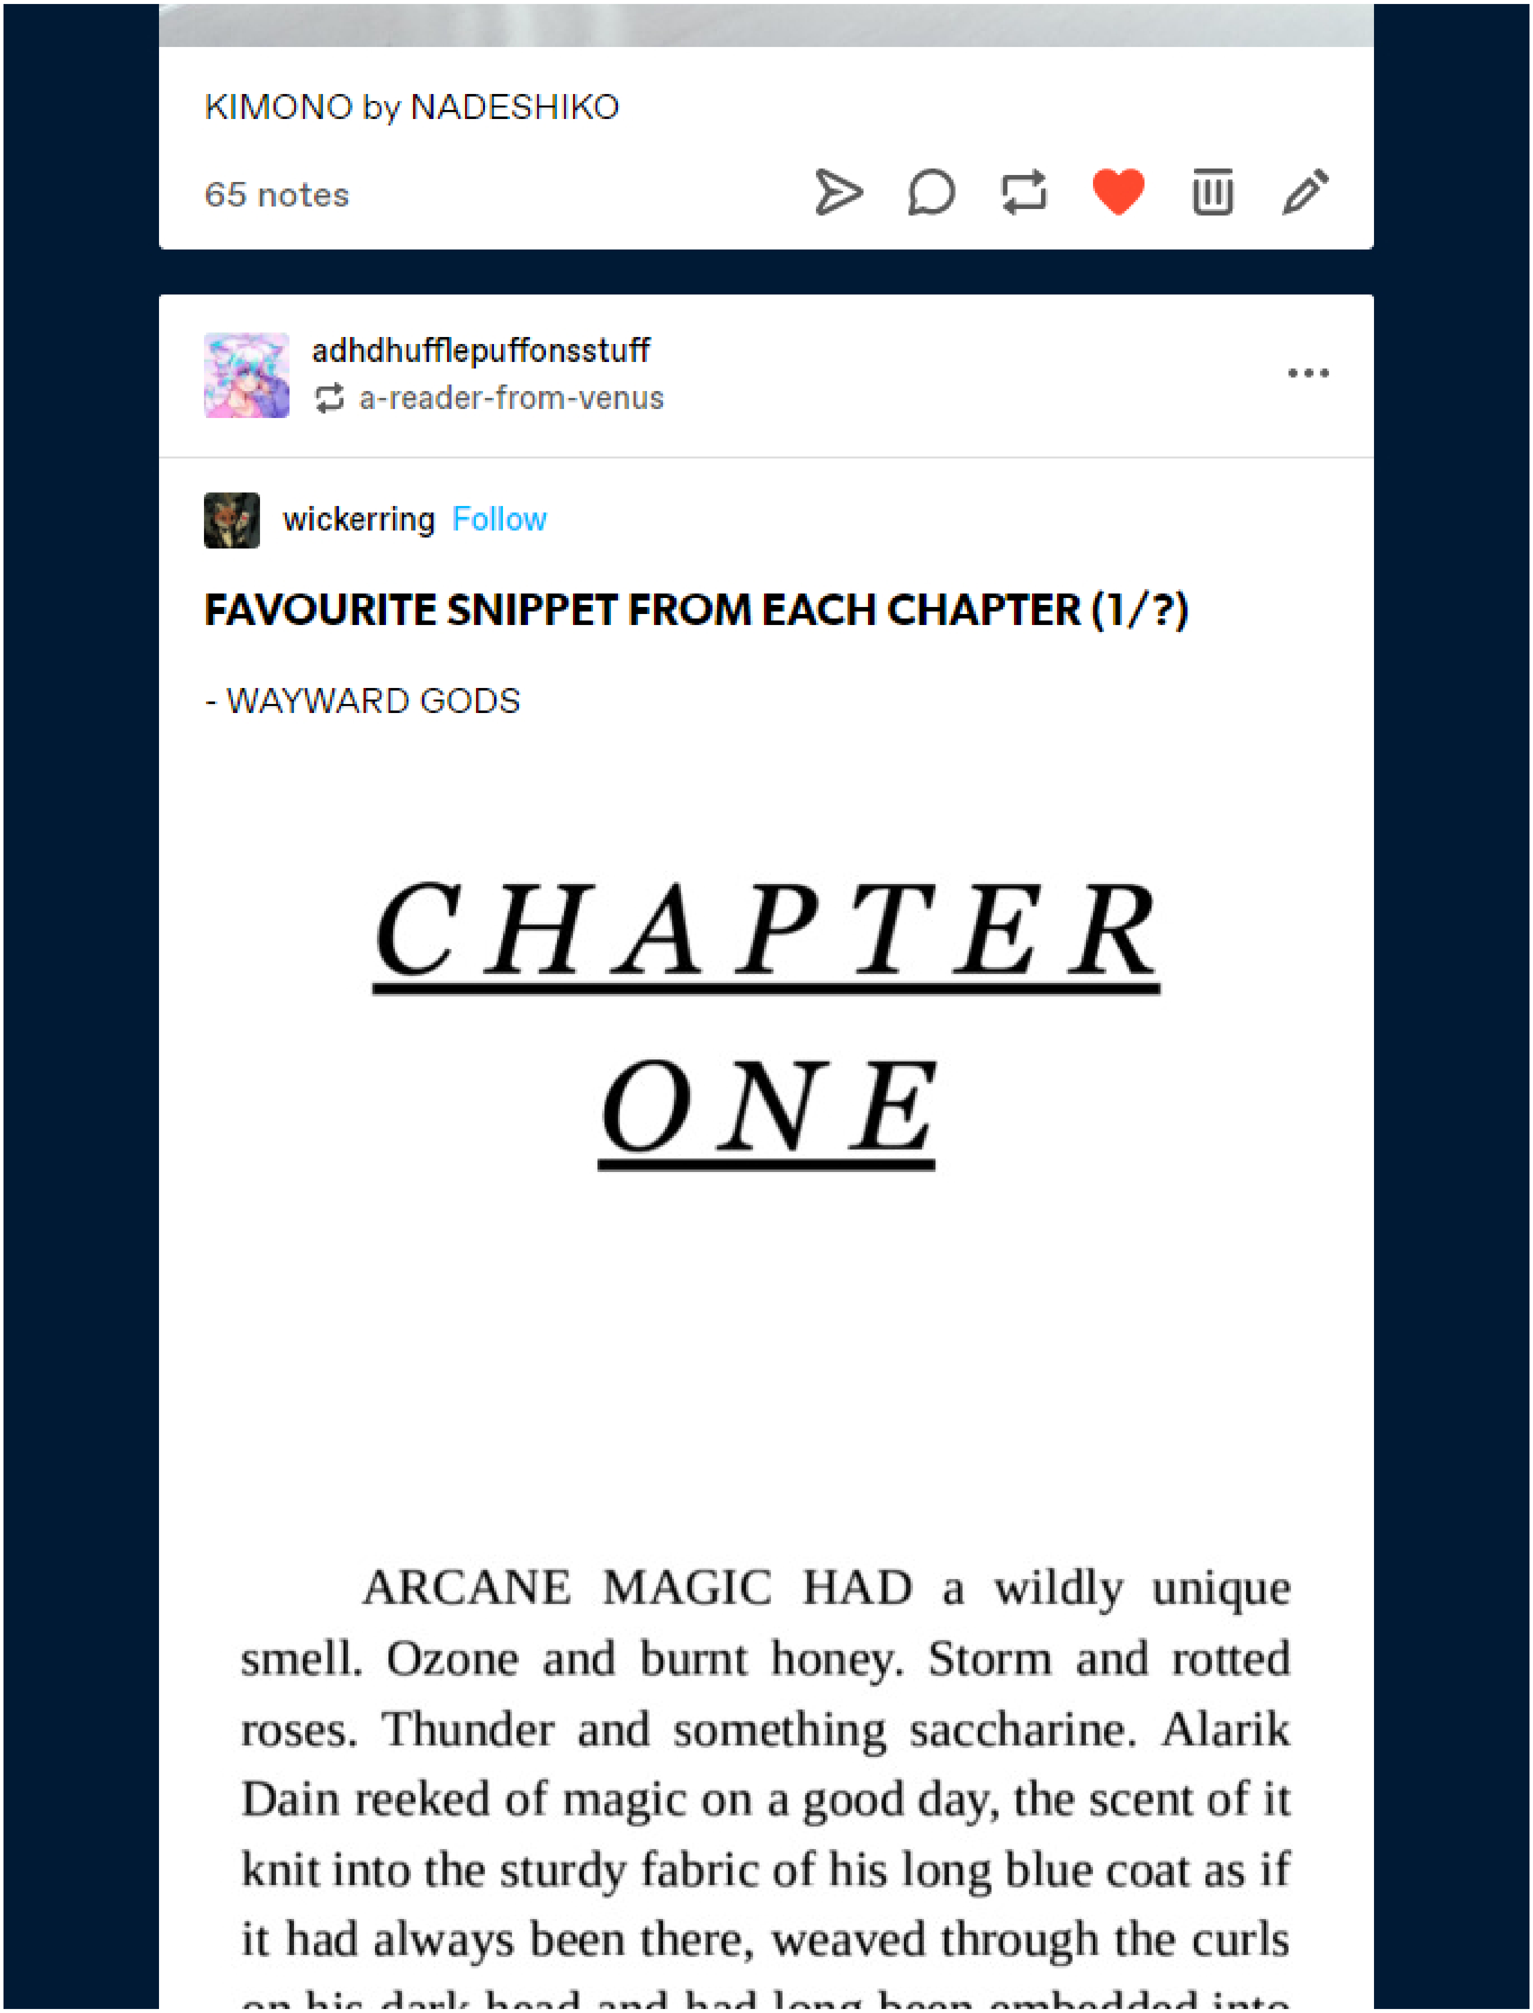
#Illustration #pencil #photoshop #食べ物 #女の子 #latin #latin language

158 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

thekimonogallery

thekimonogallery



KIMONO by NADESHIKO

65 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

a-reader-from-venus

wickerring Follow

FAVOURITE SNIPPET FROM EACH CHAPTER (1/?)

- WAYWARD GODS

CHAPTER ONE

ARCANE MAGIC HAD a wildly unique smell. Ozone and burnt honey. Storm and rotted roses. Thunder and something saccharine. Alarik Dain reeked of magic on a good day, the scent of it knit into the sturdy fabric of his long blue coat as if it had always been there, weaved through the curls on his dark head and had long been embedded into on his dark head and had long been embedded into the calloused, brown skin of his hands. Magic had clung to him as closely as a second skin since he was barely out of childhood. It was always worse after a job. [redacted]

- EXCERPT

> [ARCANE MAGIC HAD a wildly unique smell. Ozone and burnt honey. Storm and rotted roses. Thunder and something saccharine. Alarik Dain reeked of magic on a good day, the scent of it knit into the sturdy fabric of his long blue coat as if it had always been there, weaved through the curls on his dark head and had long been embedded into the calloused, brown skin of his hands. Magic had clung to him as closely as a second skin since he was barely out of childhood. It was always worse after a job.]

- TAGLIST: (ask to be +/-)

> @fablemancy / @bronwennjames / @a-forgotten-dusk / @ecwrenn / @ninazeniks / @willowiswriting / @a-funeral-pyre / @unholyheretics / @ashen-crest / @amnawrites

Source: wickerring

55 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
yes-i-could-be-the-walrus

yes-i-could-be-the-walrus

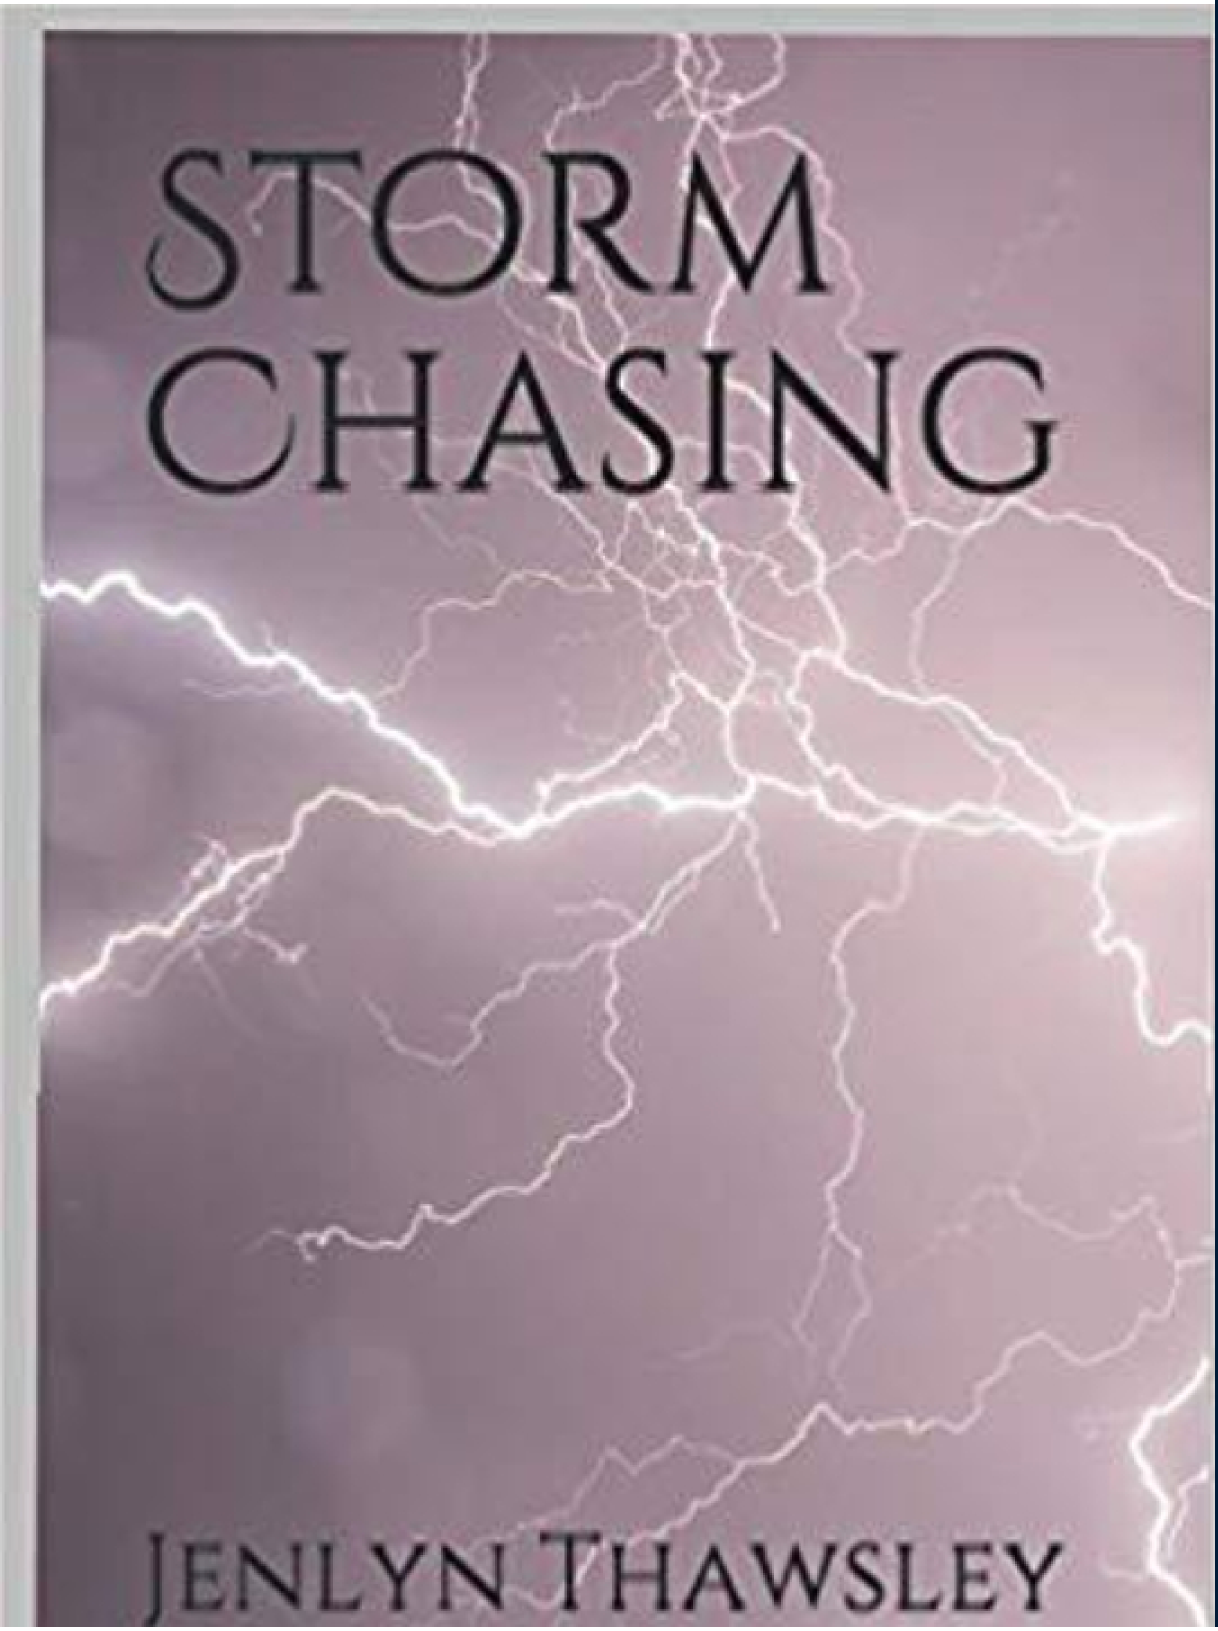
Love Stories and Modern Feminism

Several of the next book promotion posts will contain love songs, because they're posts from my author blog from this past January/February when I was working from a love song theme. DISCLAIMER THAT MAYBE THIS POST MIGHT CONTAIN SOME CONTROVERSIAL VIEWPOINTS AND NOT EVERYBODY IS GOING TO ENJOY THE LOVE SONG.

Or maybe everyone will love it, who knows? That disclaimer is there to let folks know that I realize not everyone will agree with my position on things, but I don't wish to engage in debate. Debate stresses me out, but I'm promoting and answering reader questions about my books with love songs here this month, and this particular book got lots of attention I didn't expect it to get. So...I'm answering the reader questions.

First, I want to say that I've been genuinely surprised that anyone ever wants to read anything I write, particularly the fiction. I'm still earnestly stunned every time I make a book sale or get a review or hear from a reader. For real? I'm like this...

You could all ask J. I'm like this with EVERY book. But a couple of them, I've been especially taken aback, and Storm Chasing was one of those books.



STORM CHASING
JENLYN THAWSLEY

I've had multiple people ask me for a sequel to this one, which just... blows me away, because I felt weird releasing it at first. I thought it might be preachy. I thought it might be too cute. But I guess not. That will teach me to assume how readers will view my work. Anyway, one of many reader inquiries I got about this one is where my inspiration for Bridget came from. The short, immediate answer is that I have a dear friend who has been a bright spot in my life for 35 years. Yes, really. Since first grade. And she is now, and has been for her entire working adult life, a kindergarten teacher. I confessed to her a few years back, WAY before I even dreamed of publishing anything, or wrote a blog, that I wrote romance stories, and she said (very likely in jest) that I should write a romance about a kindergarten teacher, because she'd never read one. So...you know...I did.

But Bridget is more complex than that, which is a point I hope I made in the story. I think all of us have this view of how a kindergarten teacher looks and behaves, and many of those things are true of Bridget, but they aren't her entire being. Bridget is an intersectional feminist. Just like me. Just like many of the friends I have in my life. She believes people of all genders should be afforded equal value and opportunity. She believes diversity is a strength and individuality is too. She believes people shouldn't be pigeon-holed by what can be observed of them from the outside, particularly their gender. She believes that every person is whole and complete on their own. She believes a person's value (a person of any gender) is not defined by archaic and arbitrary patriarchal standards. She TRULY believes all of these things. Which makes her feel weak, and helpless, and selfish, and 'wrong,' and guilty for wanting romance in her life. For wanting a husband and family. She almost feels like she's betraying feminism and modernity and progress for having the desire for these 'traditional' things. She feels ashamed of valuing outward beauty and reluctant to accept appreciation for her own outward beauty...like it's wrong to appreciate it, to want that appreciation, to feel good about that appreciation. Bridget (rightly, I think) ends relationships with men when she sees they only want her outward 'old-fashioned' beauty and her stereotypically 'feminine,' kindergarten teacher-y qualities, and she's been conditioned to mistrust appreciation for those things about her, and in a way, actually devalue them in herself. To me, that's its own form of internalized misogyny...to discount and feel shame about the traditionally 'feminine' parts of herself. To feel embarrassed by the desire for love and romance and family like those are things modern women shouldn't want because they serve patriarchy...they're 'anti-feminist.' To feel guilty and ashamed of her tastes and the things she likes, because of the potential role socialization played in forming her affinity for them. To feel like she has to search for the sinister, oppressive ulterior motive behind a compliment to her attractiveness or to her traditionally feminine traits, because there MUST be one. Right?

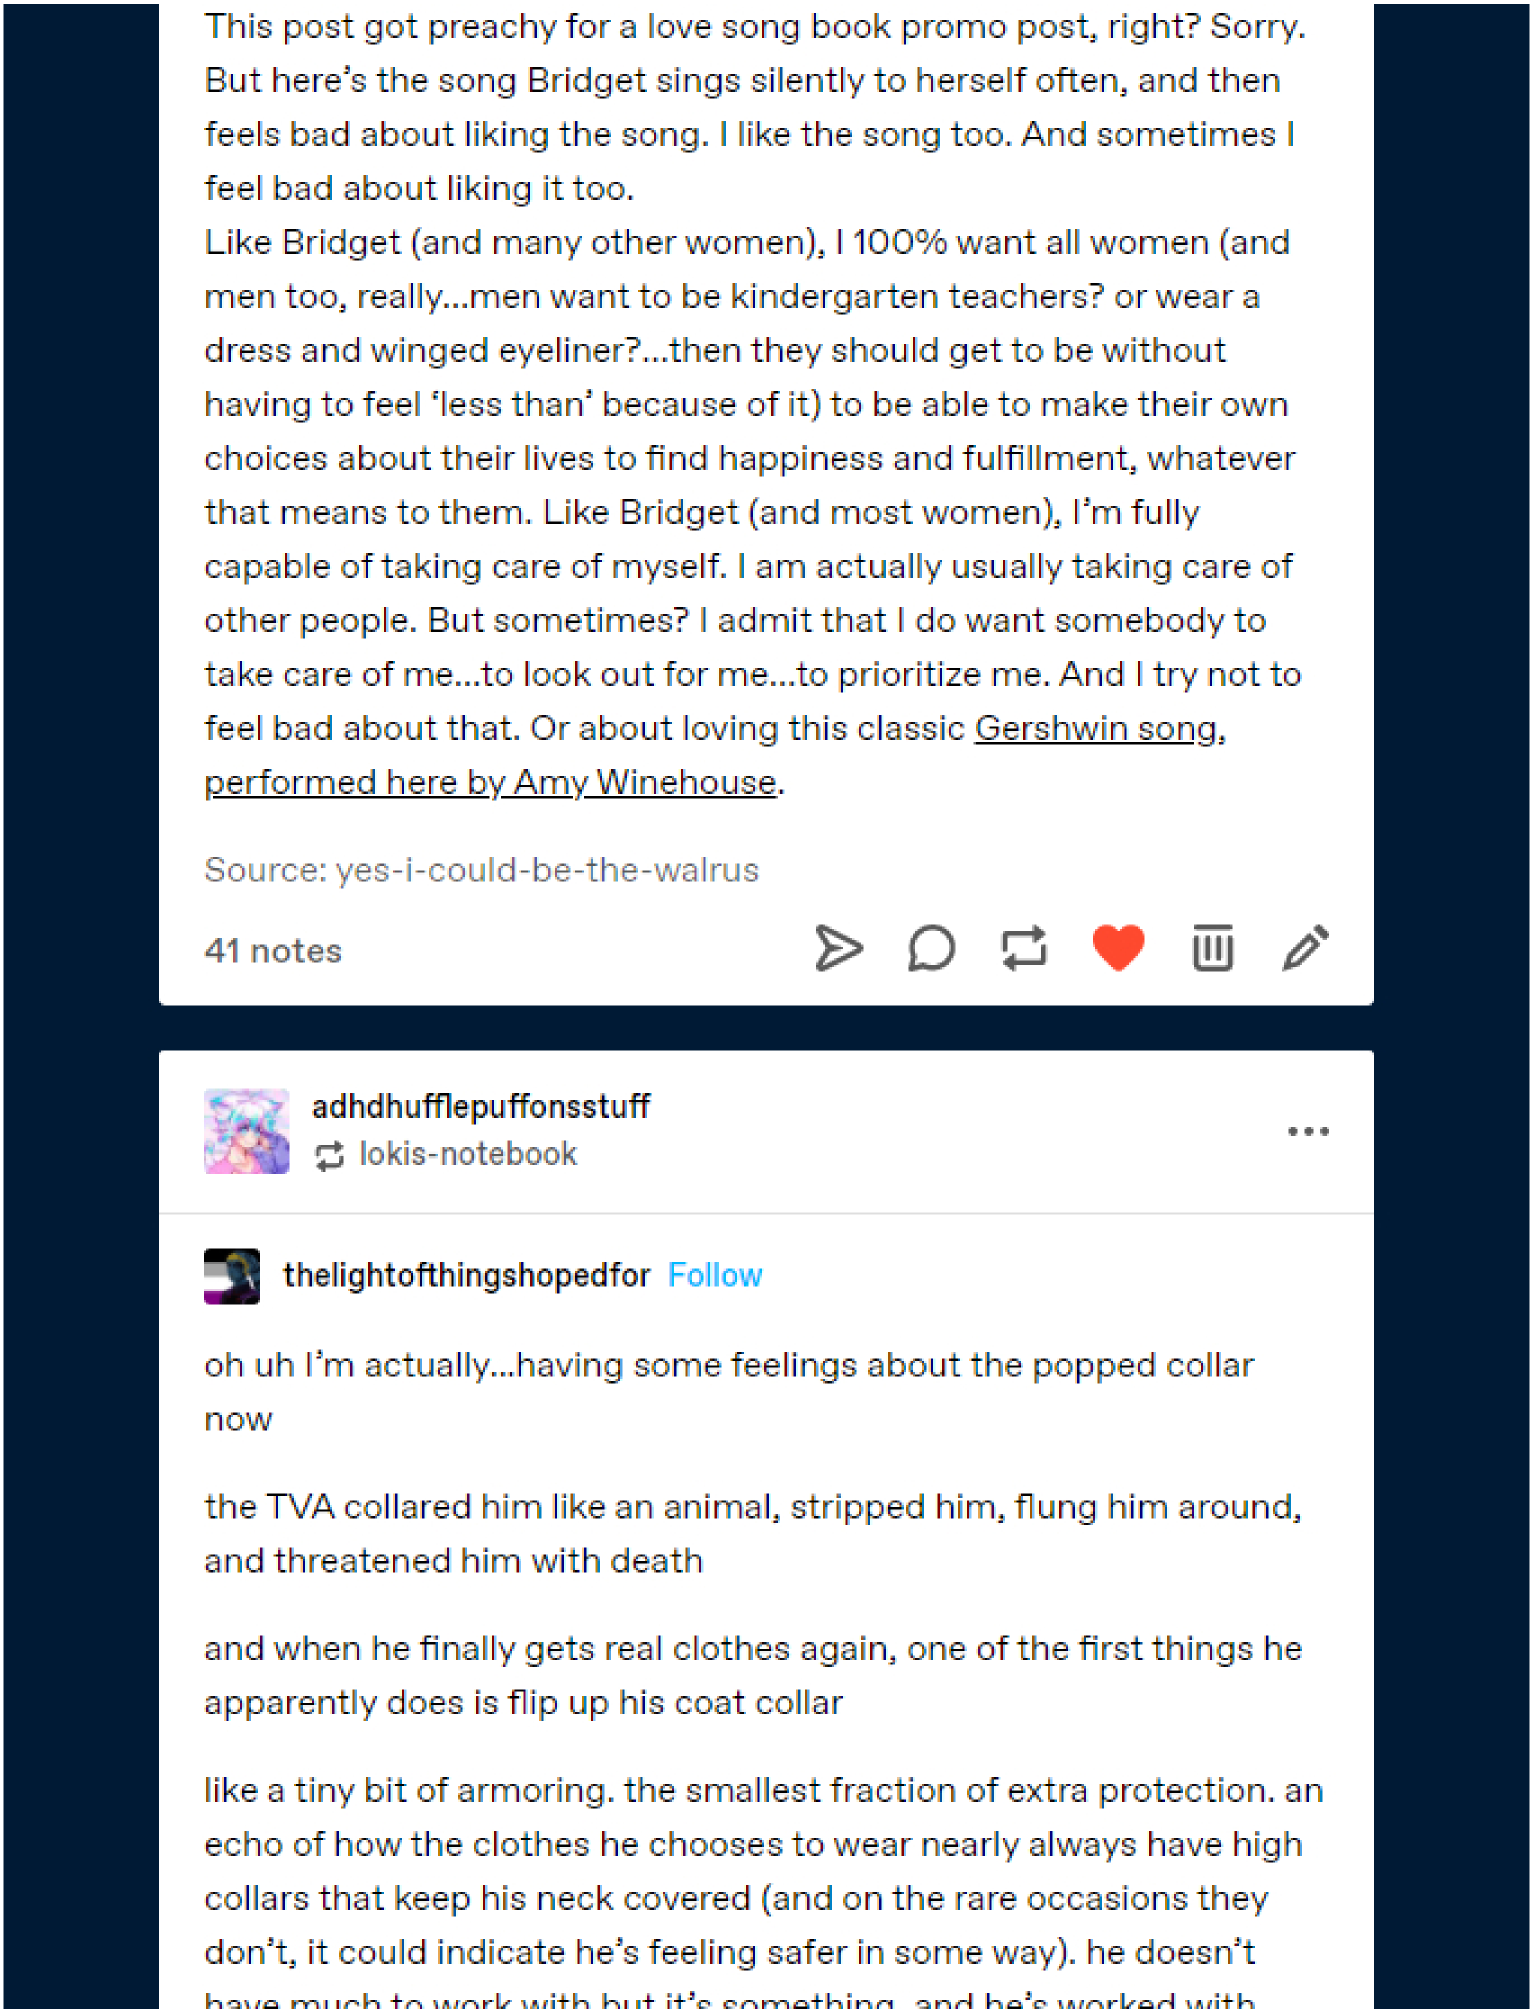
I think modern feminism actually does a disservice to women who have natural inclinations toward traditional femininity. Who are drawn to aesthetic beauty and service and nurturing and traditionally 'feminine' career choices. As though wearing a vintage pinup bathing suit or the color pink or painting her nails or being a kindergarten teacher and wanting to get married to a man preclude a woman from believing all women should be able to live how it makes them happy, even if what makes them happy includes NONE of those things. In my opinion (and Bridget's quiet one), a woman should be allowed to choose the traditionally feminine with as much pride as they choose driving trucks and wearing boots and pantsuits and becoming high powered corporate attorneys or brain surgeons or professional athletes. Maybe a woman likes wearing a dress every day and putting on her winged eye-liner. That should be okay too; the same kind of okay that a woman who hates wearing dresses and make-up should be. Women of course shouldn't be forced into a narrowly defined box of 'femininity,' but isn't it also an insult to women if we denigrate the traditionally feminine?
And what's so wrong with wanting a partner to go through life with? Sure, we can do it on our own, it's ideal to be ABLE to do it on our own, but...is it so bad to want a little pleasant, cooperative company?



This post got preachy for a love song book promo post, right? Sorry. But here's the song Bridget sings silently to herself often, and then feels bad about liking the song. I like the song too. And sometimes I feel bad about liking it too.
Like Bridget (and many other women), I 100% want all women (and men too, really...men want to be kindergarten teachers? or wear a dress and winged eyeliner?...then they should get to be without having to feel 'less than' because of it) to be able to make their own choices about their lives to find happiness and fulfillment, whatever that means to them. Like Bridget (and most women), I'm fully capable of taking care of myself. I am actually usually taking care of other people. But sometimes? I admit that I do want somebody to take care of me...to look out for me...to prioritize me. And I try not to feel bad about that. Or about loving this classic Gershwin song, performed here by Amy Winehouse.

Source: yes-i-could-be-the-walrus

41 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
lokis-notebook

thelightofthingshopedfor Follow

oh uh I'm actually...having some feelings about the popped collar now the TVA collared him like an animal, stripped him, flung him around, and threatened him with death and when he finally gets real clothes again, one of the first things he apparently does is flip up his coat collar

like a tiny bit of armoring. the smallest fraction of extra protection. an echo of how the clothes he chooses to wear nearly always have high collars that keep his neck covered (and on the rare occasions they don't, it could indicate he's feeling safer in some way). he doesn't have much to work with but it's something, and he's worked with almost nothing before.

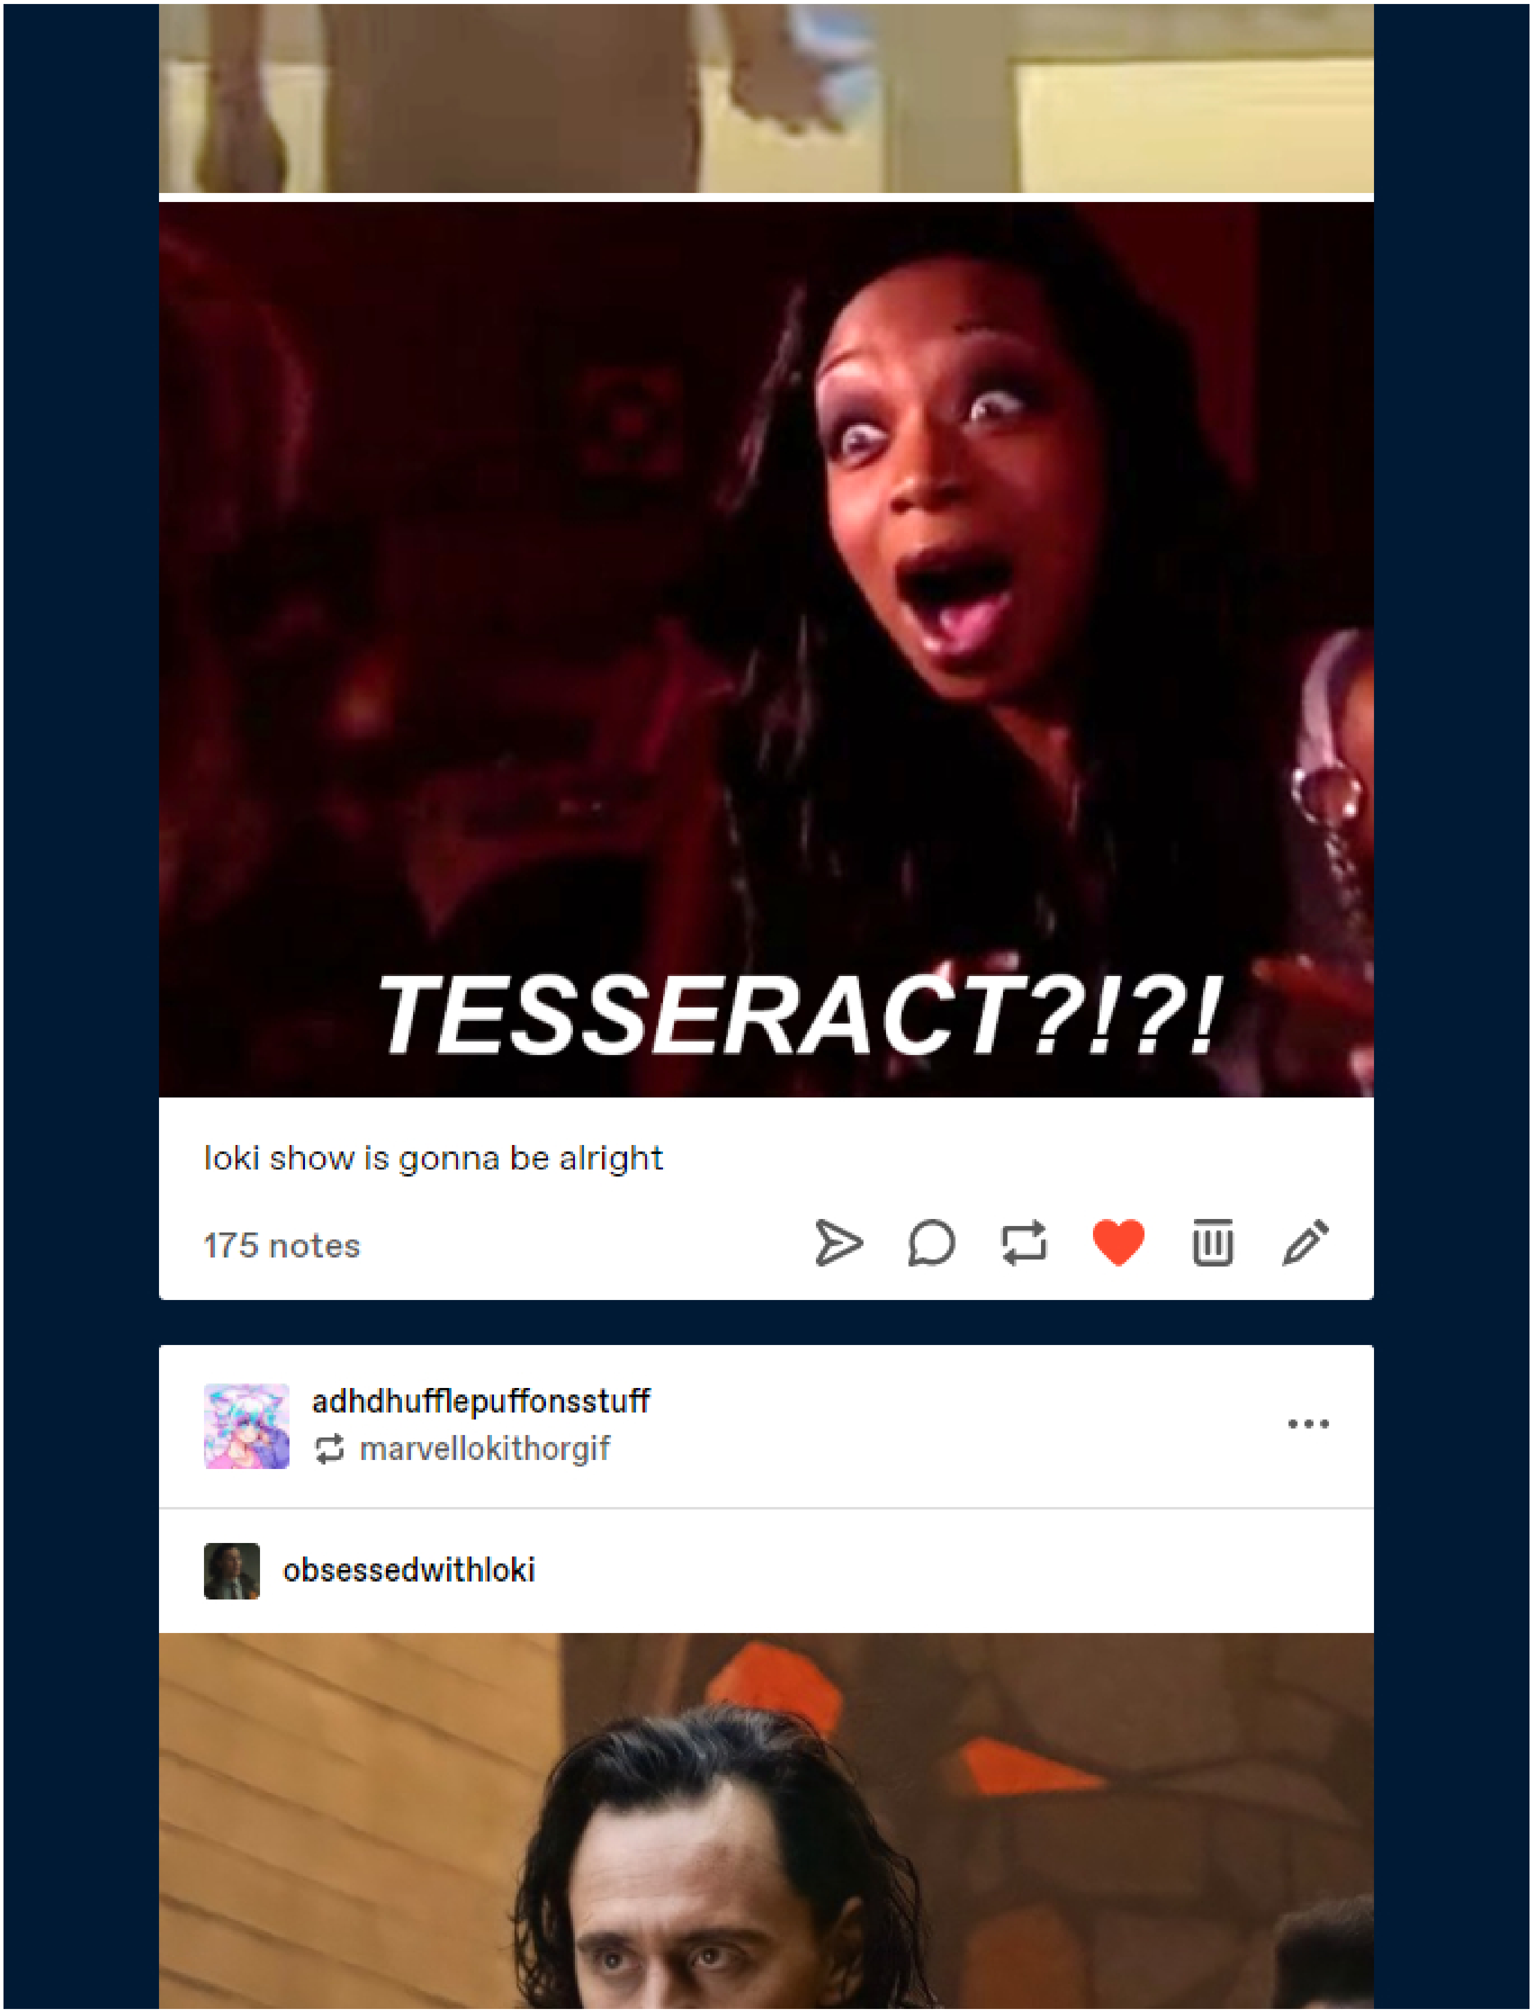
Source: thelightofthingshopedfor

150 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
worstloki

worstloki

MOBIUS
You put our timeline in chaos.



loki show is gonna be alright

175 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

marvellokithorgif

obsessedwithloki

TVA

EXCLUSIVE Entertainment
EXCLUSIVE

New photo from Entertainment Weekly!

Source: obsessedwithloki

149 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
lokihiddleston

lokihiddleston

We'll get you in front of a judge in no time.

A-14
Who actually believes this crap?

(Sir, let me see your ticket.)
No.

LOKI LAUFEYSON

SERIES DISNEY+

#loki #tom hiddleston #loki laufeyson #loki series

773 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

dhumvati

salemwitchtrials-deactivated202

i made a folder on googledrive for poetry&relevant literature that i find myself coming back to when i need to ground myself again. most are fairly well known so it's also a good place to dive into literature if you haven't already. all should be free to download but let me know & i'll try to do something about it. hope some of you get just as much from these authors as i have.

16,091 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

nyx-chews-cherry-gum

nvtumble Follow

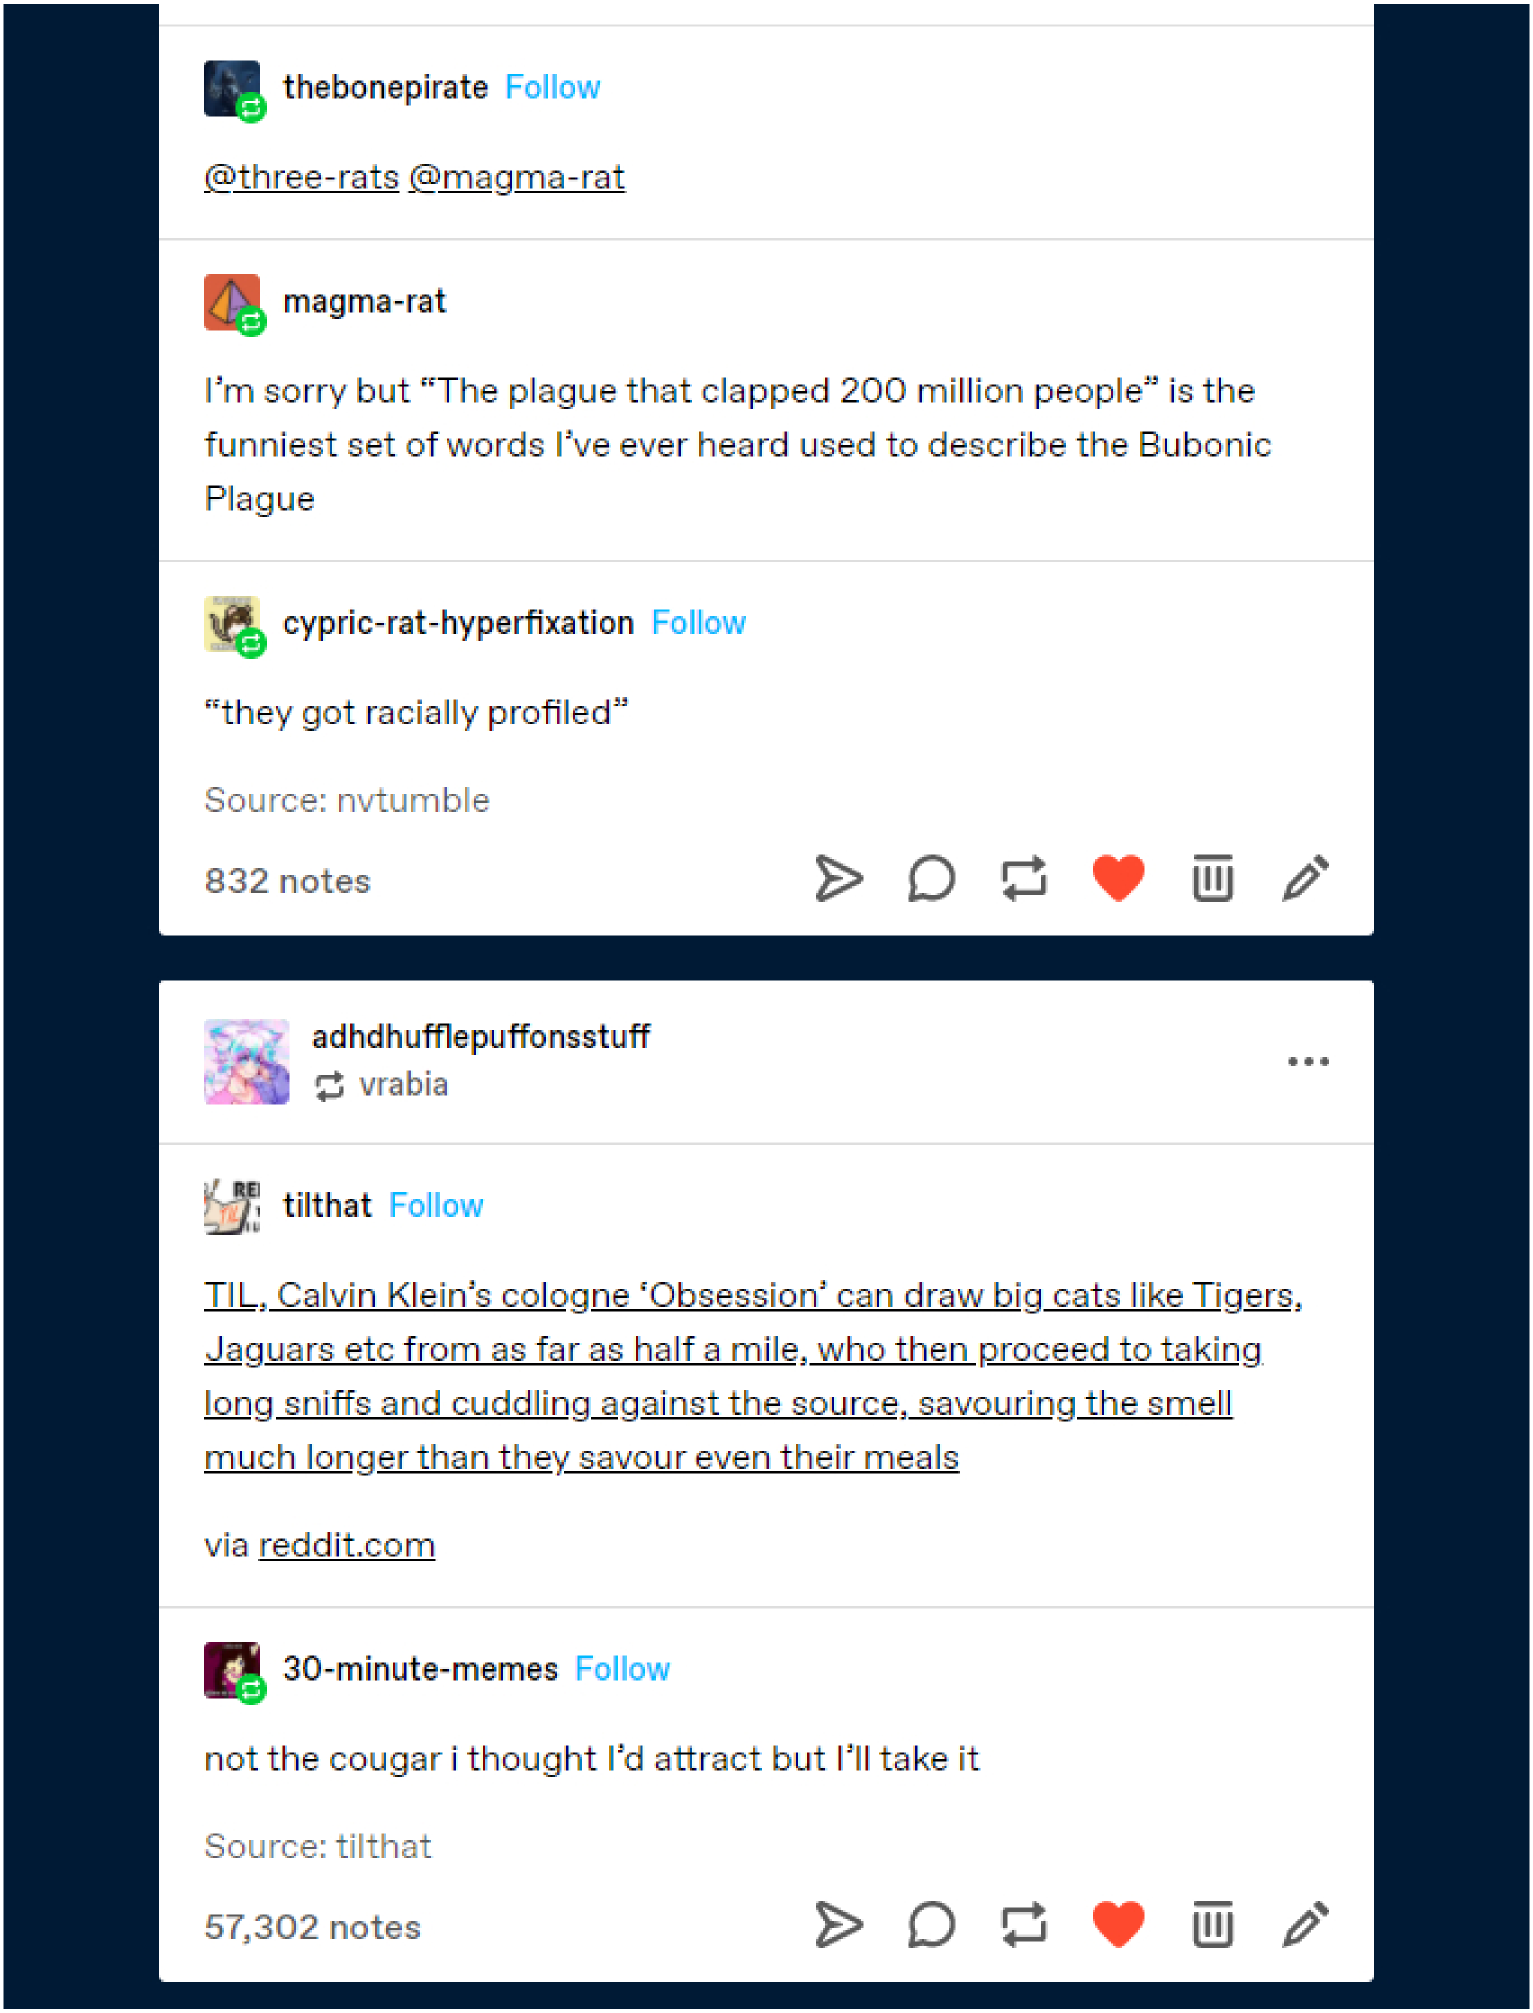
I found a vid abt rats :)

Wholesome Rat Facts
TikTok

I love rats :)

nvtumble Follow

@rat-on-fire



thebonepirate

@three-rats @magma-rat

magma-rat

I'm sorry but "The plague that clapped 200 million people" is the funniest set of words I've ever heard used to describe the Bubonic Plague

cypric-rat-hyperfixation

"they got racially profiled"

Source: nvtumble

832 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
vrabia

tilthat

TIL, Calvin Klein's cologne 'Obsession' can draw big cats like Tigers, Jaguars etc from as far as half a mile, who then proceed to taking long sniffs and cuddling against the source, savouring the smell much longer than they savour even their meals

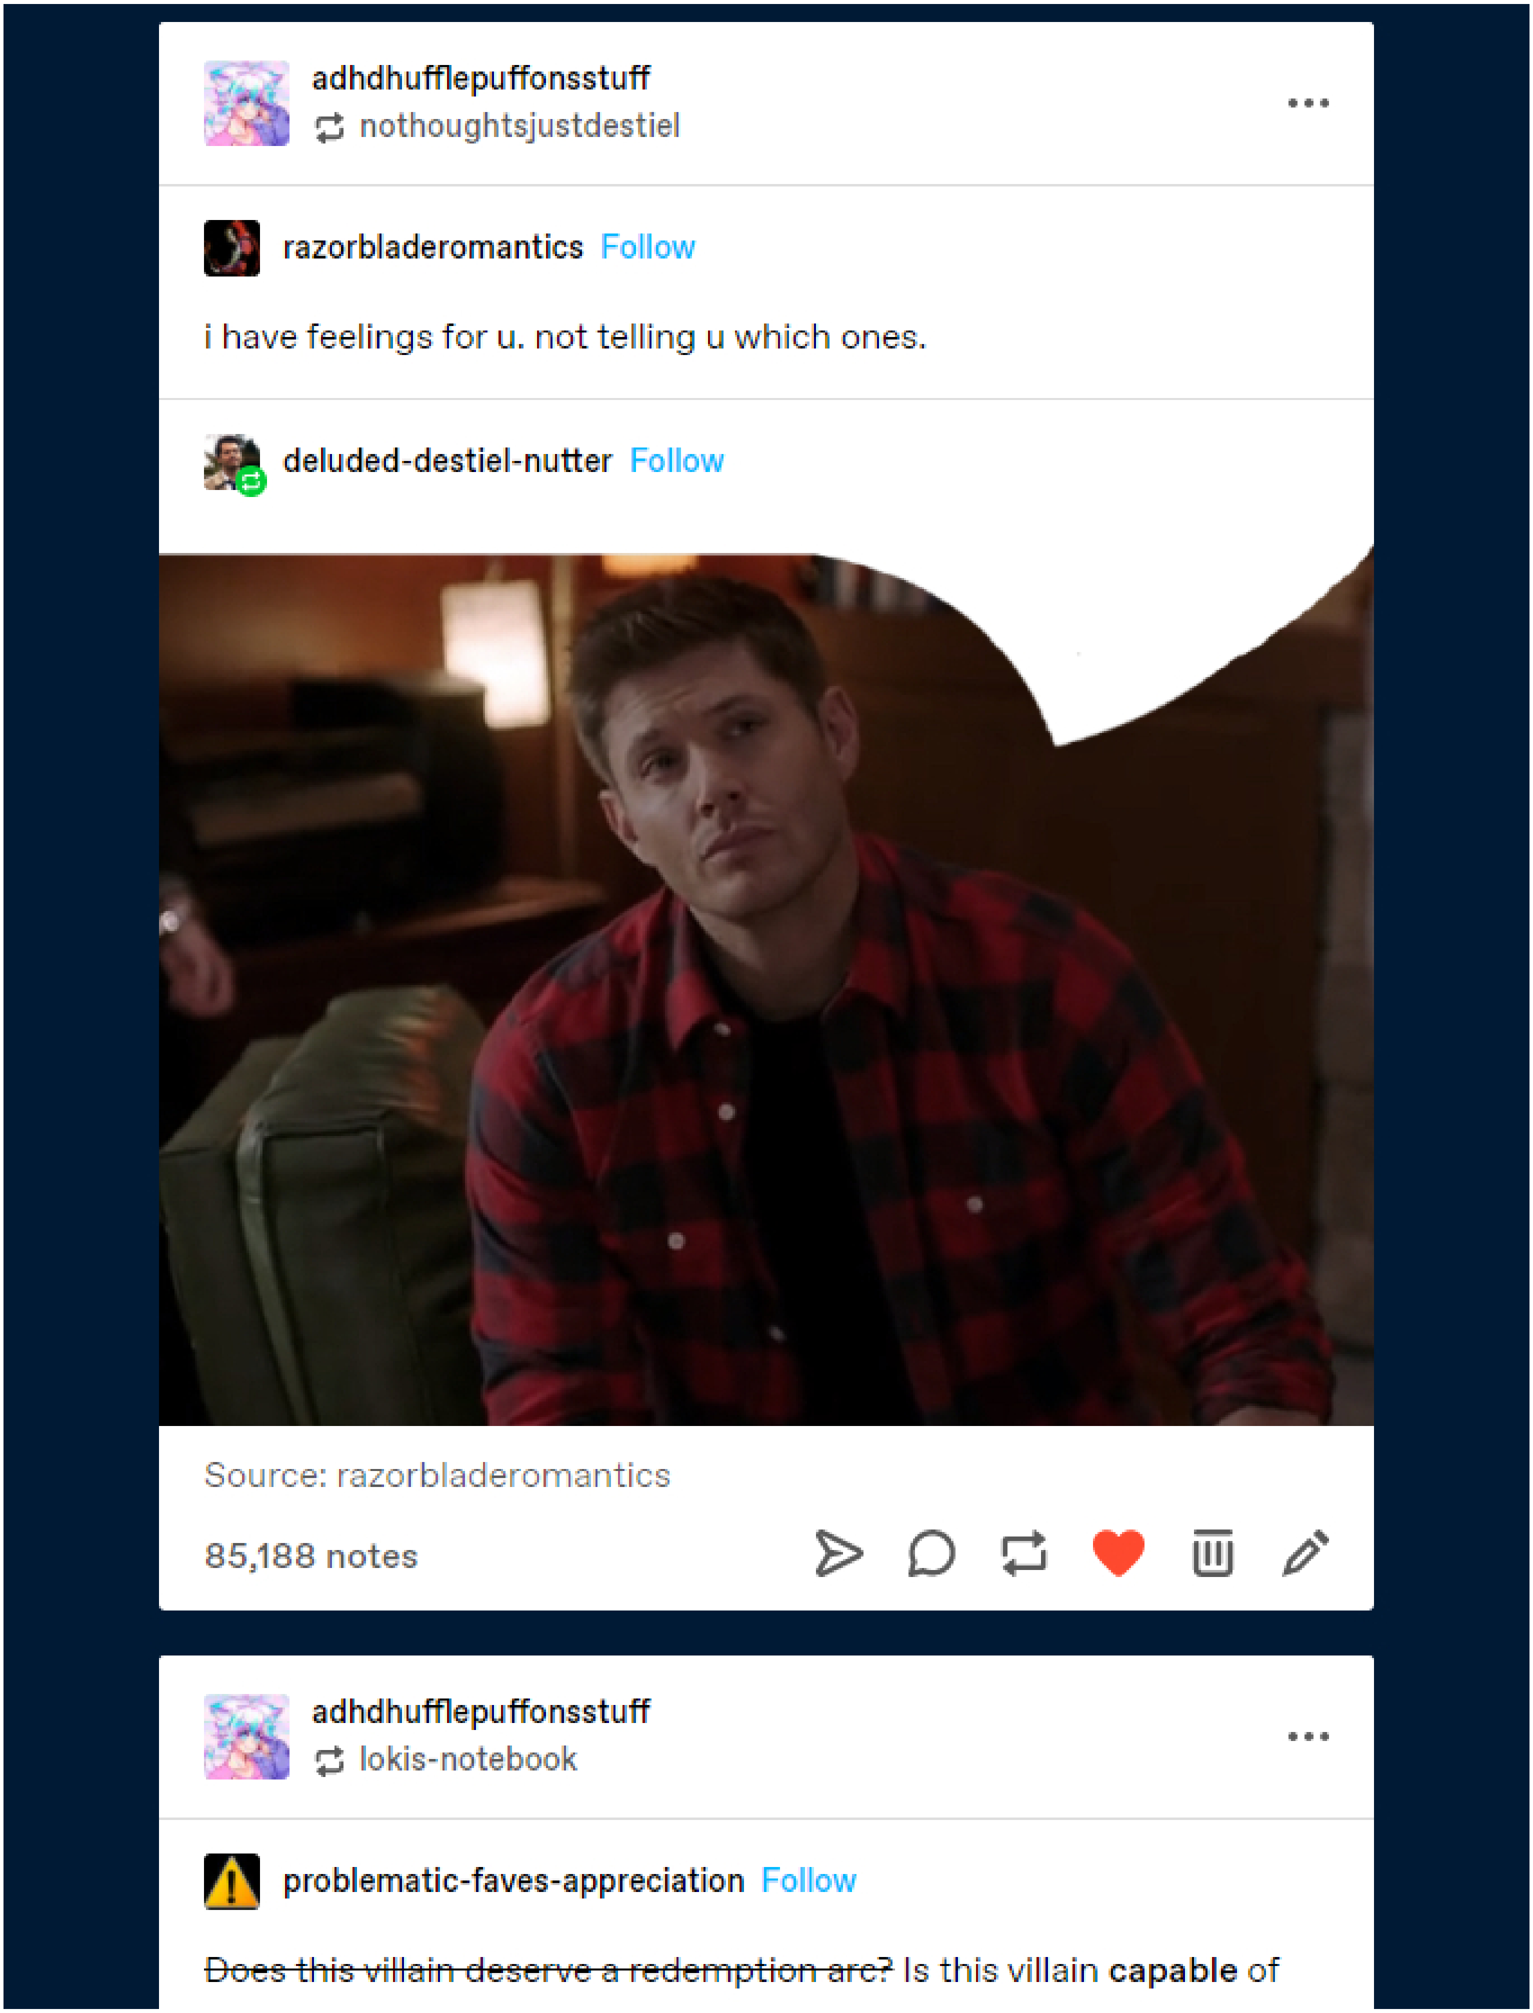
via reddit.com

30-minute-memes

not the cougar i thought I'd attract but I'll take it

Source: tilthat

57,302 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
nothoughtsjustdestiel

razorbladeromantics

i have feelings for u. not telling u which ones.

deluded-destiel-nutter

Source: razorbladeromantics

85,188 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
lokis-notebook

problematic-faves-appreciation

~~Does this villain deserve a redemption arc?~~ Is this villain capable of undergoing redemption?

That's the question we should all be asking ourselves. If a villain acknowledges the error of their ways and expresses remorse, they are therefore capable of embarking on a redemption arc.

But if they're Demona from Disney's Gargoyles - who blames humanity for all her problems/never admits to her mistakes - then you've got an irredeemable villain, regardless of her sympathetic qualities.

In the end, no one "deserves" a redemption arc. What truly matters here is the villain's capacity to change for the better. Sincere character growth.

---

animatedamerican

You're right that that's the question we should be asking, but I think there's still another necessary step to reframe this.

You said: "If a villain acknowledges the error of their ways and expresses remorse, they are therefore capable of embarking on a redemption arc."

But if a villain acknowledges the error of their ways and expresses remorse, they aren't just capable -- they have already started a redemption arc. If they don't (if, e.g., they're Demona from Disney's Gargoyles, excellent example), then they haven't.

But! The statements "they haven't changed" and "they're incapable of change" are two vastly different things! It's entirely true that Demona has never taken responsibility for her own misdeeds, but it cannot be stated with any certainty that this means she isn't capable of doing so.

Take anyone who has undergone a redemption arc, stop telling their story right before the point where they start to change -- and how can you tell from that moment whether they're capable of change or not? You can consider it unlikely, certainly (I don't think very highly of Demona's chances, sadly), but you can't ever really know it to be impossible. Even if the story ends and it doesn't happen, you can't know that it couldn't have happened.

Unredeemed doesn't mean irredeemable.

headspace-hotel Follow

EXACTLY this

Like, isnt the entire point that they don't "deserve" redemption? That you can't "deserve" redemption? That it's still worth it, intrinsically, to try to become a better person even if there is no personal reward?

"Deserve" implies some other entity is handing out the opportunity for redemption on the basis of merit, but a character isn't redeemed by other characters when they decide the character has Changed or is good enough to be redeemed. It's a personal, internal process

Source: problematic-faves-appreciation

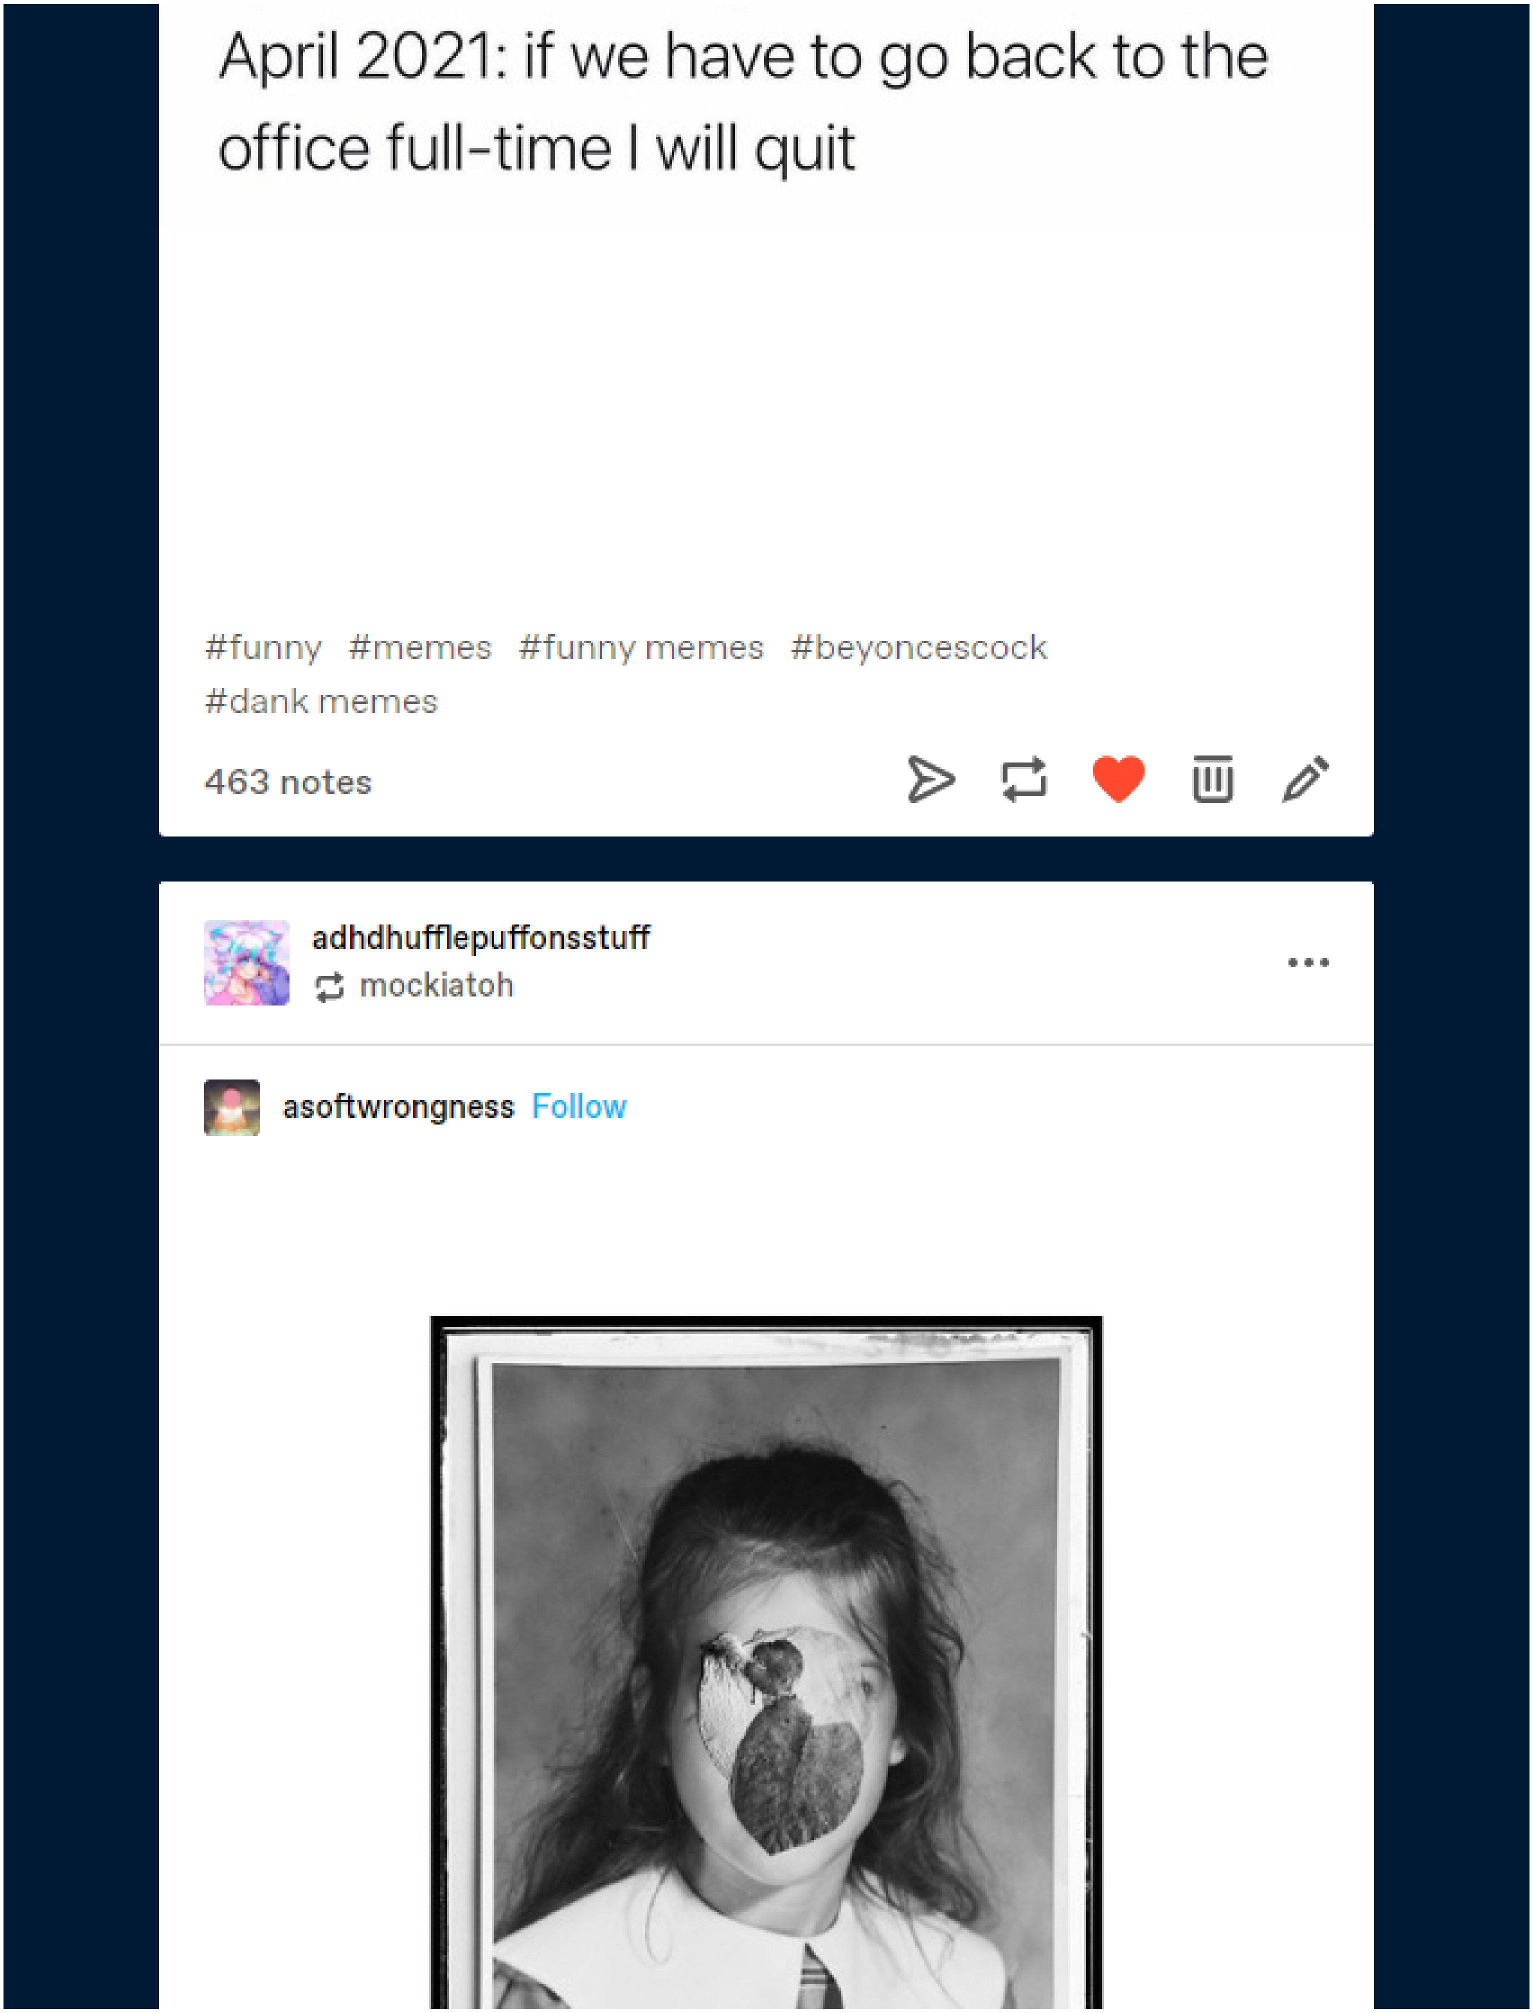
2,720 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
beyoncescock Follow

beyoncescock Follow

Sophie Vershbow
@svershbow

April 2020: working from home sucks



April 2021: if we have to go back to the office full-time I will quit

#funny #memes #funny memes #beyoncescock #dank memes

463 notes

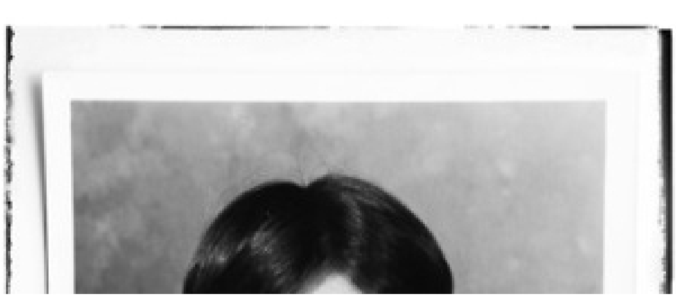
adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

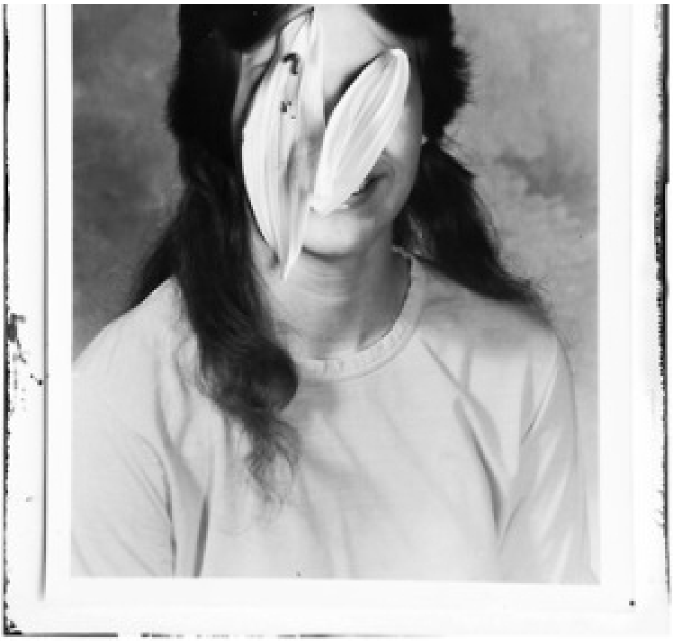
mockiatoh

asoftwrongness

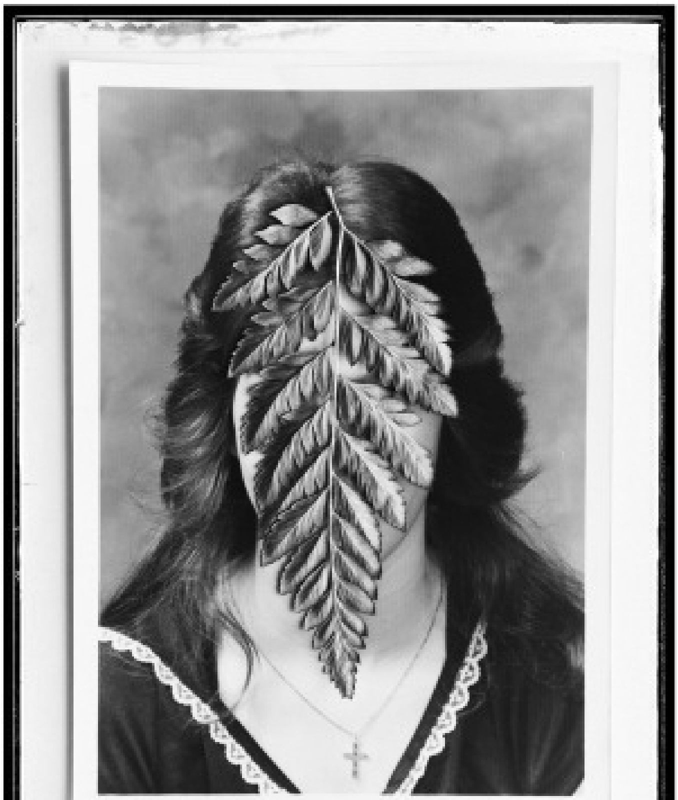
My mother's love is unconditional.

My mother's love is sacrificial.

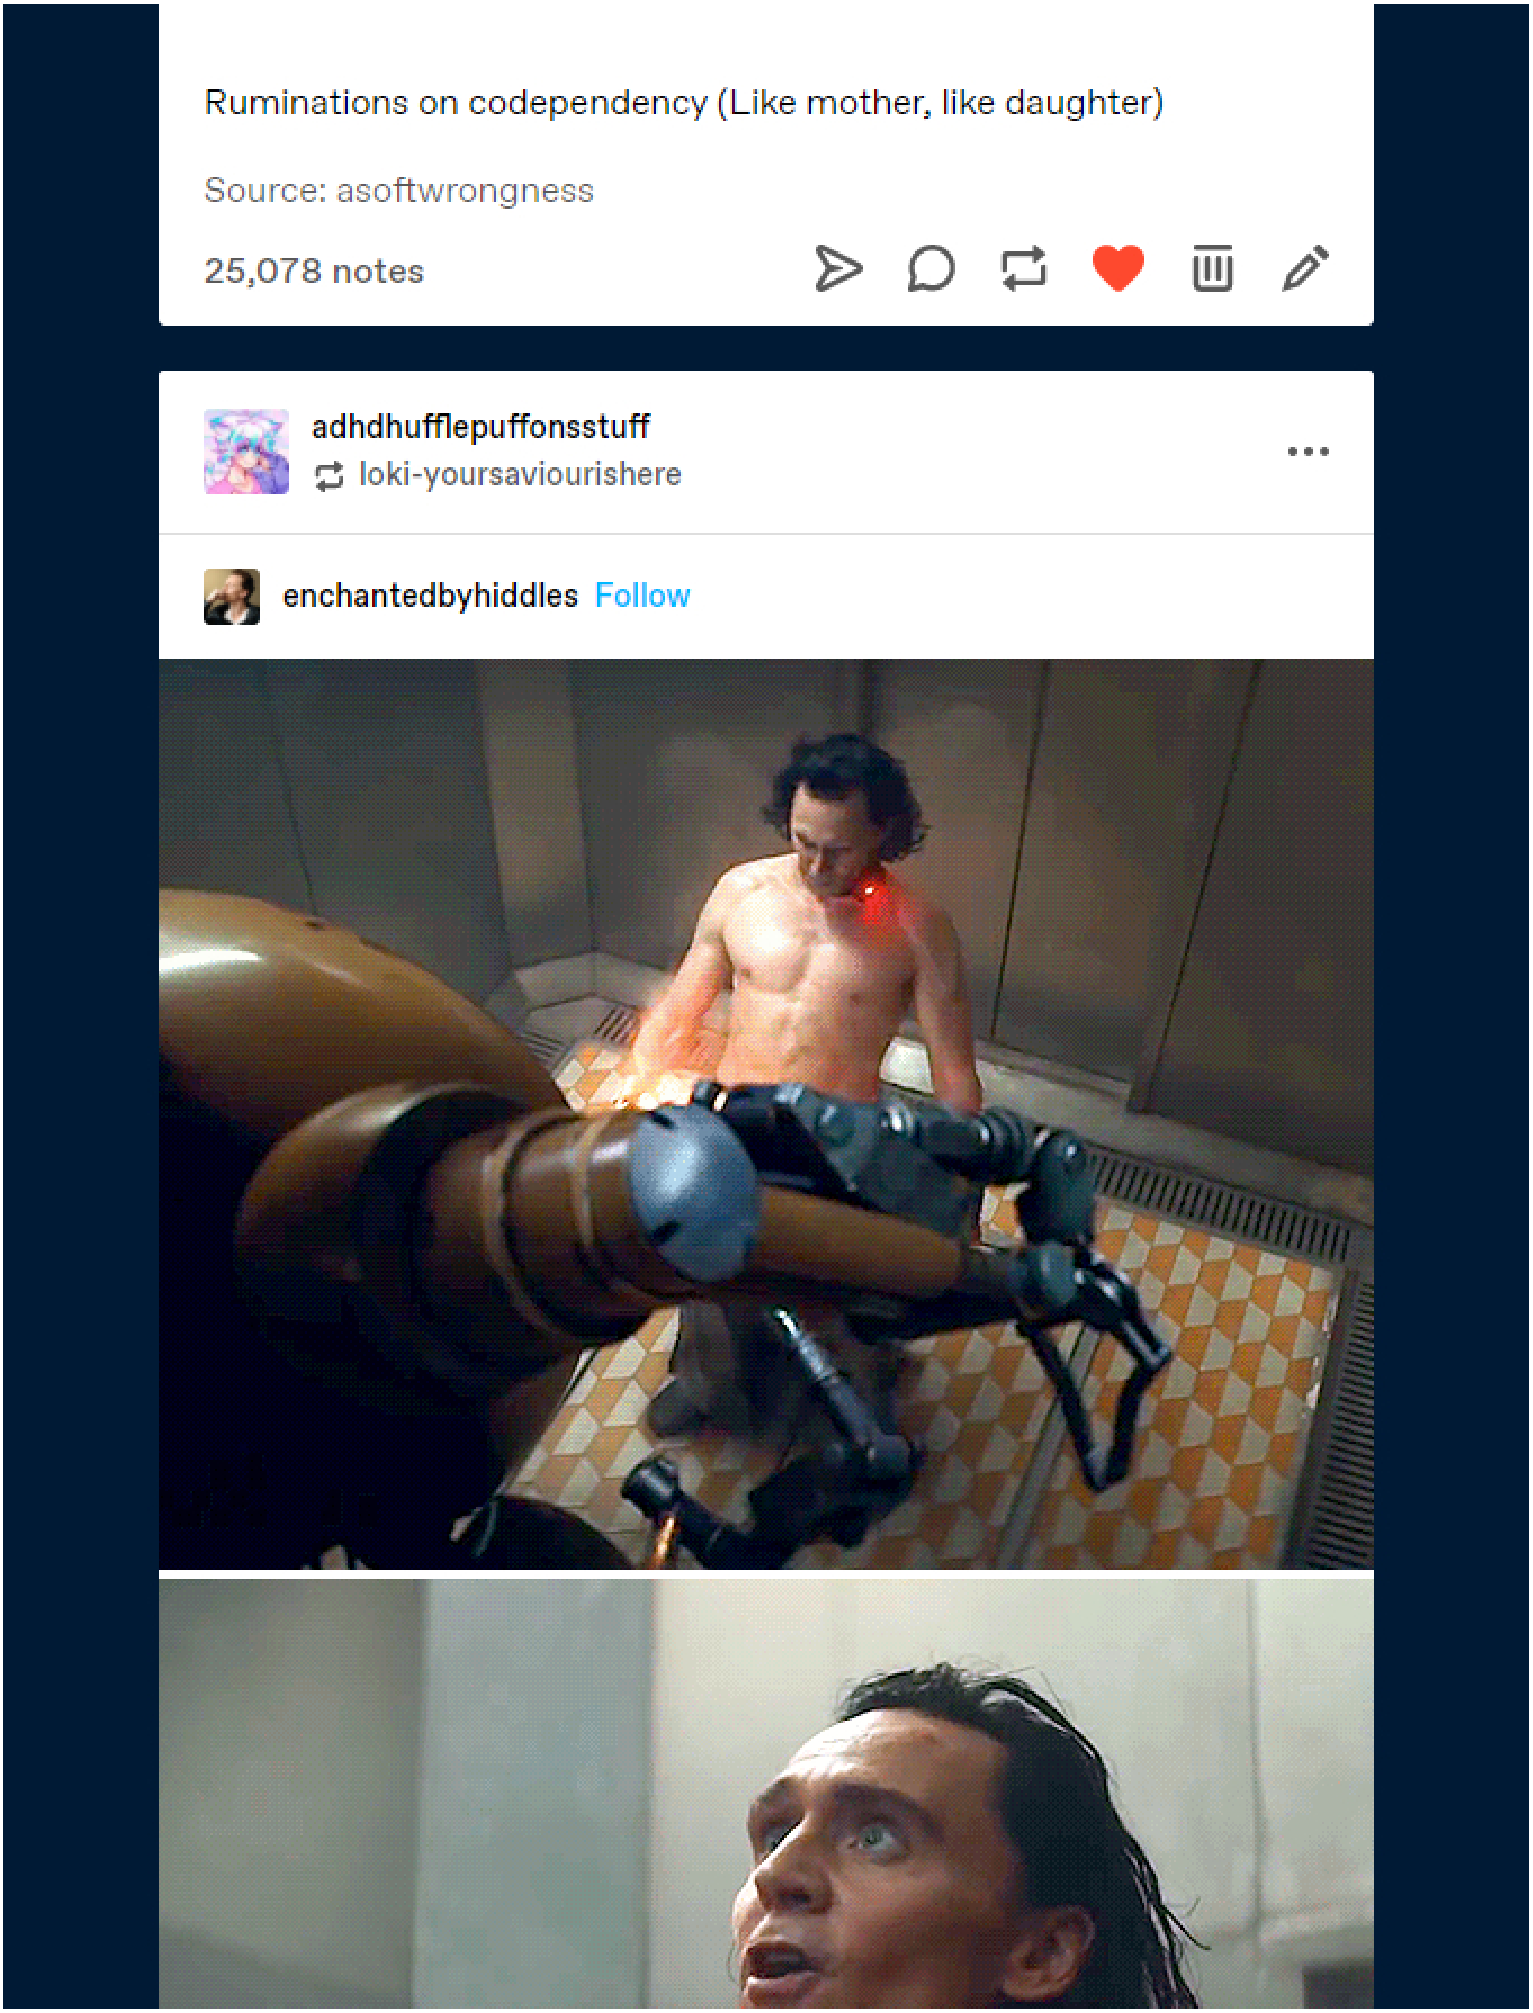




My mother's love is a danger to her health.



My mother's love is the disintegration of herself.



Ruminations on codependency (Like mother, like daughter)

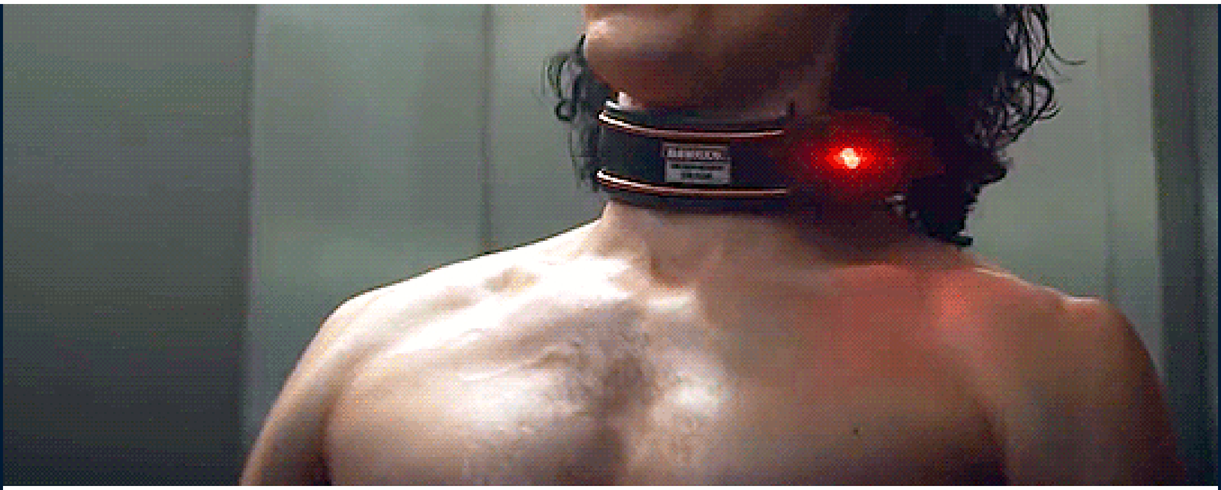
Source: asoftwrongness

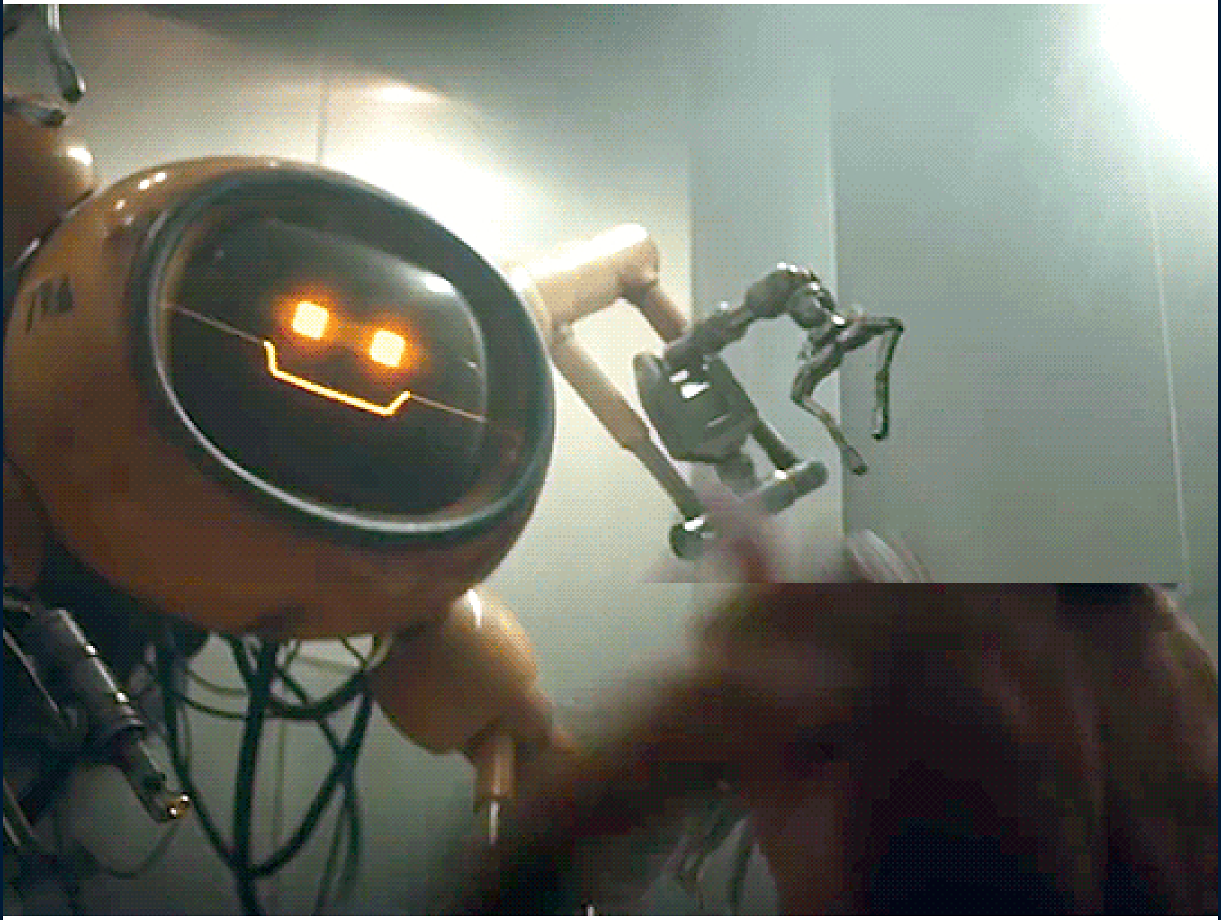
25,078 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

loki-yoursaviourishere

enchantedbyhiddles





Source: enchantedbyhiddles

1,699 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

kamalahkhan

venka Follow

you can click on this button once daily to help palestine and support other causes in the middle east for free. it takes literally 5 seconds and could help save lives so please take the time to click and share this link.

Source: venka

23,886 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
camelotsheart

gayarsonist

it would be fun if an angel and a vampire were friends i think

gayarsonist

vampire: ugh, you mortals simply can't comprehend the timescale i live on. i've watched your empires rise and fall, your cities crumble to dust. i find your short little lives amusing at best. i - angel: HI, I HAVE BEEN ALIVE SINCE THE DAWN OF TIME AND I NOTICED YOU ARE ALSO SOMEWHAT OLD?

vampire: ...sure. hey what was the dawn of time like?

angel: PRETTY BORING ACTUALLY. NOTHING ELSE EXISTED YET.

vampire: oh, man, i feel you. i slept through, like, the entire 14th century it was so boring. everyone was dying of plague and shit anyway so i didn't miss much.

gayarsonist

vampire: hey i am outside your apartment

angel: YOU'VE JUST BEEN STANDING THERE? FOR HOW LONG?

vampire: uhhhhhhh a mere speck in comparison to our immortal lives so don't worry about it honestly. i need you to invite me in though.

angel: OF COURSE, I'M SO SORRY. PLEASE COME IN.

vampire: steps over the threshold and immediately starts hissing and coughing like a cat with a bad hairball angel: OH, I'M SO SORRY. MY APARTMENT IS CONSIDERED HOLY GROUND BECAUSE I LIVE IN IT. I SHOULD HAVE WARNED YOU.

vampire: coughing it's fine. do you - cough wheeze what are your thoughts on chinese? i know a great place just a couple of blocks from here

gayarsonist

everyone replying to this with "and they were lovers"? target audience

Source: gayarsonist

28,156 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
dhumvati

weltenwellen Follow

What do you do with tenderness when all you expect is fury?

Hieu Nguyen, from "Nguyễn", Not Here

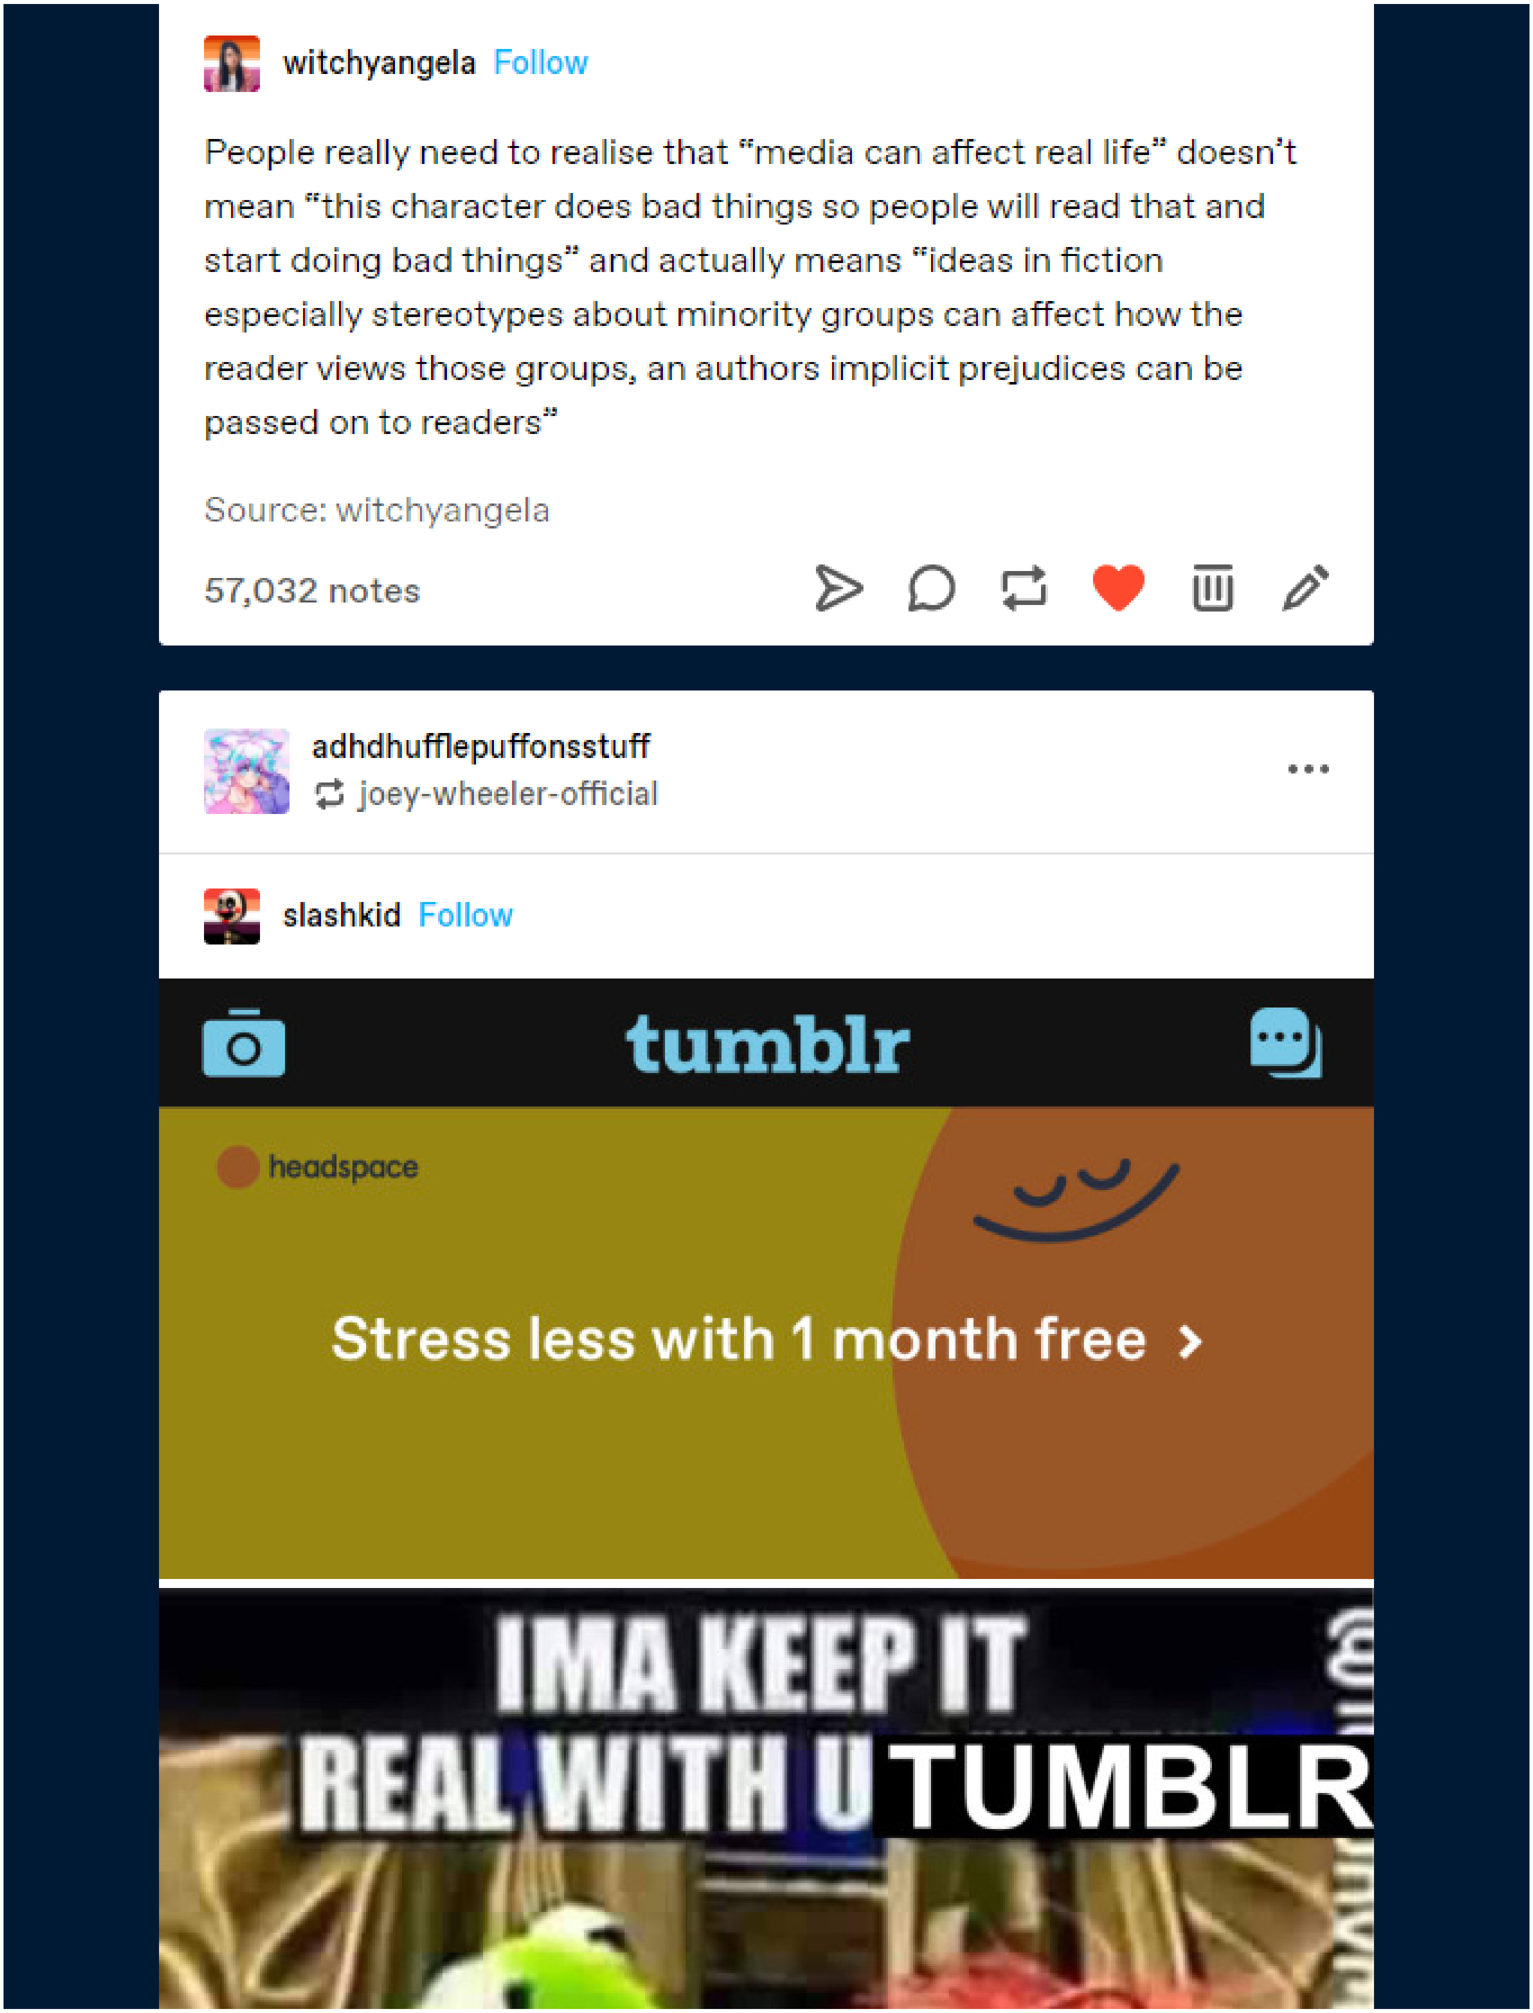
Source: weltenwellen

5,730 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
lokis-notebook



witchyangela Follow

People really need to realise that “media can affect real life” doesn’t mean “this character does bad things so people will read that and start doing bad things” and actually means “ideas in fiction especially stereotypes about minority groups can affect how the reader views those groups, an authors implicit prejudices can be passed on to readers”

Source: witchyangela

57,032 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
joey-wheeler-official

slashkid Follow

tumblr headspace
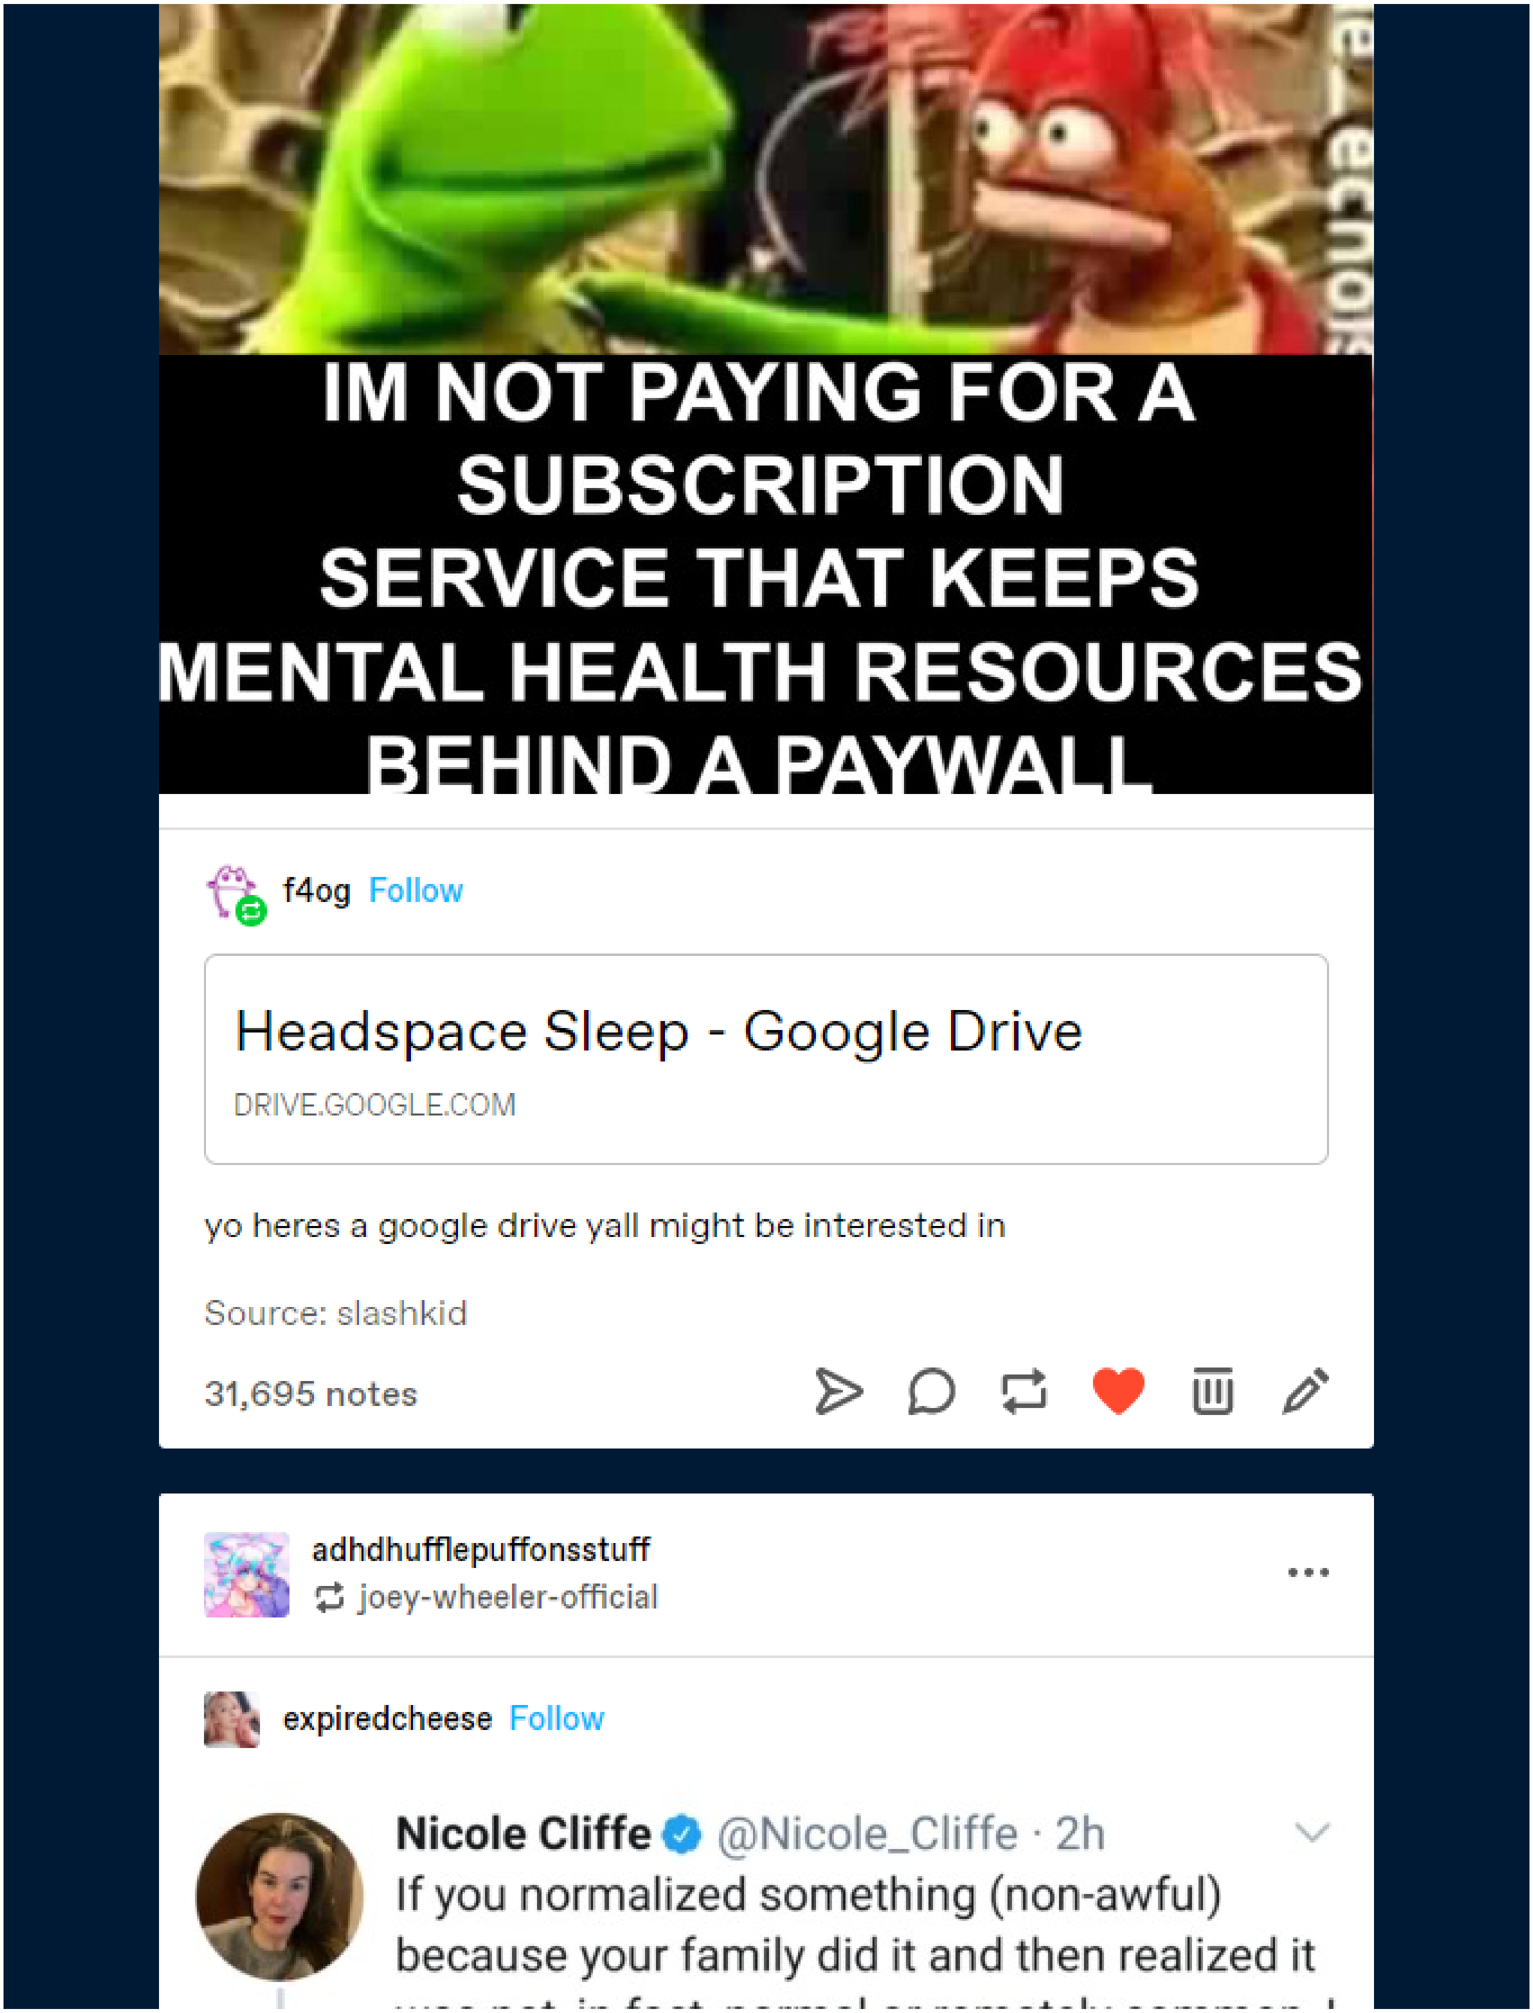
Stress less with 1 month free ›
IMA KEEP IT
REAL WITH U TUMBLR



IM NOT PAYING FOR A SUBSCRIPTION SERVICE THAT KEEPS MENTAL HEALTH RESOURCES BEHIND A PAYWALL

f4og Follow

Headspace Sleep - Google Drive

DRIVE.GOOGLE.COM

yo heres a google drive yall might be interested in

Source: slashkid

31,695 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
joey-wheeler-official expiredcheese Follow

Nicole Cliffe @Nicole_Cliffe · 2h

If you normalized something (non-awful) because your family did it and then realized it was not, in fact, normal or remotely common, I would love to hear about it.

Morgan 5 1 Finkelstein @momofink

Replying to @Nicole_Cliffe

the villain in my bedtime stories was always the President of the Homeowner's Association and I was sooooo confused when no one else had heard of him

6:50 am · 08 Sep 20 · Twitter for iPhone

40 Retweets 4 Quote Tweets 1,313 Likes

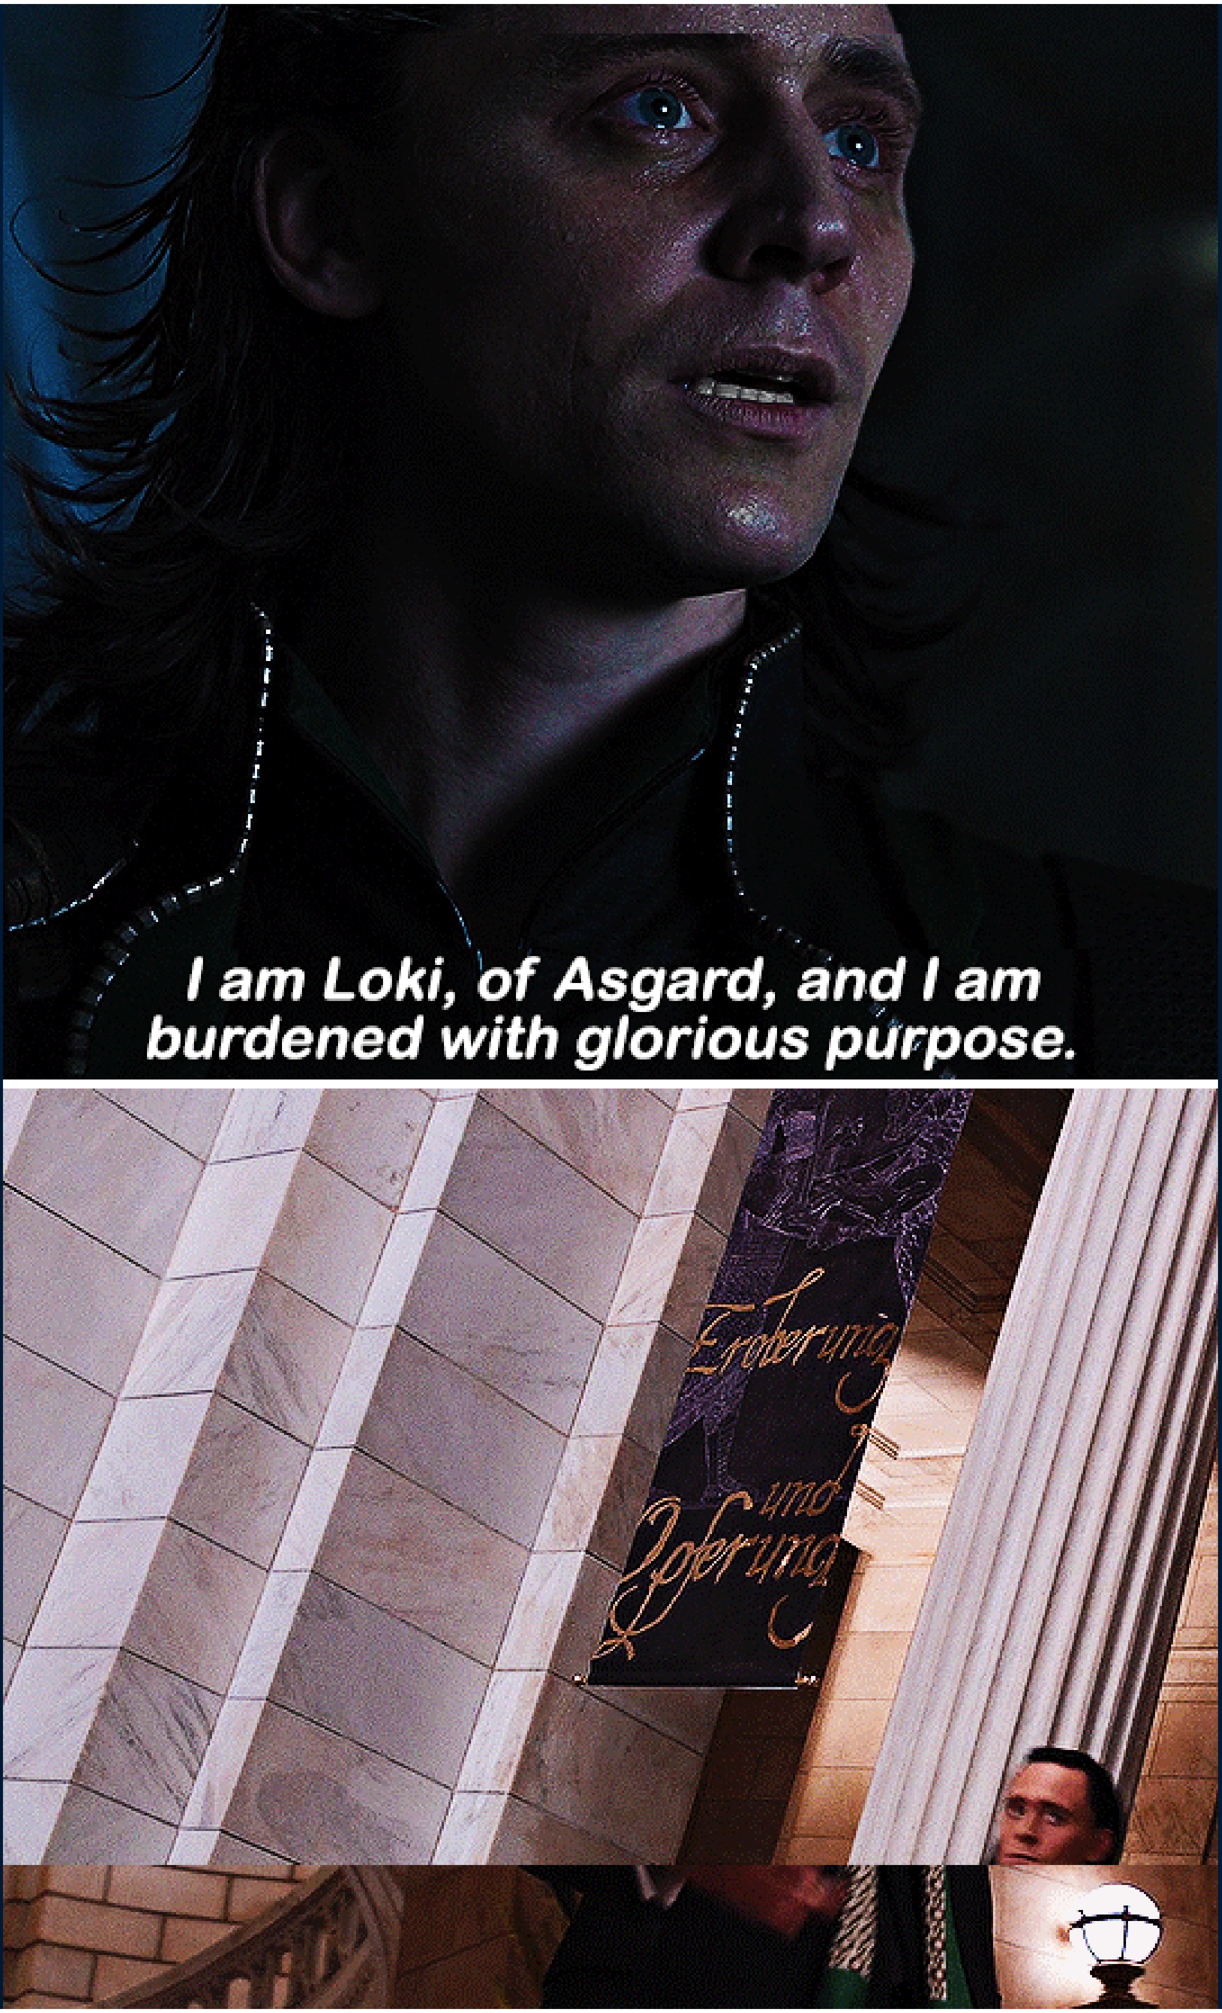
Source: expiredcheese

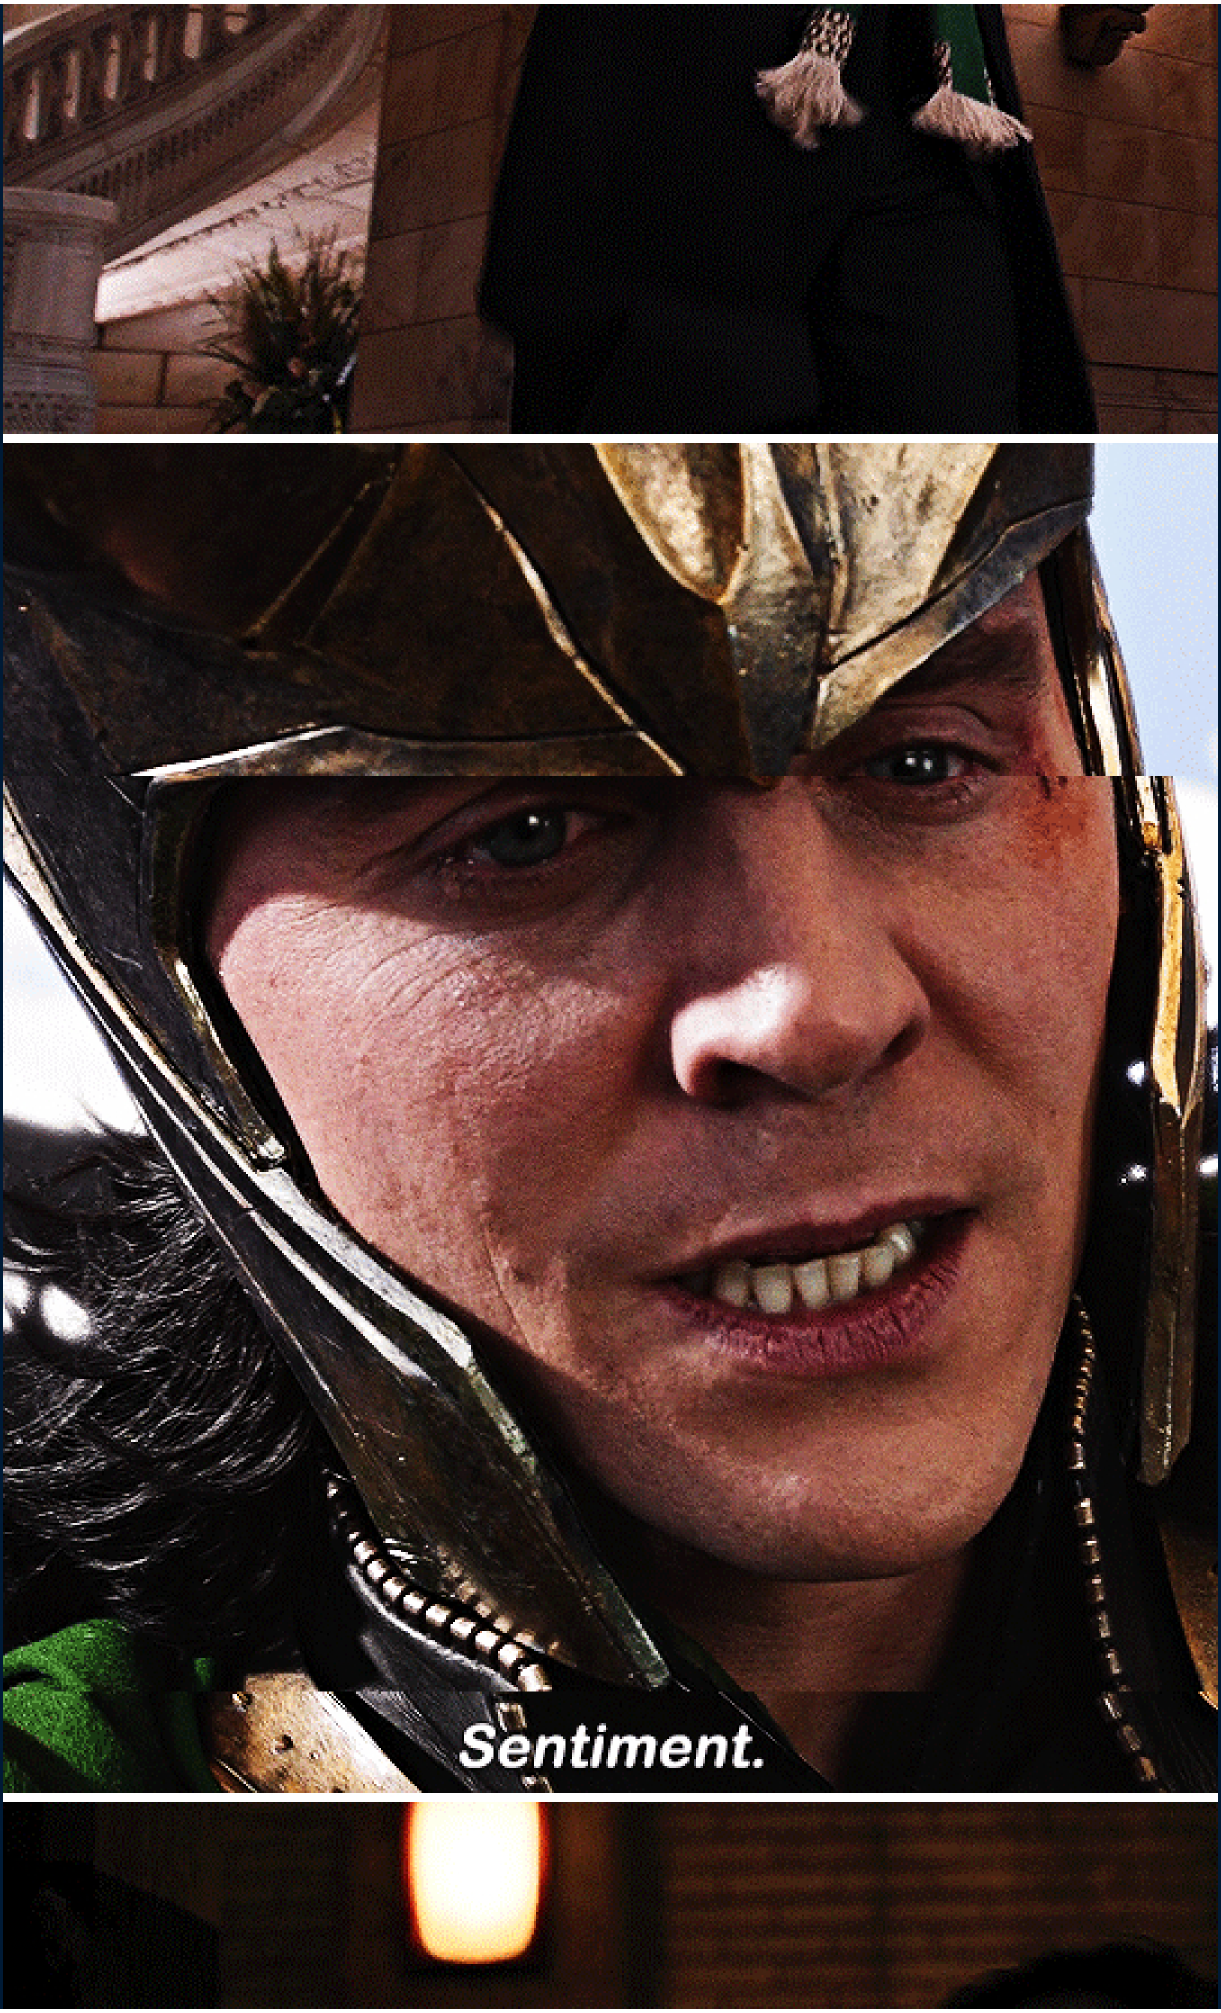
82,307 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
lokis-notebook

marvelheroes

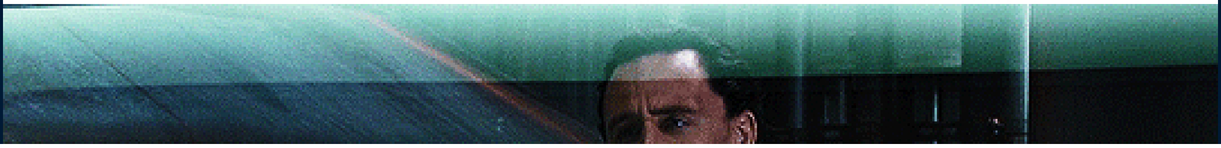


I am Loki, of Asgard, and I am burdened with glorious purpose.
Eroberung und Opferung



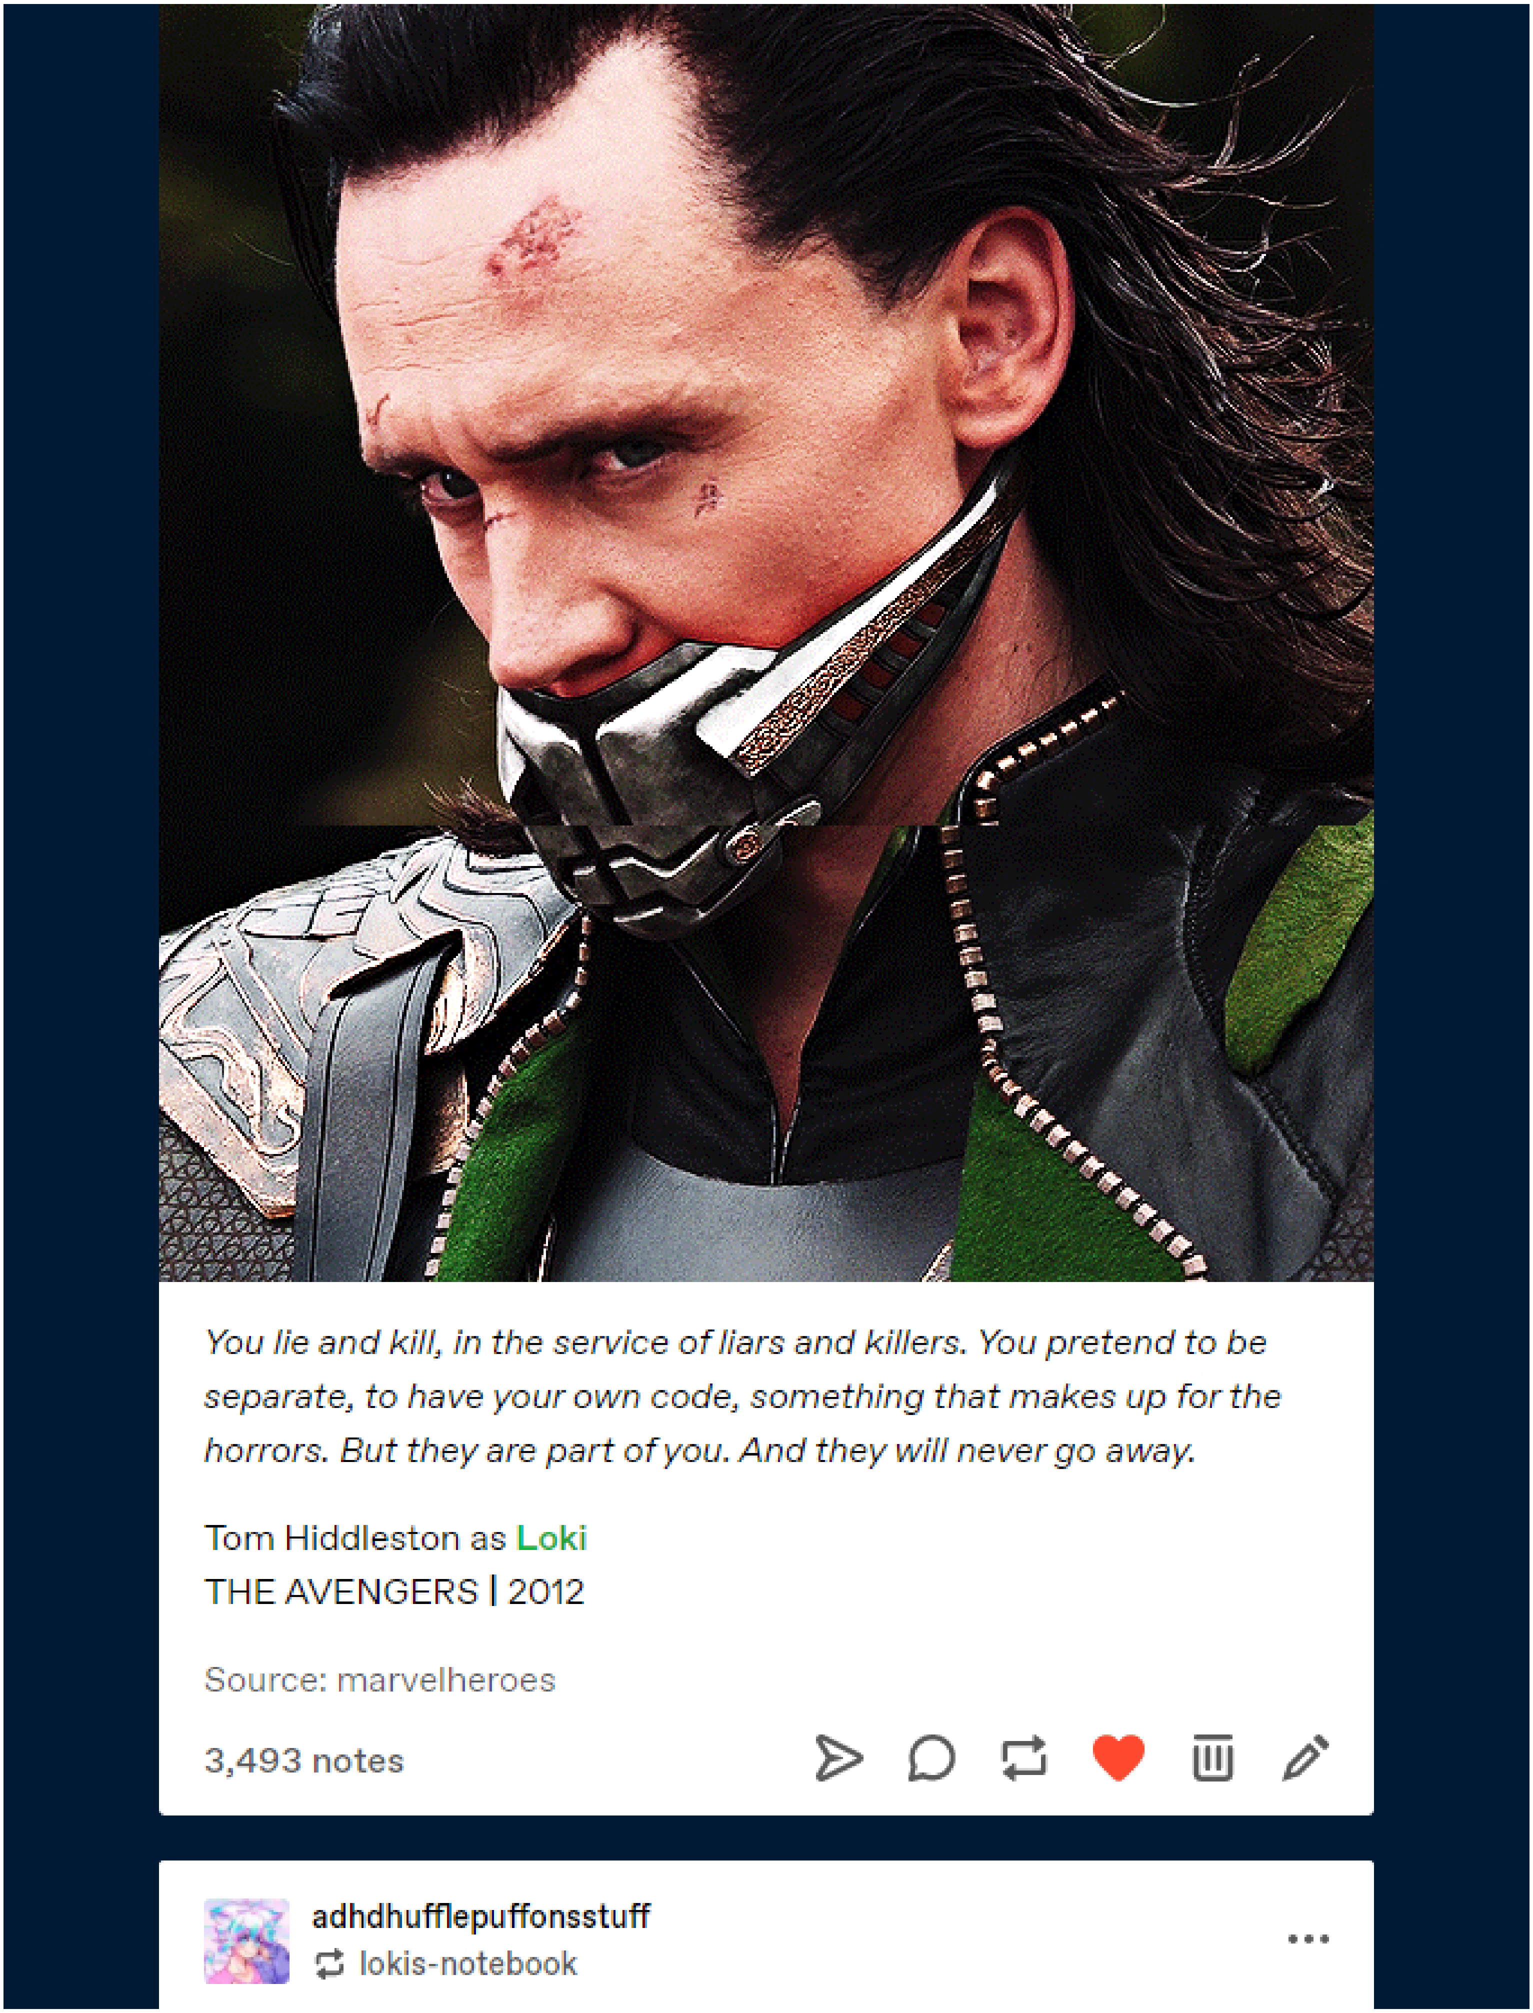
Sentiment.

[THOR: You listen well, brother—]
...I’m listening.



Are you ever not going to fall for that?

If it's all the same to you…
I'll have that drink now.



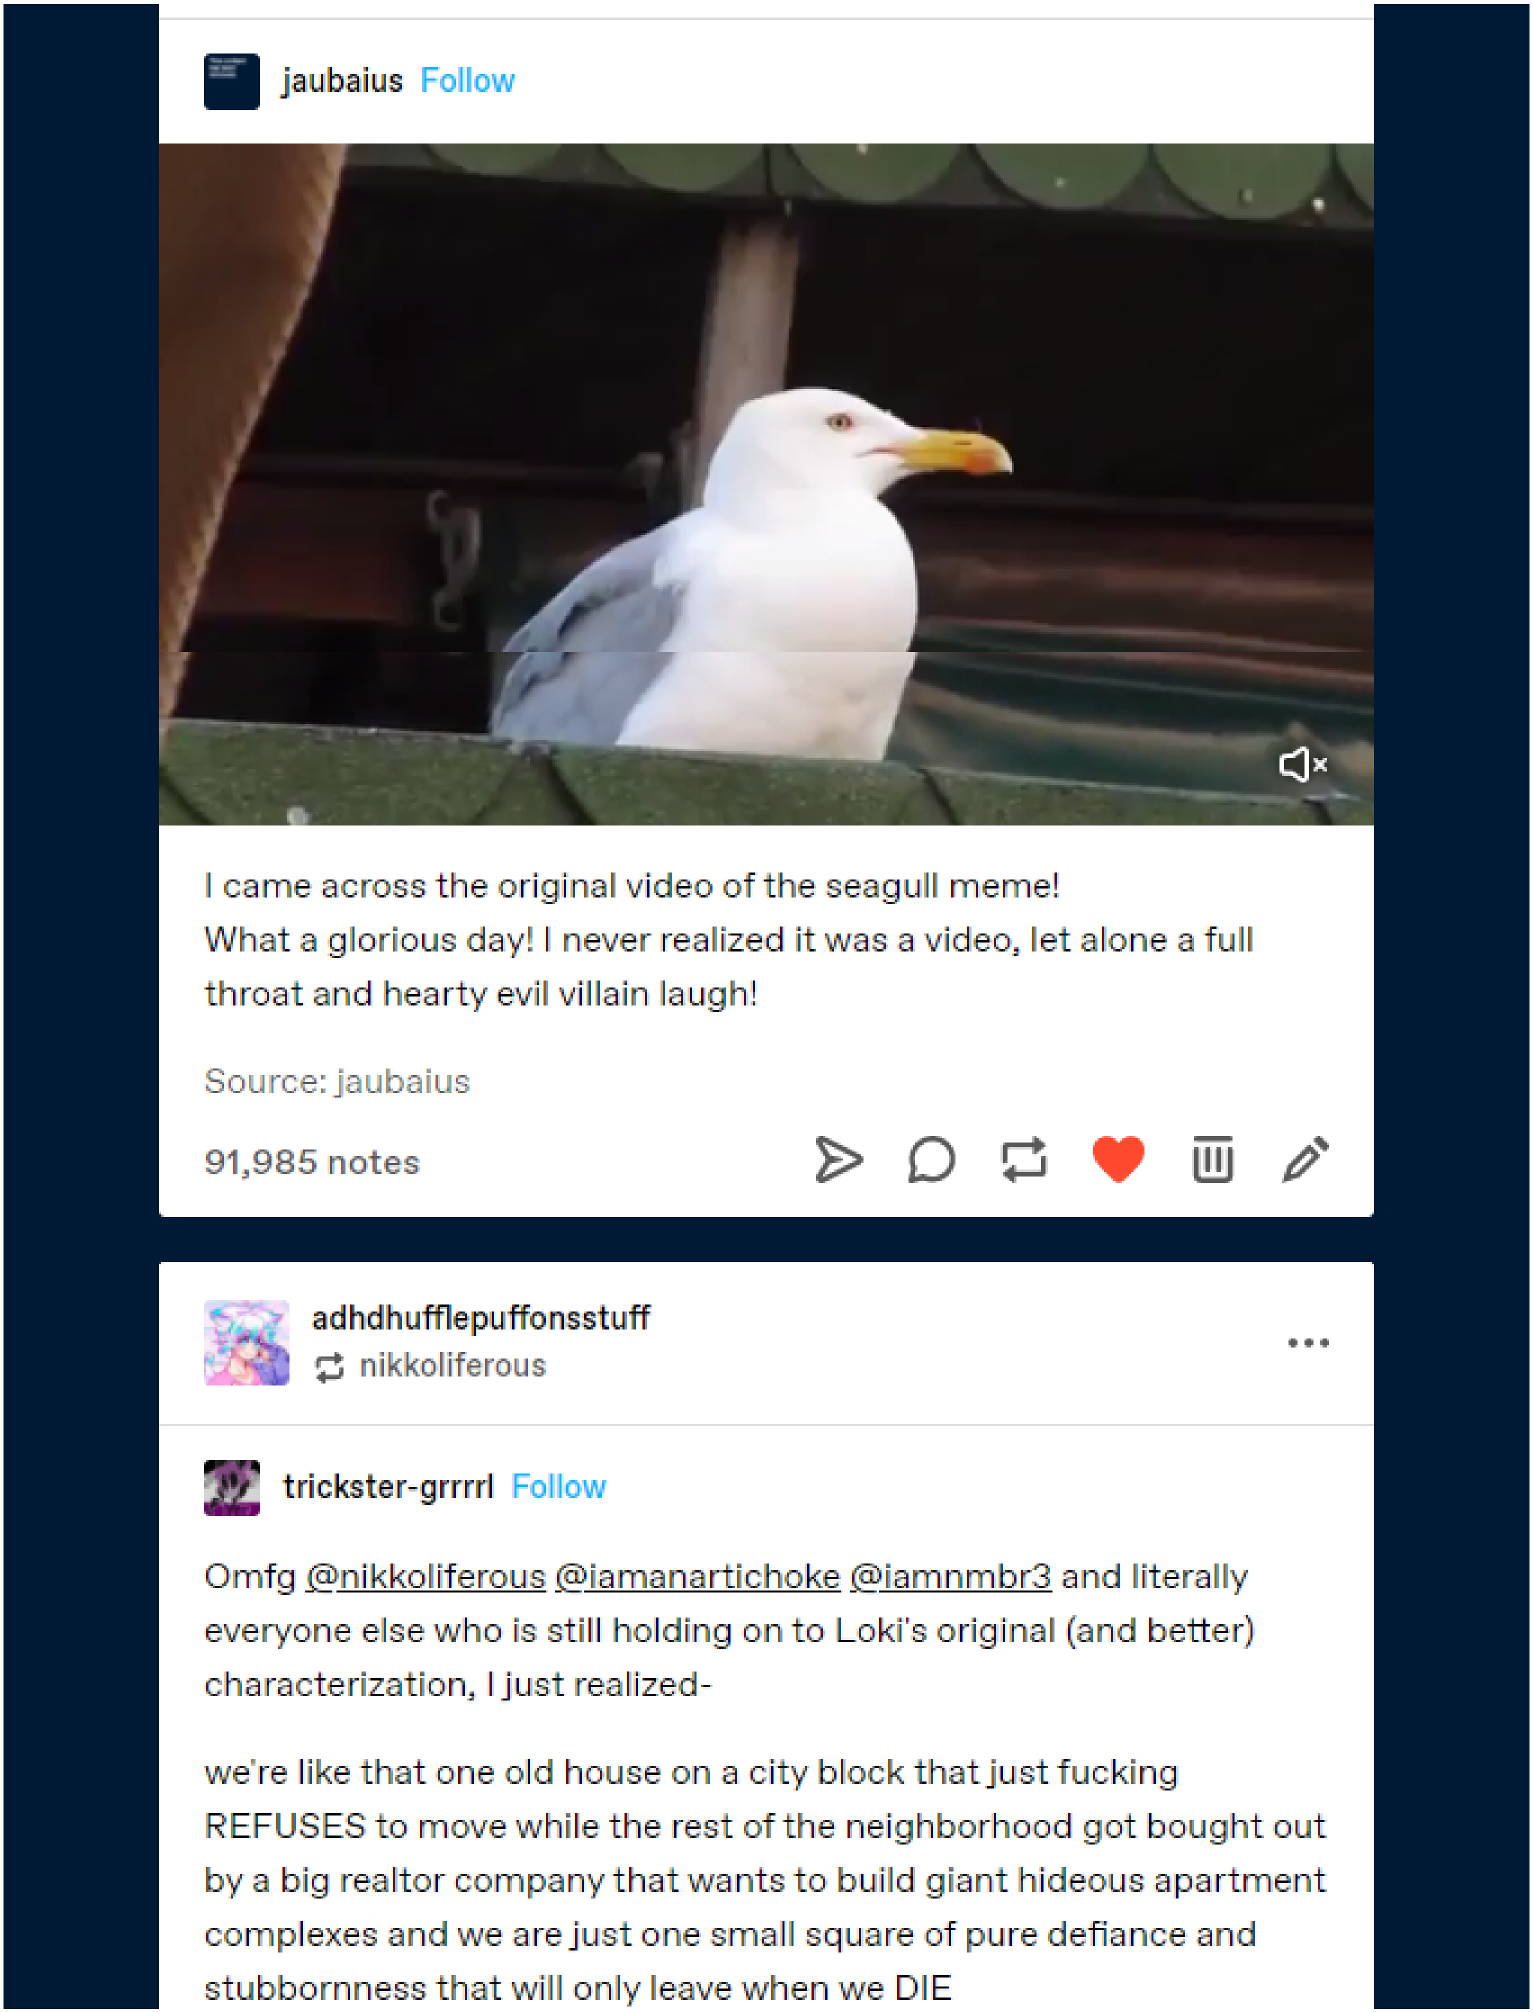
You lie and kill, in the service of liars and killers. You pretend to be separate, to have your own code, something that makes up for the horrors. But they are part of you. And they will never go away.

Tom Hiddleston as Loki
THE AVENGERS | 2012

Source: marvelheroes

3,493 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
lokis-notebook



jaubaius

I came across the original video of the seagull meme!
What a glorious day! I never realized it was a video, let alone a full throat and hearty evil villain laugh!

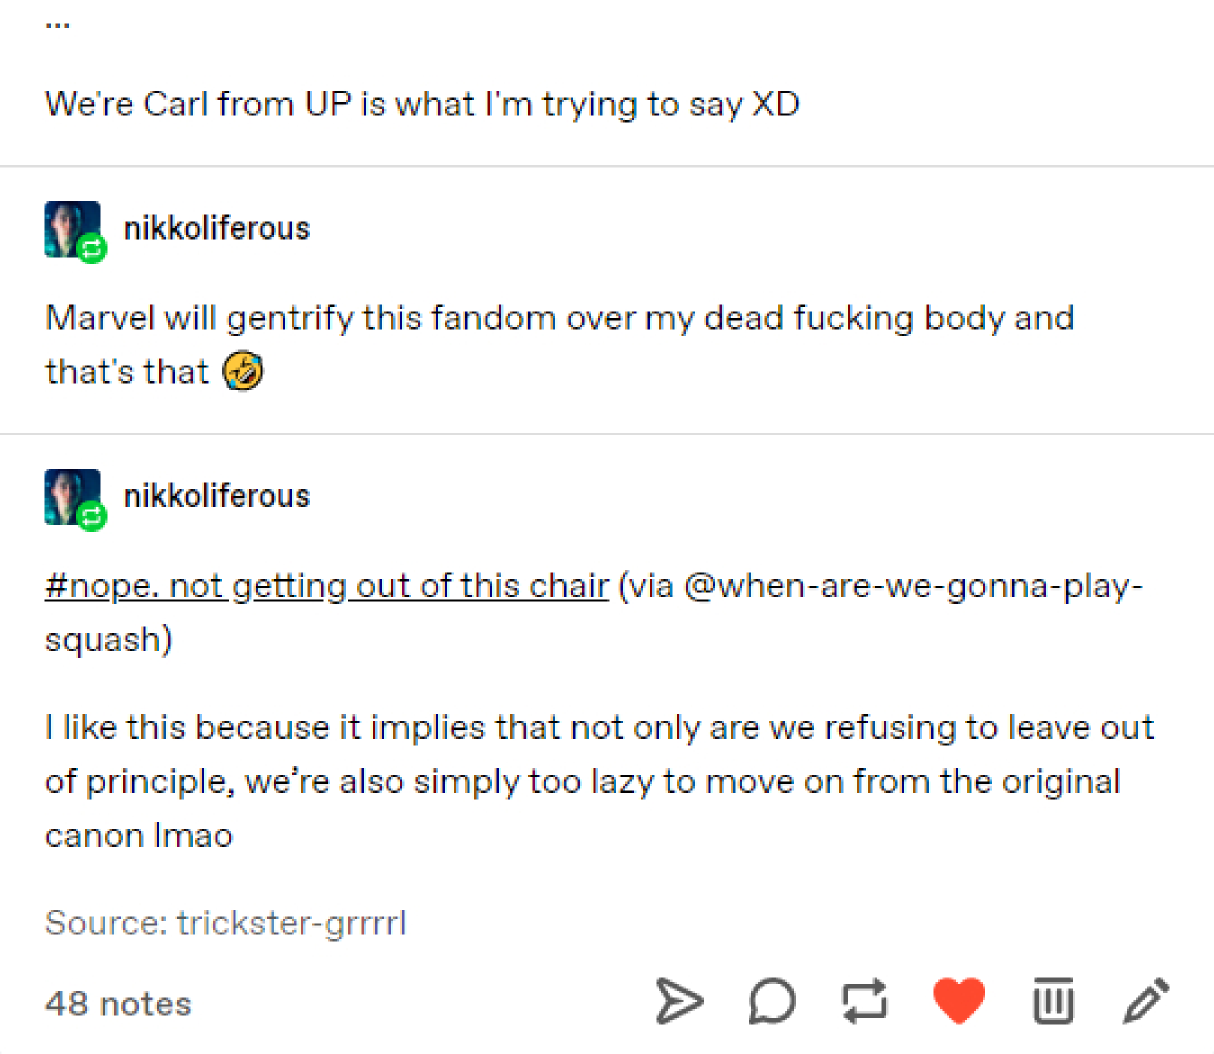
Source: jaubaius

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
nikkoliferous

trickster-grrrrl

Omfg @nikkoliferous @iamanartichoke @iamnmbr3 and literally everyone else who is still holding on to Loki's original (and better) characterization, I just realized-

we're like that one old house on a city block that just fucking REFUSES to move while the rest of the neighborhood got bought out by a big realtor company that wants to build giant hideous apartment complexes and we are just one small square of pure defiance and stubbornness that will only leave when we DIE



...

We're Carl from UP is what I'm trying to say XD

nikkoliferous

Marvel will gentrify this fandom over my dead fucking body and that's that 🤣

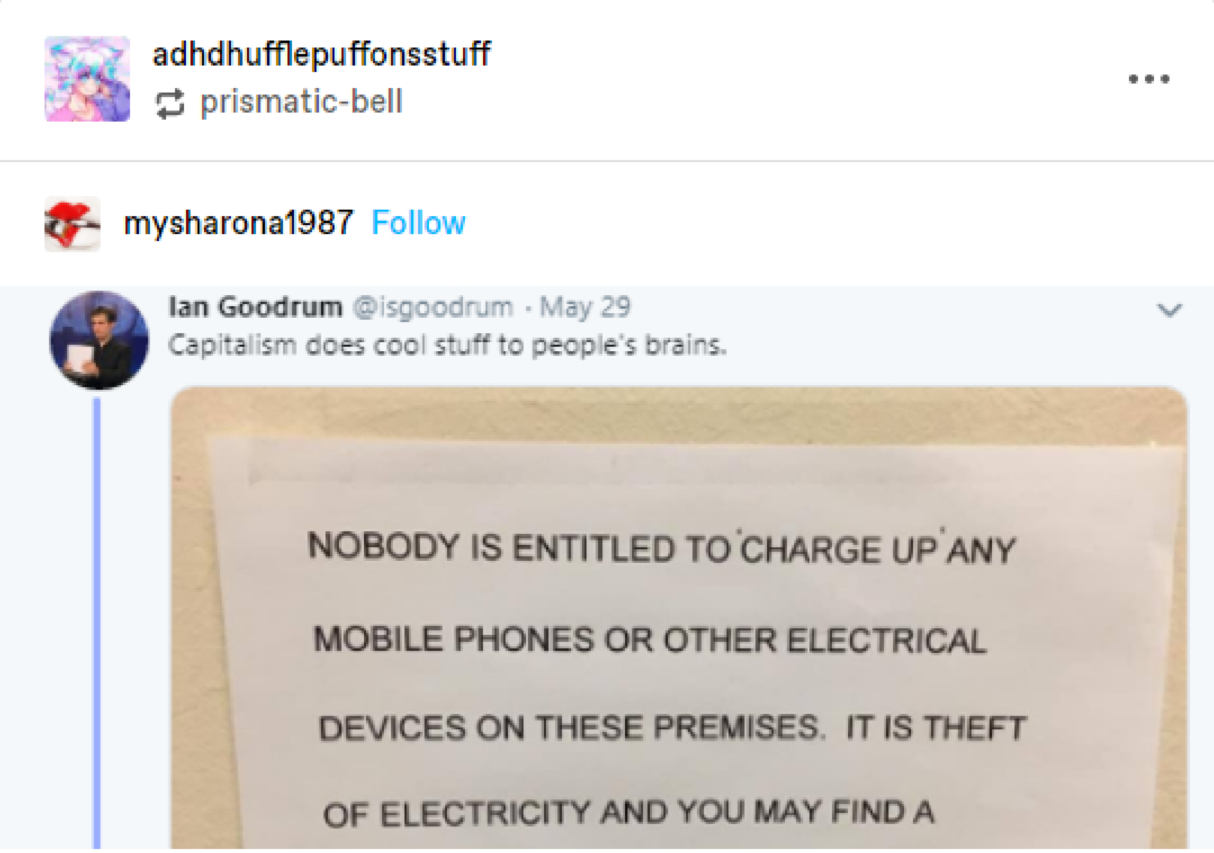
nikkoliferous

#nope. not getting out of this chair (via @when-are-we-gonna-play-squash)

I like this because it implies that not only are we refusing to leave out of principle, we're also simply too lazy to move on from the original canon lmao

Source: trickster-grrrrl

48 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
prismatic-bell

mysharona1987 Follow

Ian Goodrum @isgoodrum · May 29
Capitalism does cool stuff to people's brains.

NOBODY IS ENTITLED TO ‘CHARGE UP’ ANY MOBILE PHONES OR OTHER ELECTRICAL DEVICES ON THESE PREMISES. IT IS THEFT OF ELECTRICITY AND YOU MAY FIND A

DEDUCTION HAS BEEN MADE FROM YOUR

PAY. PHONES SHOULD BE SWITCHED OFF.

The Guillotine Shouter
@guillotineshout

Replying to @isgoodrum @AlexandraErin

One charge of a phone, even a full charge, costs less than a penny in power bills. This is just a fancy excuse for wage theft.

madcapzest Follow

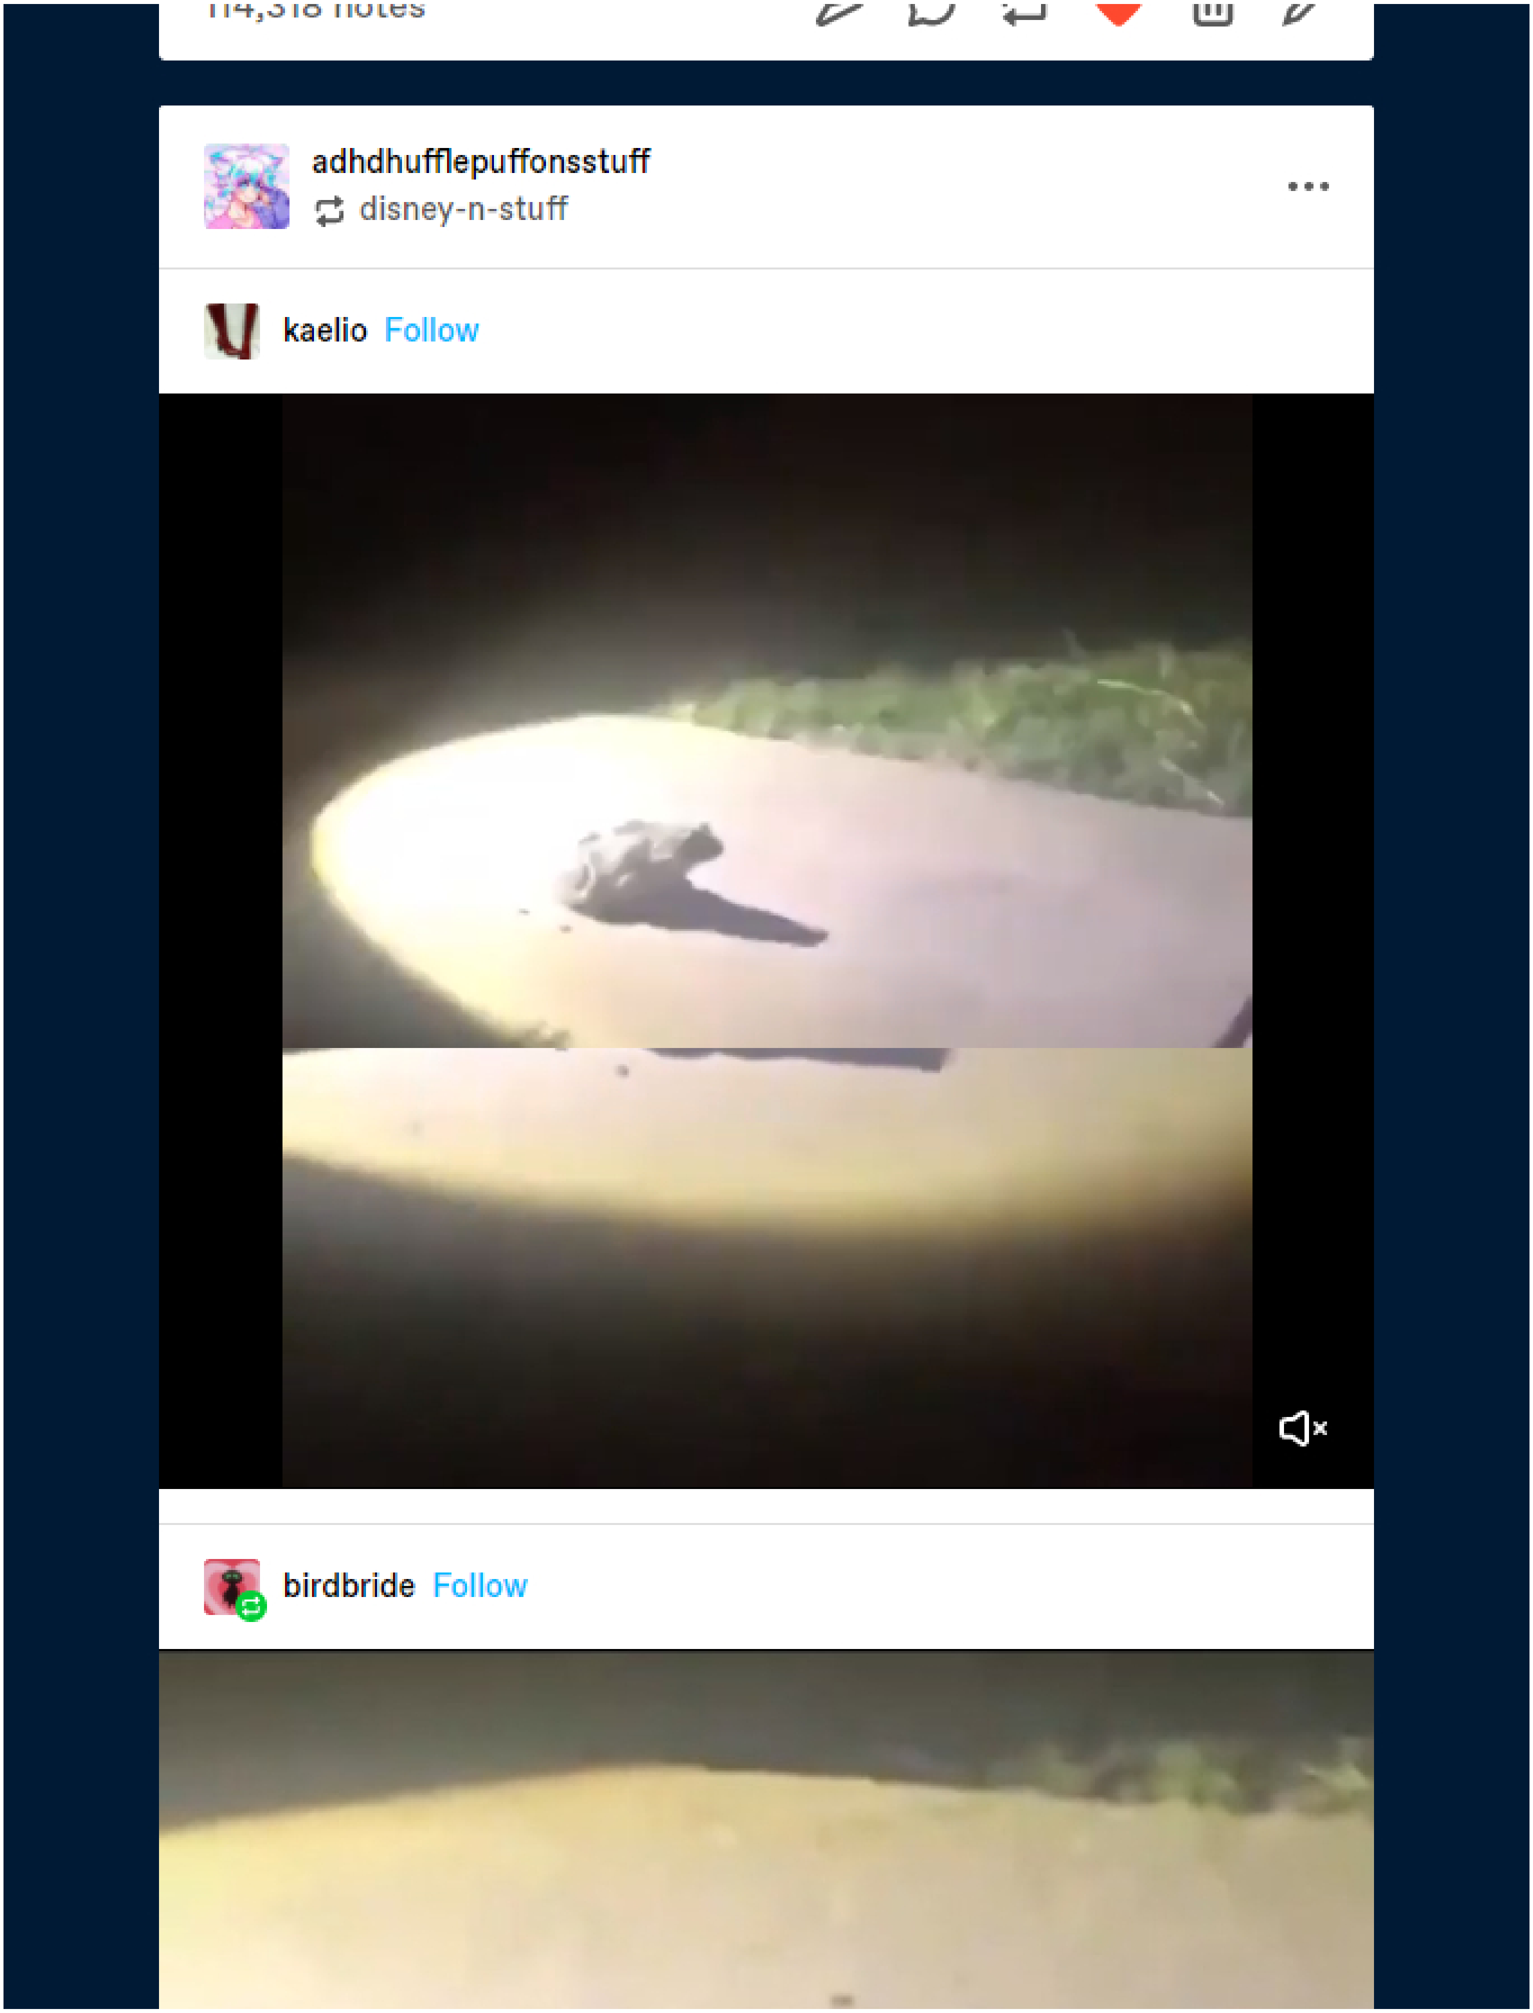
Acoffee shop owner once told me he raised their prices because their electric bill went "through the roof" when people with laptops started using their (three) outlets. So I looked it up: it costs $8 A YEAR to keep one whole laptop charged. He could have off set that (maybe) 50 bucks A YEAR by replacing his lightbulbs with compact fluorescents. But instead he raised his prices on coffee .50 and made an extra 200-400 bucks A DAY.

Never take what capitalists tell you for granted.

jraker4 Follow

It's sometimes difficult to just accept 'sometimes people straight-up fucking lie', but (not to make a joke), it's true! It's a straight up fucking lie whether this sort of thing was designed as a plan to steal money from employees, and it'd a straight up fucking lie if they just think their 'lectric bill went through the roof but never checked.

Source: mysharona1987



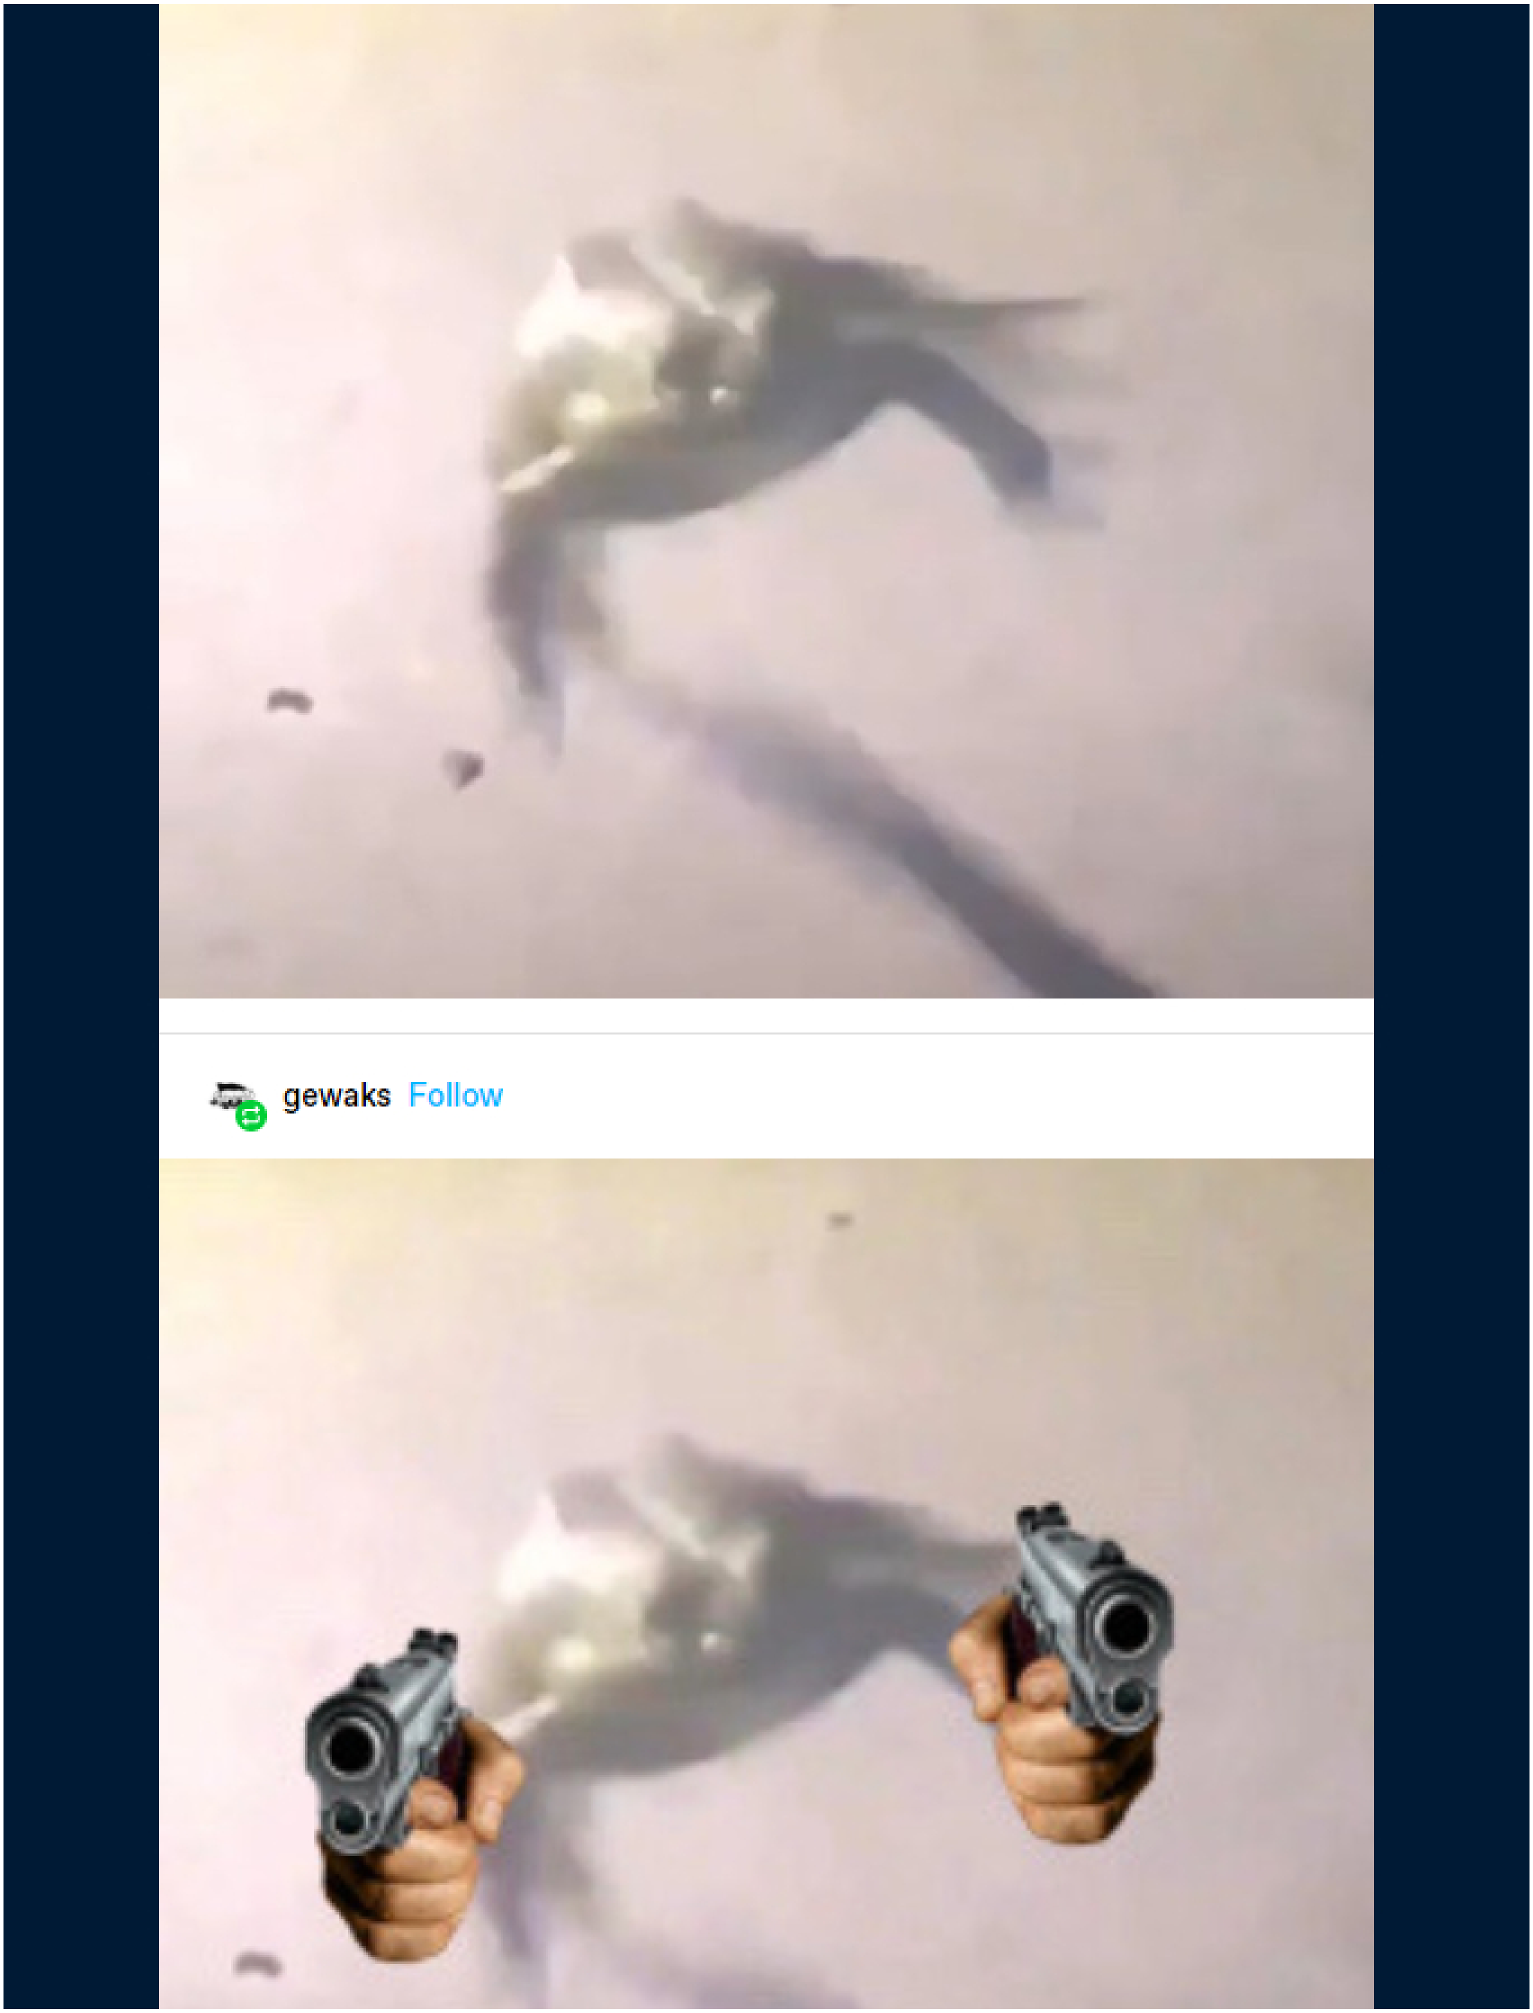
114,318 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

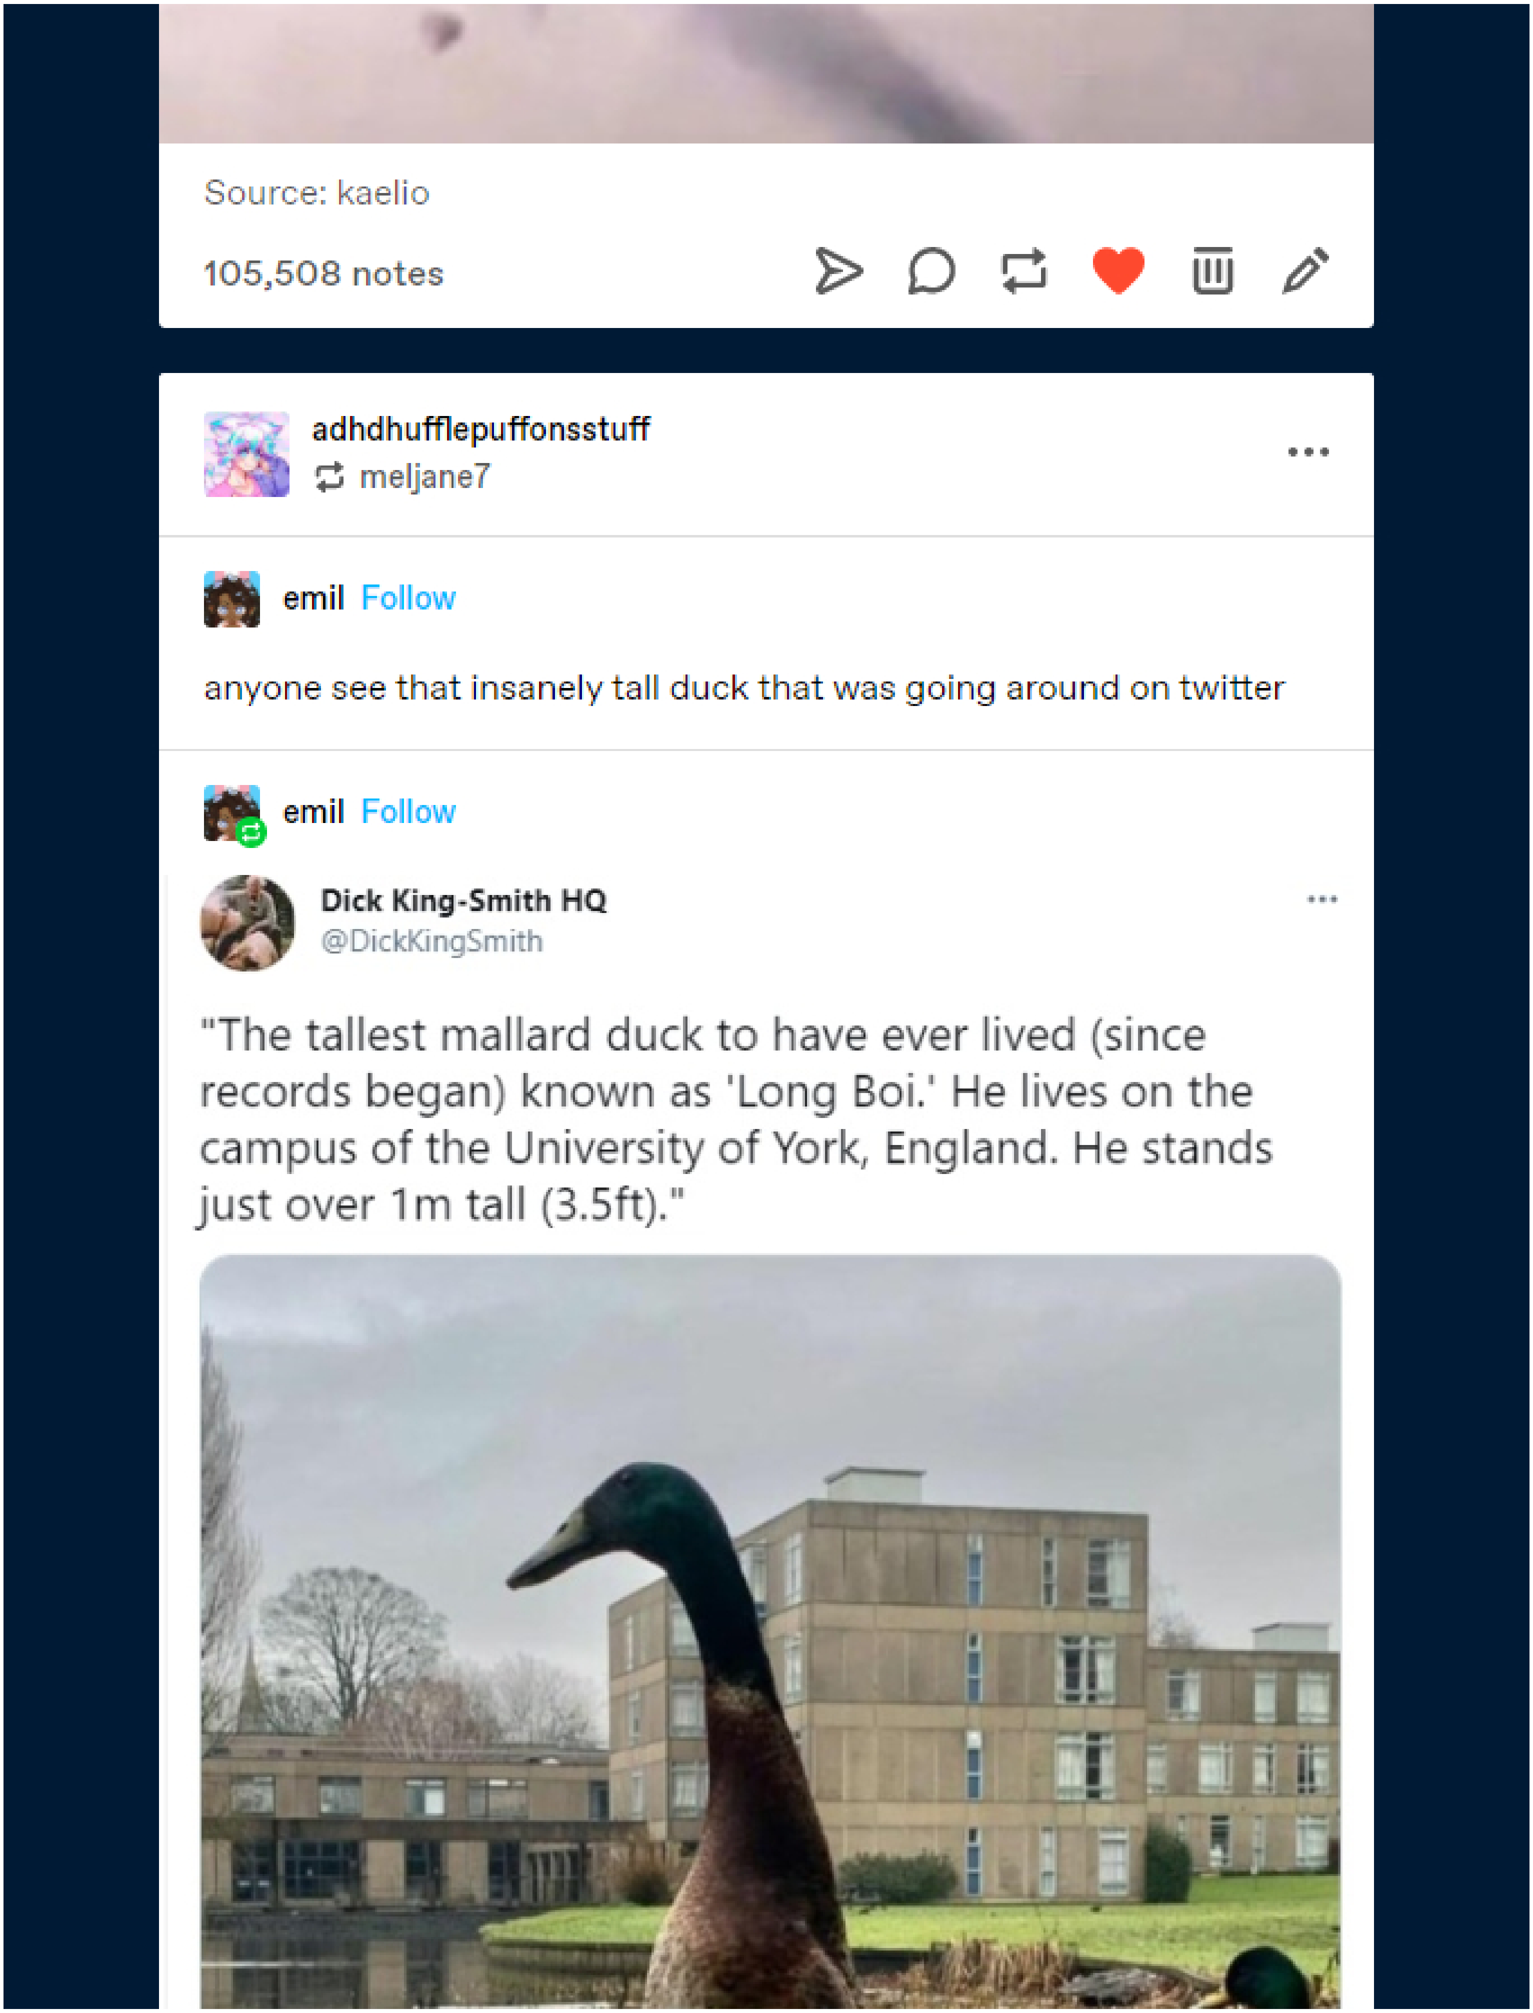
disney-n-stuff

kaelio Follow

birdbride Follow



gewaks
Follow



Source: kaelio

105,508 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
meljane7

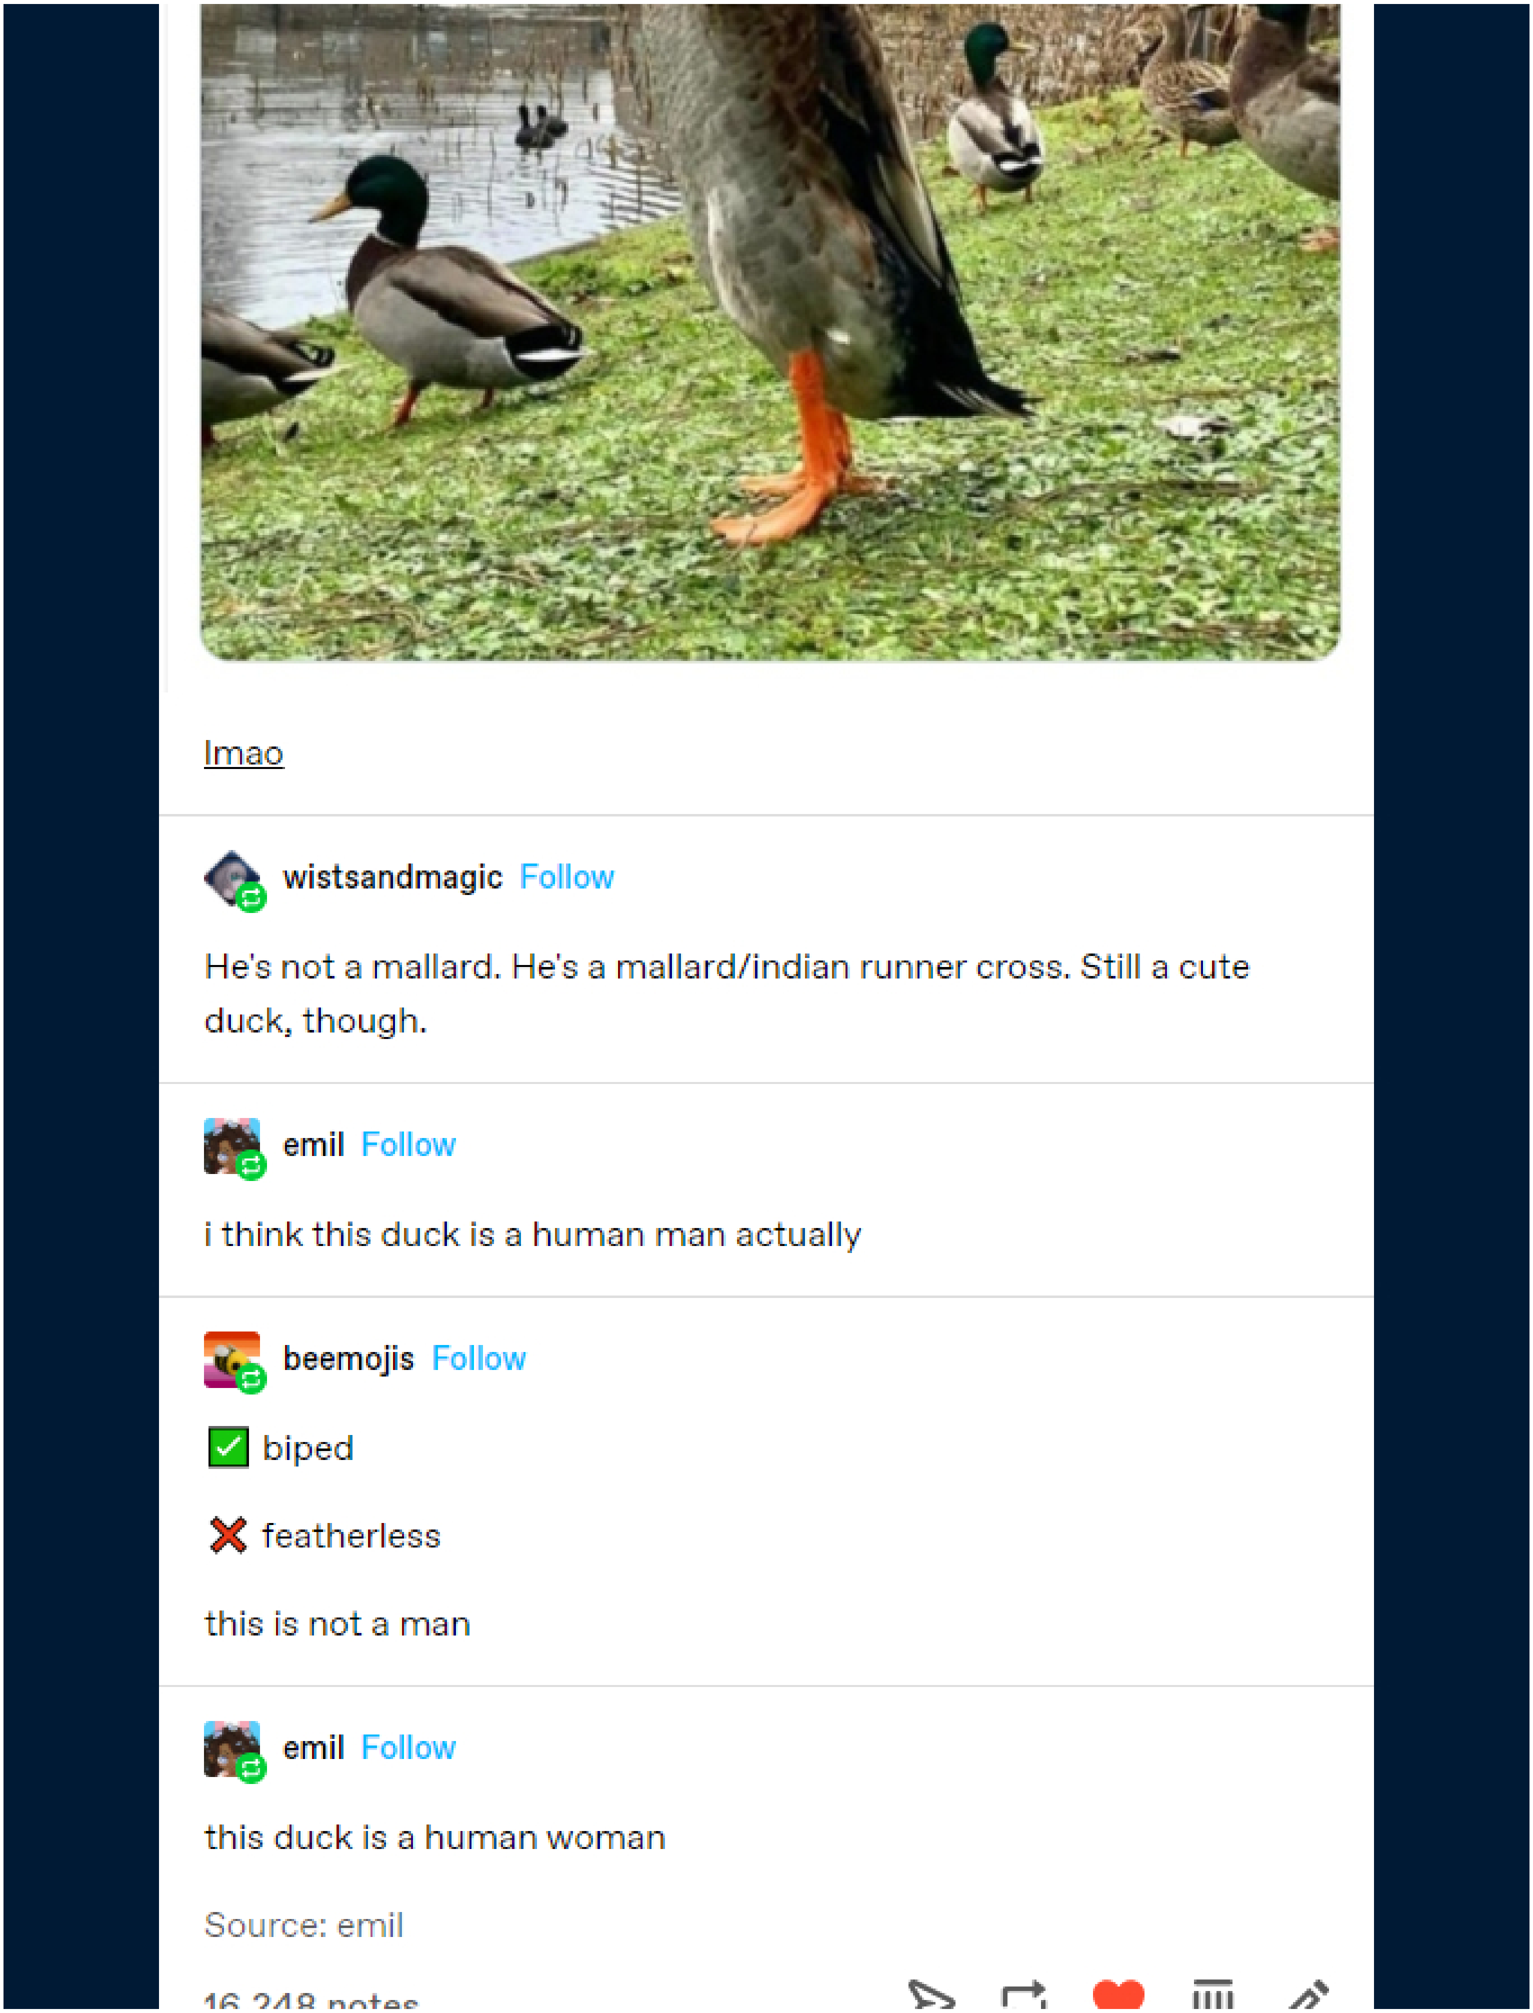
emil Follow

anyone see that insanely tall duck that was going around on twitter

emil Follow

Dick King-Smith HQ
@DickKingSmith

"The tallest mallard duck to have ever lived (since records began) known as 'Long Boi.' He lives on the campus of the University of York, England. He stands just over 1m tall (3.5ft)."



lmao

wistsandmagic Follow

He's not a mallard. He's a mallard/indian runner cross. Still a cute duck, though.

emil Follow

i think this duck is a human man actually beemojis Follow

✅ biped

❌ featherless

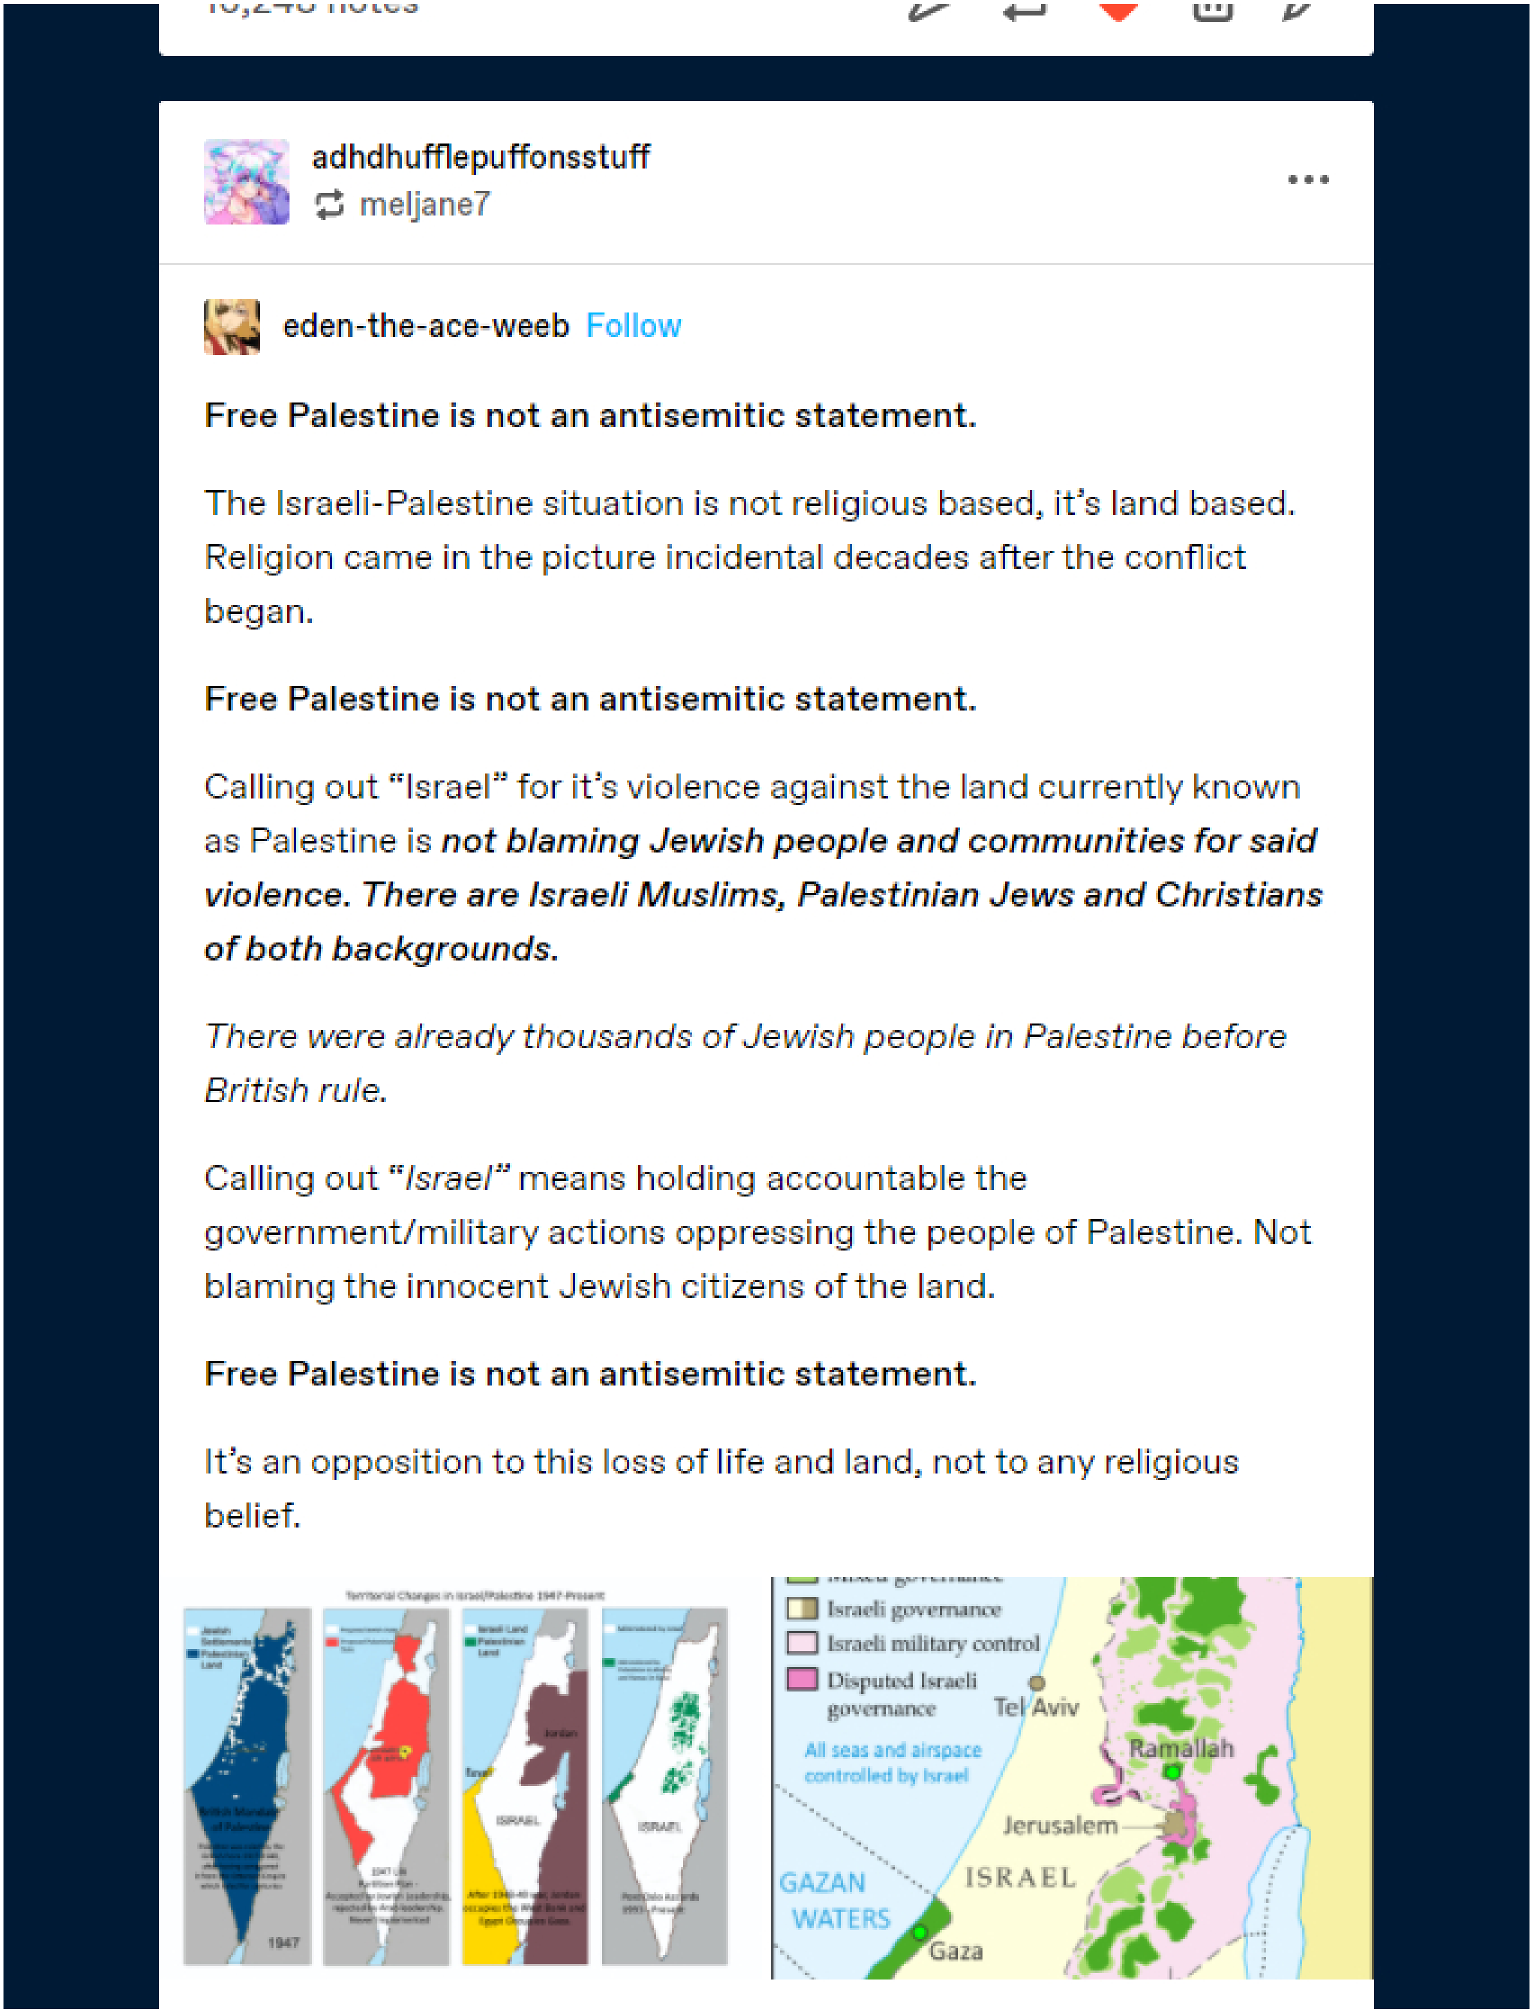
this is not a man

emil Follow

this duck is a human woman

Source: emil

16,248 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
meljane7
eden-the-ace-weeb
Follow

Free Palestine is not an antisemitic statement.

The Israeli-Palestine situation is not religious based, it's land based. Religion came in the picture incidental decades after the conflict began.

Free Palestine is not an antisemitic statement.

Calling out "Israel" for it's violence against the land currently known as Palestine is not blaming Jewish people and communities for said violence. There are Israeli Muslims, Palestinian Jews and Christians of both backgrounds.

There were already thousands of Jewish people in Palestine before British rule.

Calling out "Israel" means holding accountable the government/military actions oppressing the people of Palestine. Not blaming the innocent Jewish citizens of the land.

Free Palestine is not an antisemitic statement.

It's an opposition to this loss of life and land, not to any religious belief.

Territorial Changes in Israel/Palestine 1947-Present 1947 Jordan
ISRAEL
ISRAEL
Israeli governance
Israeli military control Disputed Israeli governance
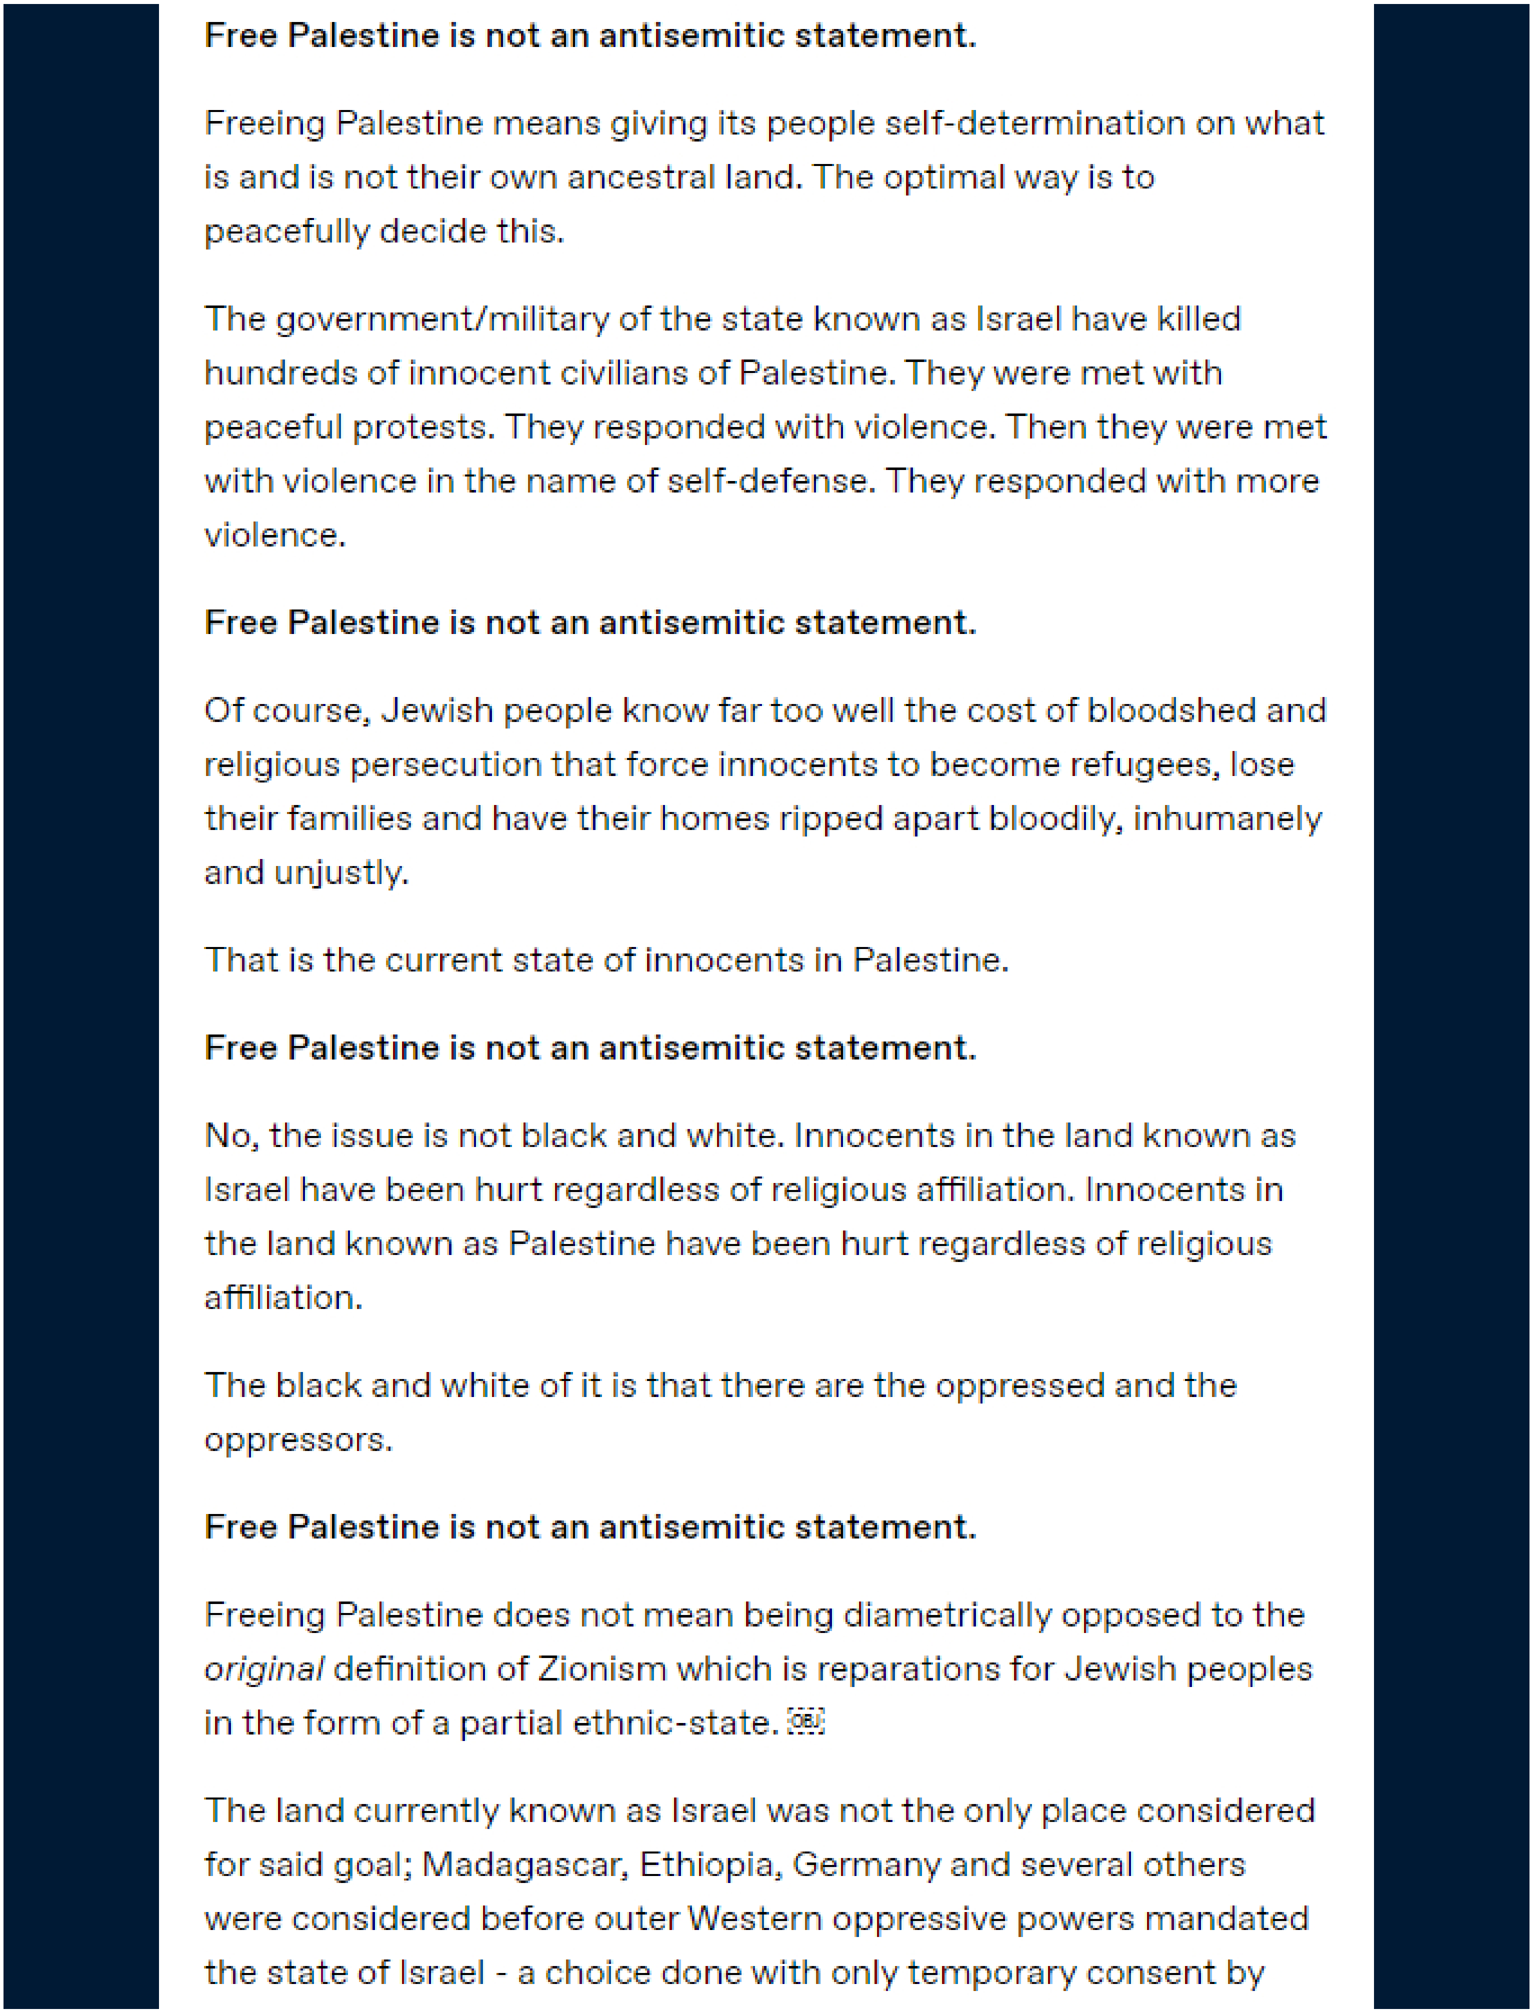
Tel Aviv
All seas and airspace controlled by Israel
Ramallah
Jerusalem
ISRAEL
GAZAN WATERS
Gaza



Free Palestine is not an antisemitic statement.

Freeing Palestine means giving its people self-determination on what is and is not their own ancestral land. The optimal way is to peacefully decide this.

The government/military of the state known as Israel have killed hundreds of innocent civilians of Palestine. They were met with peaceful protests. They responded with violence. Then they were met with violence in the name of self-defense. They responded with more violence.

Free Palestine is not an antisemitic statement.

Of course, Jewish people know far too well the cost of bloodshed and religious persecution that force innocents to become refugees, lose their families and have their homes ripped apart bloodily, inhumanely and unjustly.

That is the current state of innocents in Palestine.

Free Palestine is not an antisemitic statement.

No, the issue is not black and white. Innocents in the land known as Israel have been hurt regardless of religious affiliation. Innocents in the land known as Palestine have been hurt regardless of religious affiliation.

The black and white of it is that there are the oppressed and the oppressors.

Free Palestine is not an antisemitic statement.

Freeing Palestine does not mean being diametrically opposed to the original definition of Zionism which is reparations for Jewish peoples in the form of a partial ethnic-state. ￼

The land currently known as Israel was not the only place considered for said goal; Madagascar, Ethiopia, Germany and several others were considered before outer Western oppressive powers mandated the state of Israel - a choice done with only temporary consent by those of the land then known as Palestine. ￼

Those same Western oppressive powers would have hurt whatever country they'd chosen and none of that would've been the fault of the Jewish people. ￼￼

Free Palestine is not an antisemitic statement.

Jews have ALWAYS existed in Palestine.

Free Palestine is not an antisemitic statement.

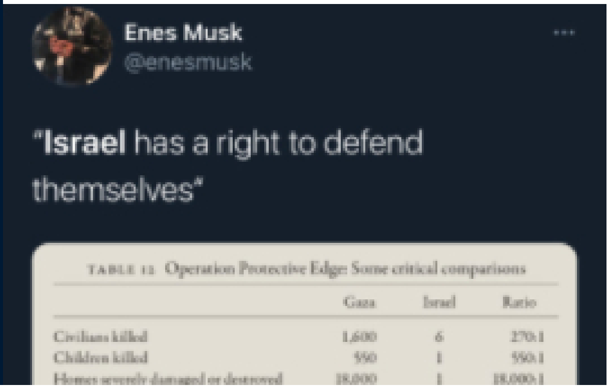
Free Palestine is simply a call to the end of illegal warfare, eviction, apartheid and religious persecution of innocent people in the land that is known as Palestine by the federal government of the state of Israel.

It is a call to prevent the exportation of refugees, the destruction of innocents, the airstrikes on public places and the bodies of innocent children lying dead and bloodied on the streets in the land of Israel-Palestine.

Free Palestine is not an antisemitic statement.

It is a call to end the expansion of an oppressive state. Not to hurt Jews, nor kick them out individually nor to kill them. Just to free all involved from the warfare of an imposed and invading state.

Plenty of people with argue against this. I pity them for being uninformed and so adamant on their beliefs which may unintentionally or intentionally perpetuate violence on both communities - to paint either the Jewish or Arab peoples and/or their respective religions as violent or propagandistic.



Enes Musk
@enesmusk

"Israel has a right to defend themselves"

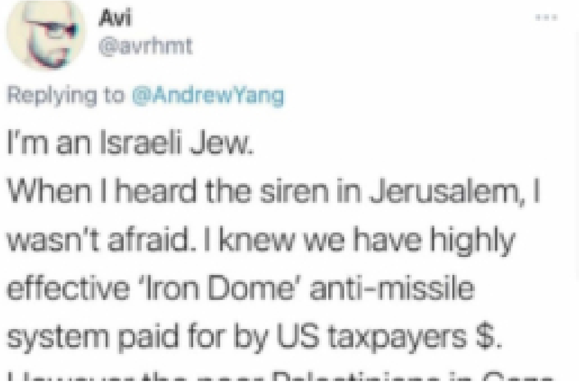
TABLE 12 Operation Protective Edge: Some critical comparisons

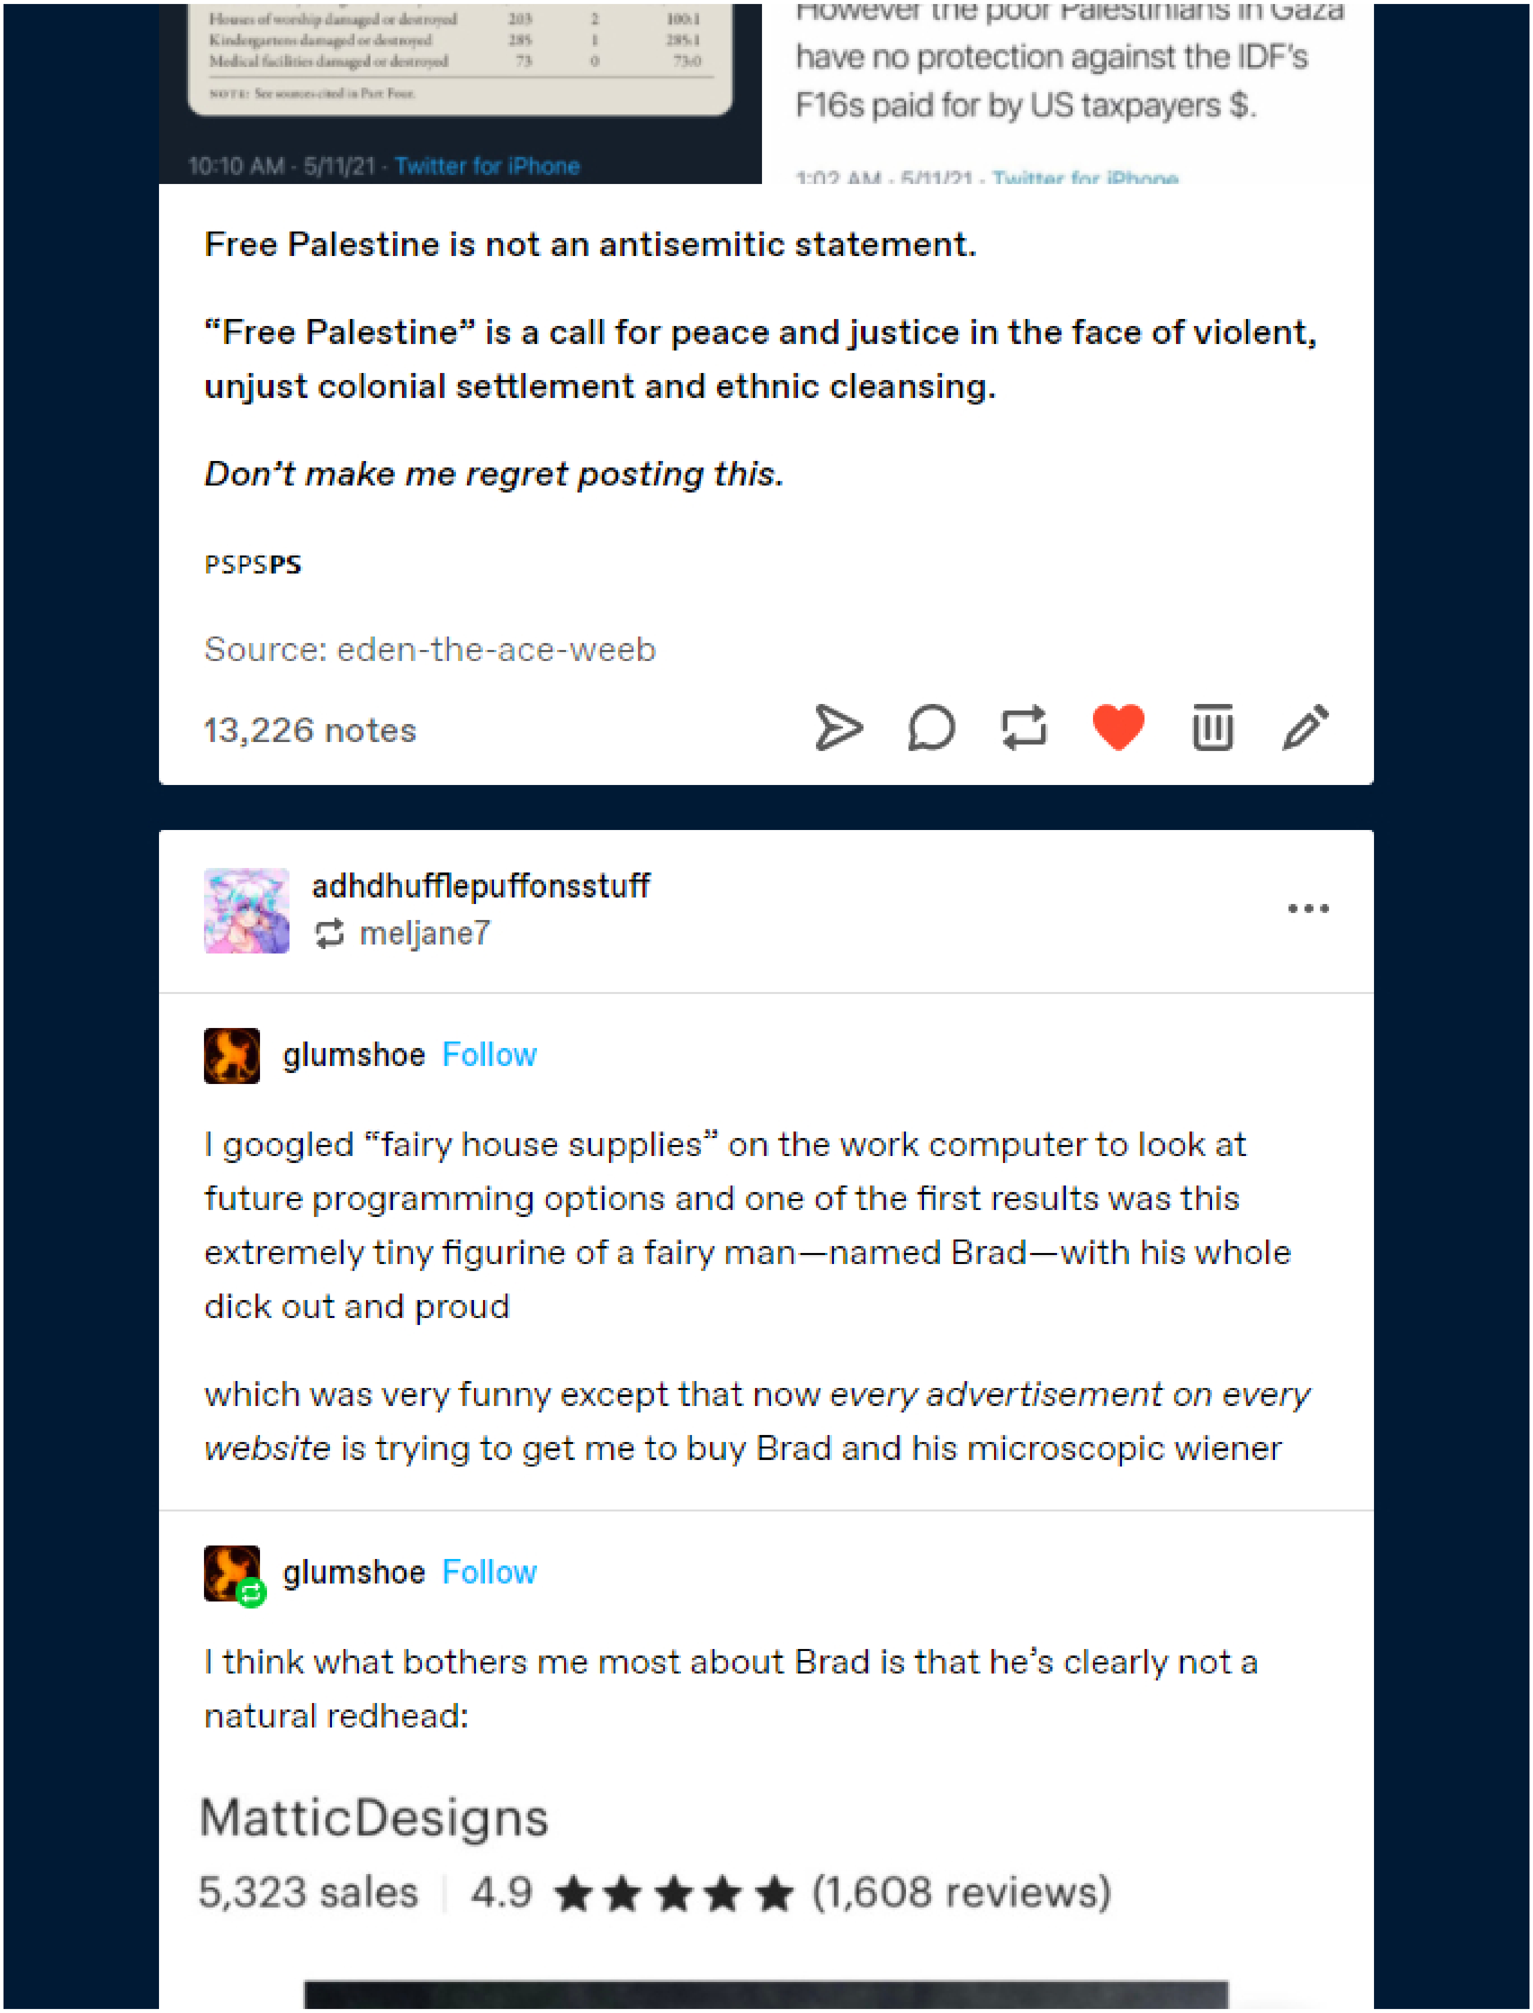
	Gaza	Israel	Ratio
Civilians killed	1,600	6	270:1
Children killed	550	1	550:1
Homes severely damaged or destroyed	18,000	1	18,000:1



Avi
@avrhmt

Replying to @AndrewYang

I'm an Israeli Jew.
When I heard the siren in Jerusalem, I wasn't afraid. I knew we have highly effective 'Iron Dome' anti-missile system paid for by US taxpayers $.



Houses of worship damaged or destroyed	203	2	100:1
Kindergartens damaged or destroyed	285	1	285:1
Medical facilities damaged or destroyed	73	0	73:0

NOTE: See sources cited in Part Four.

10:10 AM · 5/11/21 · Twitter for iPhone

However the poor Palestinians in Gaza have no protection against the IDF's F16s paid for by US taxpayers $.

1:02 AM · 5/11/21 · Twitter for iPhone

Free Palestine is not an antisemitic statement.

“Free Palestine” is a call for peace and justice in the face of violent, unjust colonial settlement and ethnic cleansing.

Don’t make me regret posting this.

PSPSPS

Source: eden-the-ace-weeb

13,226 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

meljane7

glumshoe Follow

I googled “fairy house supplies” on the work computer to look at future programming options and one of the first results was this extremely tiny figurine of a fairy man—named Brad—with his whole dick out and proud

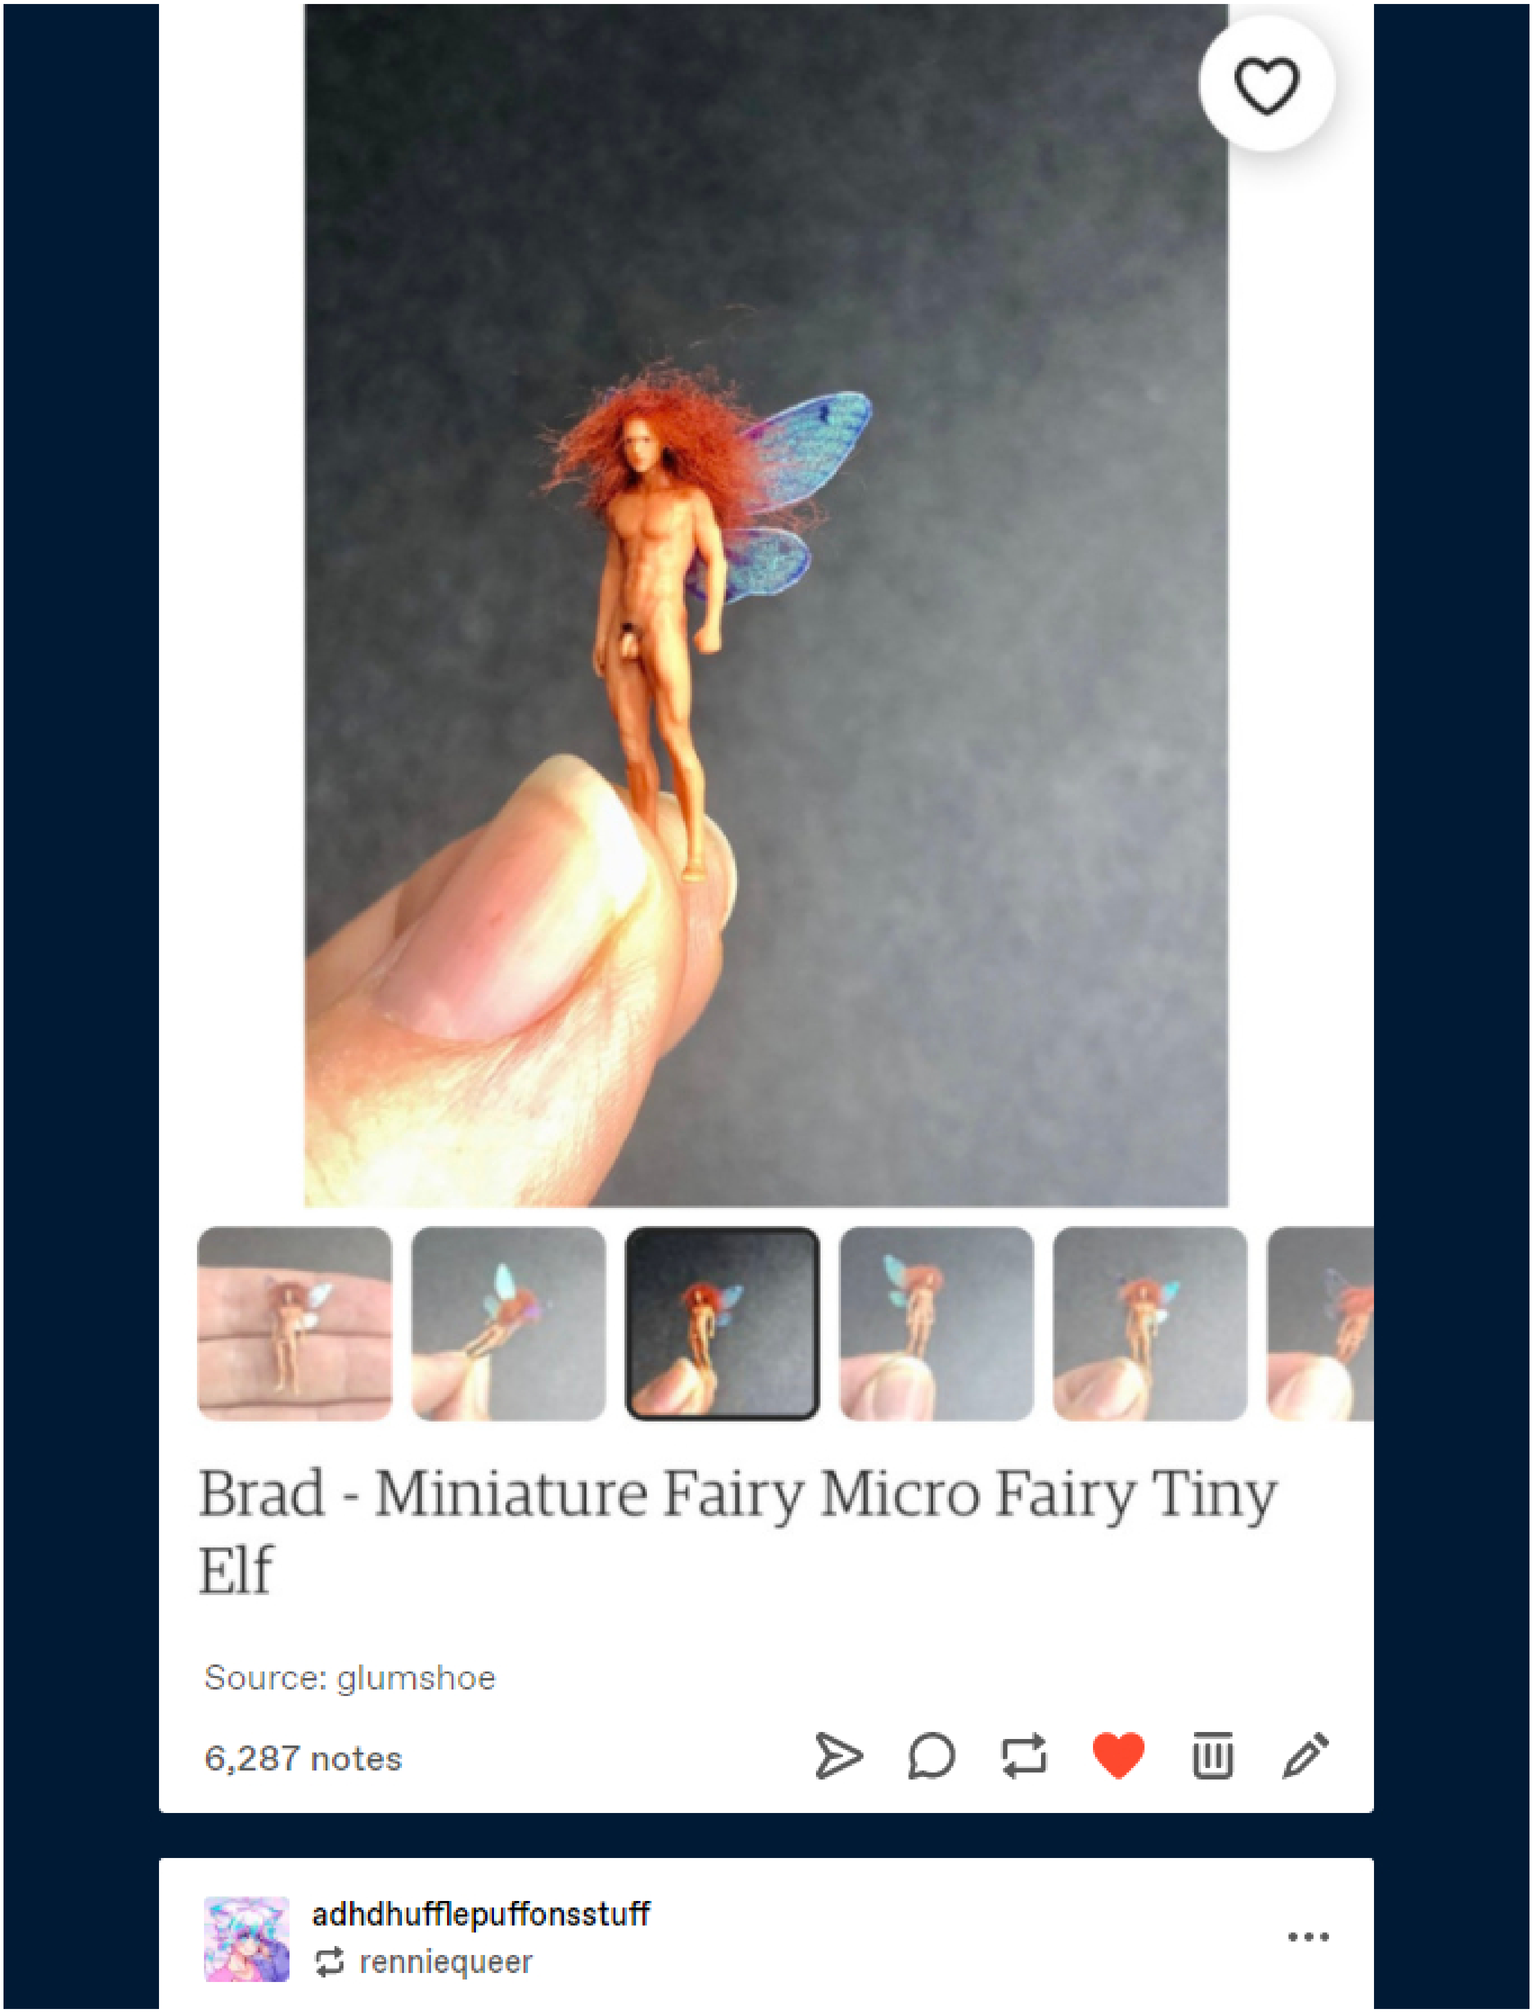
which was very funny except that now every advertisement on every website is trying to get me to buy Brad and his microscopic wiener

glumshoe Follow

I think what bothers me most about Brad is that he’s clearly not a natural redhead:

MatticDesigns

5,323 sales | 4.9 ★★★★★ (1,608 reviews)



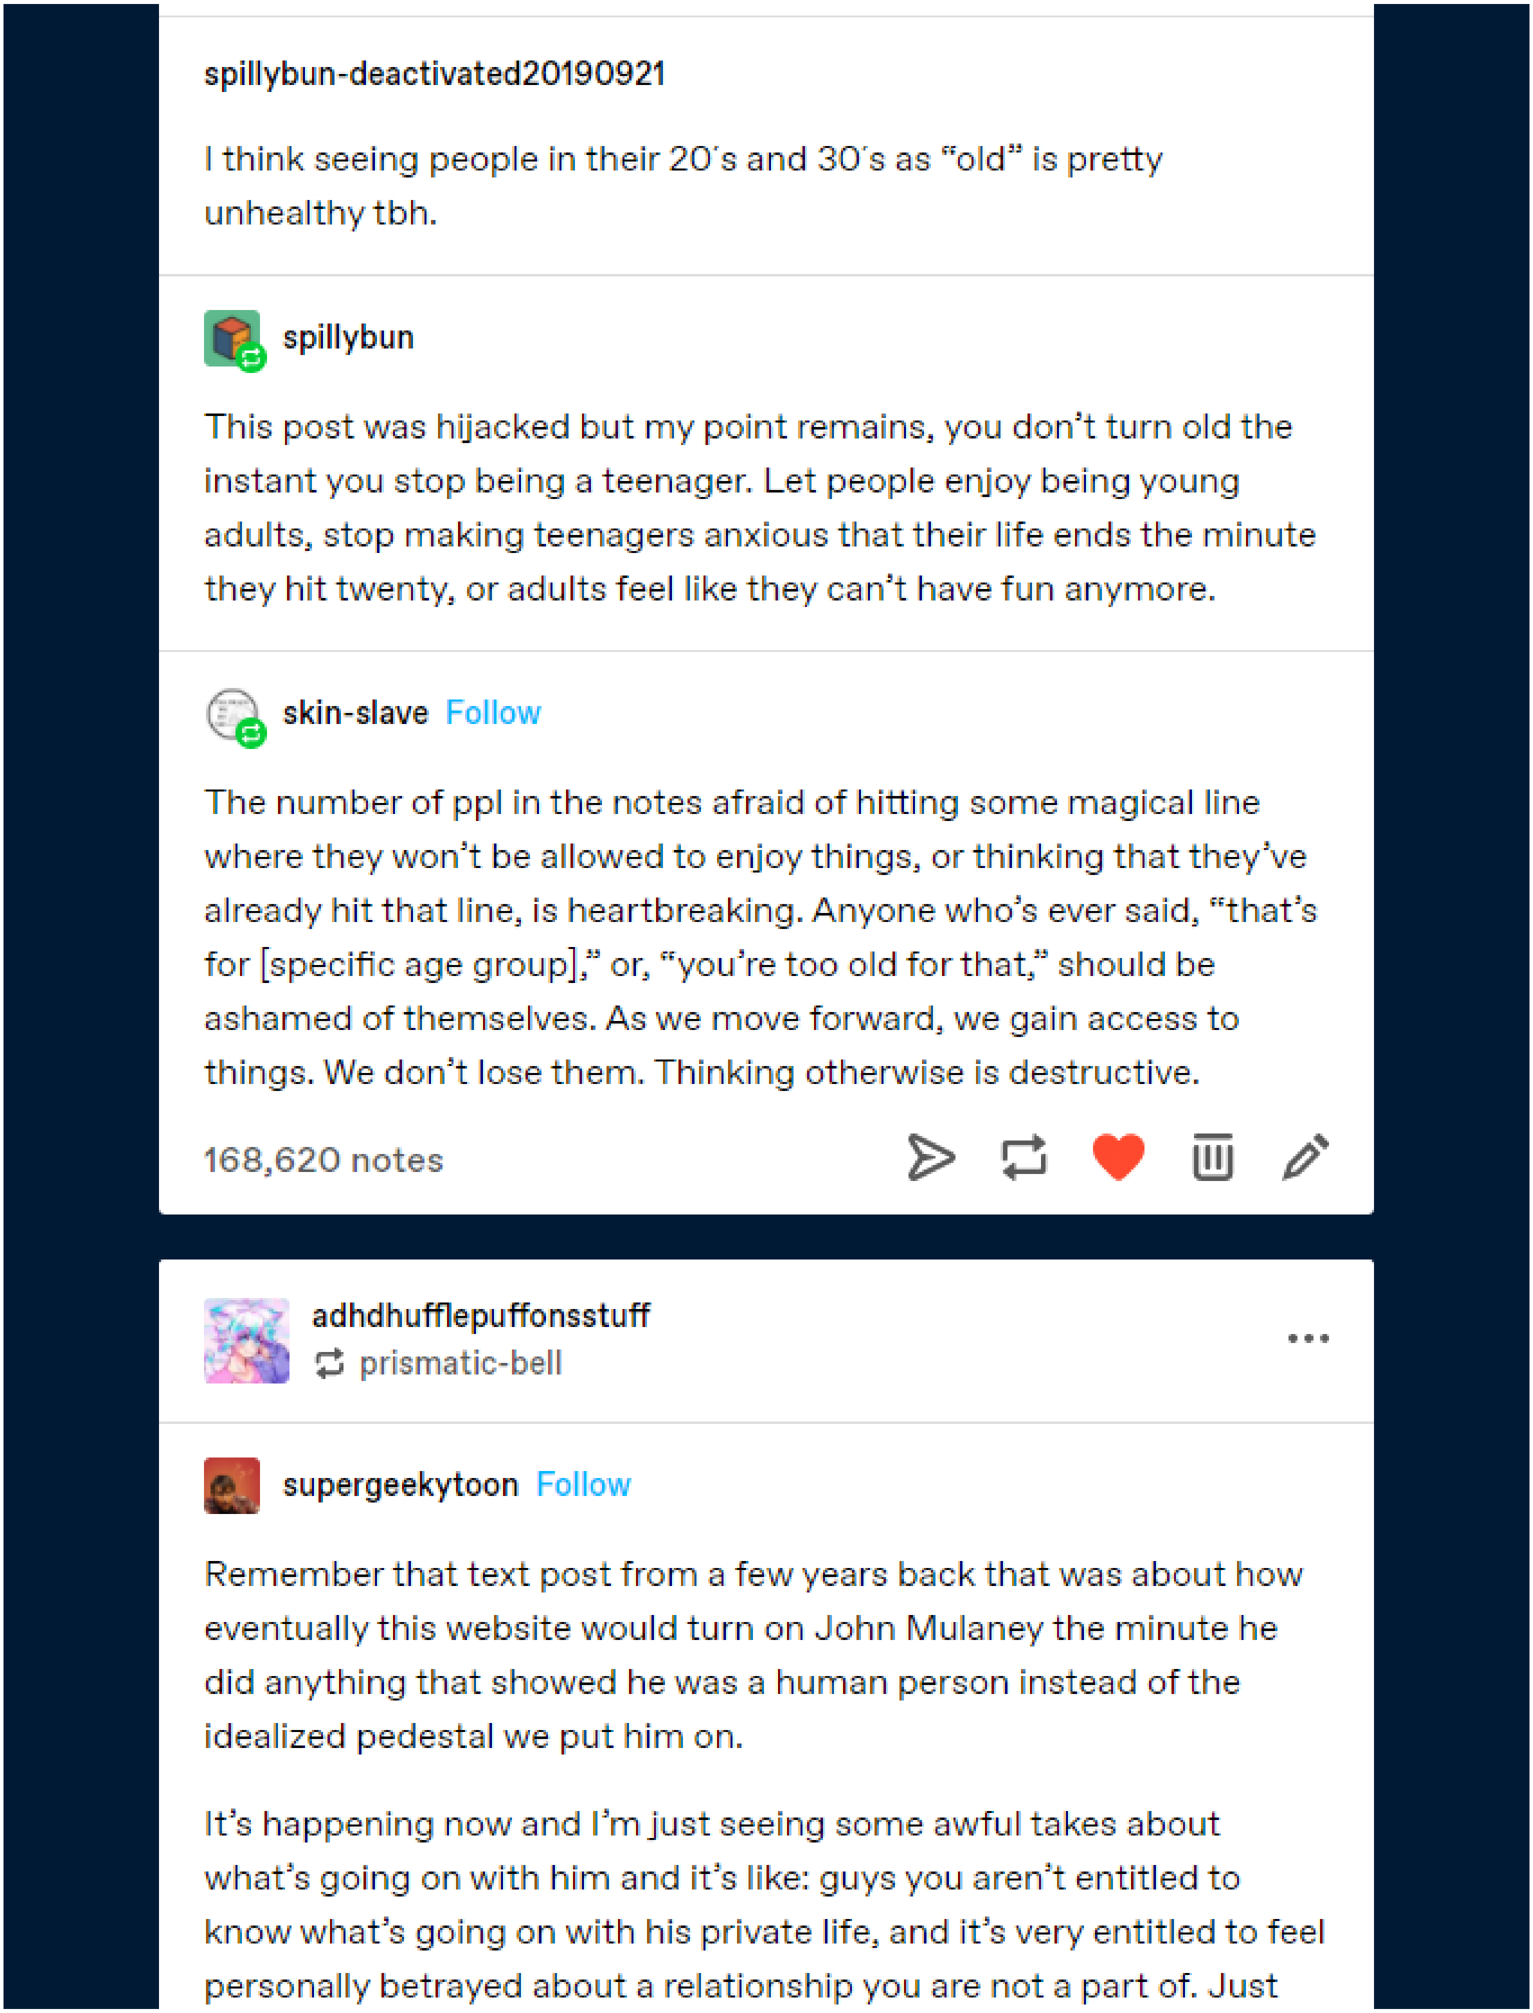
Brad - Miniature Fairy Micro Fairy Tiny Elf

Source: glumshoe

6,287 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

renniequeer



spillybun-deactivated20190921

I think seeing people in their 20's and 30's as "old" is pretty unhealthy tbh.

spillybun

This post was hijacked but my point remains, you don't turn old the instant you stop being a teenager. Let people enjoy being young adults, stop making teenagers anxious that their life ends the minute they hit twenty, or adults feel like they can't have fun anymore.

skin-slave Follow

The number of ppl in the notes afraid of hitting some magical line where they won't be allowed to enjoy things, or thinking that they've already hit that line, is heartbreaking. Anyone who's ever said, "that's for [specific age group]," or, "you're too old for that," should be ashamed of themselves. As we move forward, we gain access to things. We don't lose them. Thinking otherwise is destructive.

168,620 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
prismatic-bell

supergeekytoon Follow

Remember that text post from a few years back that was about how eventually this website would turn on John Mulaney the minute he did anything that showed he was a human person instead of the idealized pedestal we put him on.

It's happening now and I'm just seeing some awful takes about what's going on with him and it's like: guys you aren't entitled to know what's going on with his private life, and it's very entitled to feel personally betrayed about a relationship you are not a part of. Just leave the man alone. Leave everyone alone for fucks sake.

facelessoldgargoyle Follow

You would not believe the reactions on tiktok. "Thinking about him rebounding is making me physically ill," "Ugh, you can't trust any man," deletes a John Mulaney slide from a powerpoint titled Men I Trust form a parasocial relationship?

Aww, did somebody ~~get addicted to crack?~~

Source: supergeekytoon

50,886 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
prismatic-bell

seat-safety-switch Follow

For the last decade or so, I've been routinely attending a ride-on lawnmower race. I've always wanted to participate, but the high cost of used mowers is better spent on more practical vehicles, like literally anything else. Sometimes, though, the universe sends you a message. And in my case, that message came in the form of an awkward leg of a huge trade-in scam.

Picture, if you will, the humble redneck. They await the approach of big, fast domestic mowers. John Deeres, Cub Cadets, even weird modified Chinese stuff they looted from Aliexpress. There is jubilance, but that soon comes to an awkward hush. An unfamiliar engine note approaches.

My International 1480 combine harvester, all ten tons of it, is barrelling down the highway at a clip somewhere between “tepid” and “jaunty.” Even though I have shown up for a race, I am sandbagging a little bit, making sure that the bets get settled against my vehicle before I show them the might of a fully operational monster such as mine.

Technically, there is no violation. I had looked at the rulebook from every angle in the previous year: it has the correct number of wheels, the proper agricultural intent, and with precise work on the tiller, it can even (poorly) mow a suburban lawn. Is it modified? Oh yes, yes indeed, but I see the nitrous bottles poking out from the rows of Kubotas at the starting line.

And when I leave the starting line, it is a thing of beauty. At least for a few milliseconds. It seems that the wizards at International Harvester simply did not comprehend of a situation in which the frame of their combine would be launched into the air by means of one thousand eight hundred foot-pounds of supercharger-bolstered torque. I had erroneously believed that the loose soil of the rural community would let the wheels dip in, but now I am facing directly into the sky, having twelve o’ clocked hard on my wheelie, shooting flames from my exhaust and whirling vertical blades of death towards the grandstand.

It’s not about whether you win or lose. Sometimes it’s about how many pages you add to the rulebook.

andalwaysburning Follow

“It’s not about whether you win or lose. Sometimes it’s about how many pages you add to the rulebook. “

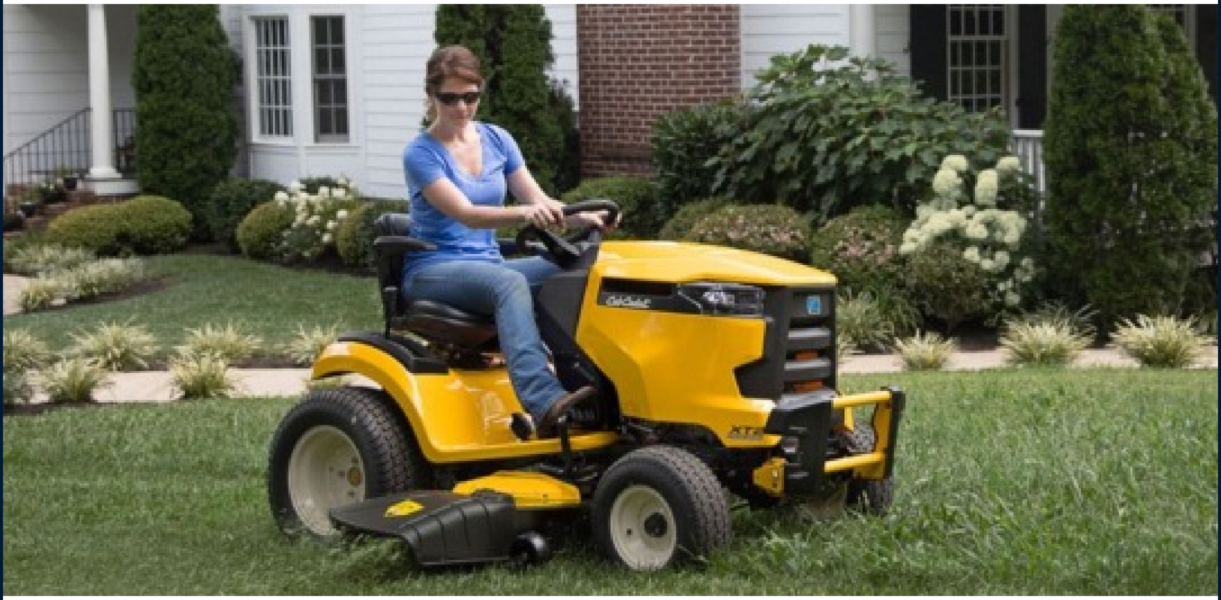
I am but a mild-mannered urban being and have no idea what happened in this story, but with all the Gods as my witness I am getting the above text put on a plaque and hanging it in my living room.

biggest-gaudiest-patronuses

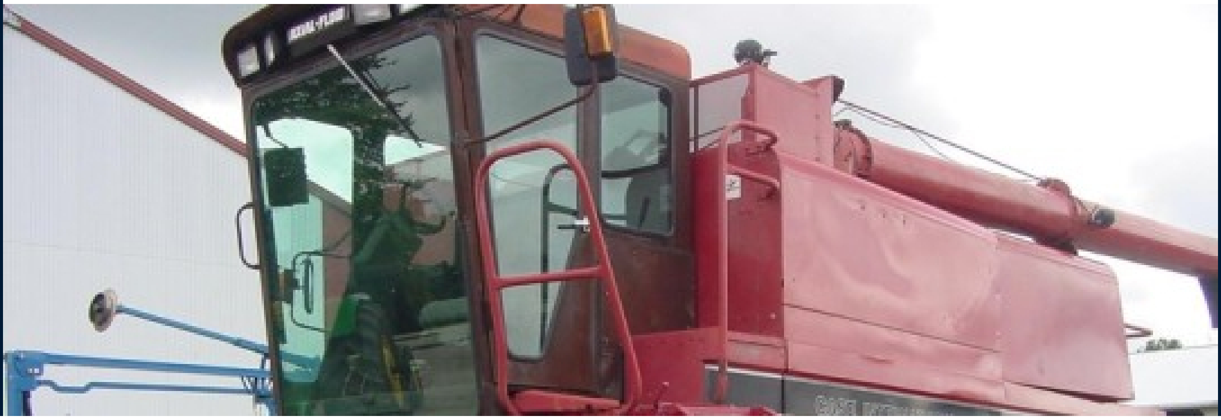
After deciphering this, the mental imagery is incredible holy shit. I need to explore this:

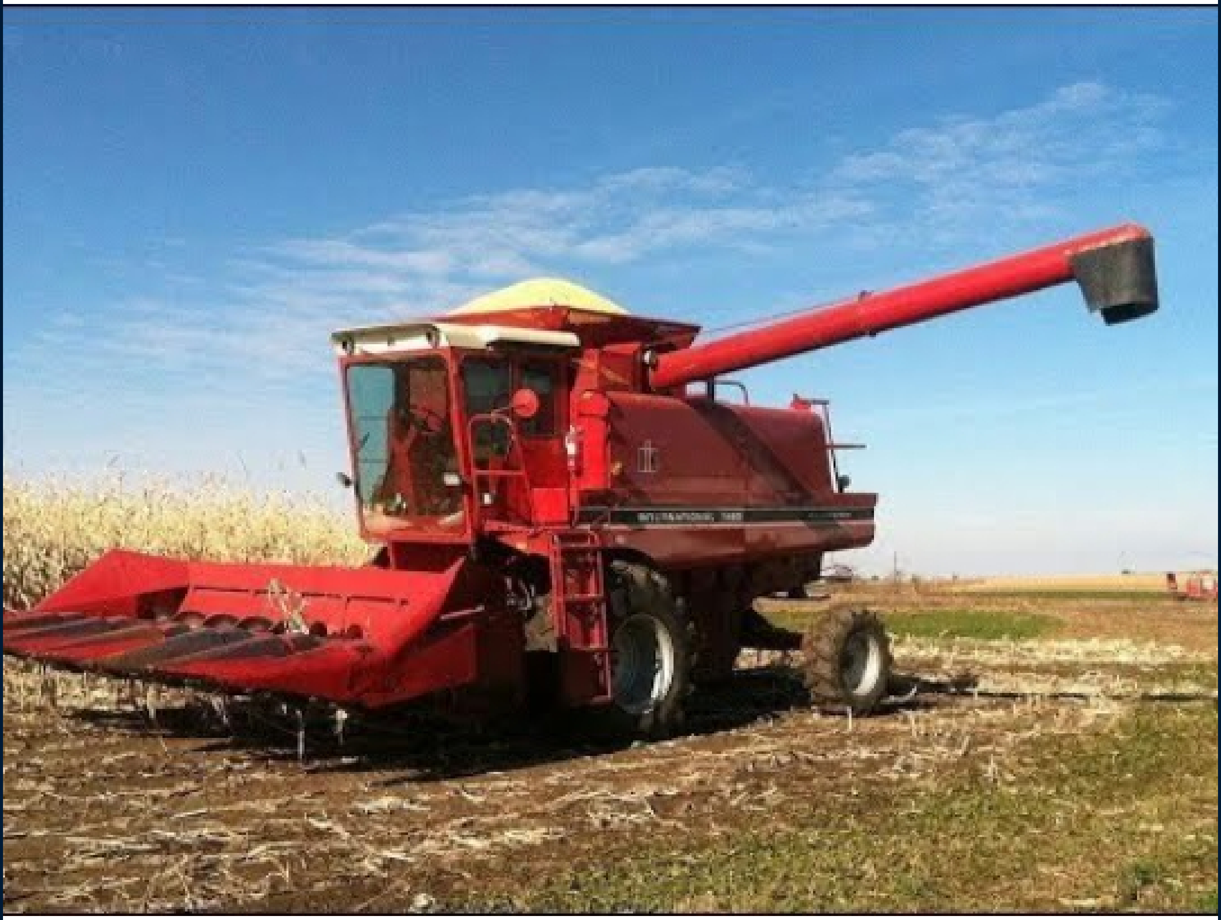
Ok so for a lawn mower race, most people are gonna show up on machines about this size



This is an average riding lawn mowers, the kind used for neighborhood lawns. A lot of middle-class households have one.

This is a Combine Harvester





This is the specific model op mentions.

This is not a domestic lawn mower. This is industrial farming equipment. It is BIGGER.

For perspective, a lawn mower would be about the height of one of the front wheels.

So op shows up to a Lawn Mower Race on this thing–which technically isn't against the rules, since a harvester technically can be used to cut down grass.

Important to note: op has also apparently modified the engine. This isn't just industrial farming equipment– it's souped up* industrial farming equipment. This is a Pimped Out Crop Harvester.

So op shows up to the starting line on this thing and op GUNS it.

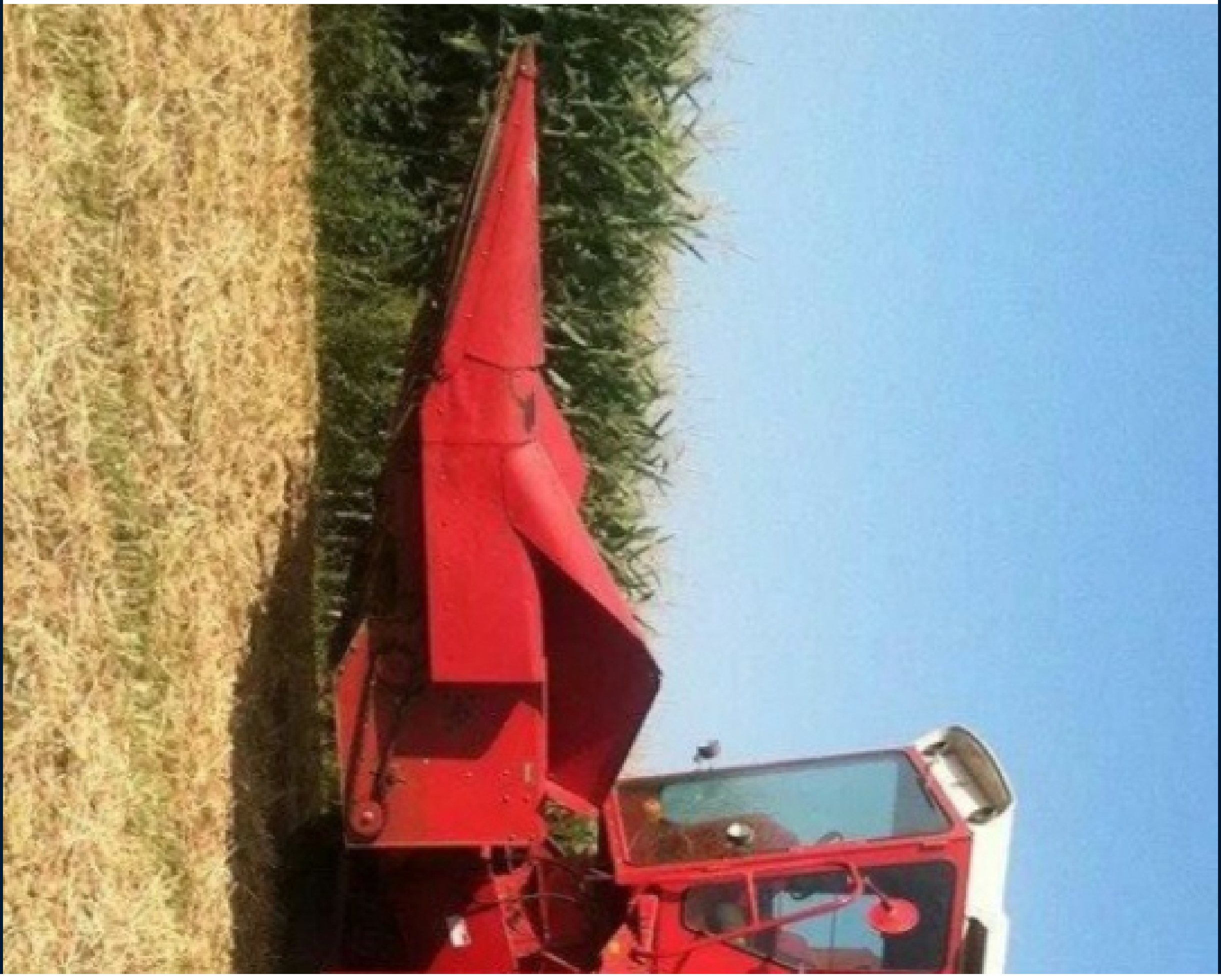
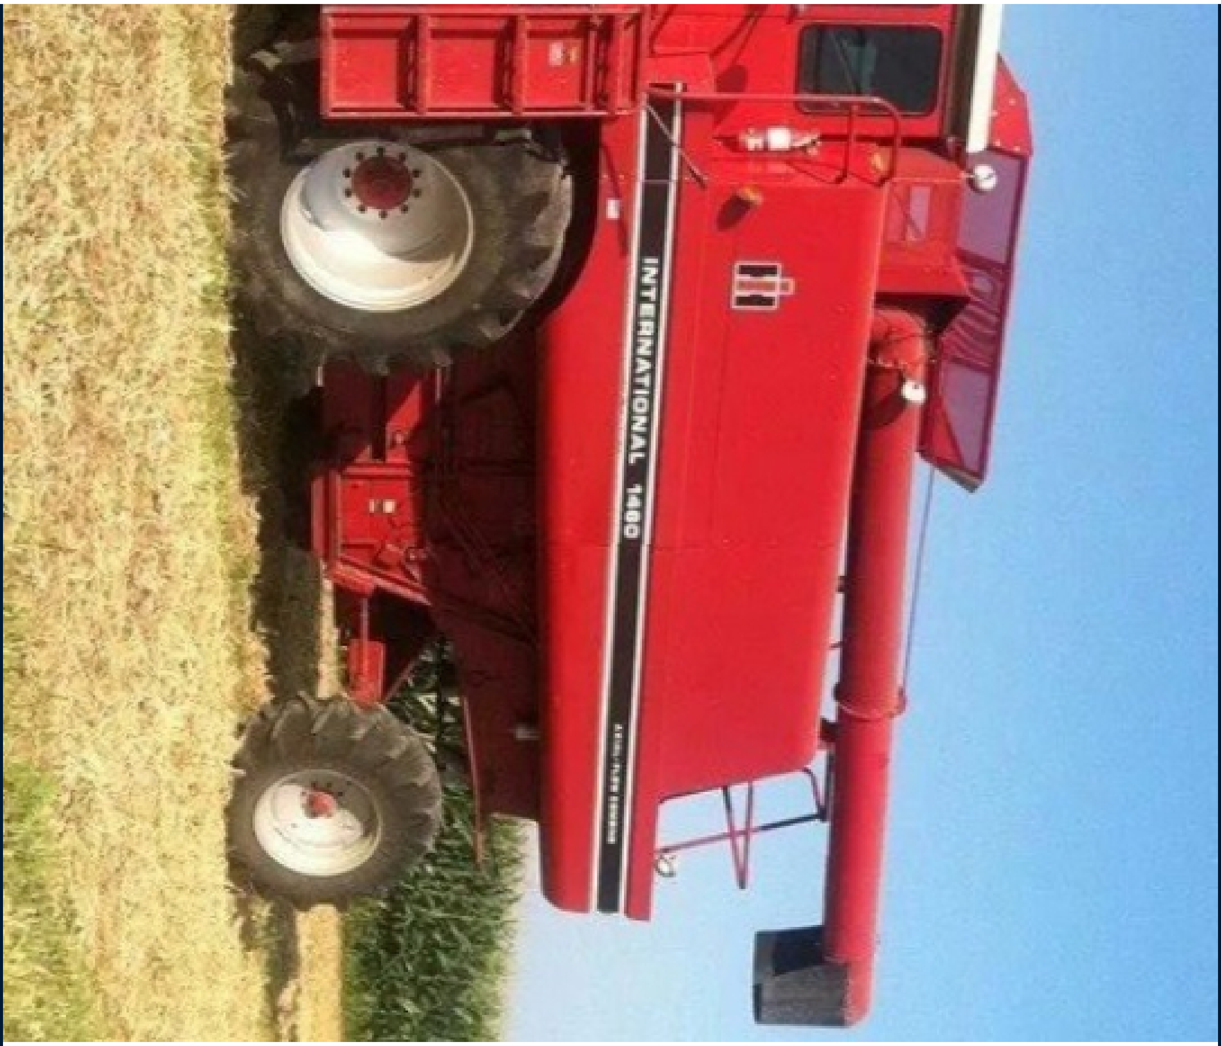
Here is a concise illustration of what happens next:

INTERNATIONAL 1460





90 degree rotation skywards. Another fun detail is that the "whirling vertical blades of death" are now sticking out in the air, presuming ~~twirling~~ gesturing threatening like a maniacal edward scissorhands in the direction of audience bystanders.

And that is how you get some extremely specific phrases added to a rulebook!

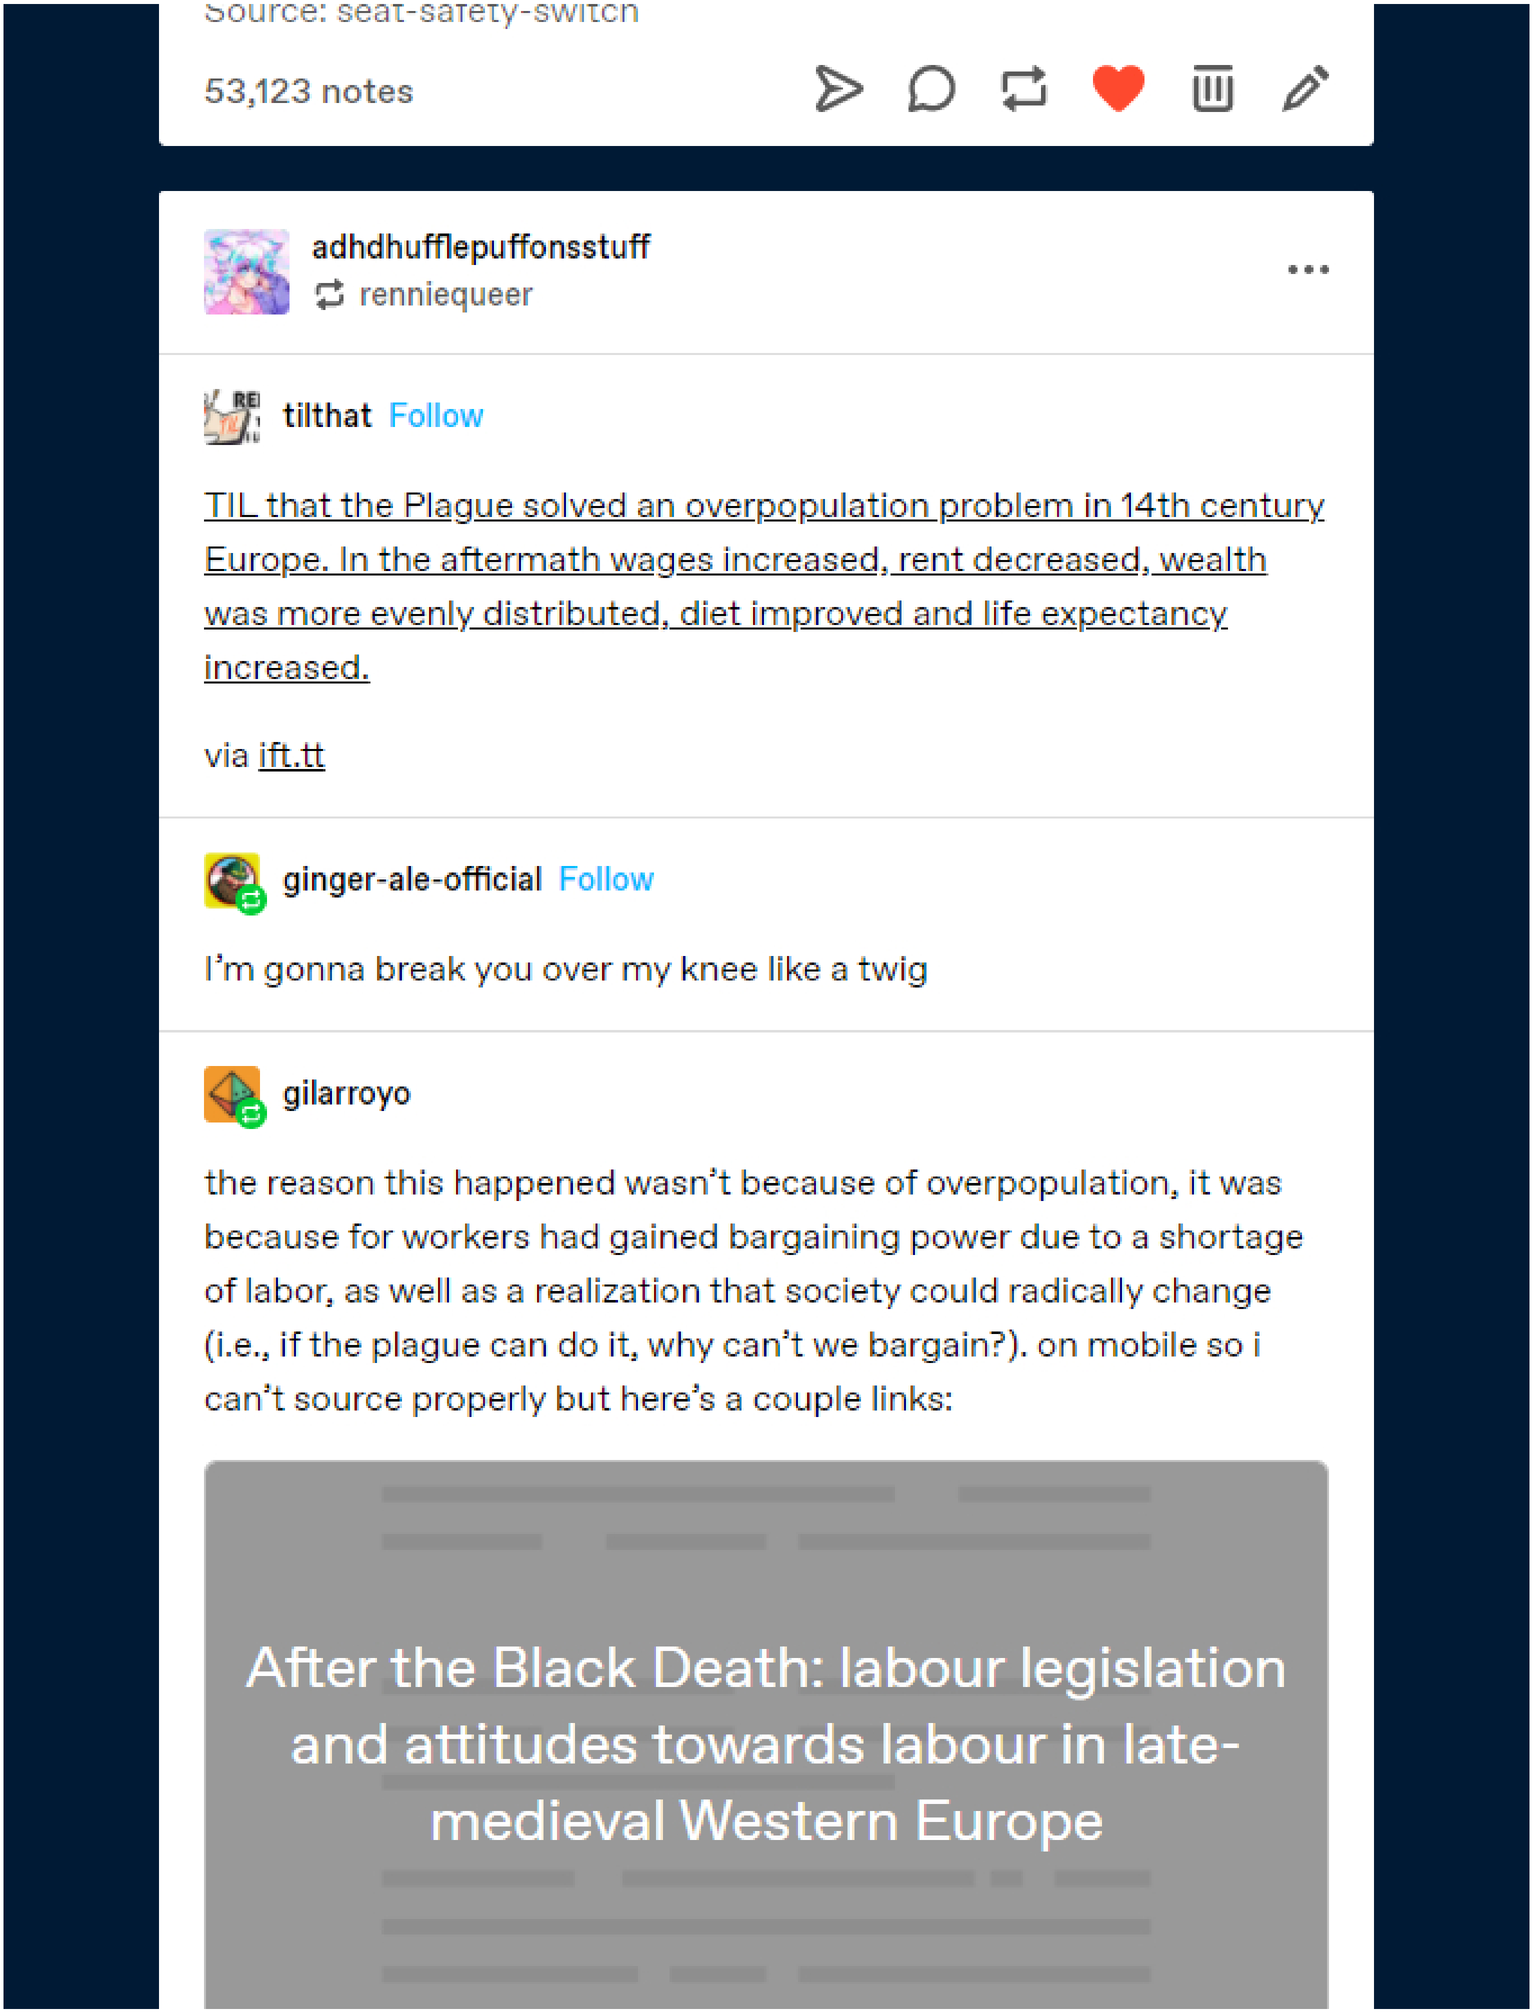
biggest-gaudiest-patronuses

#I did the most awkward attempt to translate this whole post to my father
#We both lost our shits as I tried and he was slowly getting the picture of what I was trying to translate



Source: seat-safety-switch

53,123 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
renniequeer

tilthat Follow

TIL that the Plague solved an overpopulation problem in 14th century Europe. In the aftermath wages increased, rent decreased, wealth was more evenly distributed, diet improved and life expectancy increased.

via ift.tt

ginger-ale-official Follow

I'm gonna break you over my knee like a twig gilarroyo

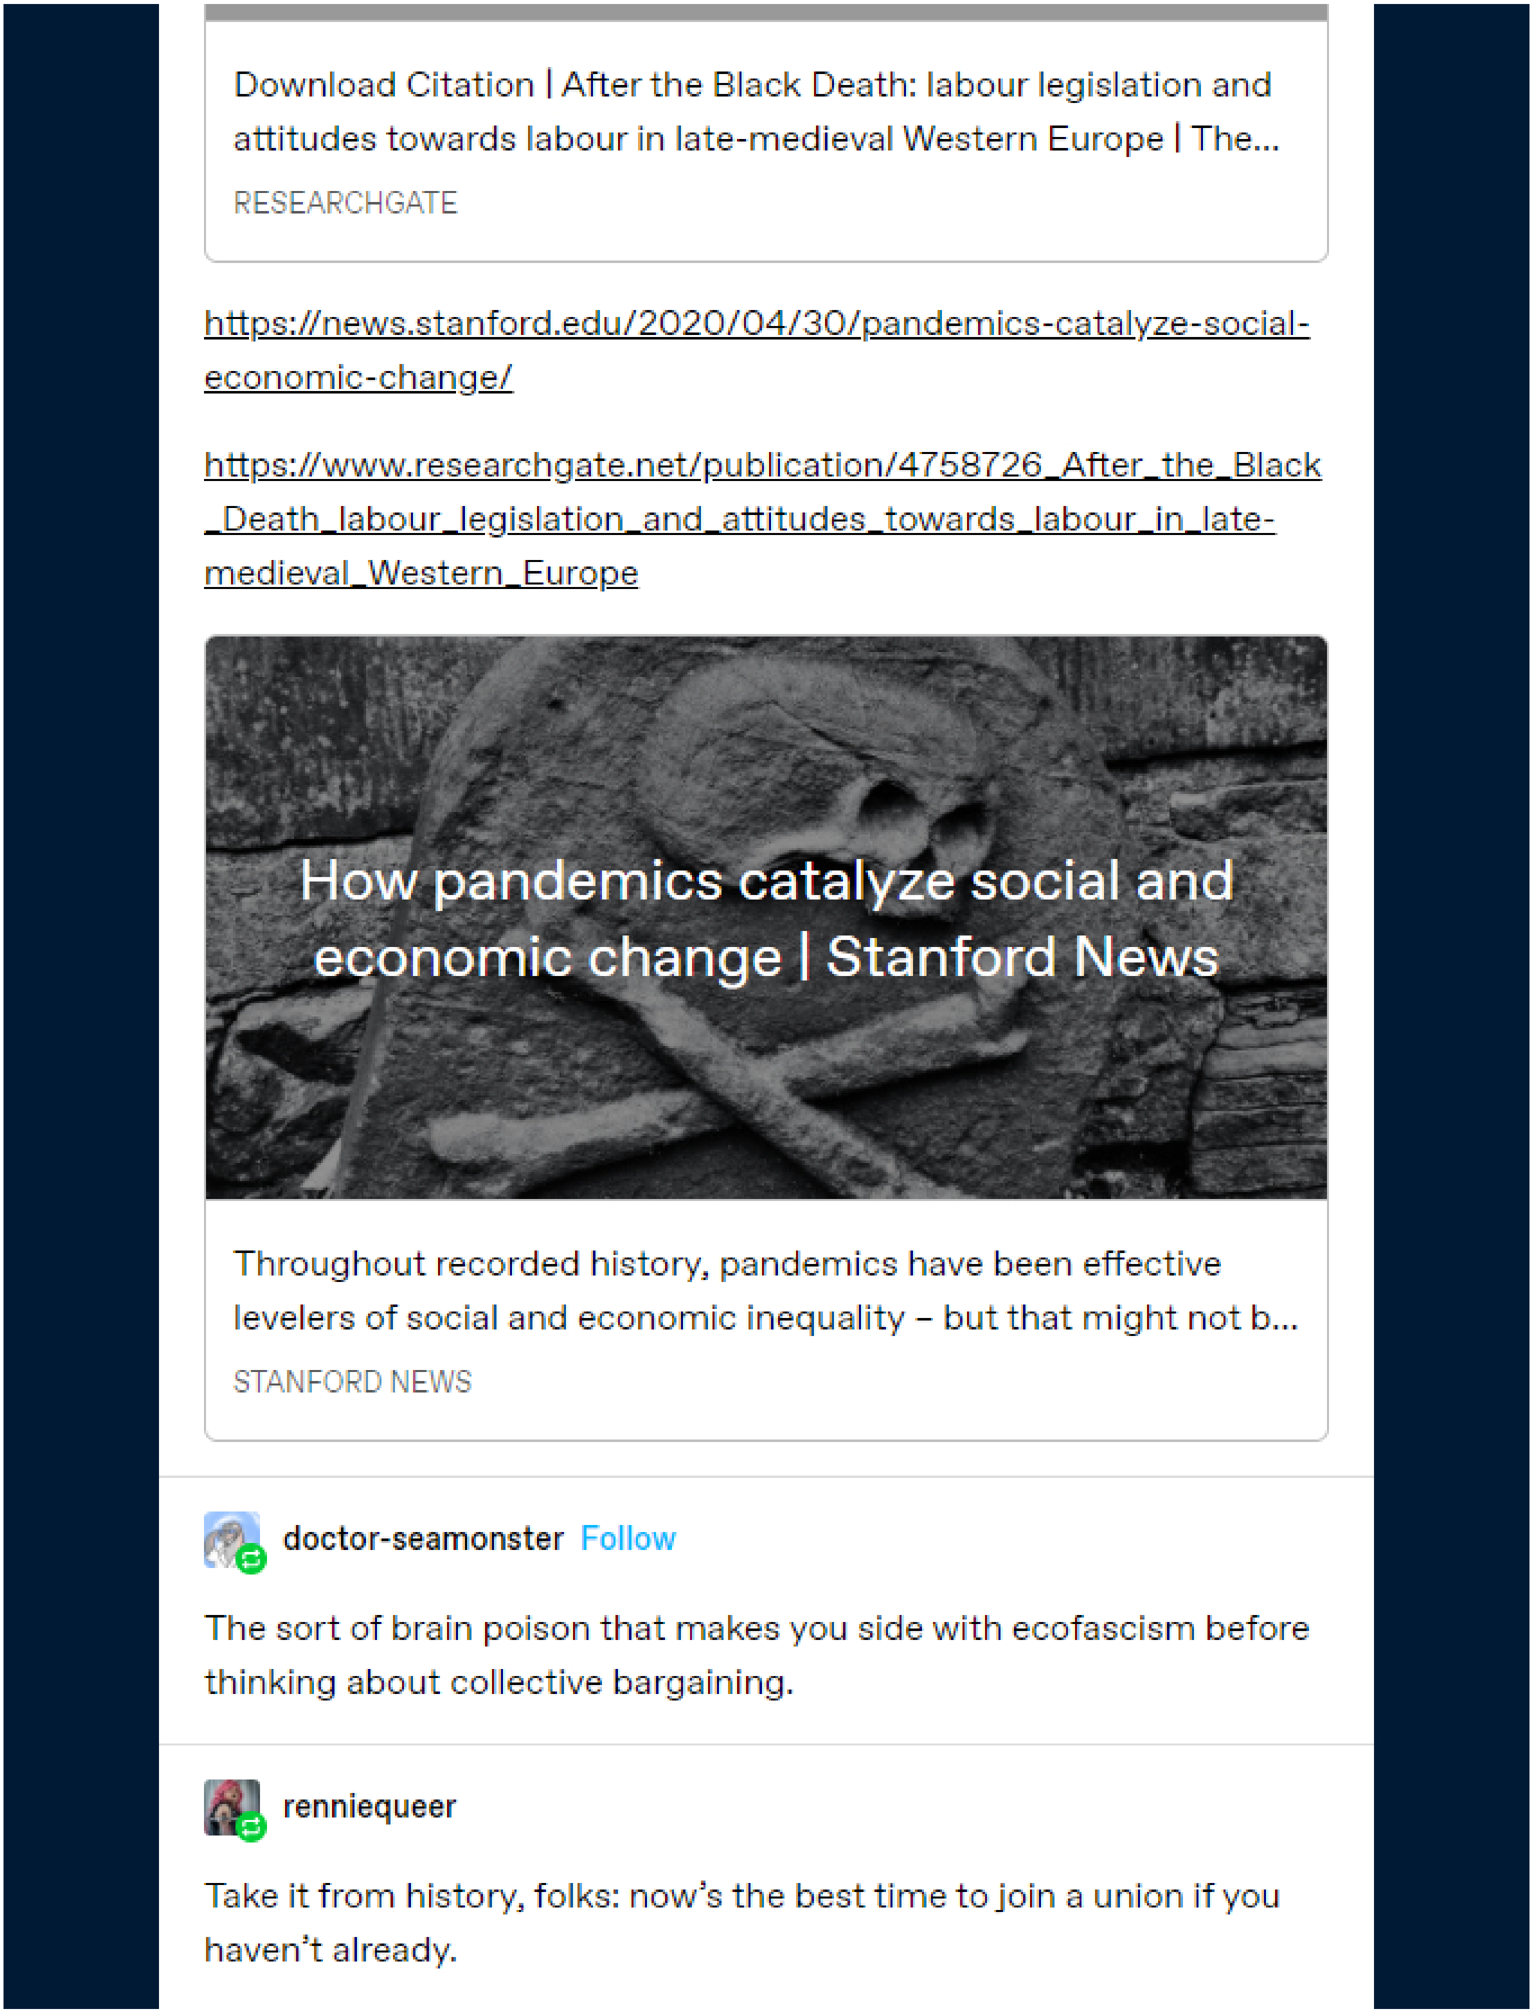
the reason this happened wasn't because of overpopulation, it was because for workers had gained bargaining power due to a shortage of labor, as well as a realization that society could radically change (i.e., if the plague can do it, why can't we bargain?). on mobile so i can't source properly but here's a couple links:

After the Black Death: labour legislation and attitudes towards labour in late-medieval Western Europe



Download Citation | After the Black Death: labour legislation and attitudes towards labour in late-medieval Western Europe | The...

RESEARCHGATE

https://news.stanford.edu/2020/04/30/pandemics-catalyze-social-economic-change/

https://www.researchgate.net/publication/4758726_After_the_Black_Death_labour_legislation_and_attitudes_towards_labour_in_late-medieval_Western_Europe

How pandemics catalyze social and economic change | Stanford News

Throughout recorded history, pandemics have been effective levelers of social and economic inequality – but that might not b...

STANFORD NEWS

doctor-seamonster

The sort of brain poison that makes you side with ecofascism before thinking about collective bargaining.

renniequeer

Take it from history, folks: now's the best time to join a union if you haven't already.

iww.org/join cursed--alien Follow

I don't have a job, can I still join a union?

renniequeer

Yes! I'm not as familiar with other unions as I am with the IWW, but you can absolutely join. My entire household is in the IWW, and only one of us has a "regular" job right now. The only people who can't join the IWW are people with the power to hire or fire.

Source: tilthat

45,038 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
thatlittledandere

averagefairy Follow

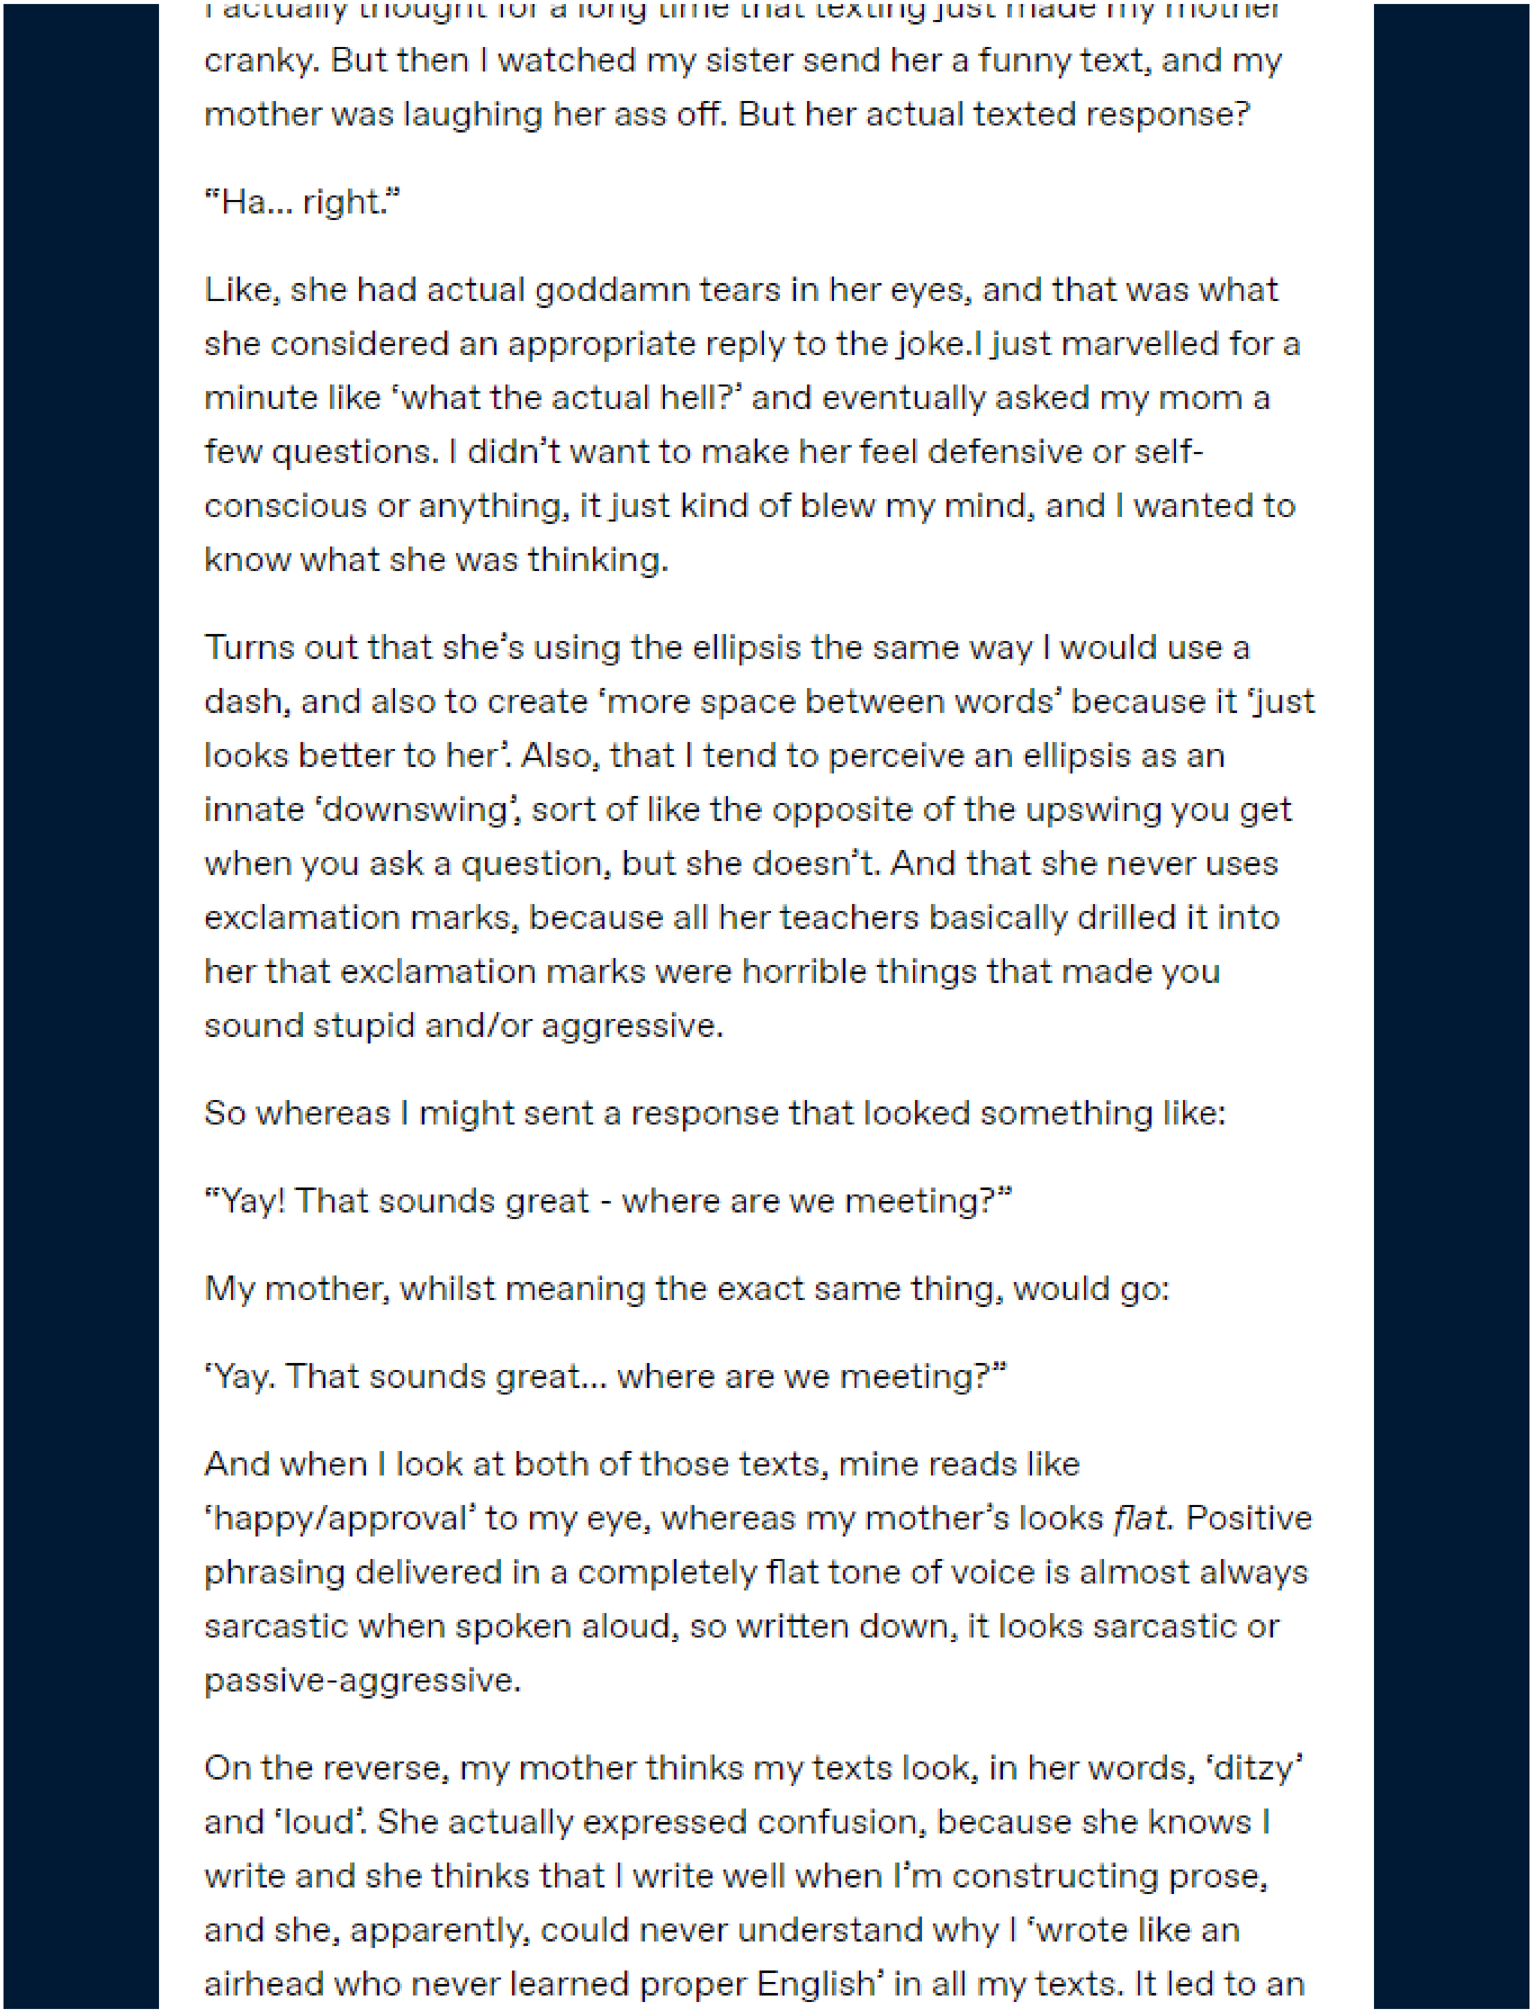
old people really need to learn how to text accurately to the mood they're trying to represent like my boss texted me wondering when my semester is over so she can start scheduling me more hours and i was like my finals are done the 15th! And she texts back "Yay for you…." how the fuck am i supposed to interpret that besides passive aggressive

runawaymarbles Follow

Someone needs to do a linguistic study on people over 50 and how they use the ellipsis. It's FASCINATING. I never know the mood they're trying to convey.

feynites Follow

I actually thought for a long time that texting just made my mother



I actually thought for a long time that texting just made my mother cranky. But then I watched my sister send her a funny text, and my mother was laughing her ass off. But her actual texted response?

"Ha... right."

Like, she had actual goddamn tears in her eyes, and that was what she considered an appropriate reply to the joke.I just marvelled for a minute like 'what the actual hell?' and eventually asked my mom a few questions. I didn't want to make her feel defensive or self-conscious or anything, it just kind of blew my mind, and I wanted to know what she was thinking.

Turns out that she's using the ellipsis the same way I would use a dash, and also to create 'more space between words' because it 'just looks better to her'. Also, that I tend to perceive an ellipsis as an innate 'downswing', sort of like the opposite of the upswing you get when you ask a question, but she doesn't. And that she never uses exclamation marks, because all her teachers basically drilled it into her that exclamation marks were horrible things that made you sound stupid and/or aggressive.

So whereas I might sent a response that looked something like:

"Yay! That sounds great - where are we meeting?"

My mother, whilst meaning the exact same thing, would go:

'Yay. That sounds great... where are we meeting?"

And when I look at both of those texts, mine reads like 'happy/approval' to my eye, whereas my mother's looks flat. Positive phrasing delivered in a completely flat tone of voice is almost always sarcastic when spoken aloud, so written down, it looks sarcastic or passive-aggressive.

On the reverse, my mother thinks my texts look, in her words, 'ditzy' and 'loud'. She actually expressed confusion, because she knows I write and she thinks that I write well when I'm constructing prose, and she, apparently, could never understand why I 'wrote like an airhead who never learned proper English' in all my texts. It led to an interesting discussion on conversational text. Texting and text-based chatting are, relatively, still pretty new, and my mother's generation by and large didn't grow up writing things down in real-time conversations. The closest equivalent would be passing notes in class, and that almost never went on for as long as a text conversation might. But letters had been largely supplanted by telephones at that point, so 'conversational writing' was not a thing she had to master.

So whereas people around my age or younger tend to text like we're scripting our own dialogue and need to convey the right intonations, my mom writes her texts like she's expecting her Eighth grade English teacher to come and mark them in red pen. She has learned that proper punctuation and mistakes are more acceptable, but when she considers putting effort into how she's writing, it's always the lines of making it more formal or technically correct, and not along the lines of 'how would this sound if you said it out loud?'

rileyjaydennis

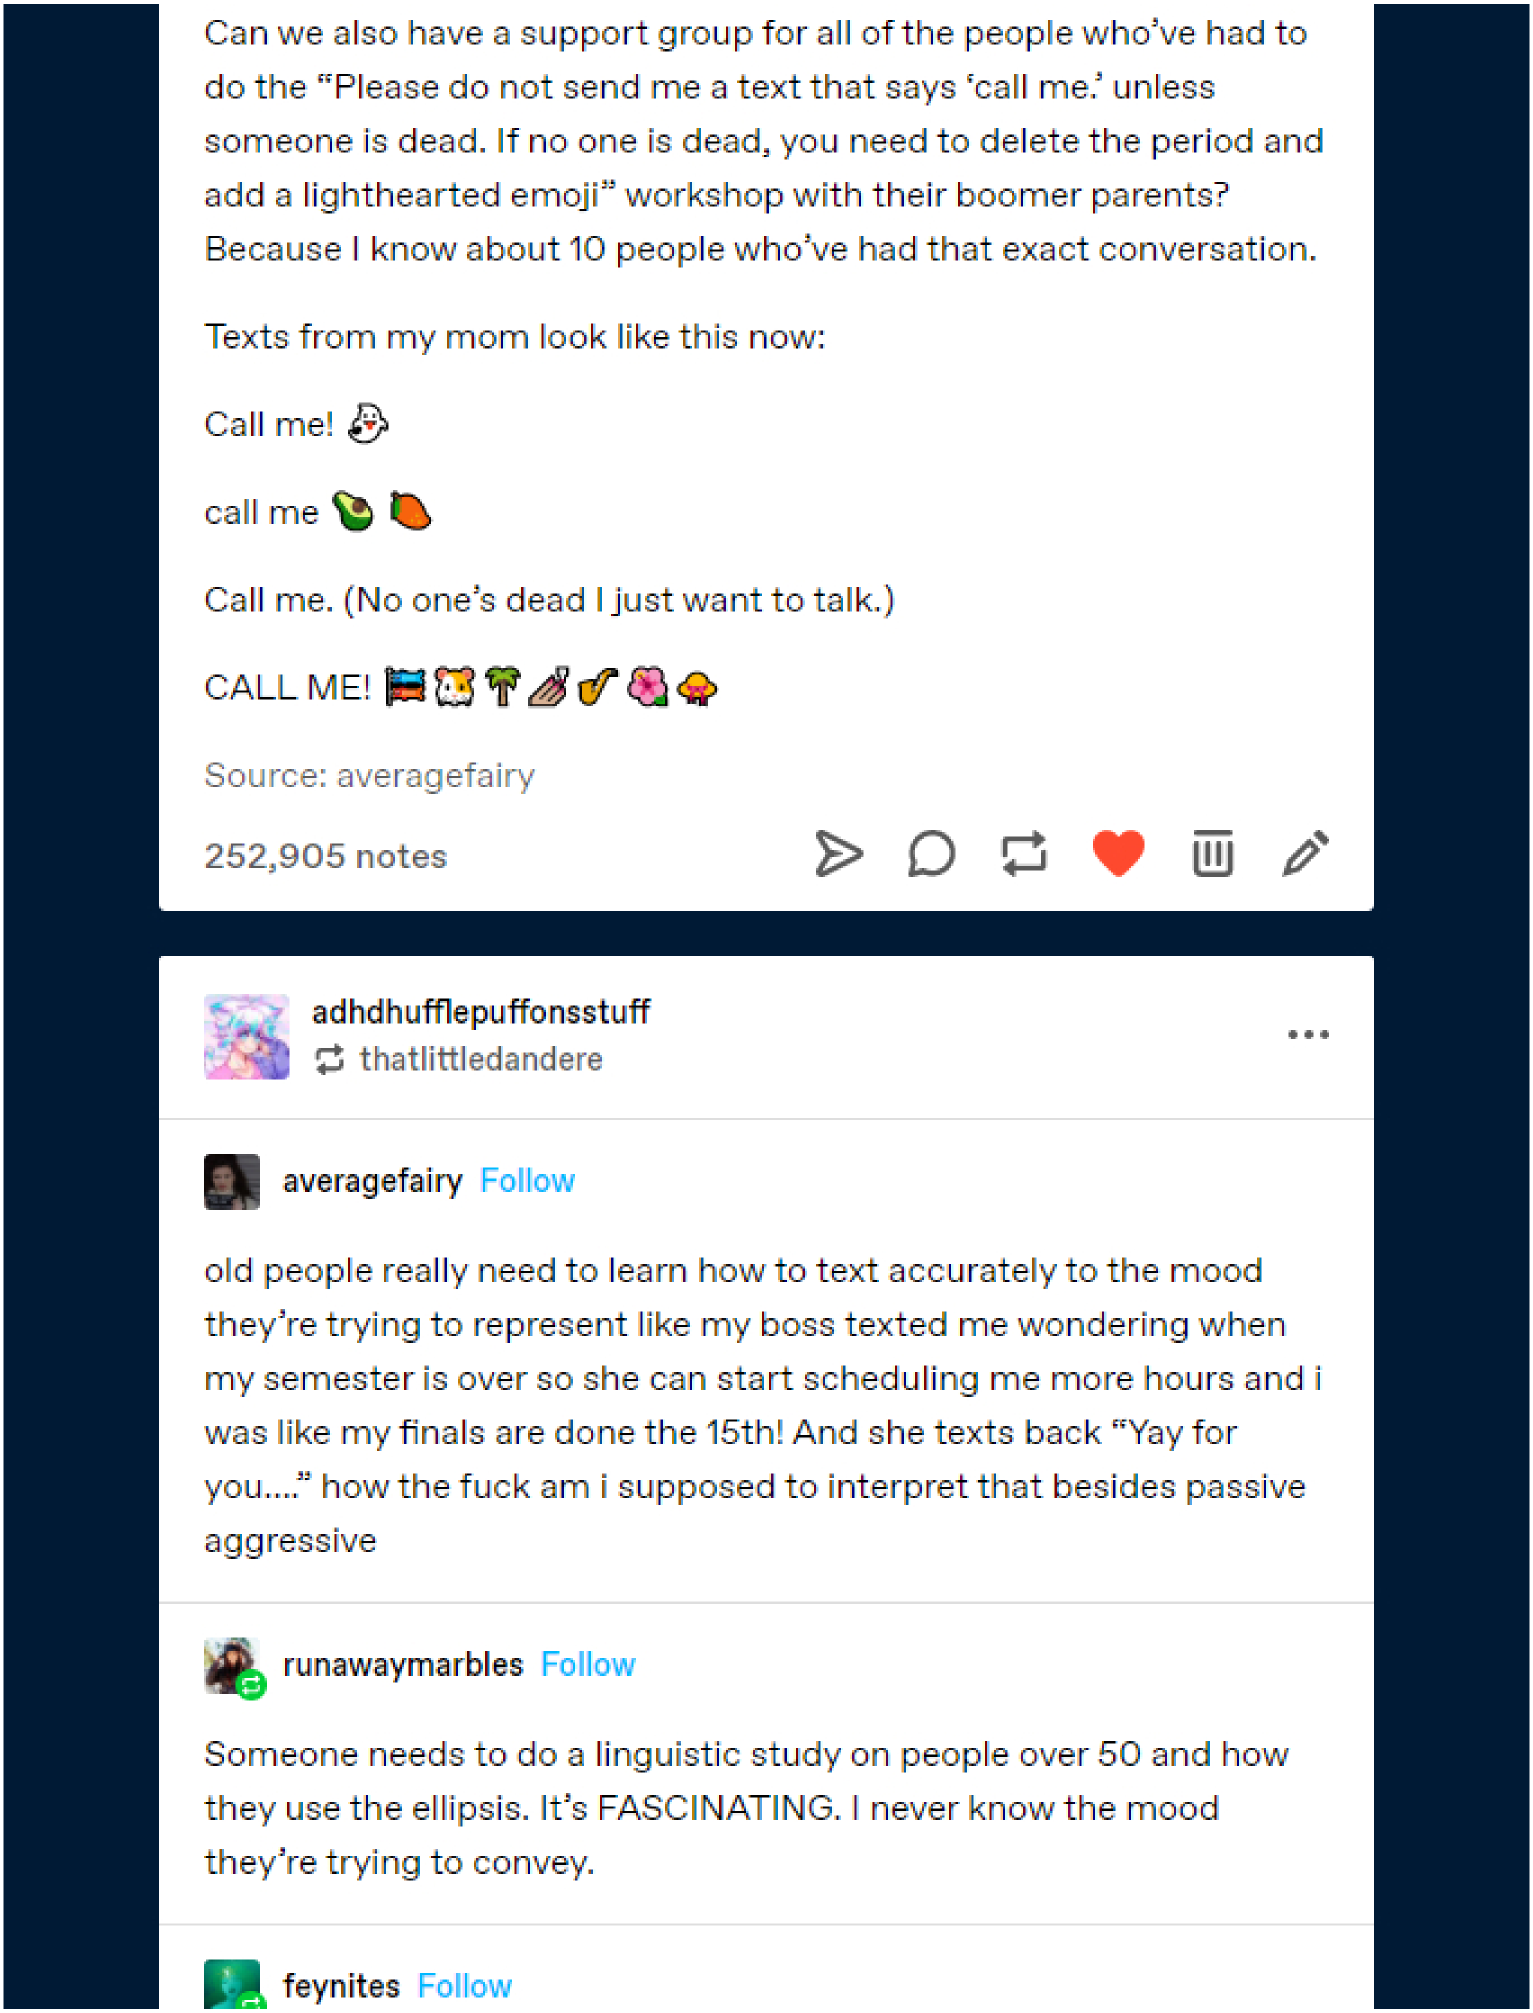
the linguistics of written languages in quick conversational format will never not be interesting to me like it's fascinating how we've all just silently learned what an ellipsis or exclamation mark implies and it's totally different in different communities or generations or whatever

curlicuecal

We had a running joke about how many times our grad PI's emails scared us because they were uncharacteristically terse. (You'd get like "We need to talk about your paper." and then the actual talk would be "It's great!")

And he heard us talking one day and started adding smiley emojis to his emails, and honestly it really helped

veronicasanders



Can we also have a support group for all of the people who've had to do the "Please do not send me a text that says 'call me.' unless someone is dead. If no one is dead, you need to delete the period and add a lighthearted emoji" workshop with their boomer parents? Because I know about 10 people who've had that exact conversation.

Texts from my mom look like this now:

Call me! 👻

call me 🥑 🥭

Call me. (No one's dead I just want to talk.)

CALL ME! 🏴🐹🌴💅🎷🌺👒

Source: averagefairy

252,905 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
thatlittledandere

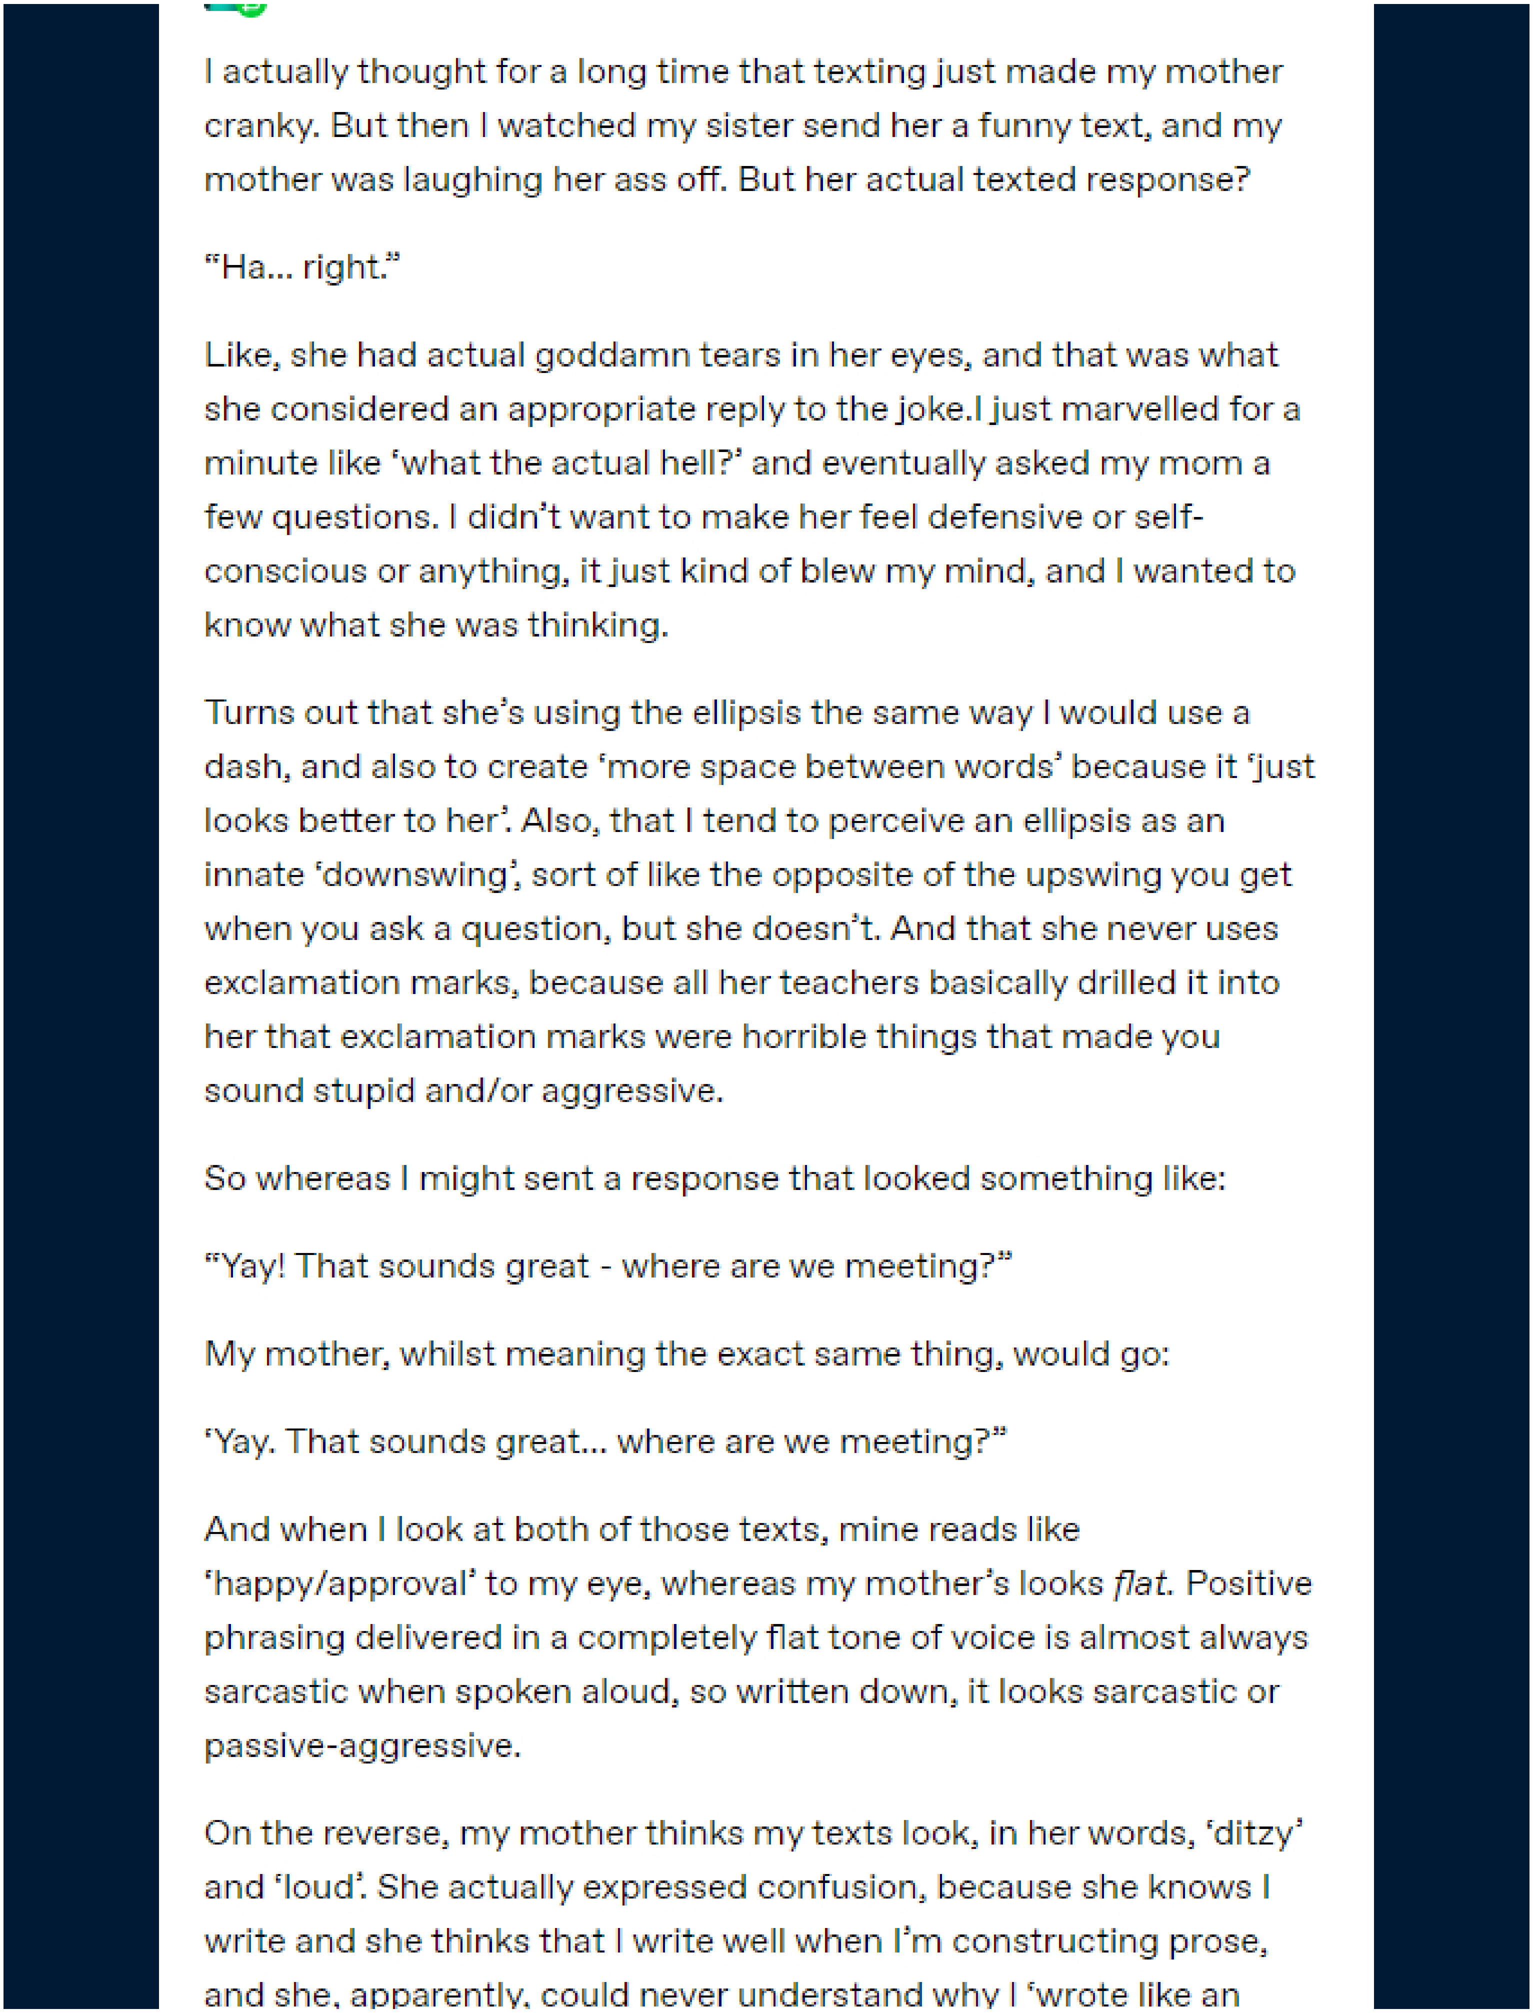
averagefairy Follow

old people really need to learn how to text accurately to the mood they're trying to represent like my boss texted me wondering when my semester is over so she can start scheduling me more hours and i was like my finals are done the 15th! And she texts back "Yay for you...." how the fuck am i supposed to interpret that besides passive aggressive

runawaymarbles Follow

Someone needs to do a linguistic study on people over 50 and how they use the ellipsis. It's FASCINATING. I never know the mood they're trying to convey.

feynites Follow



I actually thought for a long time that texting just made my mother cranky. But then I watched my sister send her a funny text, and my mother was laughing her ass off. But her actual texted response?

“Ha… right.”

Like, she had actual goddamn tears in her eyes, and that was what she considered an appropriate reply to the joke.I just marvelled for a minute like ‘what the actual hell?’ and eventually asked my mom a few questions. I didn’t want to make her feel defensive or self-conscious or anything, it just kind of blew my mind, and I wanted to know what she was thinking.

Turns out that she’s using the ellipsis the same way I would use a dash, and also to create ‘more space between words’ because it ‘just looks better to her’. Also, that I tend to perceive an ellipsis as an innate ‘downswing’, sort of like the opposite of the upswing you get when you ask a question, but she doesn’t. And that she never uses exclamation marks, because all her teachers basically drilled it into her that exclamation marks were horrible things that made you sound stupid and/or aggressive.

So whereas I might sent a response that looked something like:

“Yay! That sounds great - where are we meeting?”

My mother, whilst meaning the exact same thing, would go:

‘Yay. That sounds great… where are we meeting?”

And when I look at both of those texts, mine reads like ‘happy/approval’ to my eye, whereas my mother’s looks flat. Positive phrasing delivered in a completely flat tone of voice is almost always sarcastic when spoken aloud, so written down, it looks sarcastic or passive-aggressive.

On the reverse, my mother thinks my texts look, in her words, ‘ditzy’ and ‘loud’. She actually expressed confusion, because she knows I write and she thinks that I write well when I’m constructing prose, and she, apparently, could never understand why I ‘wrote like an airhead who never learned proper English’ in all my texts. It led to an interesting discussion on conversational text. Texting and text-based chatting are, relatively, still pretty new, and my mother’s generation by and large didn’t grow up writing things down in real-time conversations. The closest equivalent would be passing notes in class, and that almost never went on for as long as a text conversation might. But letters had been largely supplanted by telephones at that point, so ‘conversational writing’ was not a thing she had to master.

So whereas people around my age or younger tend to text like we’re scripting our own dialogue and need to convey the right intonations, my mom writes her texts like she’s expecting her Eighth grade English teacher to come and mark them in red pen. She has learned that proper punctuation and mistakes are more acceptable, but when she considers putting effort into how she’s writing, it’s always the lines of making it more formal or technically correct, and not along the lines of ‘how would this sound if you said it out loud?’

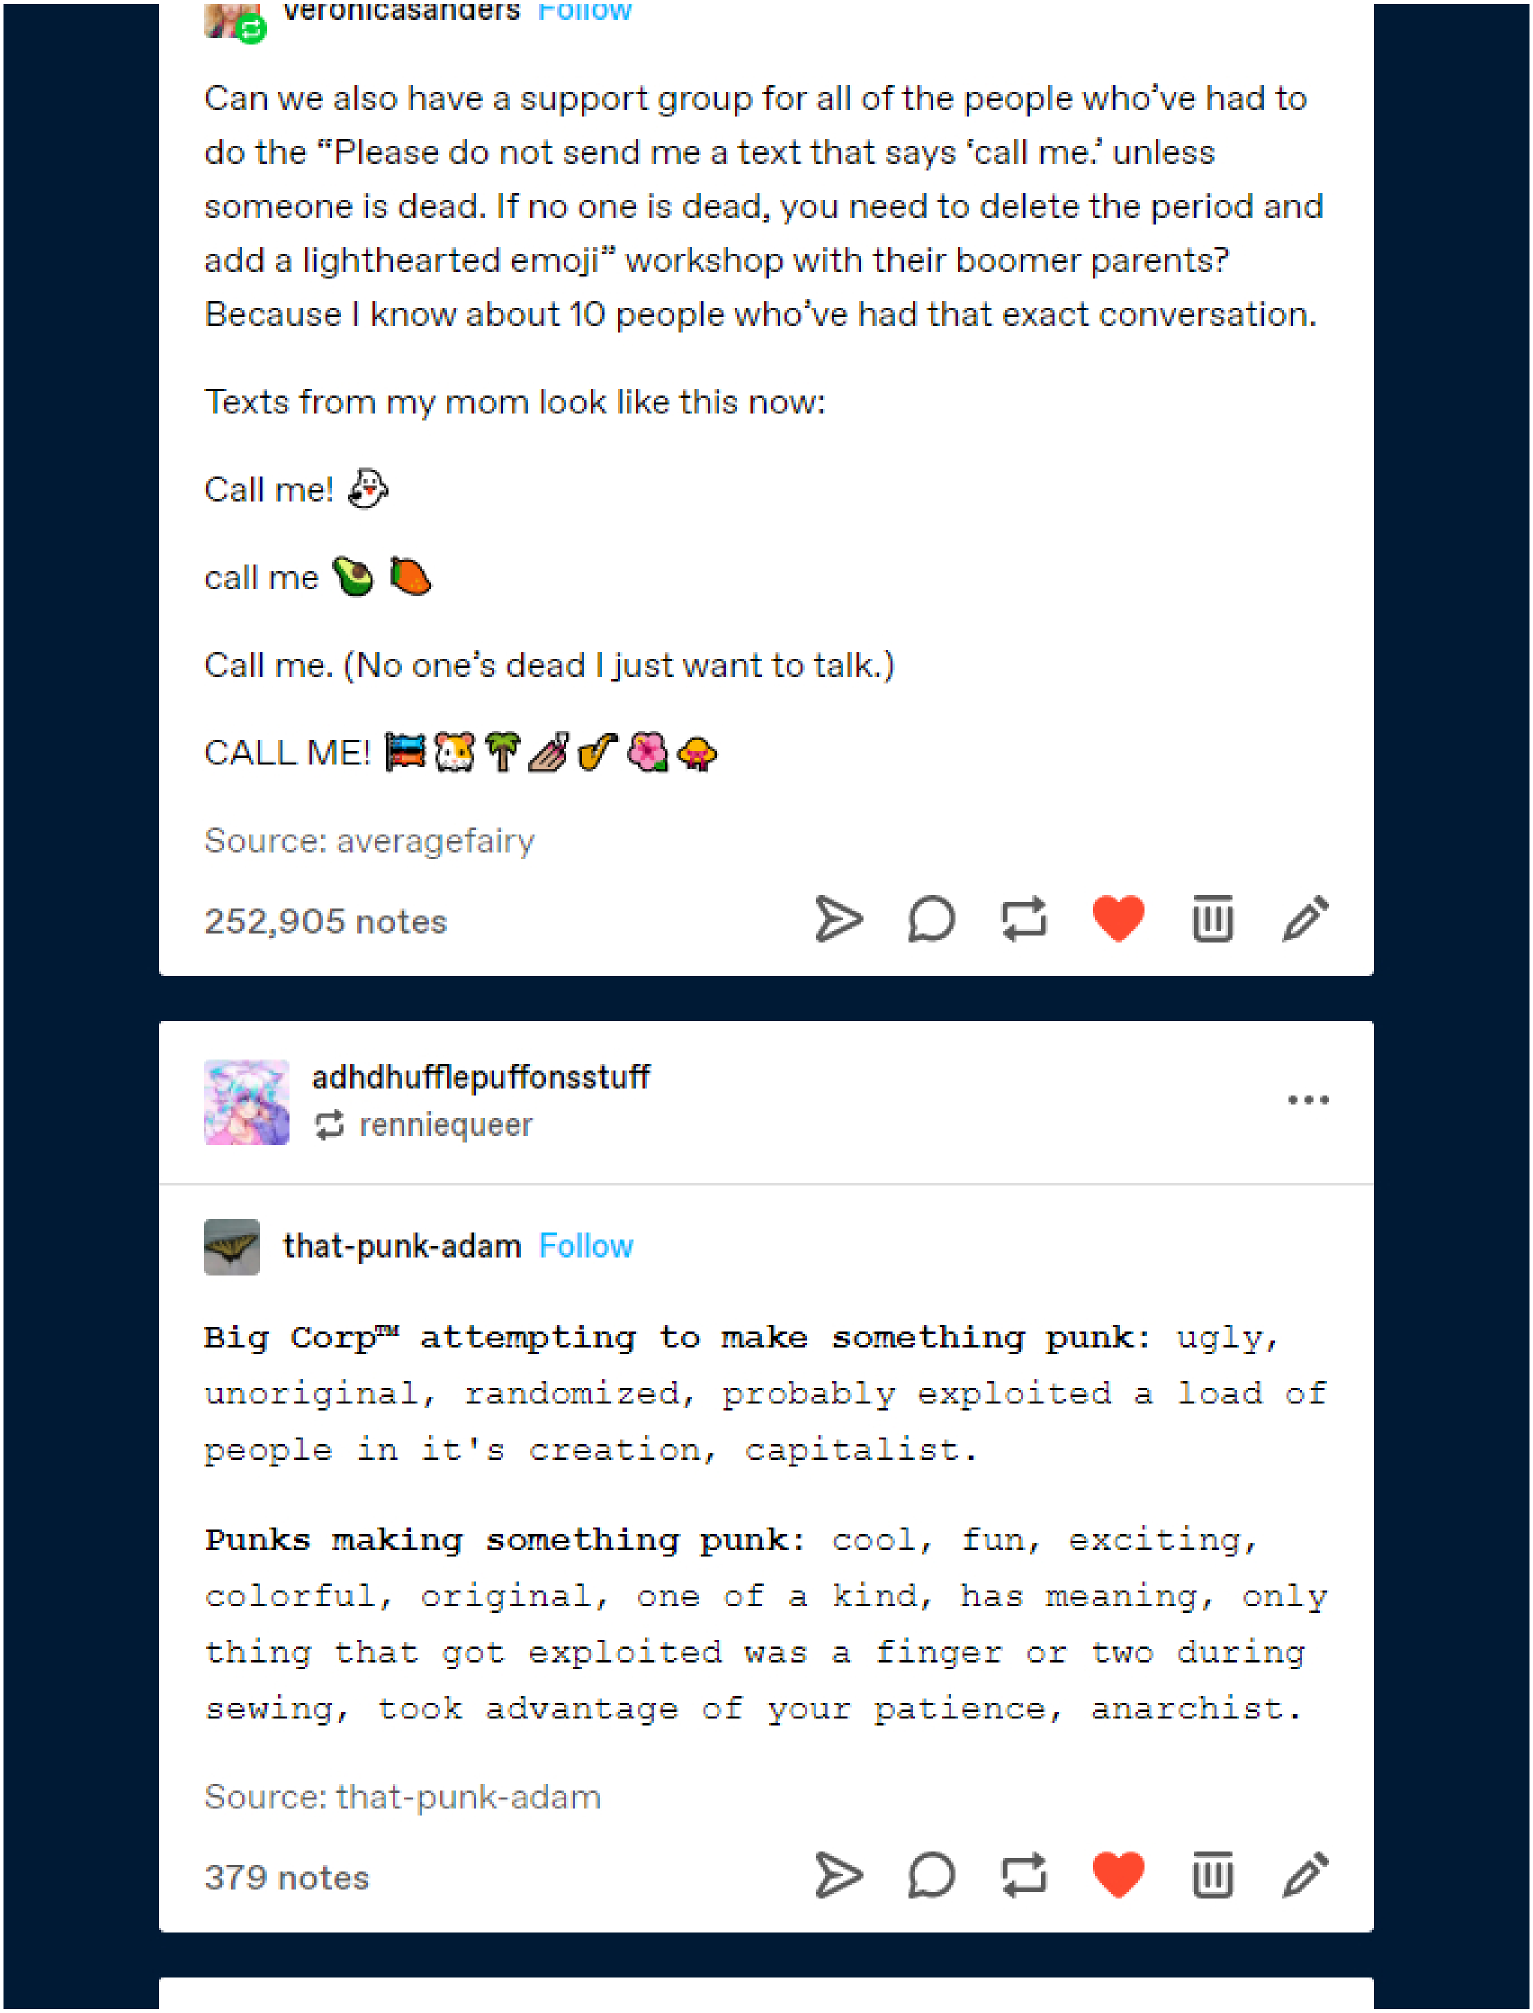
rileyjaydennis

the linguistics of written languages in quick conversational format will never not be interesting to me like it’s fascinating how we’ve all just silently learned what an ellipsis or exclamation mark implies and it’s totally different in different communities or generations or whatever

curlicuecal

We had a running joke about how many times our grad PI’s emails scared us because they were uncharacteristically terse. (You’d get like “We need to talk about your paper.” and then the actual talk would be “It’s great!”)

And he heard us talking one day and started adding smiley emojis to his emails, and honestly it really helped



veronicasanders Follow

Can we also have a support group for all of the people who've had to do the "Please do not send me a text that says 'call me.' unless someone is dead. If no one is dead, you need to delete the period and add a lighthearted emoji" workshop with their boomer parents? Because I know about 10 people who've had that exact conversation.

Texts from my mom look like this now:

Call me! 👻

call me 🥑 🥭

Call me. (No one's dead I just want to talk.)

CALL ME! 🎞🐹🌴🔪🎷🌺🍄

Source: averagefairy

252,905 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

renniequeer

that-punk-adam Follow

Big Corp™ attempting to make something punk: ugly, unoriginal, randomized, probably exploited a load of people in it's creation, capitalist.

Punks making something punk: cool, fun, exciting, colorful, original, one of a kind, has meaning, only thing that got exploited was a finger or two during sewing, took advantage of your patience, anarchist.

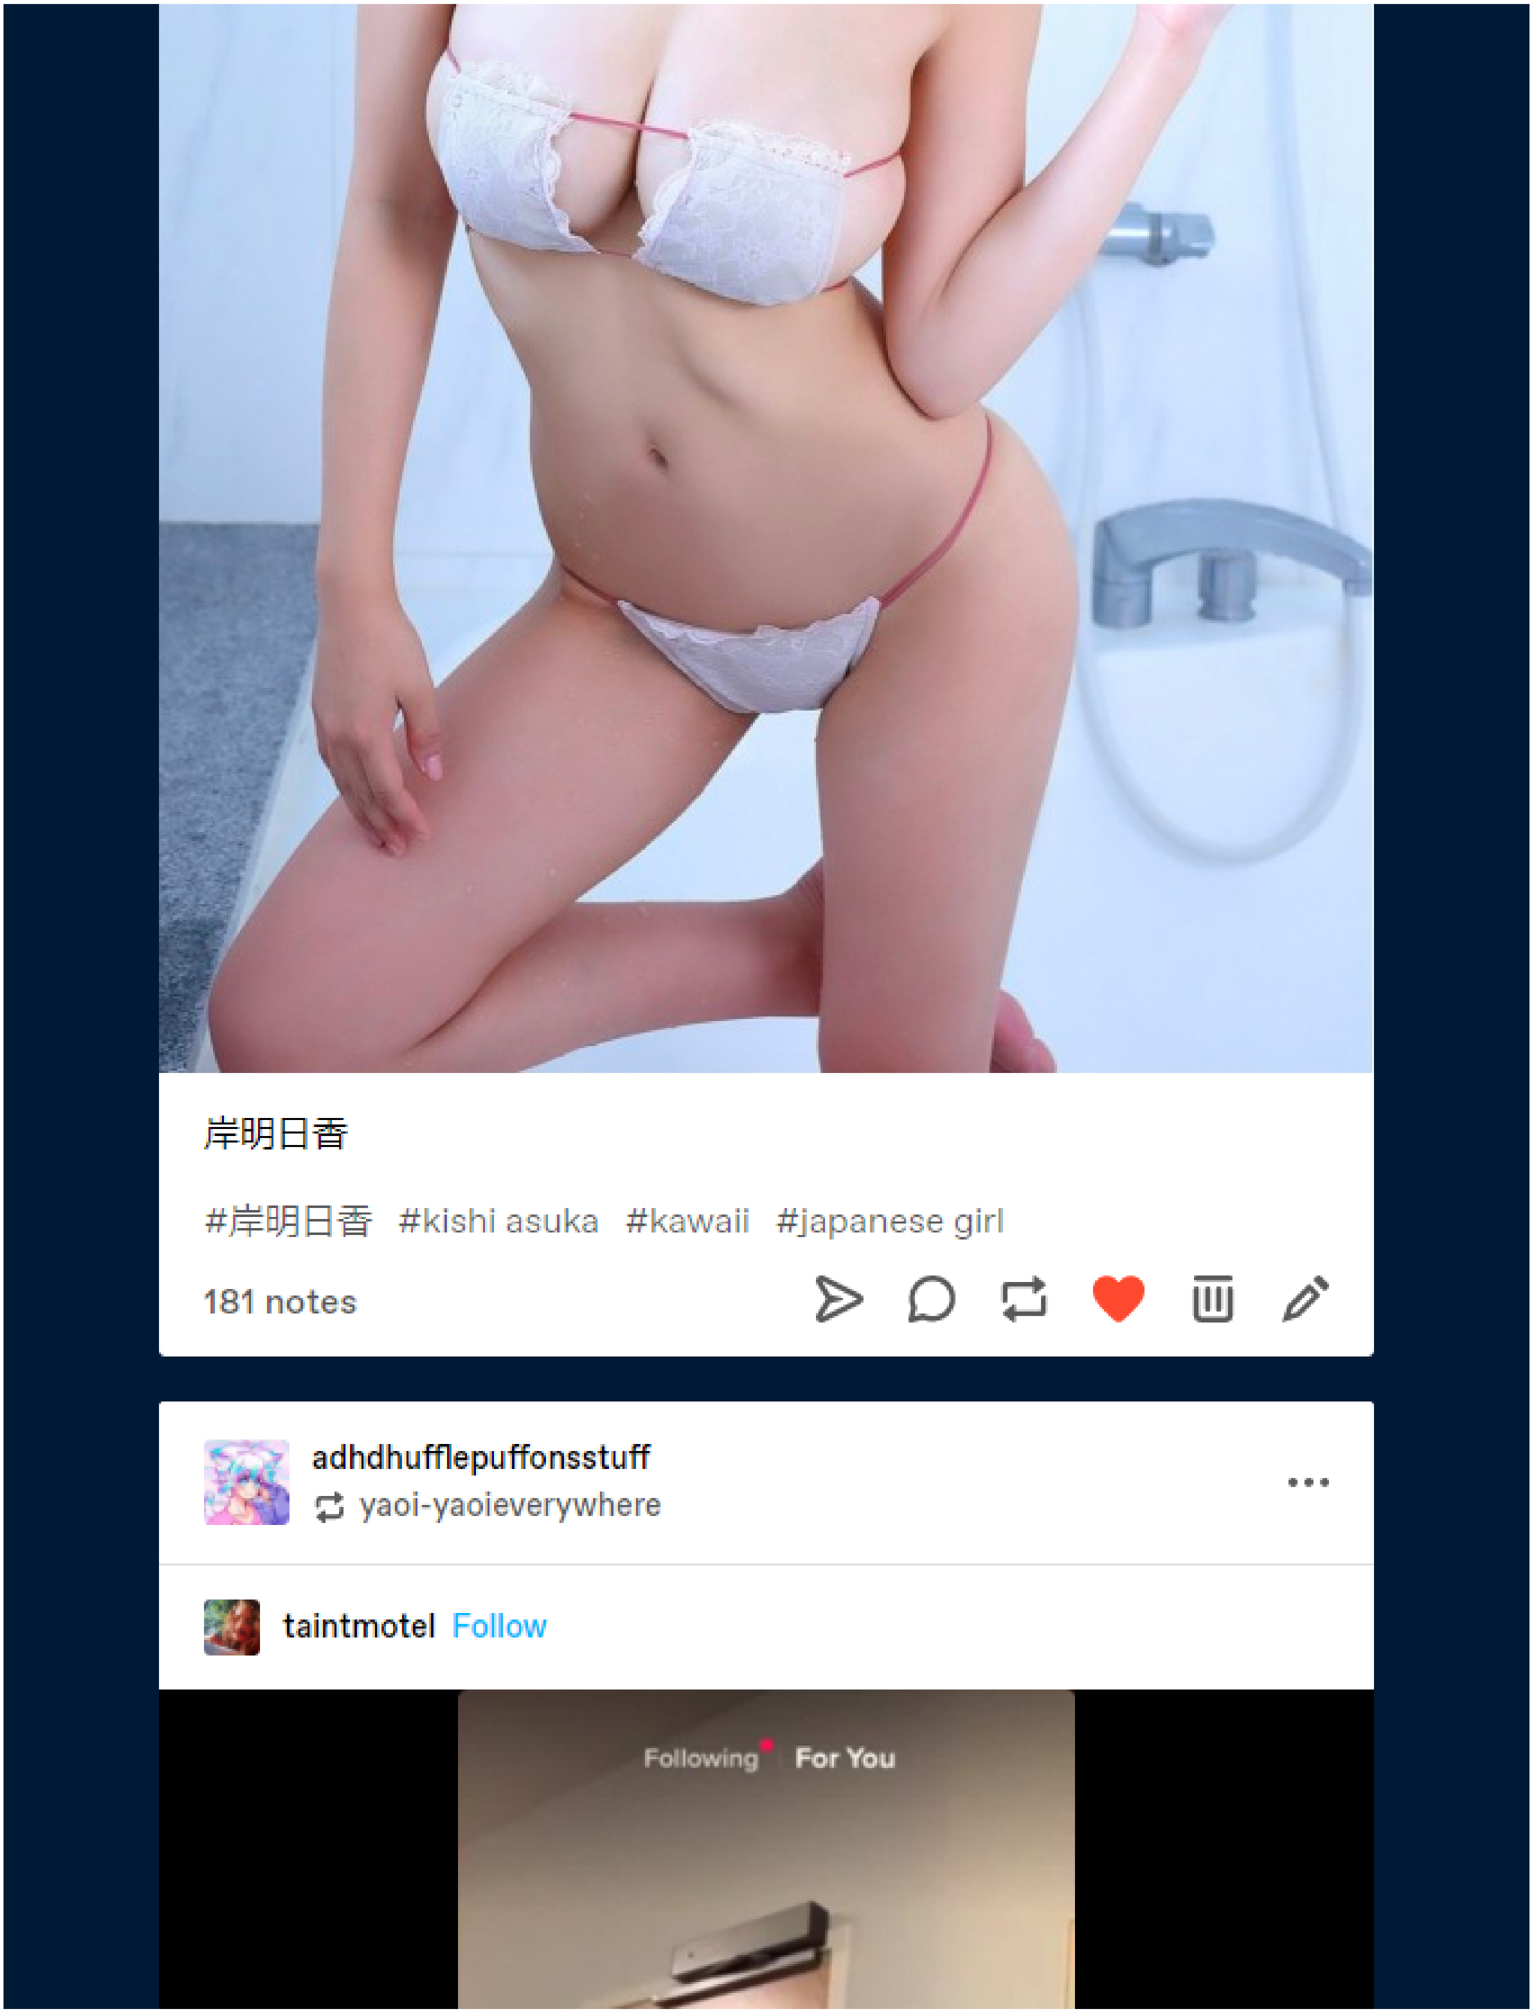
Source: that-punk-adam

379 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

kawaii-girl115 Follow

kawaii-girl115 Follow



岸明日香

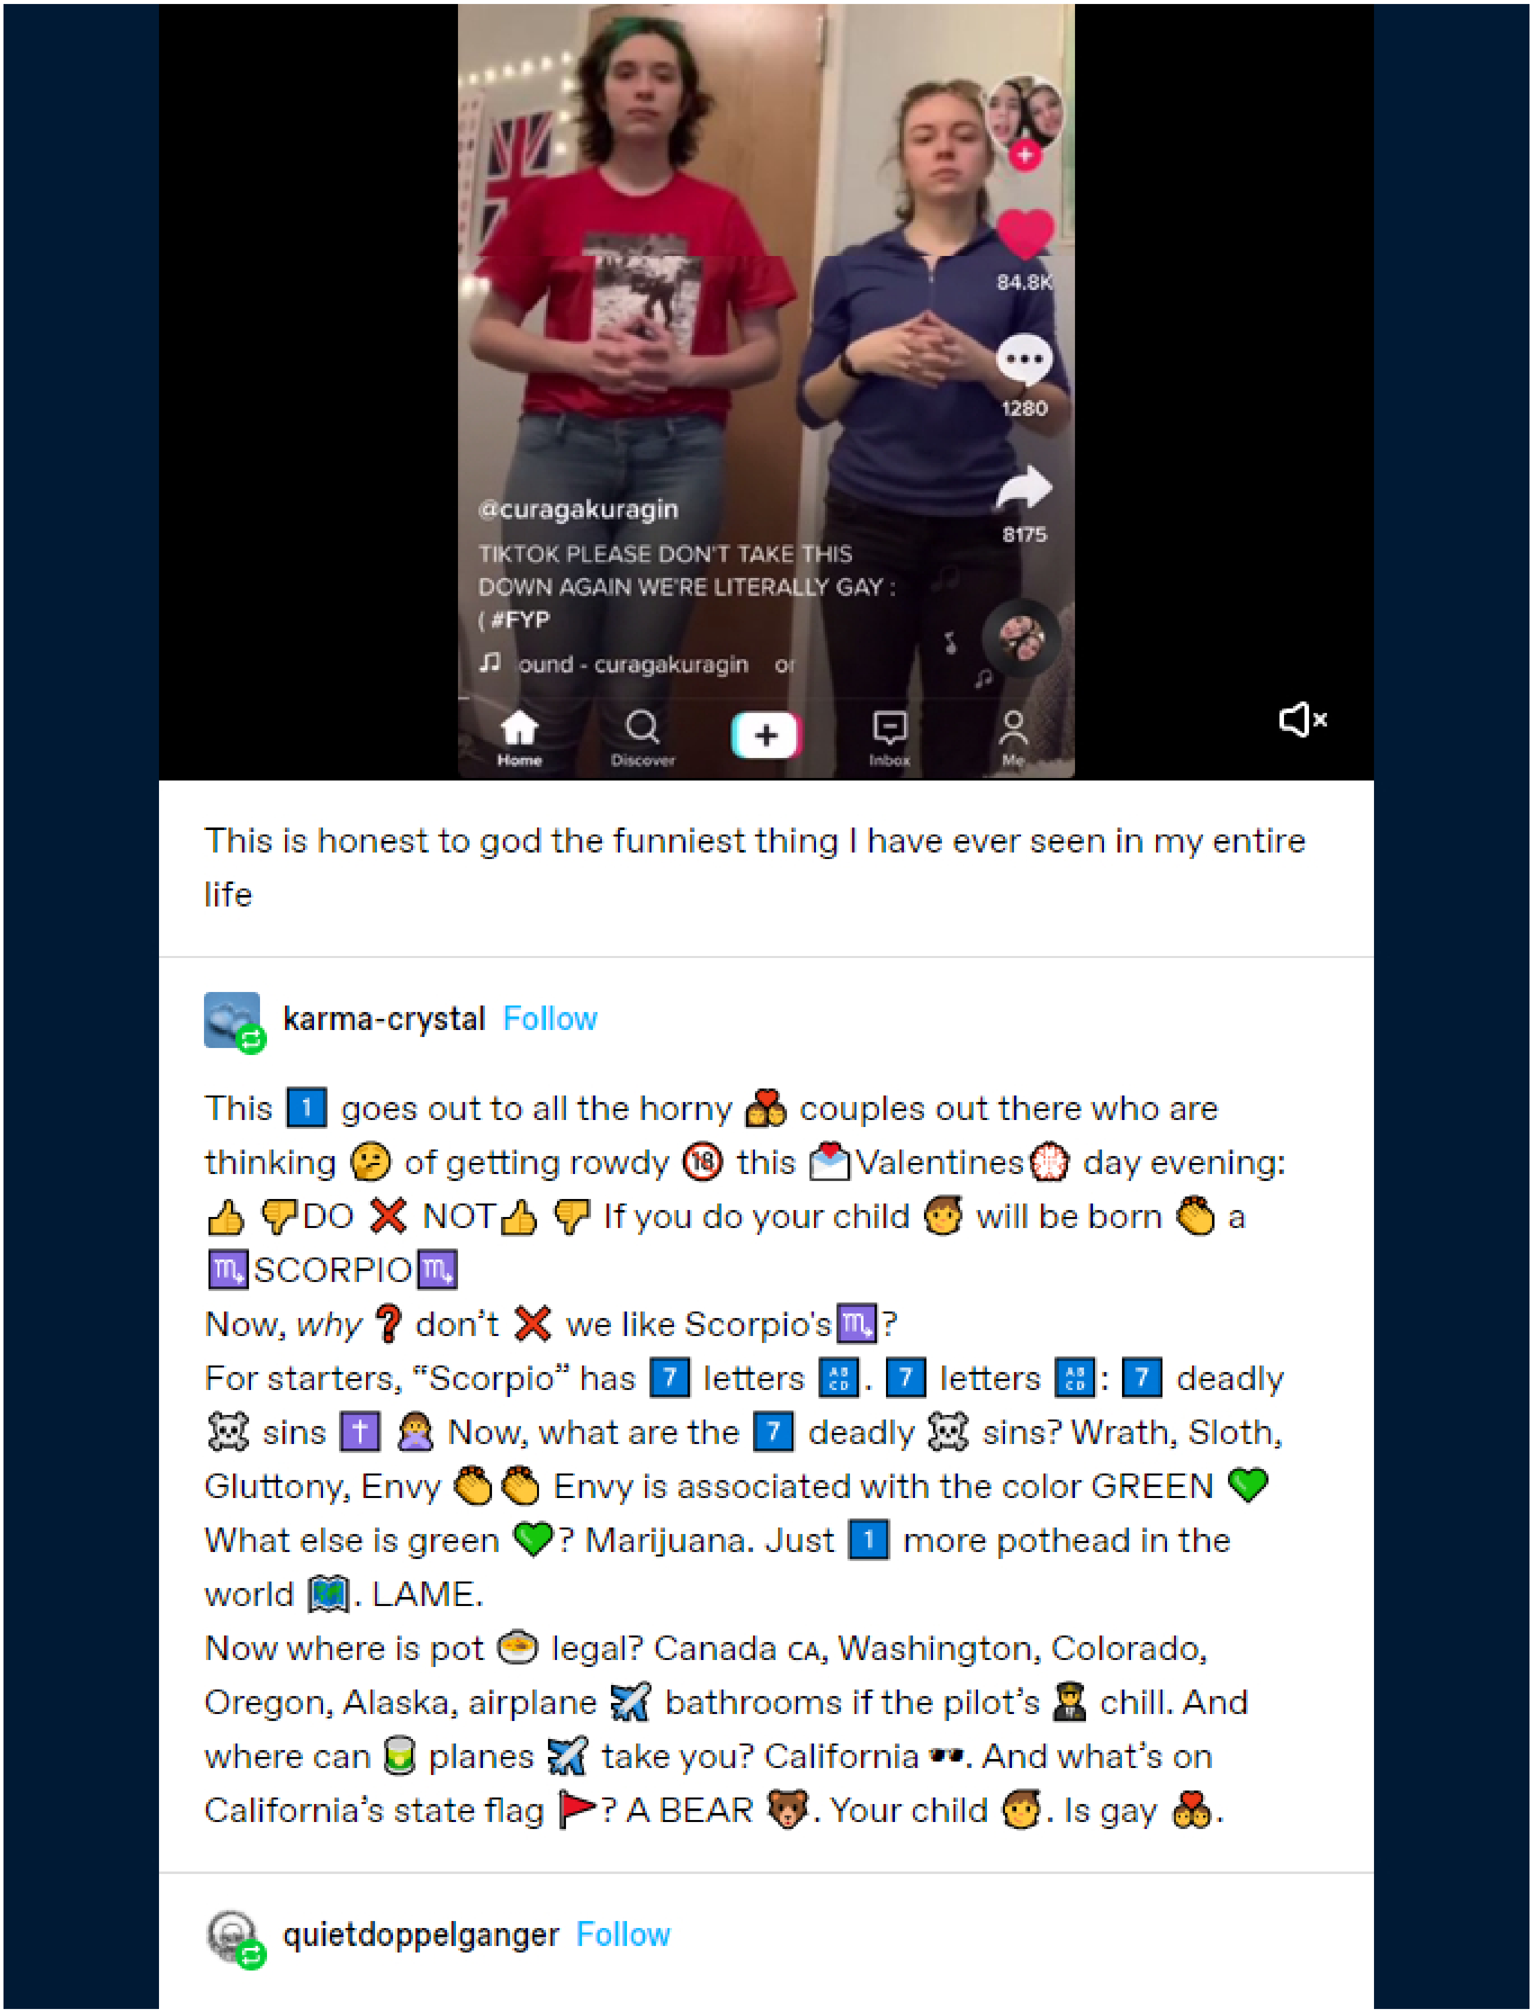
#岸明日香 #kishi asuka #kawaii #japanese girl

181 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
yaoi-yaoieverywhere

taintmotel Follow

Following
For You



@curagakuragin

TIKTOK PLEASE DON'T TAKE THIS DOWN AGAIN WE'RE LITERALLY GAY :(#FYP

♫ ound - curagakuragin or

This is honest to god the funniest thing I have ever seen in my entire life

karma-crystal Follow

This 1️⃣ goes out to all the horny 💑 couples out there who are thinking 🤔 of getting rowdy 🔞 this 💌Valentines🧠 day evening:
👍 👎DO ❌ NOT👍 👎 If you do your child 👦 will be born 👏 a ♏SCORPIO♏
Now, why ❓ don't ❌ we like Scorpio's♏?
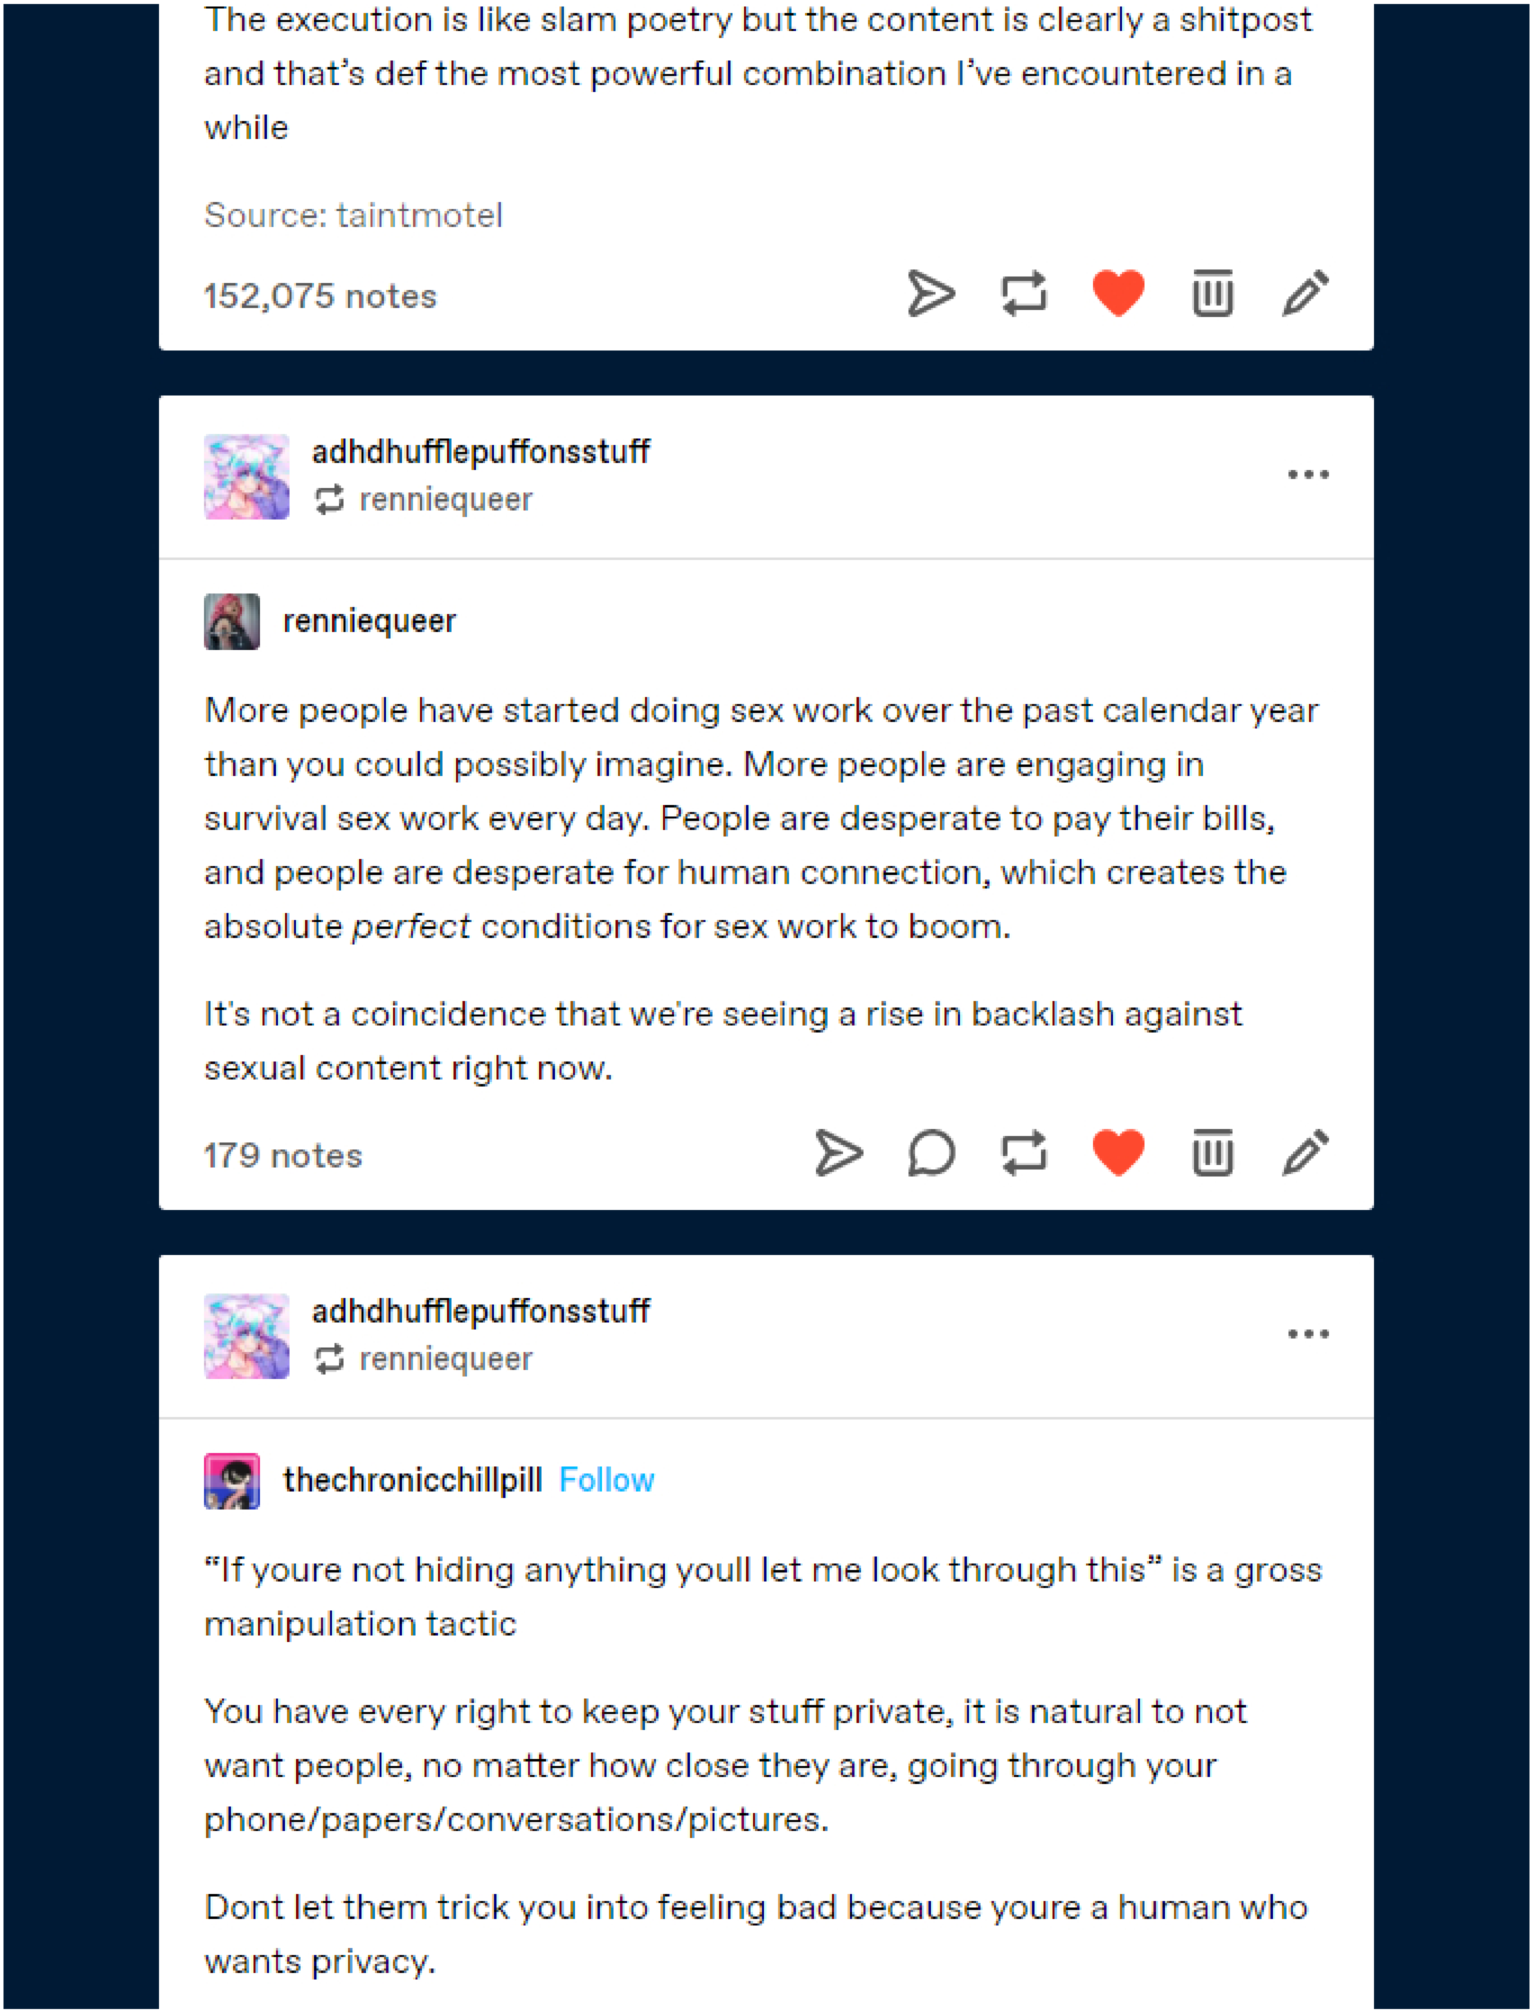
For starters, "Scorpio" has 7️⃣ letters 🔠. 7️⃣ letters 🔠: 7️⃣ deadly ☠️ sins ✝️ 🙅‍♀️ Now, what are the 7️⃣ deadly ☠️ sins? Wrath, Sloth, Gluttony, Envy 👏👏 Envy is associated with the color GREEN 💚
What else is green 💚? Marijuana. Just 1️⃣ more pothead in the world 🗺️. LAME.
Now where is pot 🍲 legal? Canada 🇨🇦, Washington, Colorado, Oregon, Alaska, airplane ✈️ bathrooms if the pilot's 👮 chill. And where can 🥫 planes ✈️ take you? California 🕶️. And what's on California's state flag 🚩? A BEAR 🐻. Your child 👦. Is gay 💑.

quietdoppelganger Follow



The execution is like slam poetry but the content is clearly a shitpost and that's def the most powerful combination I've encountered in a while

Source: taintmotel

152,075 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
renniequeer

renniequeer

More people have started doing sex work over the past calendar year than you could possibly imagine. More people are engaging in survival sex work every day. People are desperate to pay their bills, and people are desperate for human connection, which creates the absolute perfect conditions for sex work to boom.

It's not a coincidence that we're seeing a rise in backlash against sexual content right now.

179 notes

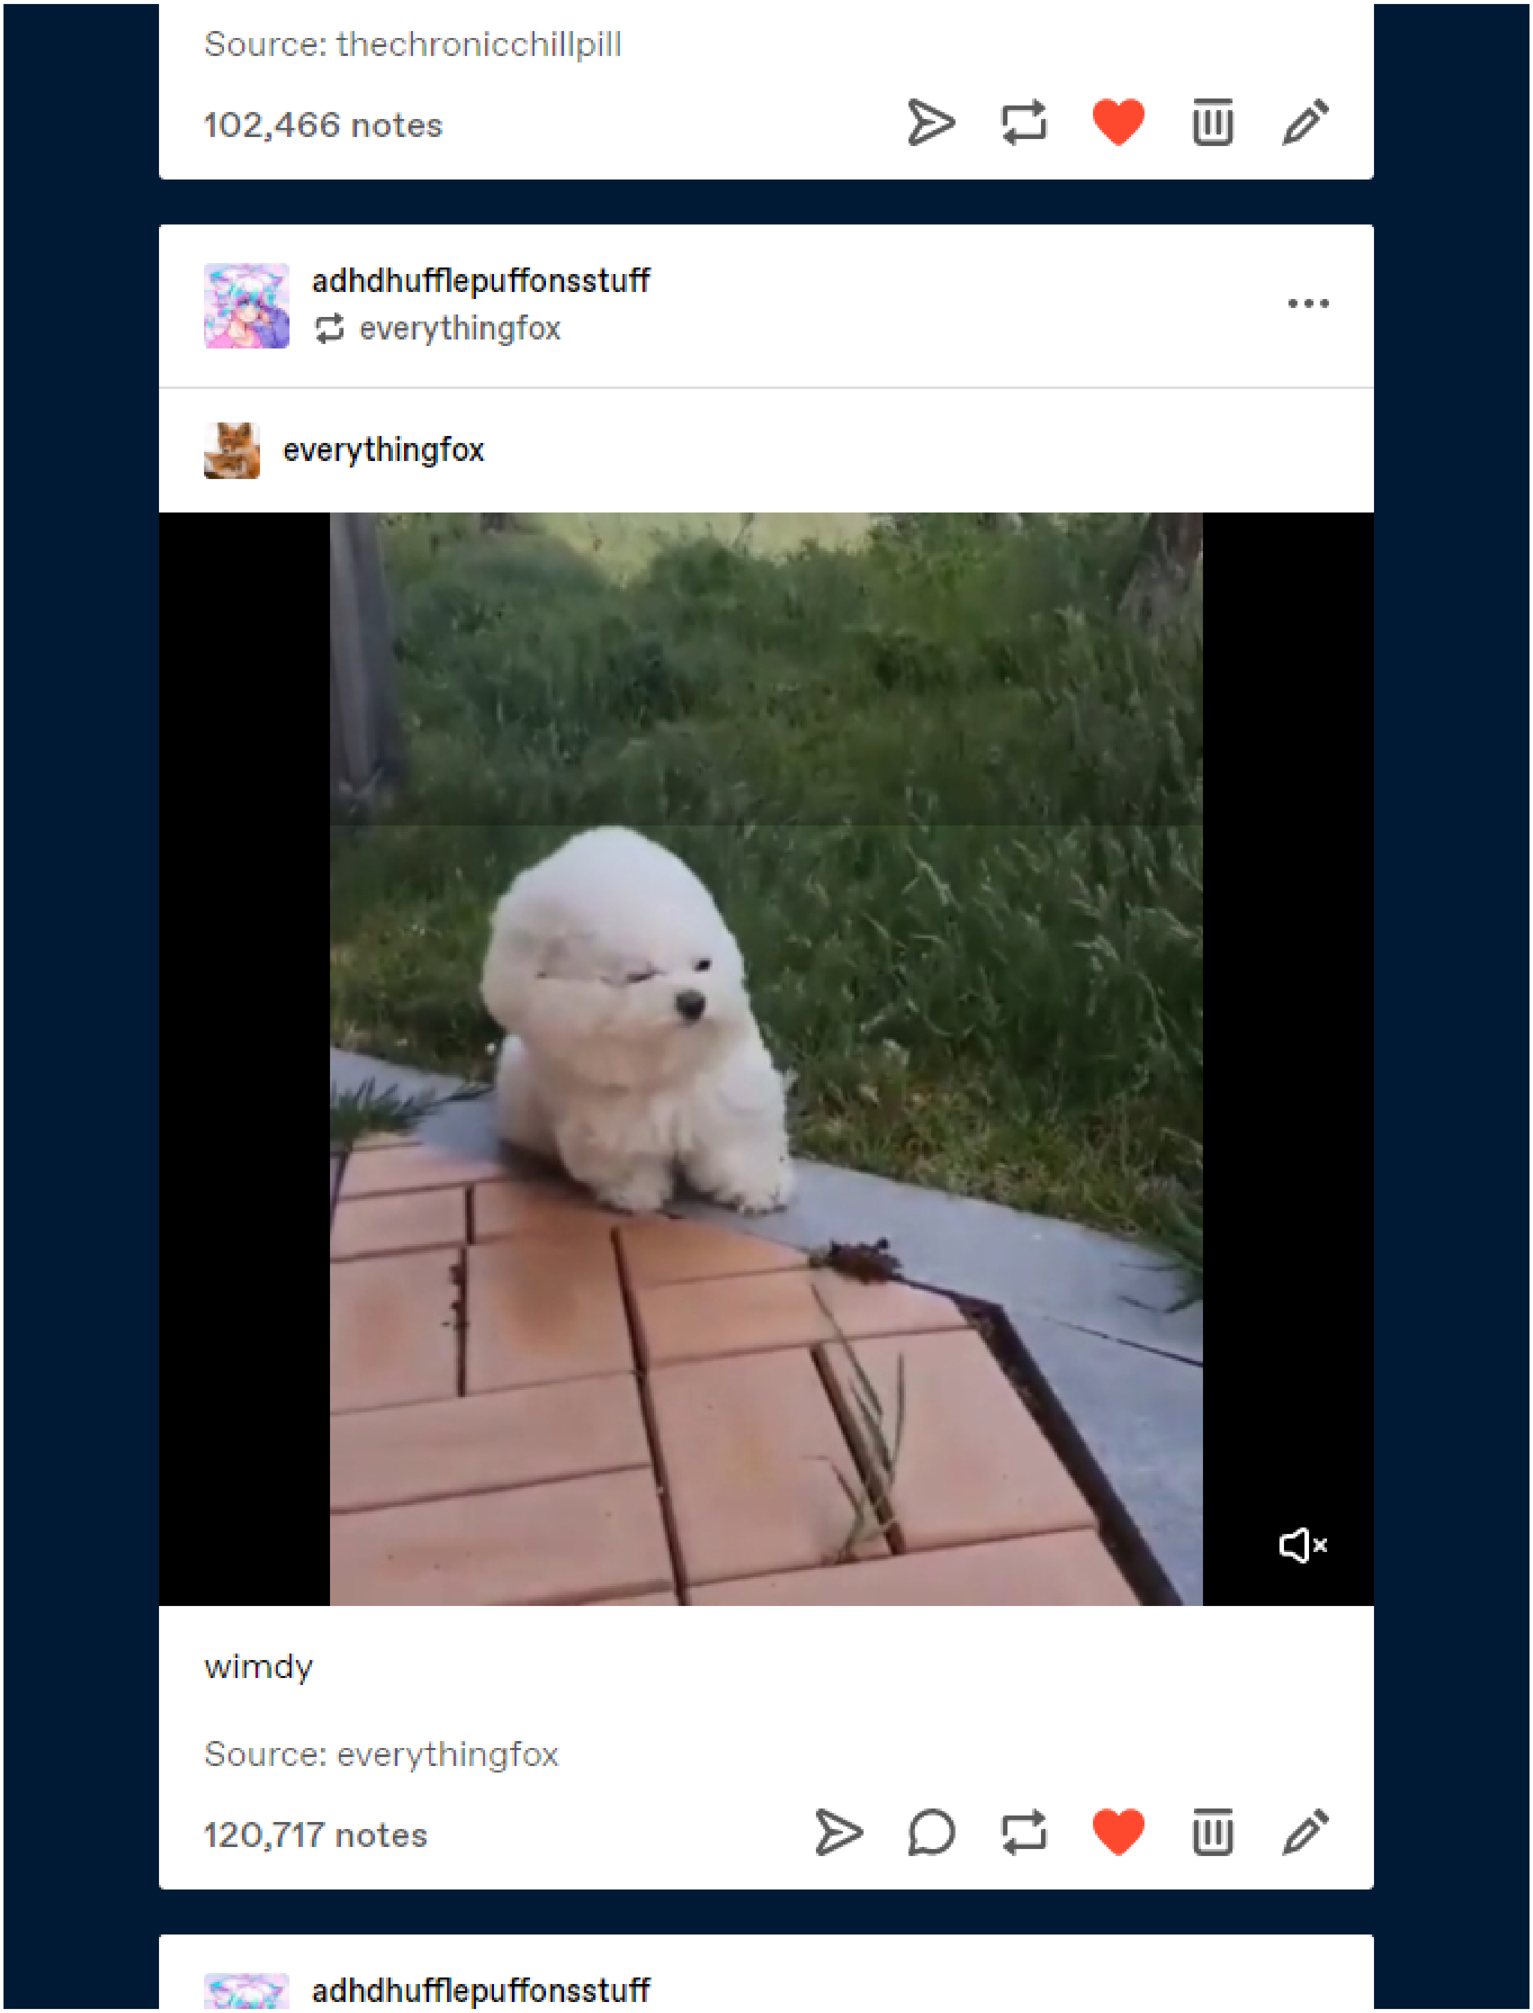
adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
renniequeer

thechronicchillpill Follow

"If youre not hiding anything youll let me look through this" is a gross manipulation tactic

You have every right to keep your stuff private, it is natural to not want people, no matter how close they are, going through your phone/papers/conversations/pictures.

Dont let them trick you into feeling bad because youre a human who wants privacy.



Source: thechronicchillpill

102,466 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

everythingfox

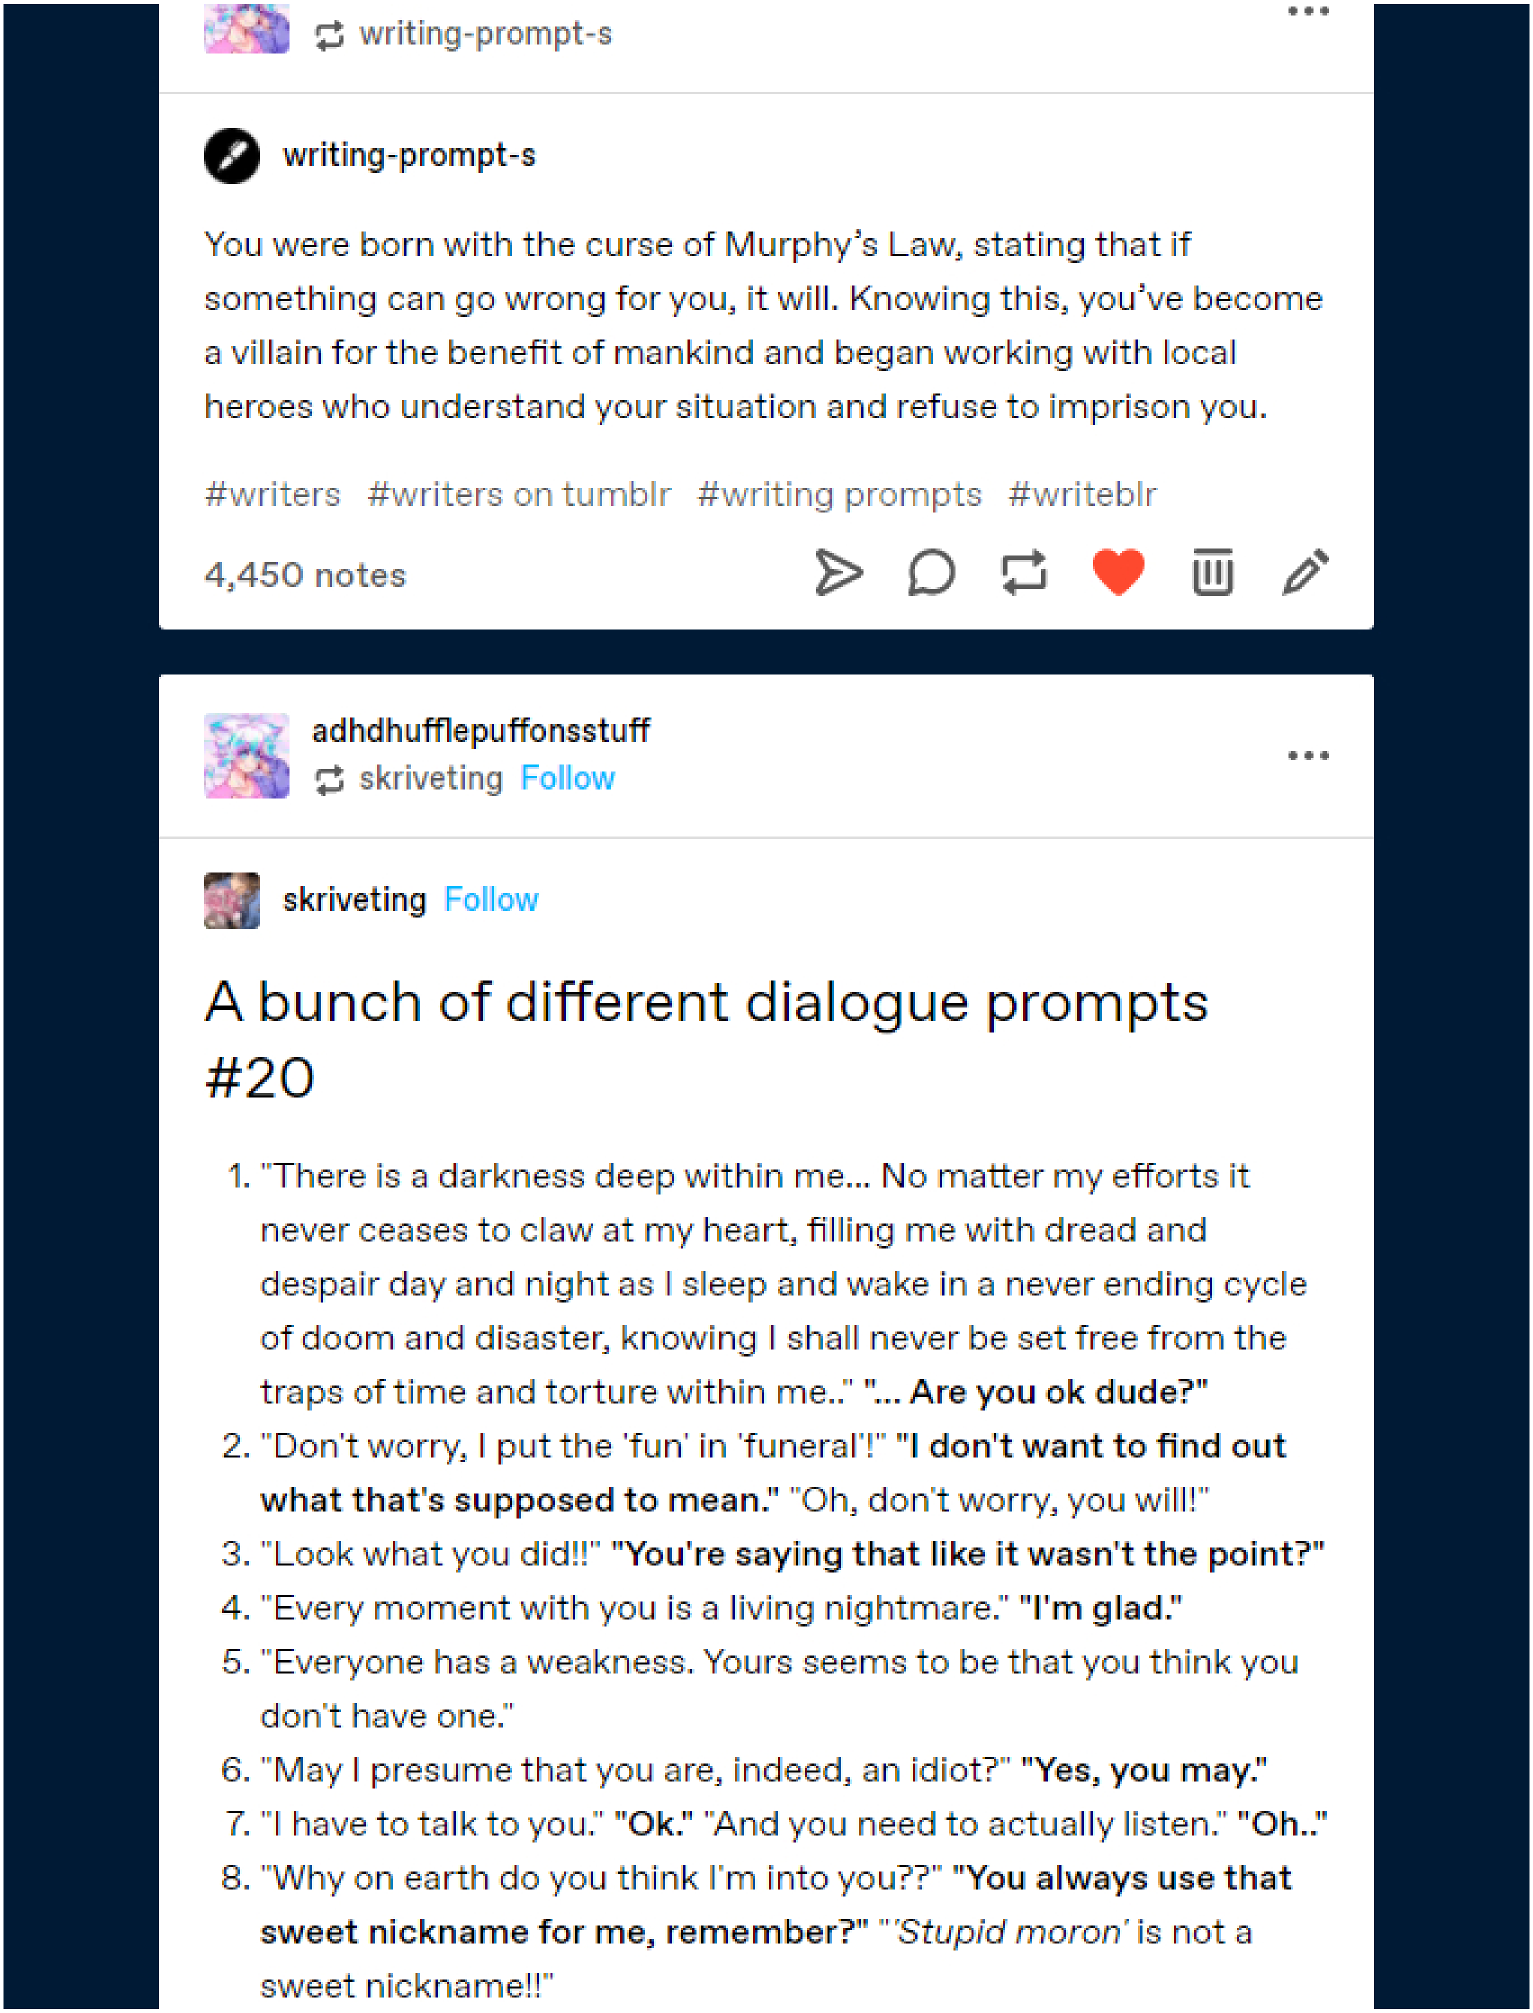
everythingfox

wimdy

Source: everythingfox

120,717 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff



writing-prompt-s

writing-prompt-s

You were born with the curse of Murphy’s Law, stating that if something can go wrong for you, it will. Knowing this, you’ve become a villain for the benefit of mankind and began working with local heroes who understand your situation and refuse to imprison you.

#writers #writers on tumblr #writing prompts #writeblr

4,450 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

skriveting Follow

skriveting Follow

A bunch of different dialogue prompts #20

1. "There is a darkness deep within me... No matter my efforts it never ceases to claw at my heart, filling me with dread and despair day and night as I sleep and wake in a never ending cycle of doom and disaster, knowing I shall never be set free from the traps of time and torture within me.." "... Are you ok dude?"
2. "Don't worry, I put the 'fun' in 'funeral'!" "I don't want to find out what that's supposed to mean." "Oh, don't worry, you will!"
3. "Look what you did!!" "You're saying that like it wasn't the point?"
4. "Every moment with you is a living nightmare." "I'm glad."
5. "Everyone has a weakness. Yours seems to be that you think you don't have one."
6. "May I presume that you are, indeed, an idiot?" "Yes, you may."
7. "I have to talk to you." "Ok." "And you need to actually listen." "Oh.."
8. "Why on earth do you think I'm into you??" "You always use that sweet nickname for me, remember?" "'Stupid moron' is not a sweet nickname!!"

9. "Don't worry, nobody's gonna see me." "Someone is definitely going to see you." "Why?" "Look at yourself!"
10. "Why are you so heinously incompetent?" "Can you please calm down, it's only Monday morning."

#dialogue prompts #dialogue ideas #dialogue inspo #dialogue prompt

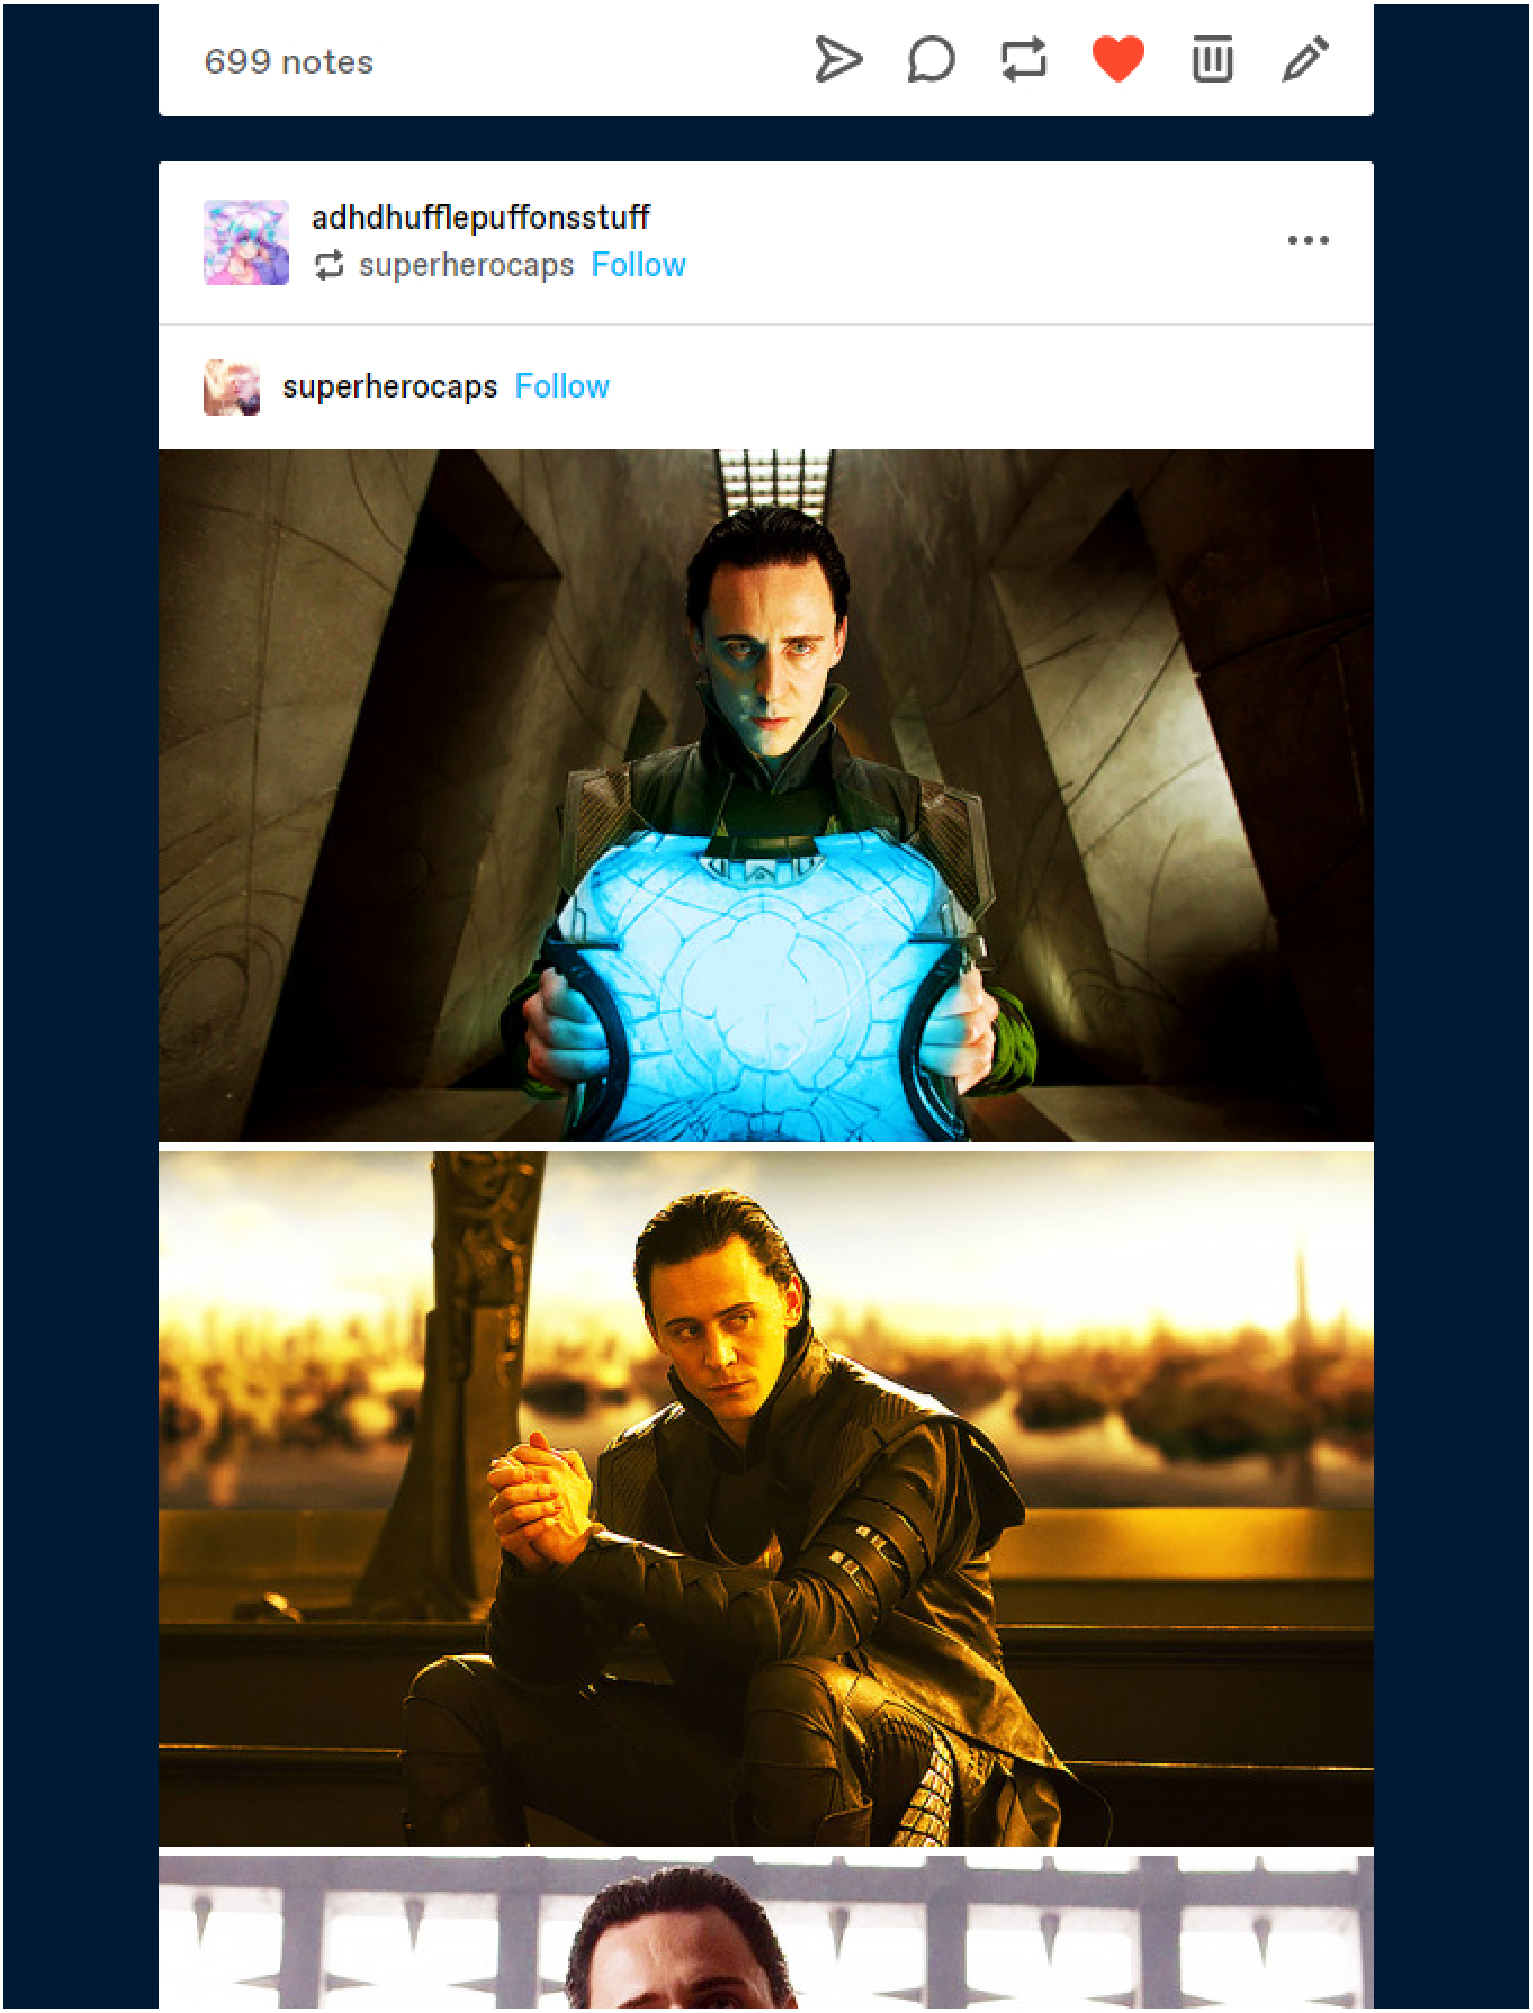
25 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
that-sweet-jester Follow

that-sweet-jester Follow

"IV'E STUDIED ALMOST EVERY MOMENT OF YOUR ENTIRE LIFE"
"YOU'VE LITERALLY STABBED PEOPLE IN THE BACK LIKE 50 TIMES"
"WE BOTH KNOW YOU LOVE TO TALK"
"TALKY TALKY"
SWEET JESTER

I'm pretty sure, this guy studied loki's life the same way I study for exams - read the highlited sentences and call it a day.



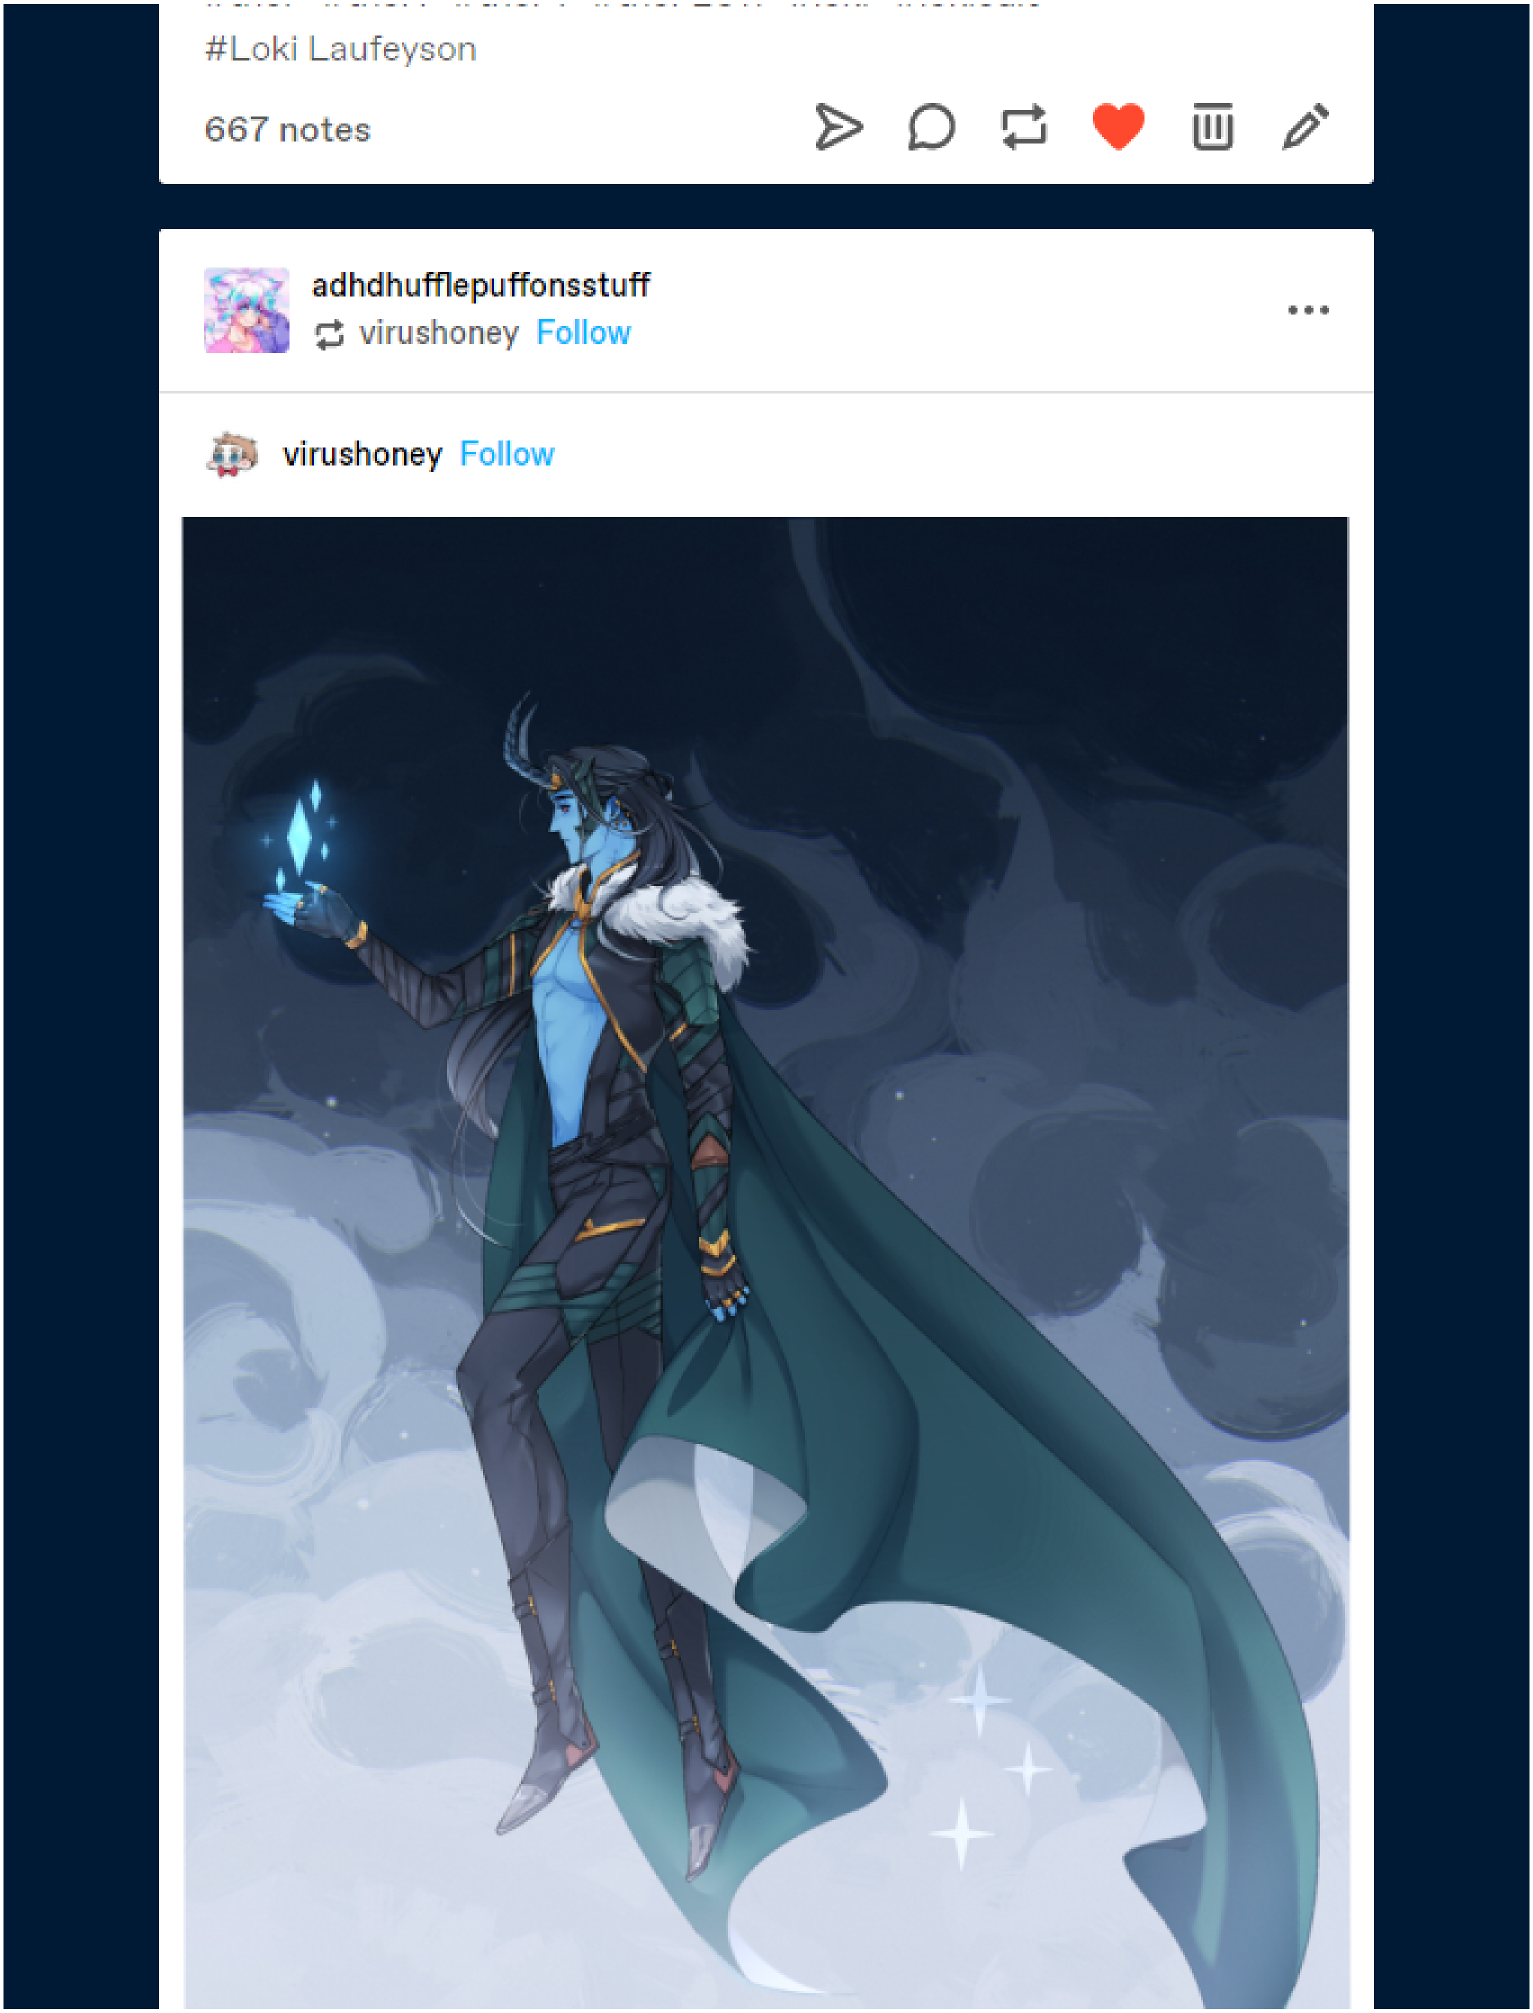
699 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

superherocaps Follow

superherocaps Follow

#thor #thor1 #thor 1 #thor 2011 #loki #lokiedit



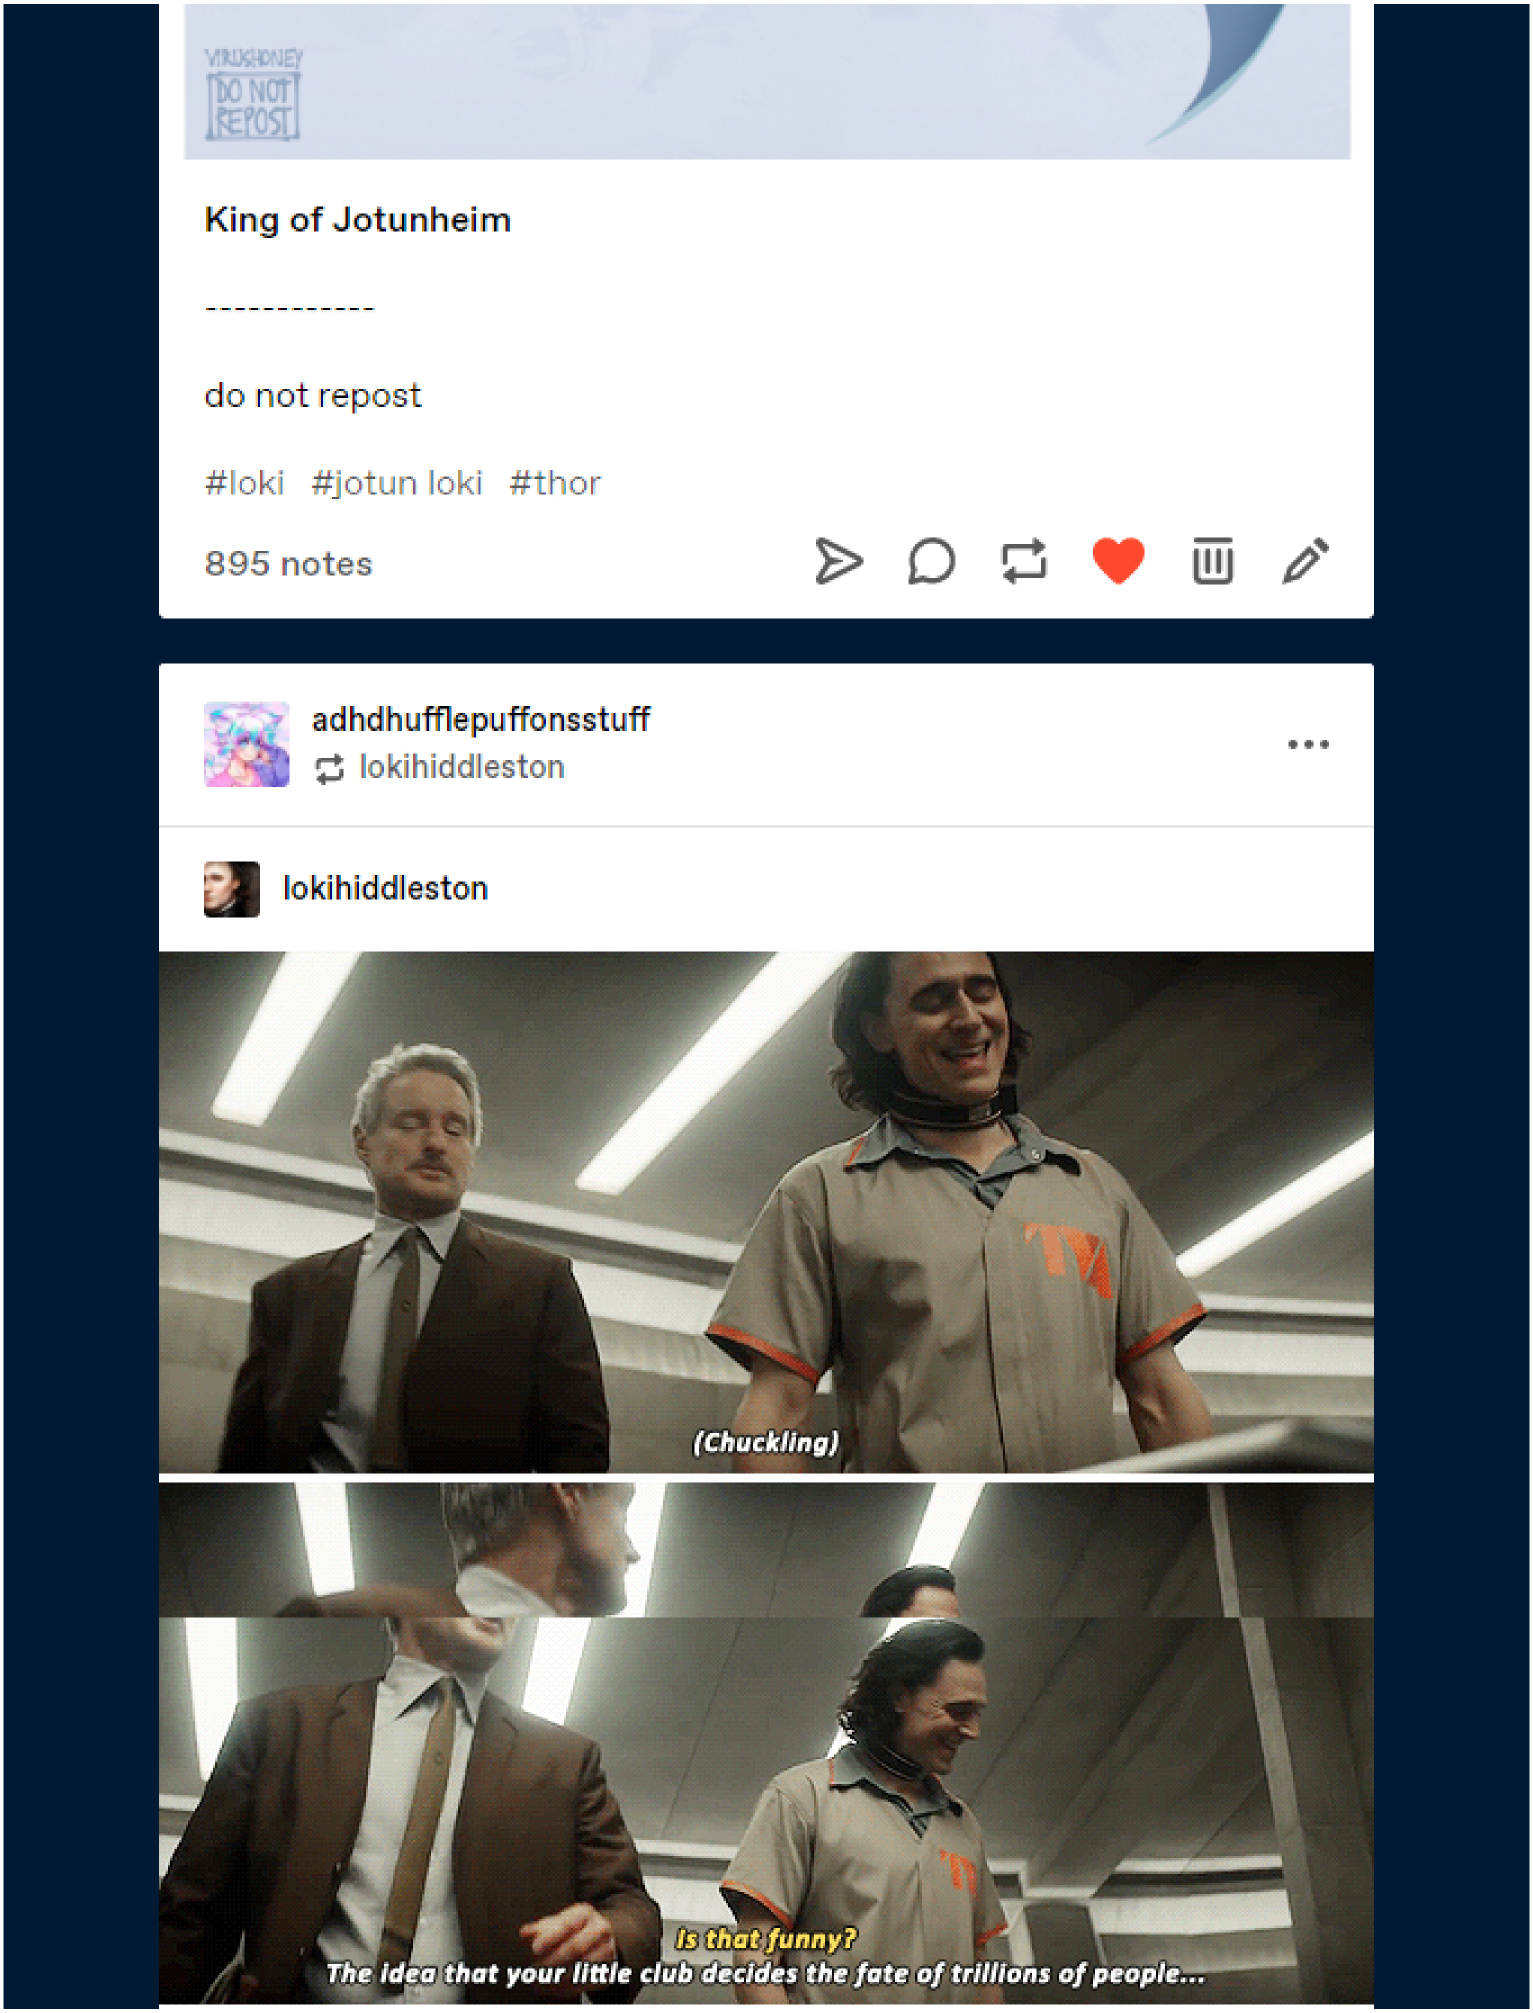
#Loki Laufeyson

667 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

virushoney Follow

virushoney Follow



VIRUSHONEY
DO NOT REPOST

King of Jotunheim

----

do not repost

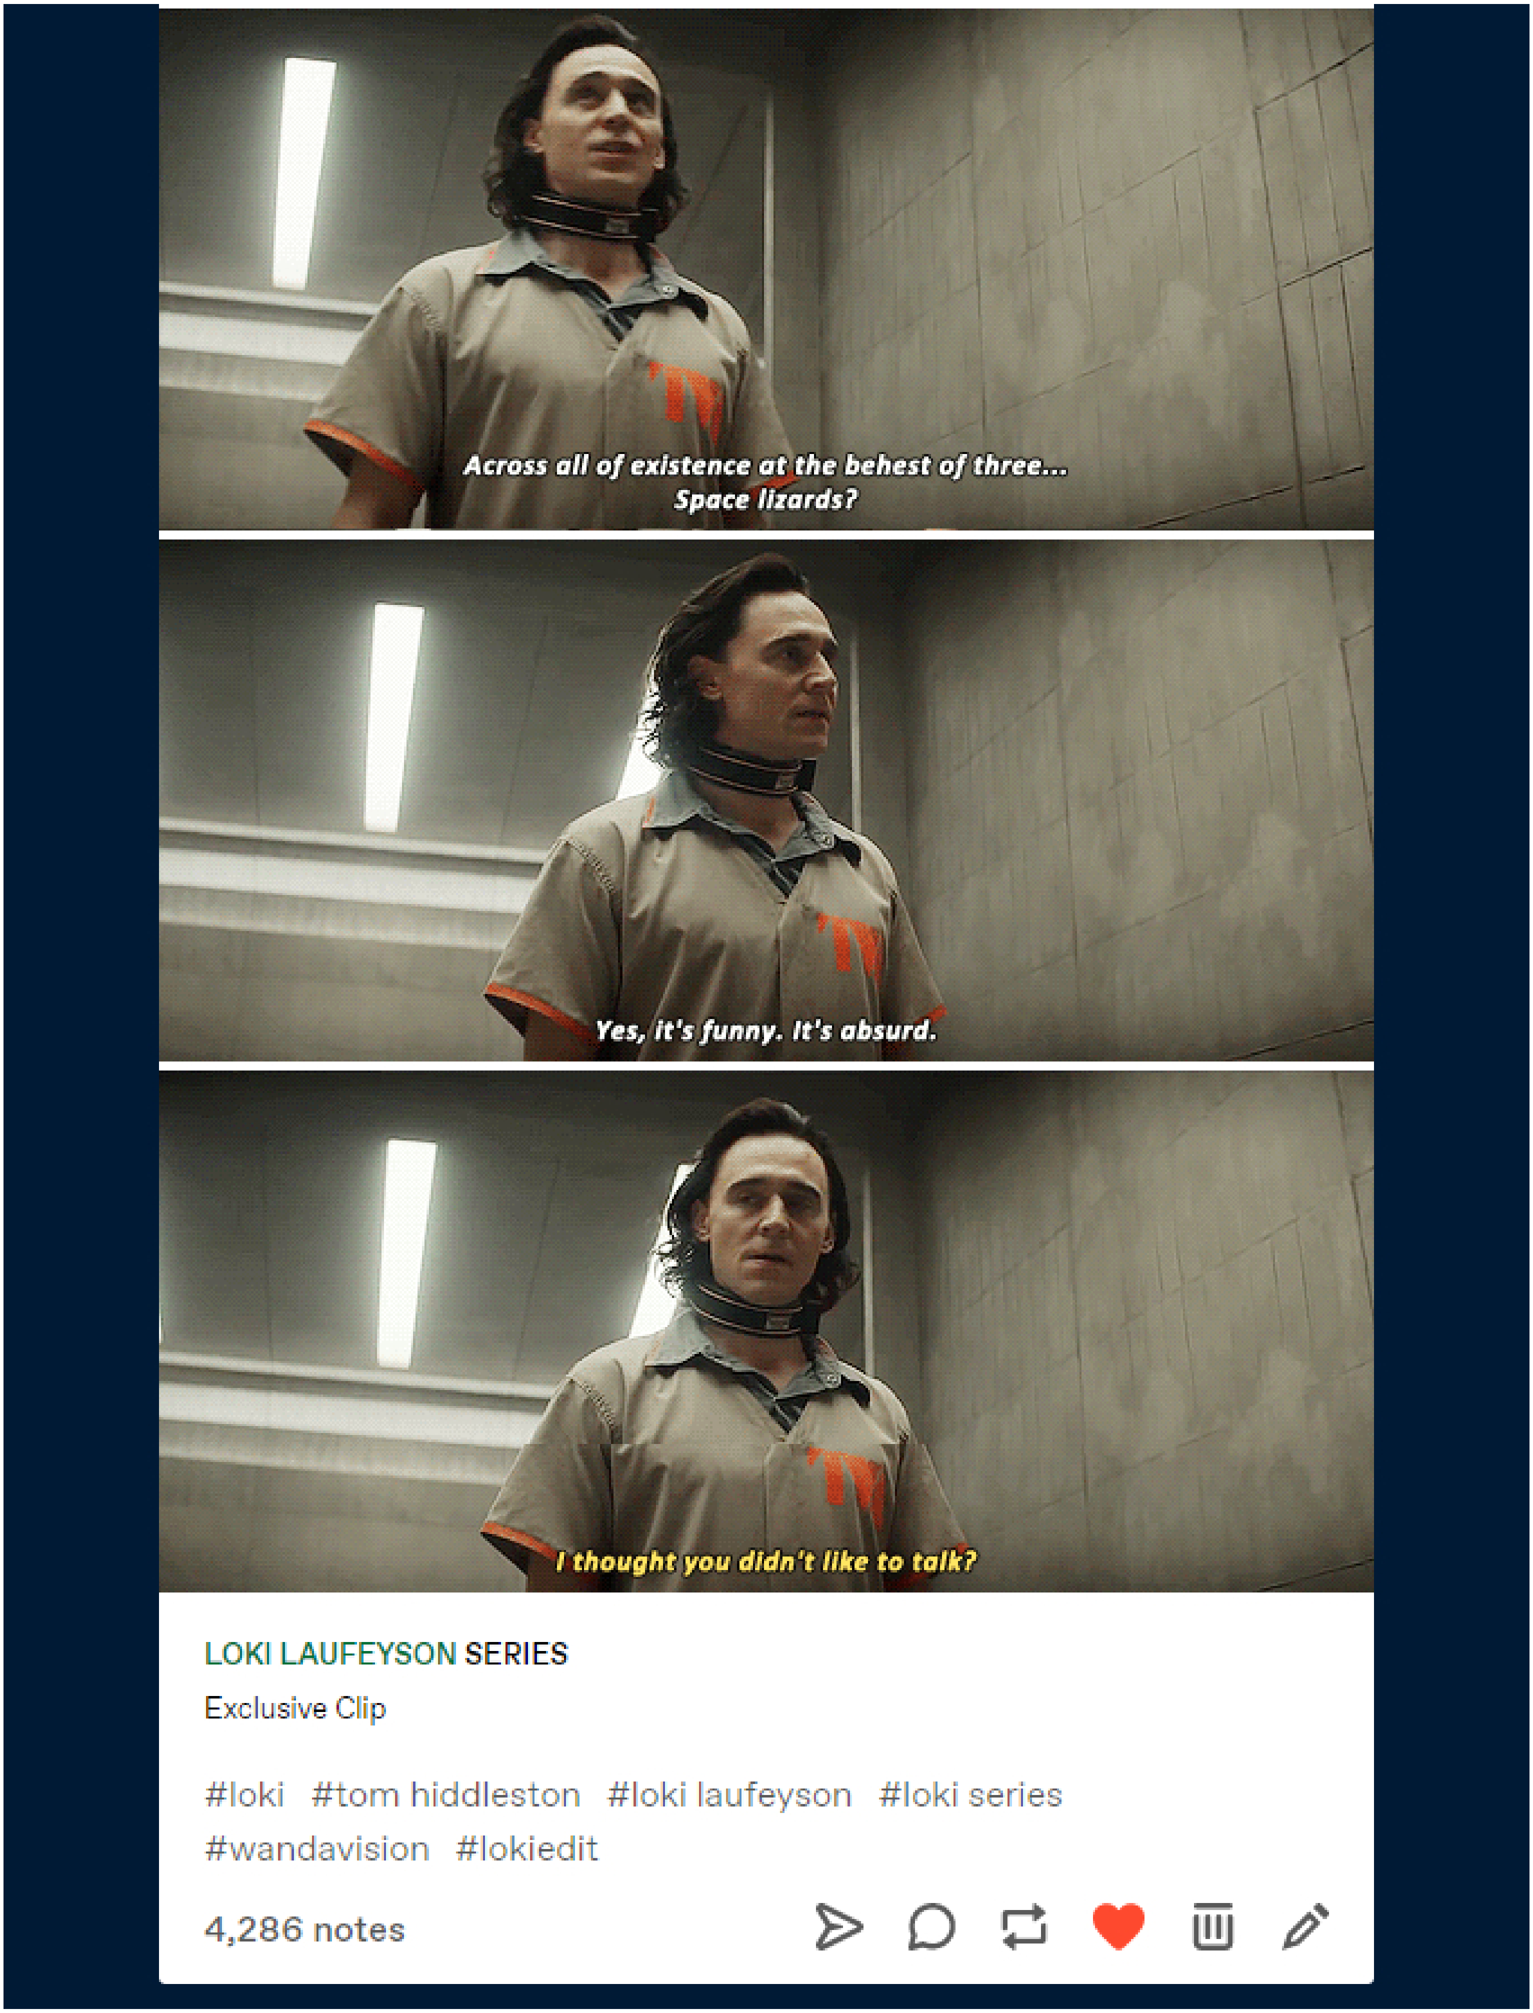
#loki #jotun loki #thor

895 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
lokihiddleston

lokihiddleston

(Chuckling)
Is that funny?
The idea that your little club decides the fate of trillions of people...



Across all of existence at the behest of three...
Space lizards?

Yes, it's funny. It's absurd.

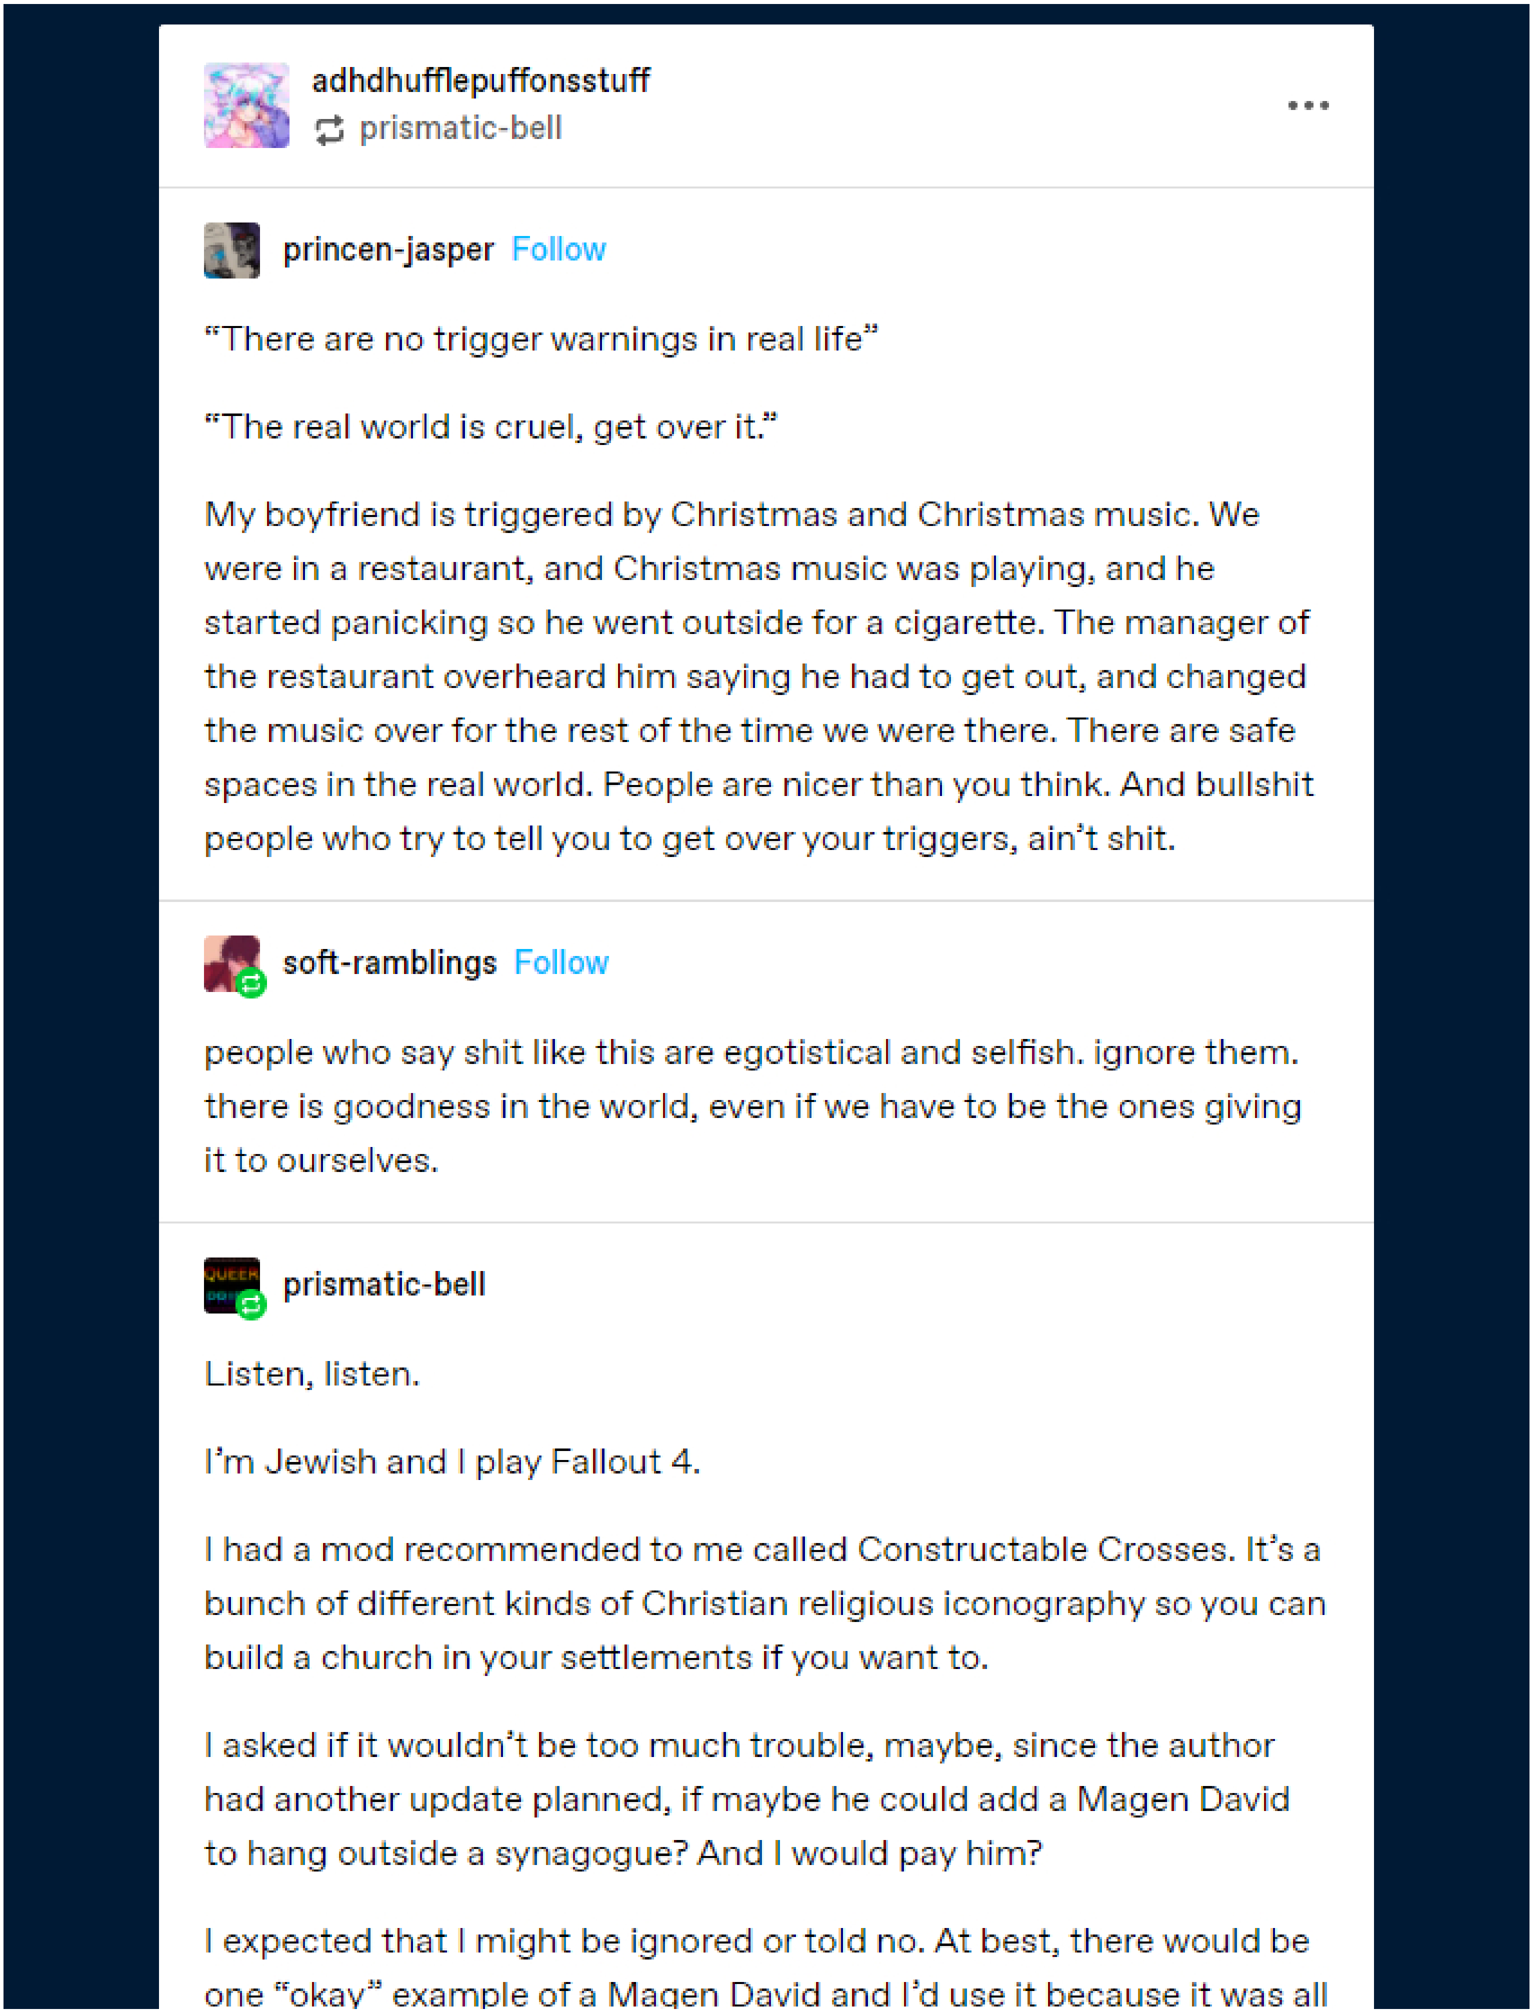
I thought you didn't like to talk?

LOKI LAUFEYSON SERIES

Exclusive Clip

#loki #tom hiddleston #loki laufeyson #loki series
#wandavision #lokiedit

4,286 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

prismatic-bell

princen-jasper

“There are no trigger warnings in real life”

“The real world is cruel, get over it.”

My boyfriend is triggered by Christmas and Christmas music. We were in a restaurant, and Christmas music was playing, and he started panicking so he went outside for a cigarette. The manager of the restaurant overheard him saying he had to get out, and changed the music over for the rest of the time we were there. There are safe spaces in the real world. People are nicer than you think. And bullshit people who try to tell you to get over your triggers, ain’t shit.

soft-ramblings

people who say shit like this are egotistical and selfish. ignore them. there is goodness in the world, even if we have to be the ones giving it to ourselves.

prismatic-bell

Listen, listen.

I’m Jewish and I play Fallout 4.

I had a mod recommended to me called Constructable Crosses. It’s a bunch of different kinds of Christian religious iconography so you can build a church in your settlements if you want to.

I asked if it wouldn’t be too much trouble, maybe, since the author had another update planned, if maybe he could add a Magen David to hang outside a synagogue? And I would pay him?

I expected that I might be ignored or told no. At best, there would be one “okay” example of a Magen David and I’d use it because it was all that was available.

This dude went out and built an entire mod. And refused payment. He actually learned how to make a model to make a really gorgeous menorah, and put together a stunning range of chanukkiyot so you can, if you want, "light candles" for Chanukkah in your game. (And yes, I actually did this, it was fun.) He put together some wall hangings of the Ten Commandments. He made over a hundred kippah models so you can wear one as long as you have a vanilla hairstyle. The only thing the mod lacks that even the poorest synagogue would try to have, and I have maintenance rights on the mod so when I learn to make models I'll be adding it, is a sefer Torah.

(Ironically, there is no Magen David. But since you can put up a literal actual menorah, that point is moot.)

People are kind. People are good. You just have to find them.

thecahillstoryteller

that last story was rather heartwarming.

imagine someone making you assets to create your online space FOR FREE?!

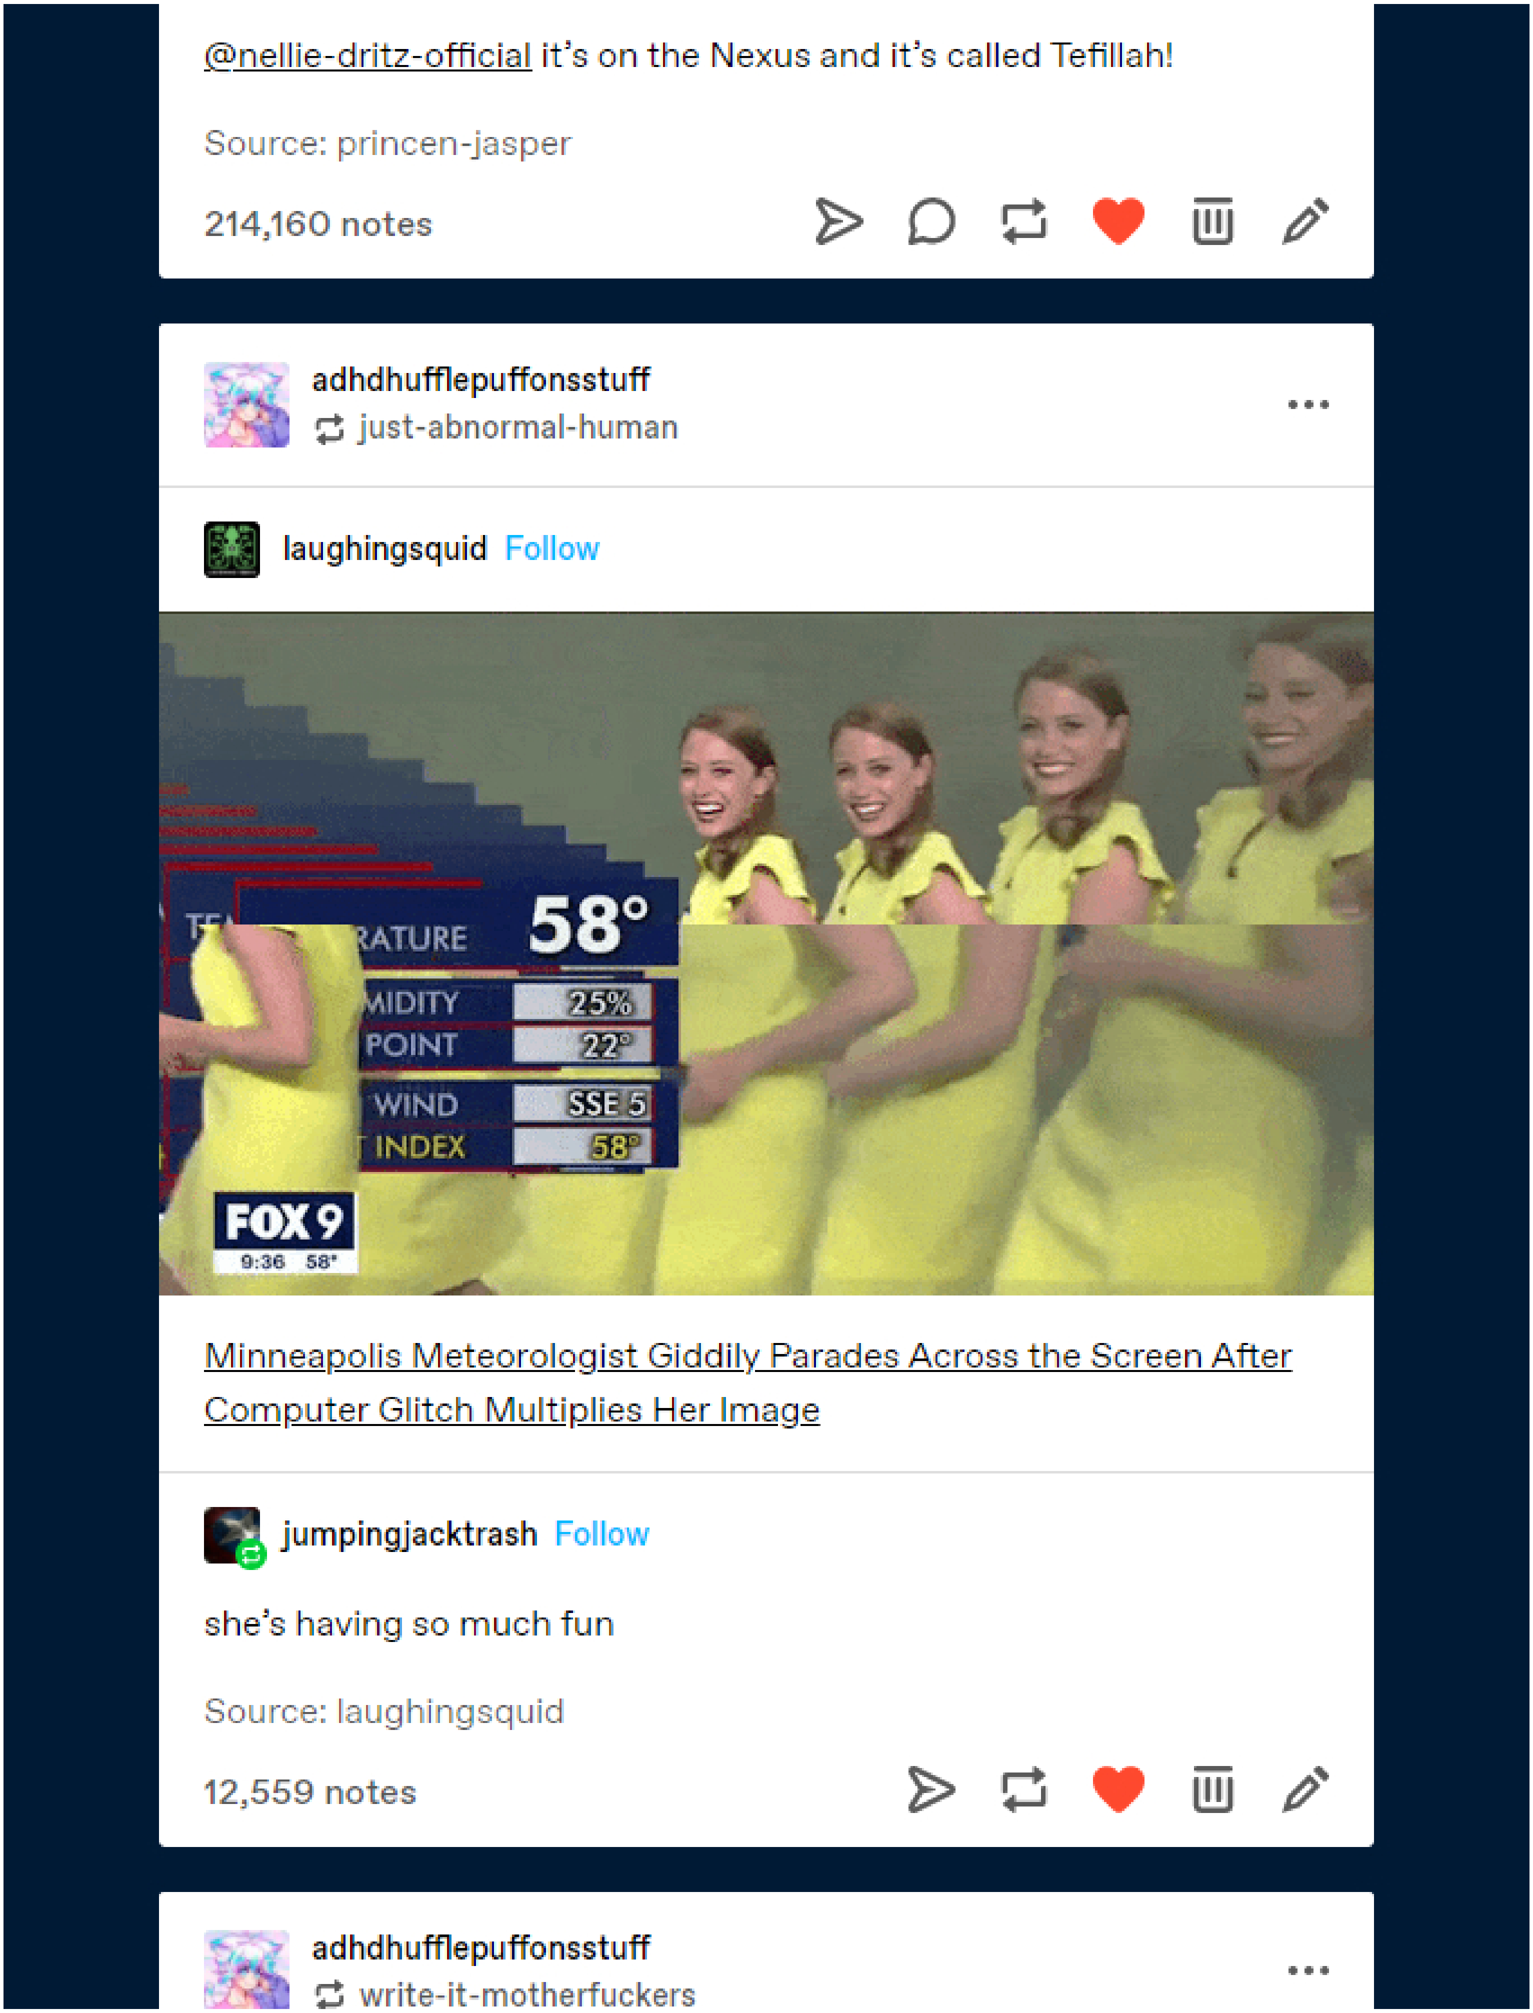
prismatic-bell

RIGHT?! I offered multiple times to pay him. He told me payment was knowing that a community underserved by both devs and modders would see it and know "you belong here. Make it yours." The work he put in was INSANE. I couldn't believe it.

nellie-dritz-official

Now I really wanna know what that mod is named, cuz that modder sounds delightful

prismatic-bell



@nellie-dritz-official it's on the Nexus and it's called Tefillah!

Source: princen-jasper

214,160 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
just-abnormal-human laughingsquid

Follow

TE RATURE 58°
MIDITY 25%
POINT 22°
WIND SSE 5
INDEX 58°
FOX 9
9:36 58°

Minneapolis Meteorologist Giddily Parades Across the Screen After Computer Glitch Multiplies Her Image

jumpingjacktrash

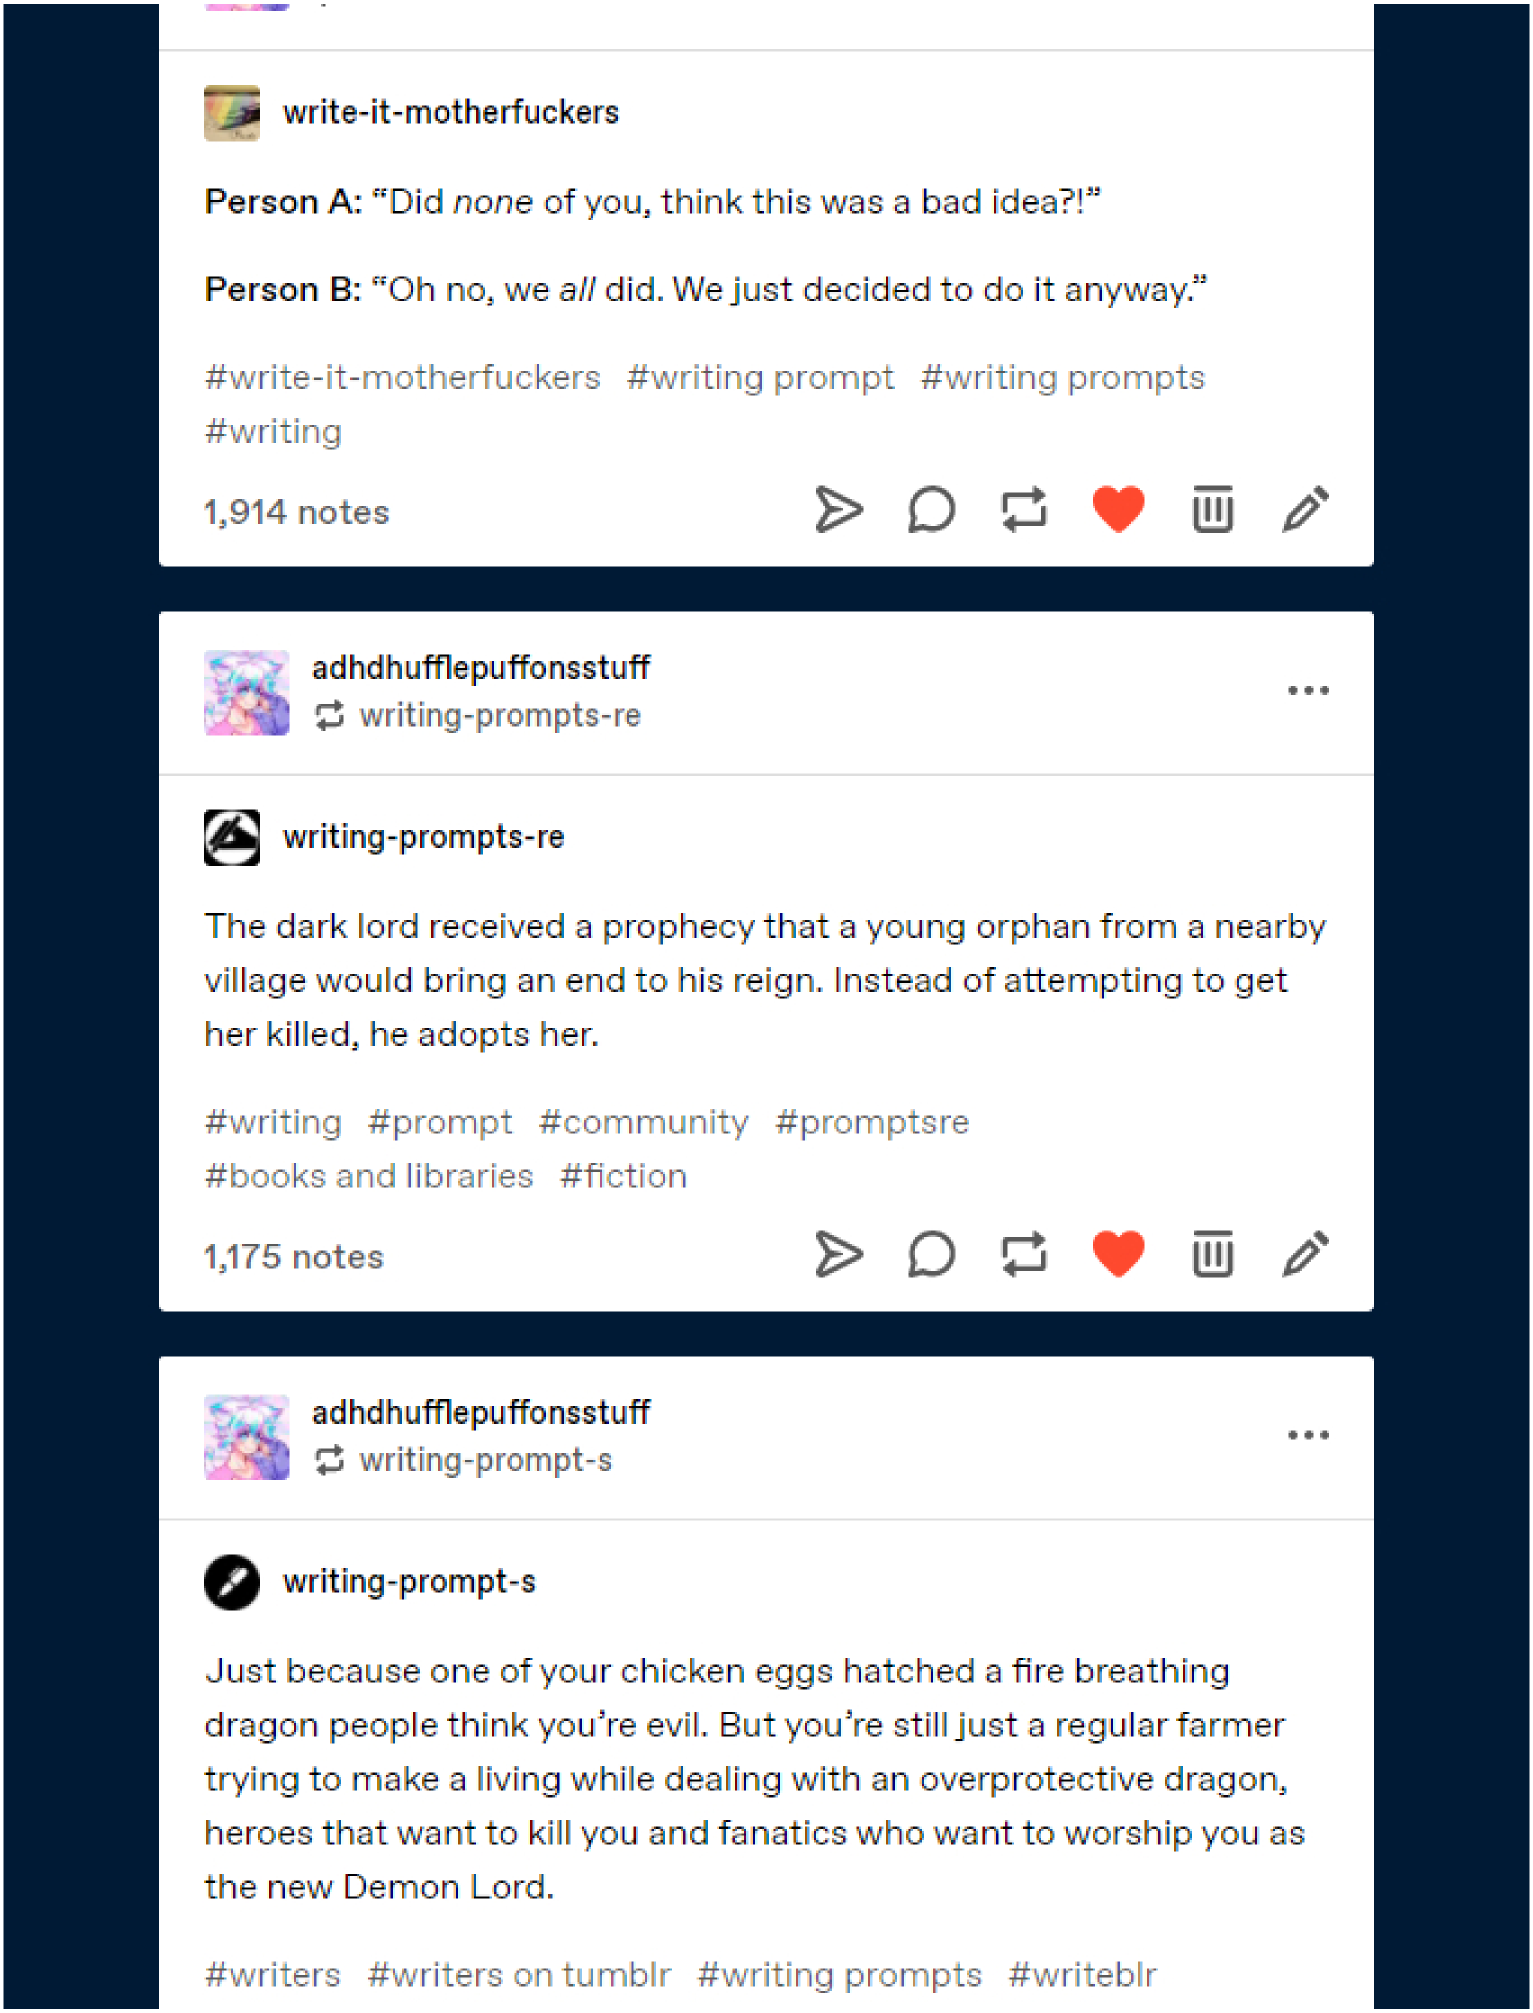
Follow

she's having so much fun

Source: laughingsquid

12,559 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
write-it-motherfuckers



write-it-motherfuckers

Person A: “Did none of you, think this was a bad idea?!”

Person B: “Oh no, we all did. We just decided to do it anyway.”

#write-it-motherfuckers #writing prompt #writing prompts #writing

1,914 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
writing-prompts-re

writing-prompts-re

The dark lord received a prophecy that a young orphan from a nearby village would bring an end to his reign. Instead of attempting to get her killed, he adopts her.

#writing #prompt #community #promptsre #books and libraries #fiction

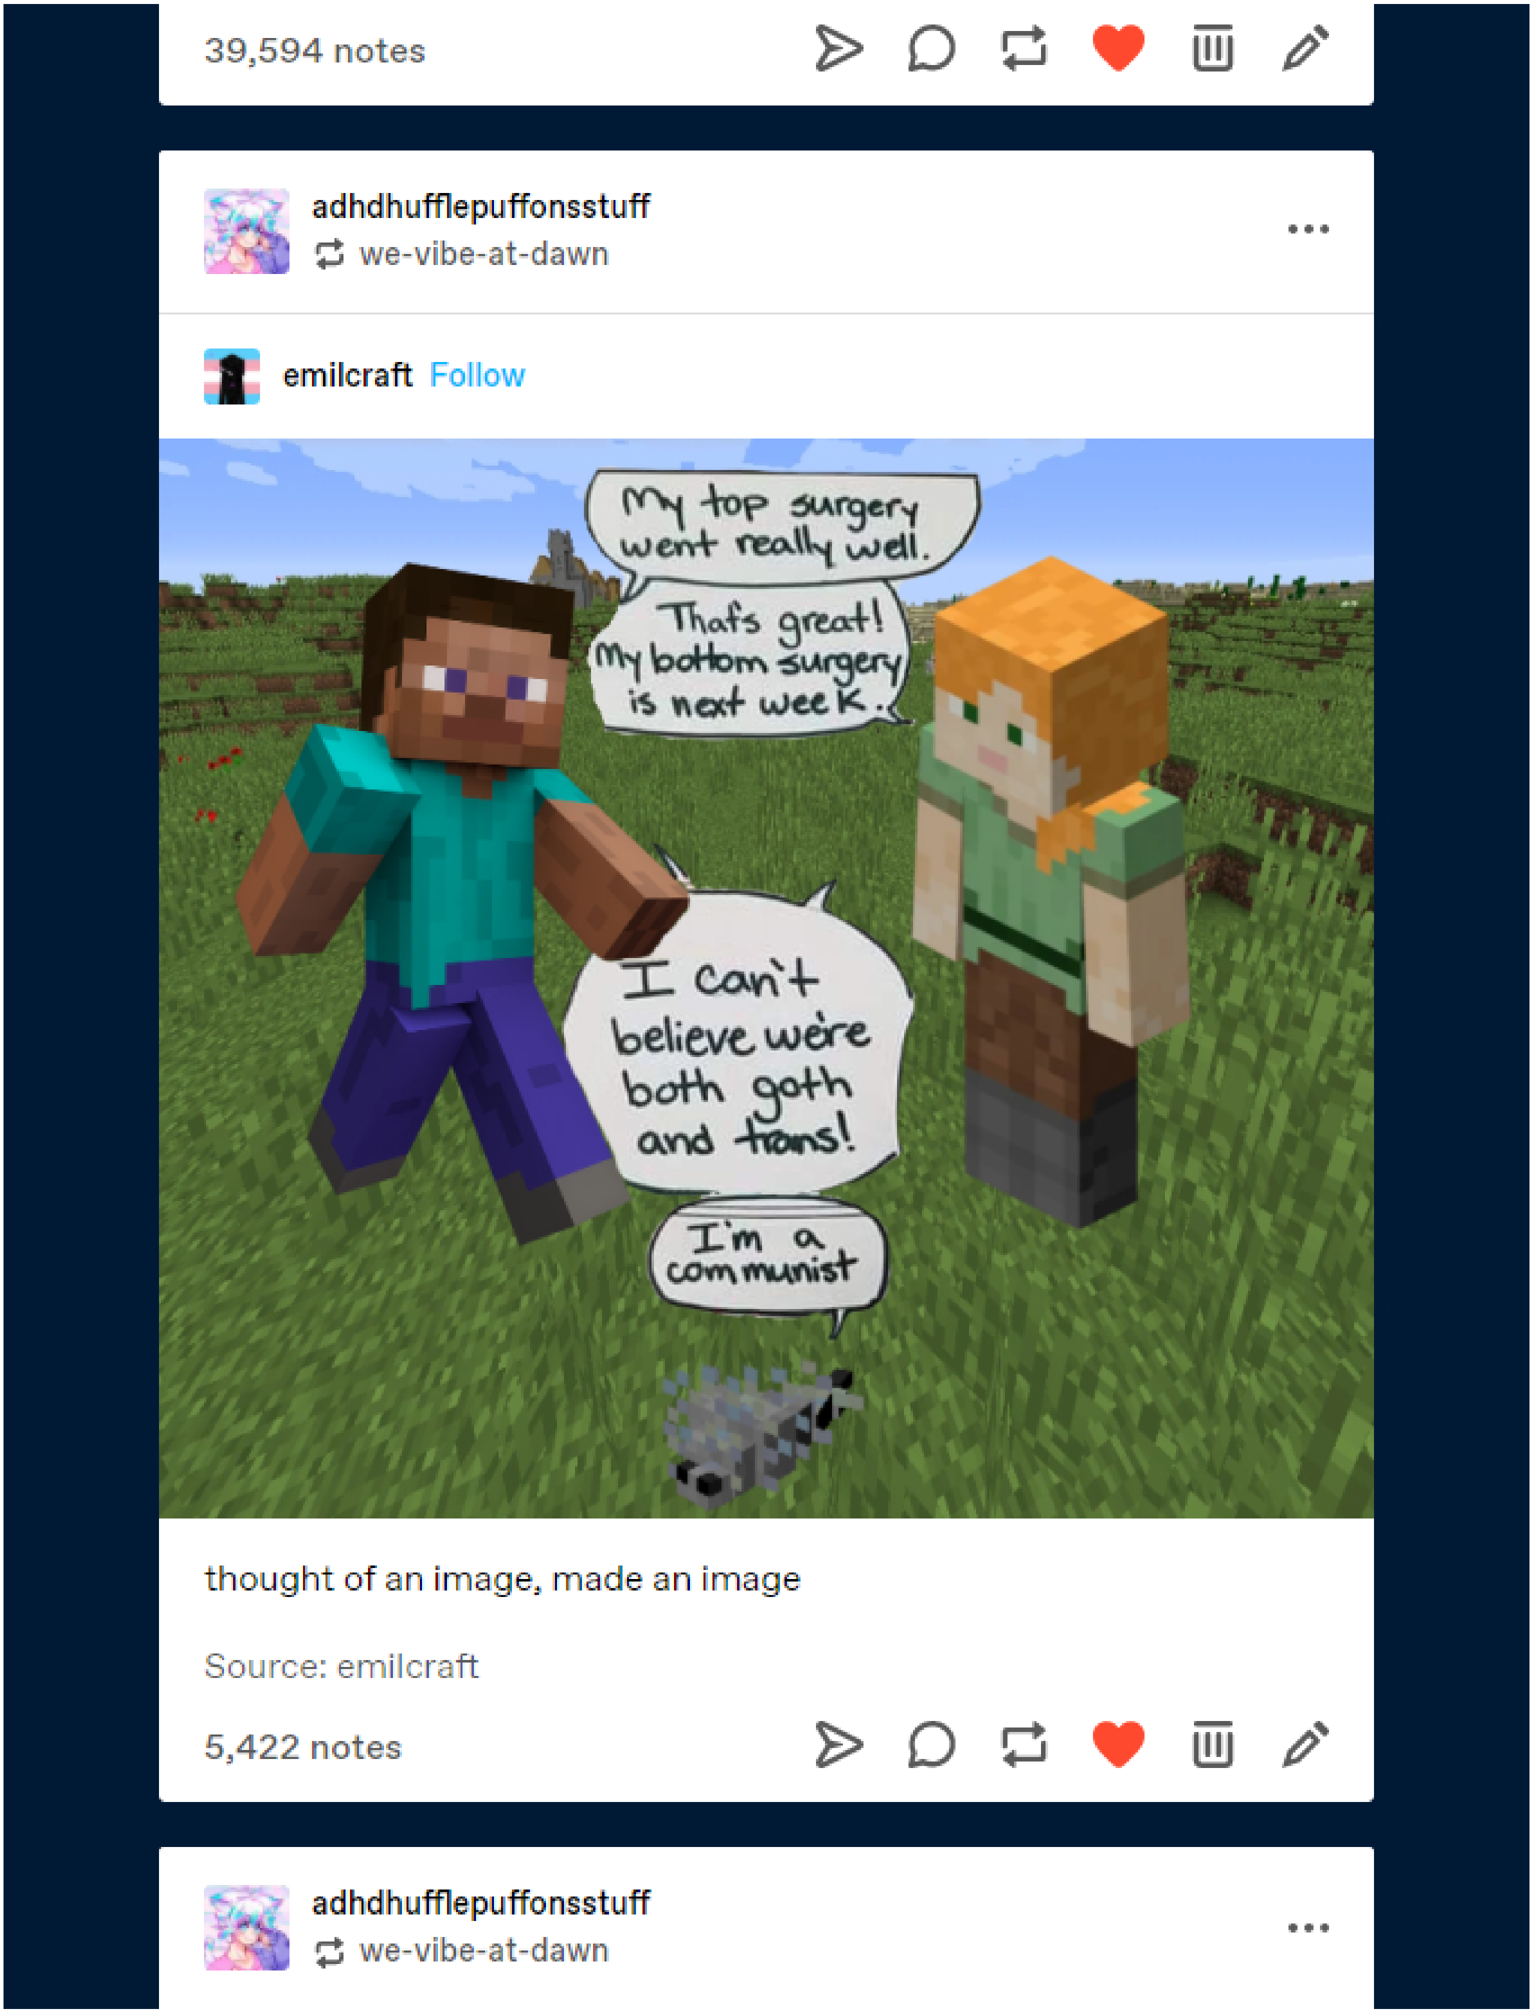
1,175 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
writing-prompt-s

writing-prompt-s

Just because one of your chicken eggs hatched a fire breathing dragon people think you’re evil. But you’re still just a regular farmer trying to make a living while dealing with an overprotective dragon, heroes that want to kill you and fanatics who want to worship you as the new Demon Lord.

#writers #writers on tumblr #writing prompts #writeblr



39,594 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

we-vibe-at-dawn

emilcraft Follow

My top surgery went really well.
That's great! My bottom surgery is next week.
I can't believe we're both goth and trans!
I'm a communist thought of an image, made an image

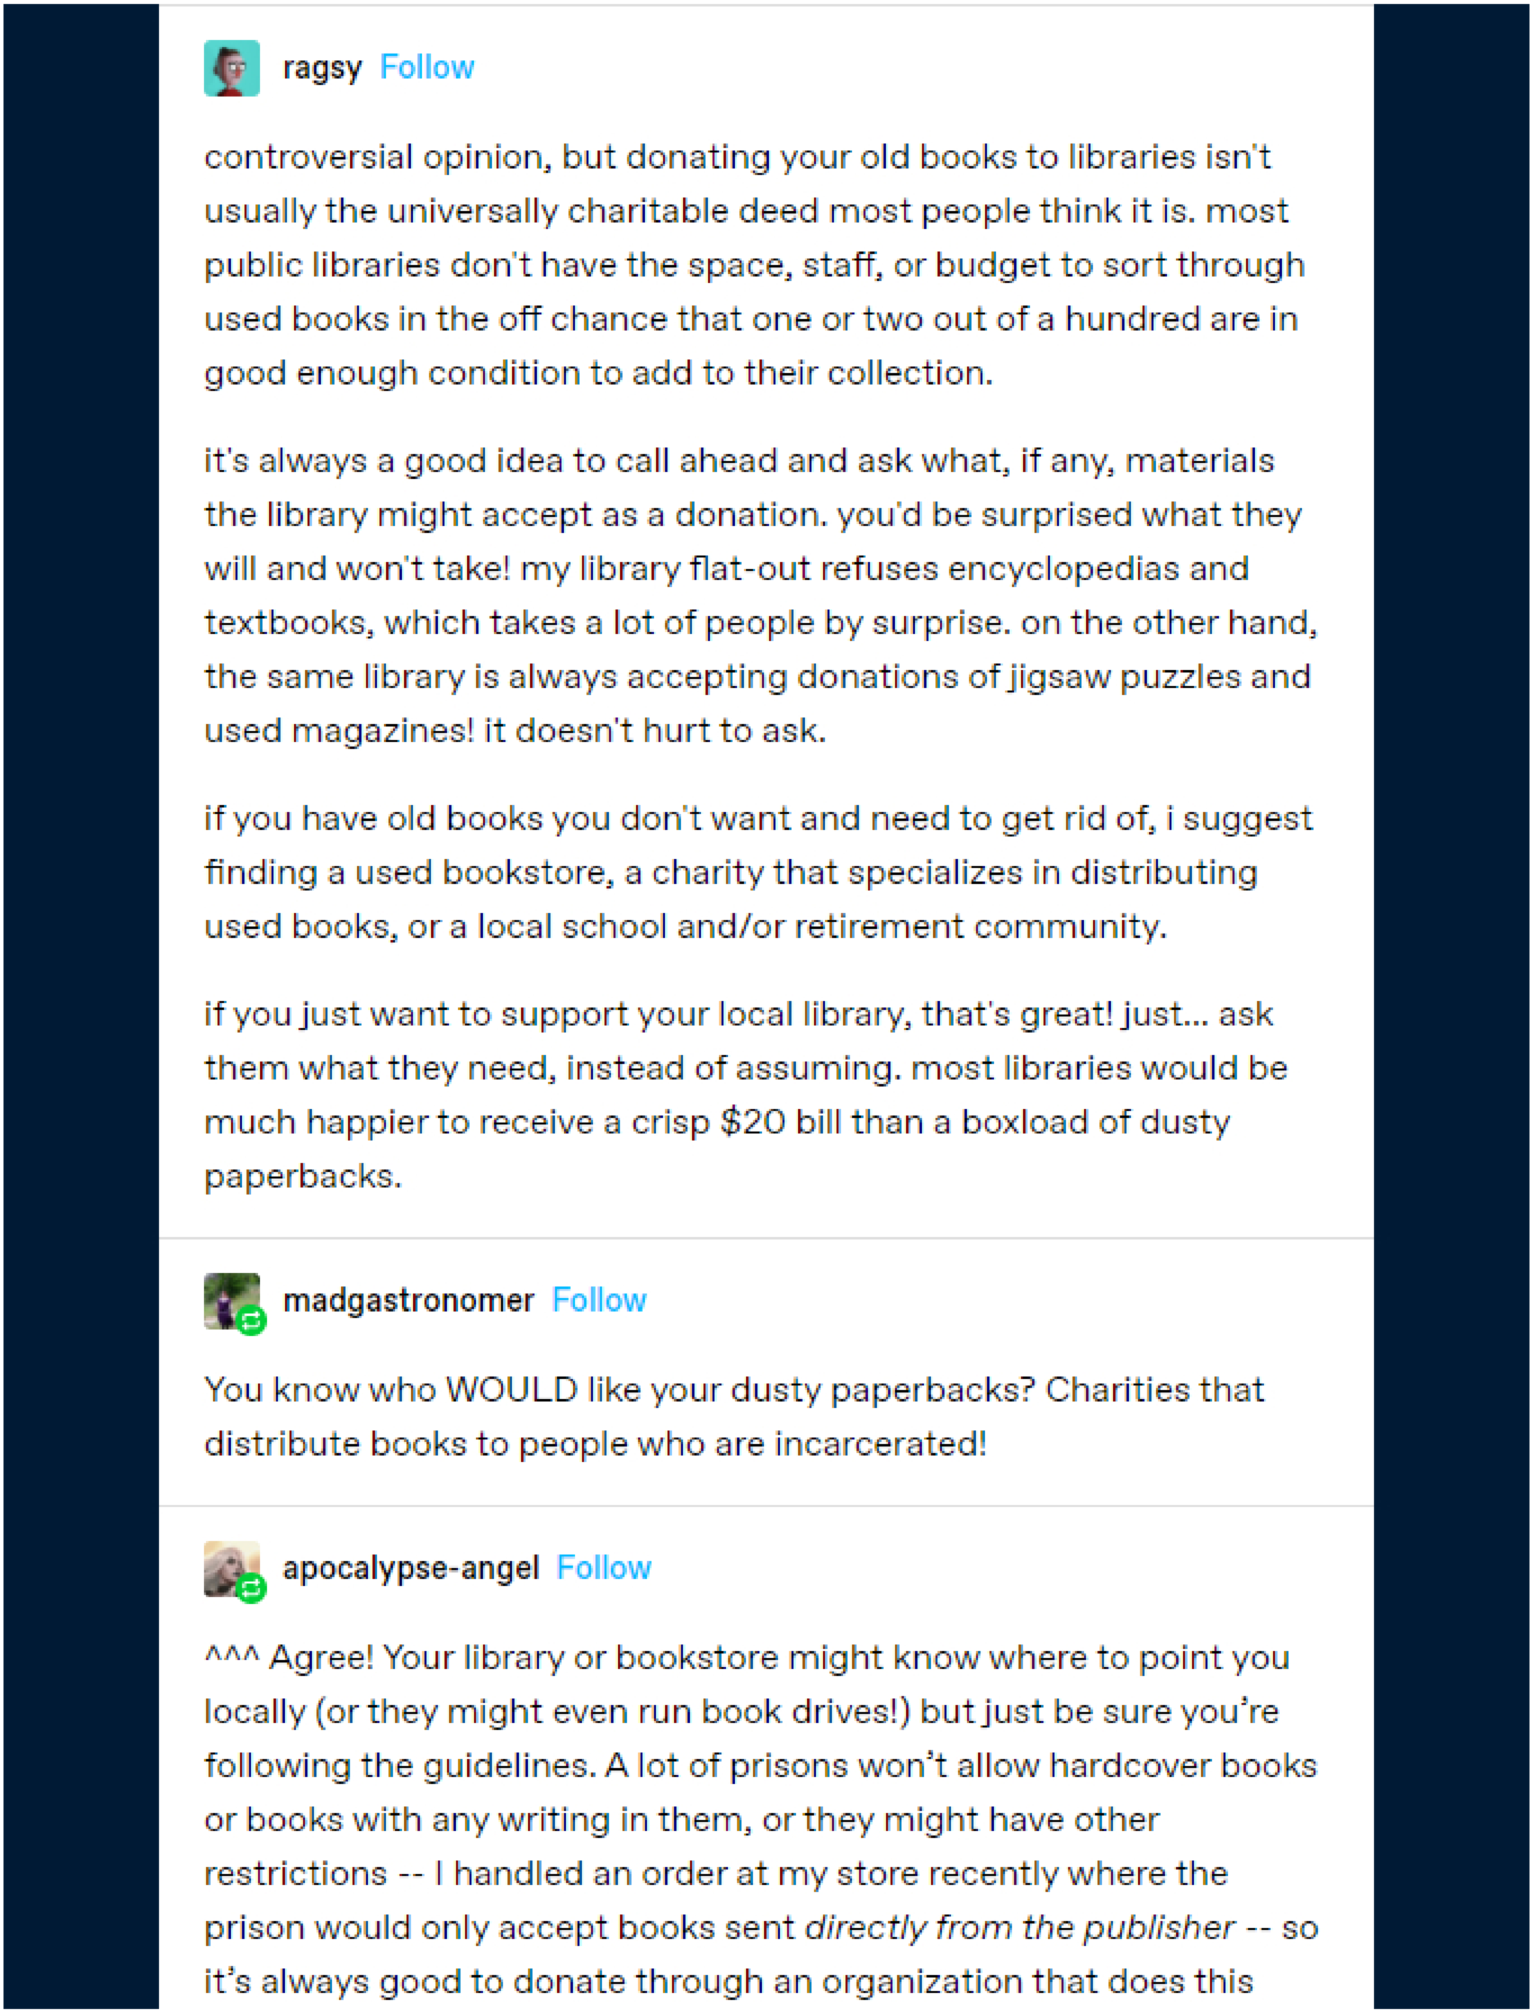
Source: emilcraft

5,422 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

we-vibe-at-dawn



ragsy Follow

controversial opinion, but donating your old books to libraries isn't usually the universally charitable deed most people think it is. most public libraries don't have the space, staff, or budget to sort through used books in the off chance that one or two out of a hundred are in good enough condition to add to their collection.

it's always a good idea to call ahead and ask what, if any, materials the library might accept as a donation. you'd be surprised what they will and won't take! my library flat-out refuses encyclopedias and textbooks, which takes a lot of people by surprise. on the other hand, the same library is always accepting donations of jigsaw puzzles and used magazines! it doesn't hurt to ask.

if you have old books you don't want and need to get rid of, i suggest finding a used bookstore, a charity that specializes in distributing used books, or a local school and/or retirement community.

if you just want to support your local library, that's great! just... ask them what they need, instead of assuming. most libraries would be much happier to receive a crisp $20 bill than a boxload of dusty paperbacks.

madgastronomer Follow

You know who WOULD like your dusty paperbacks? Charities that distribute books to people who are incarcerated!

apocalypse-angel Follow

^^^ Agree! Your library or bookstore might know where to point you locally (or they might even run book drives!) but just be sure you're following the guidelines. A lot of prisons won't allow hardcover books or books with any writing in them, or they might have other restrictions -- I handled an order at my store recently where the prison would only accept books sent directly from the publisher -- so it's always good to donate through an organization that does this professionally.

Here's the American Library Association's list of organizations that will take donations for prison libraries:

https://libguides.ala.org/book-donations/bookstoprisons

Here's one specifically for donating LGBT+ books and materials:

https://lgbtbookstoprisoners.org/donate/

Source: ragsy

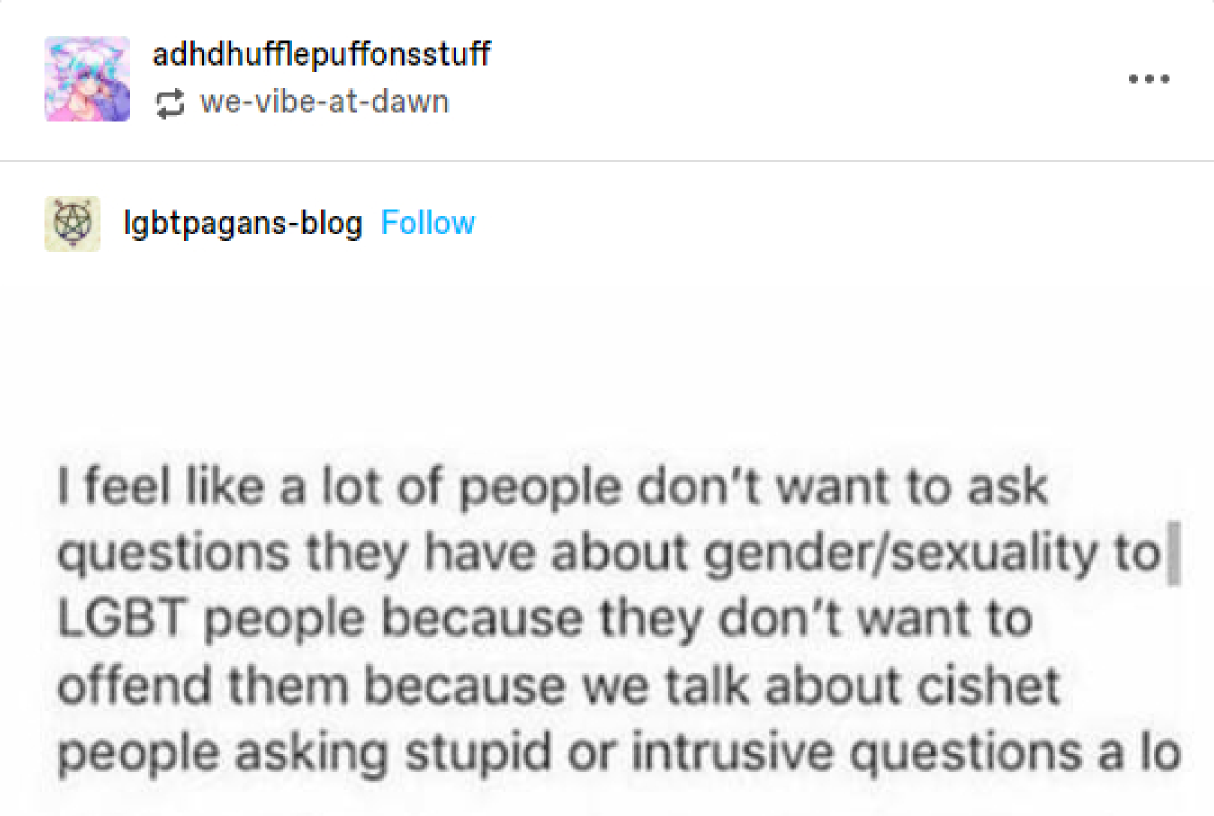
10,637 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
opheliamortesworld Follow

opheliamortesworld Follow

#alice madness returns

24 notes

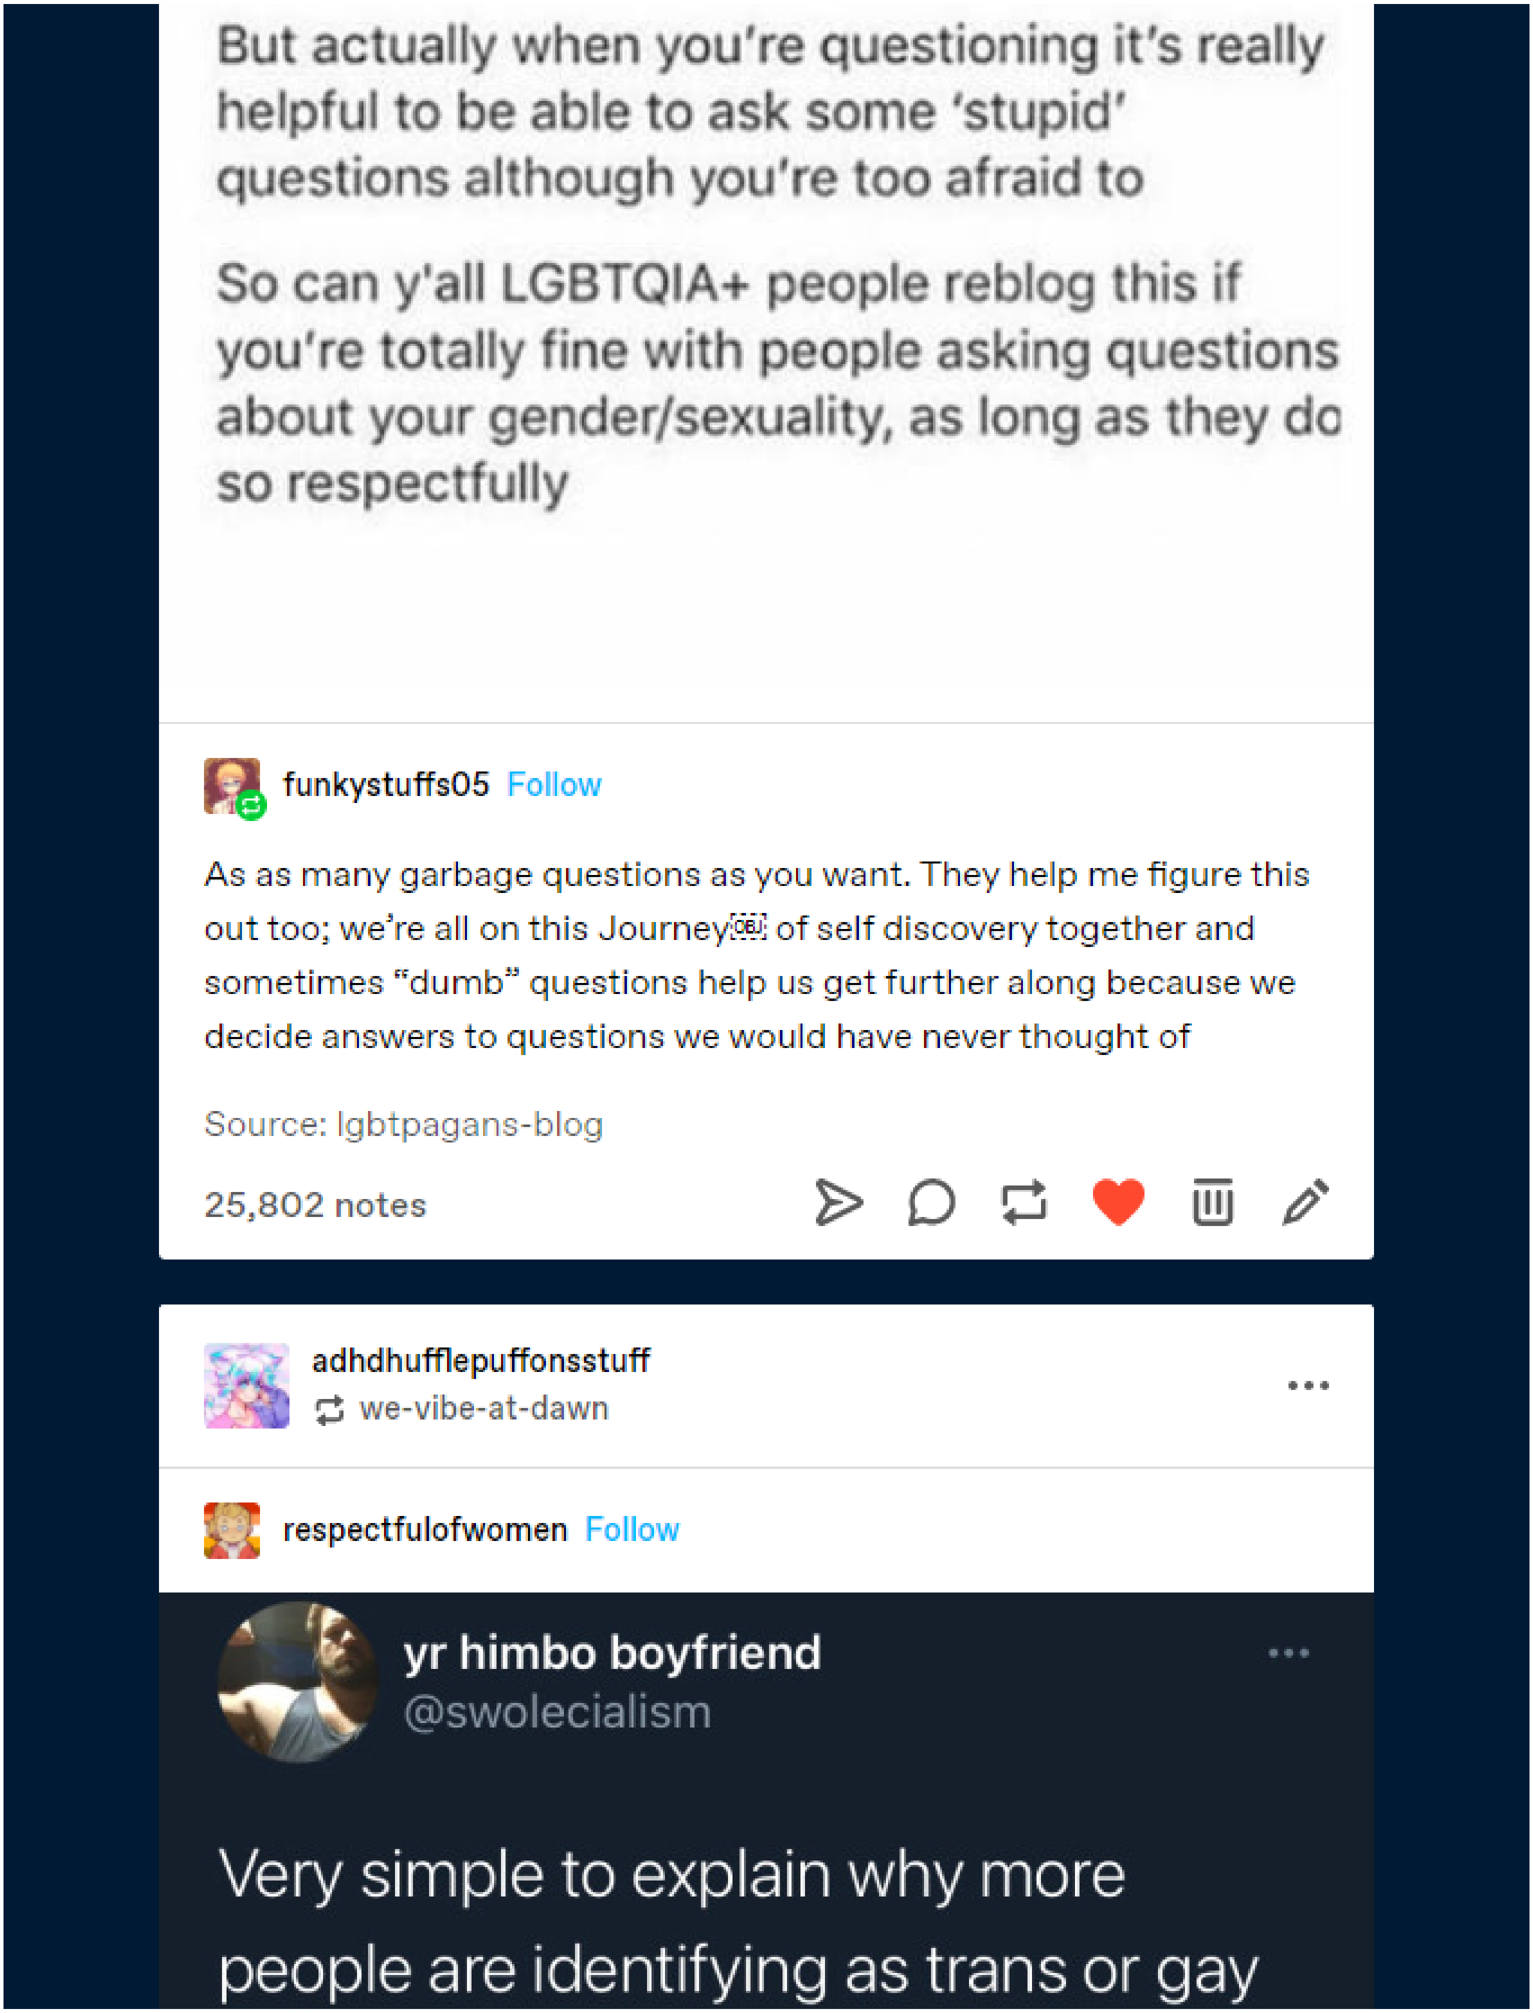


adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

we-vibe-at-dawn

lgbtpagans-blog Follow

I feel like a lot of people don't want to ask questions they have about gender/sexuality to LGBT people because they don't want to offend them because we talk about cishet people asking stupid or intrusive questions a lo



But actually when you're questioning it's really helpful to be able to ask some 'stupid' questions although you're too afraid to

So can y'all LGBTQIA+ people reblog this if you're totally fine with people asking questions about your gender/sexuality, as long as they do so respectfully

funkystuffs05 Follow

As as many garbage questions as you want. They help me figure this out too; we're all on this Journey of self discovery together and sometimes "dumb" questions help us get further along because we decide answers to questions we would have never thought of

Source: lgbtpagans-blog

25,802 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
we-vibe-at-dawn

respectfulofwomen Follow yr himbo boyfriend @swolecialism

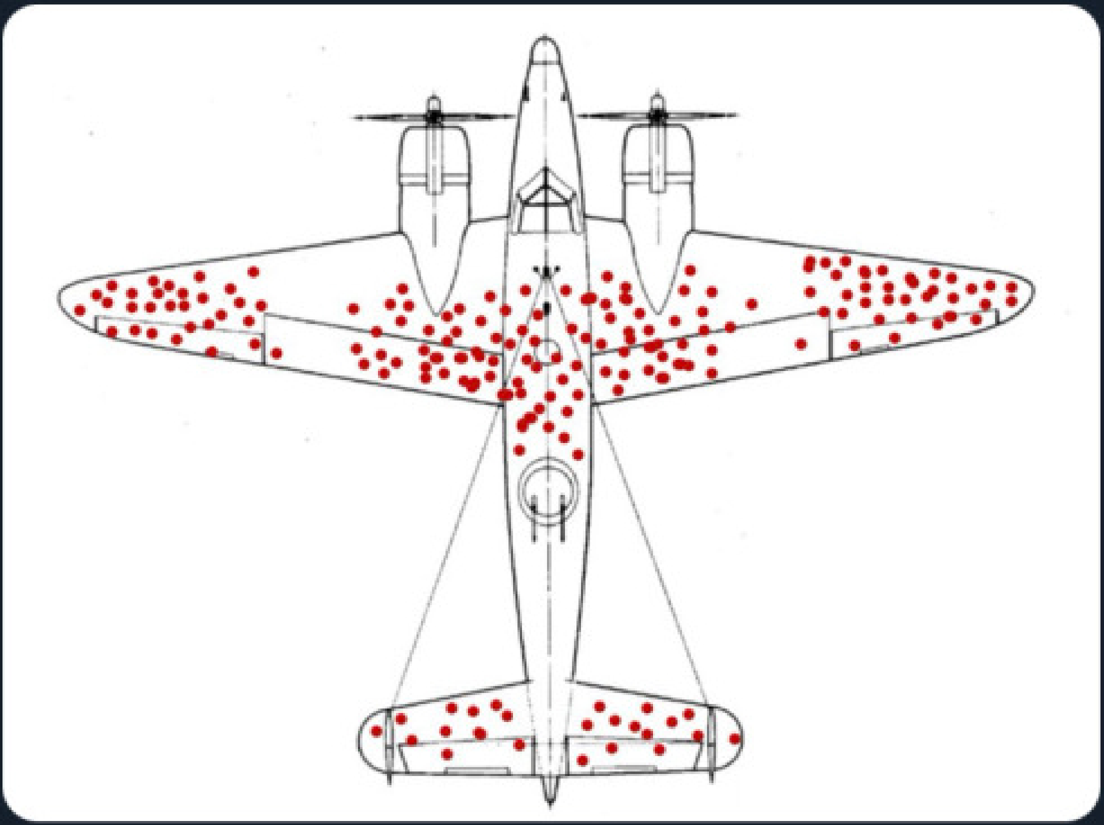
Very simple to explain why more people are identifying as trans or gay or whatever than generations past, here's a helpful chart that will explain it



5:50 PM · 2/24/21 · Twitter for Android

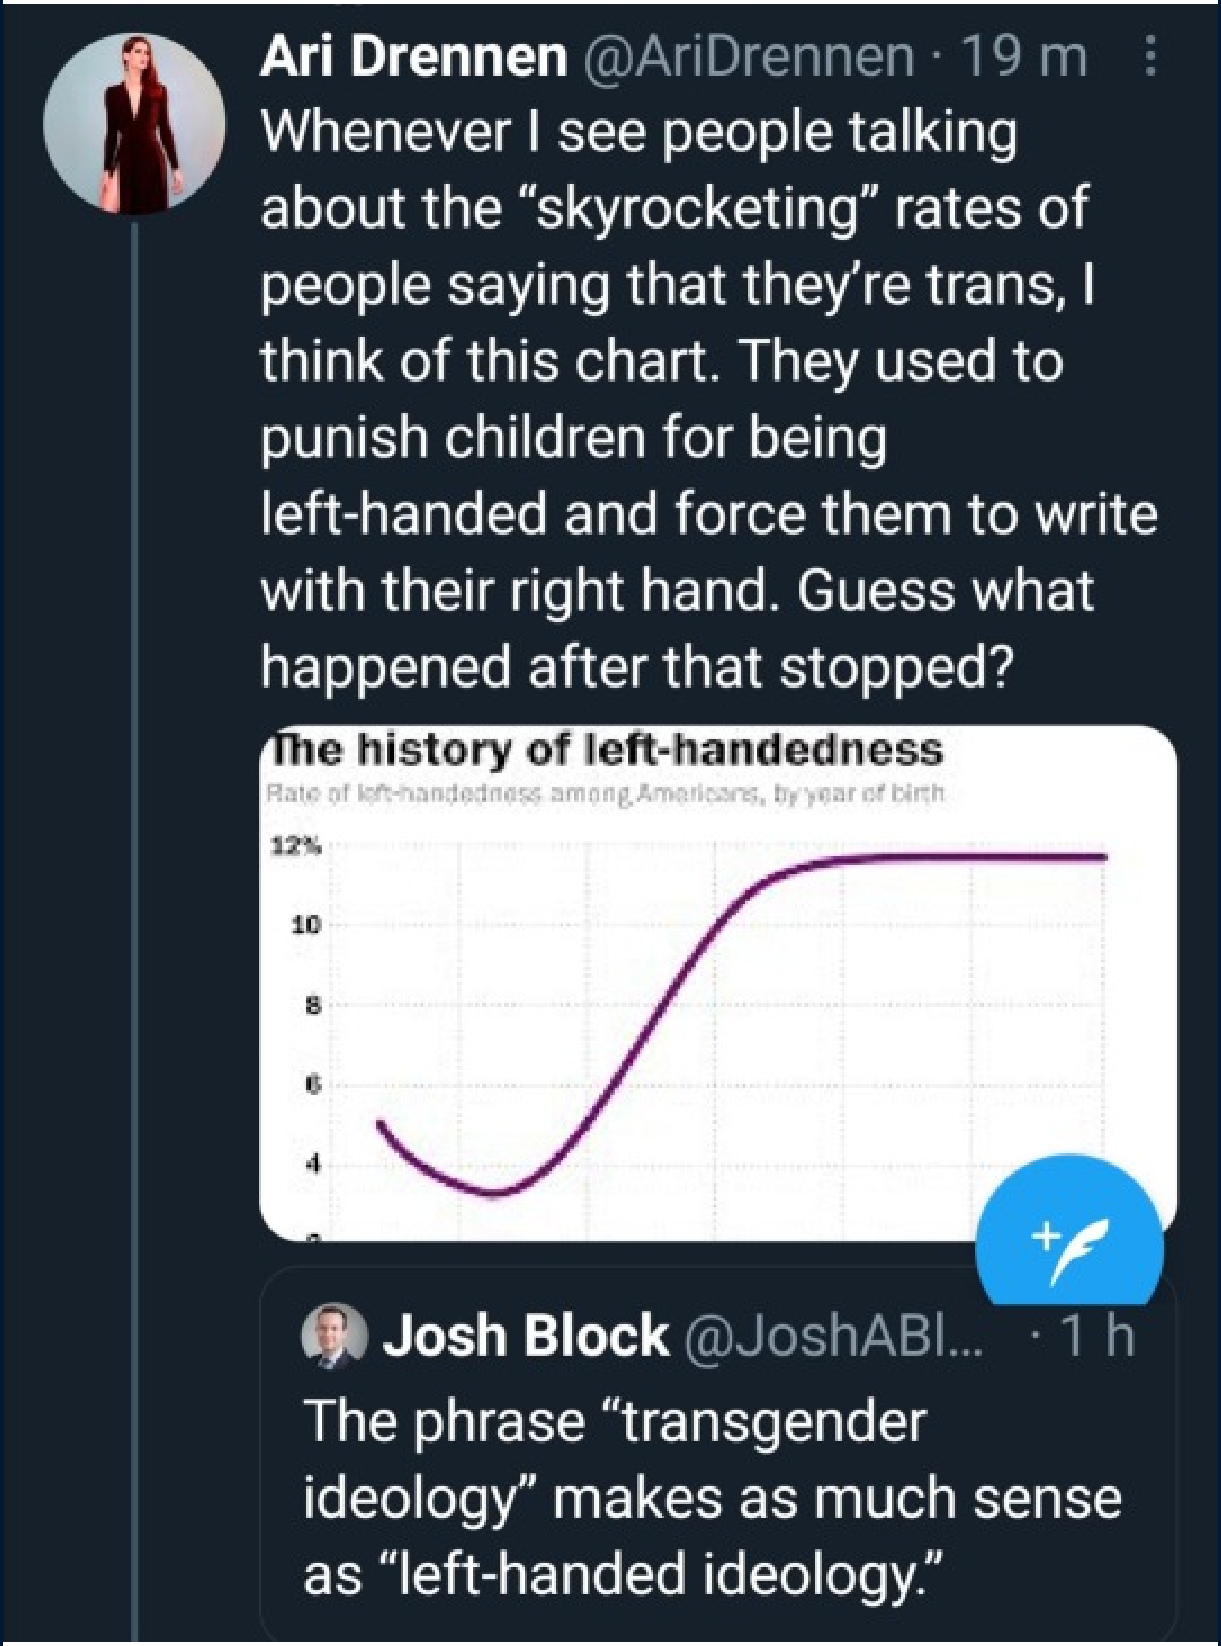
silinoquent Follow

For those confused: this image is an example of survivorship bias. Basically, if your combat plane comes back full of bullet holes as seen above, your first instinct would be to reinforce the parts with the most holes with armor. On the contrary, however, you should reinforce the spots with the LEAST holes, because the planes that got hit there never made it back.

Another example is how injuries from car crashes increase when seatbelts are mandatory, because those injuries would usually be deaths.

What the tweet above is saying is that it may look like there's a lot more queer people this generation than before because, in the past, queer people tended to not come out, die young, or (specifically for those who should be queer adults now) die of AIDS.

between-stars-and-waves Follow



Ari Drennen @AriDrennen · 19 m

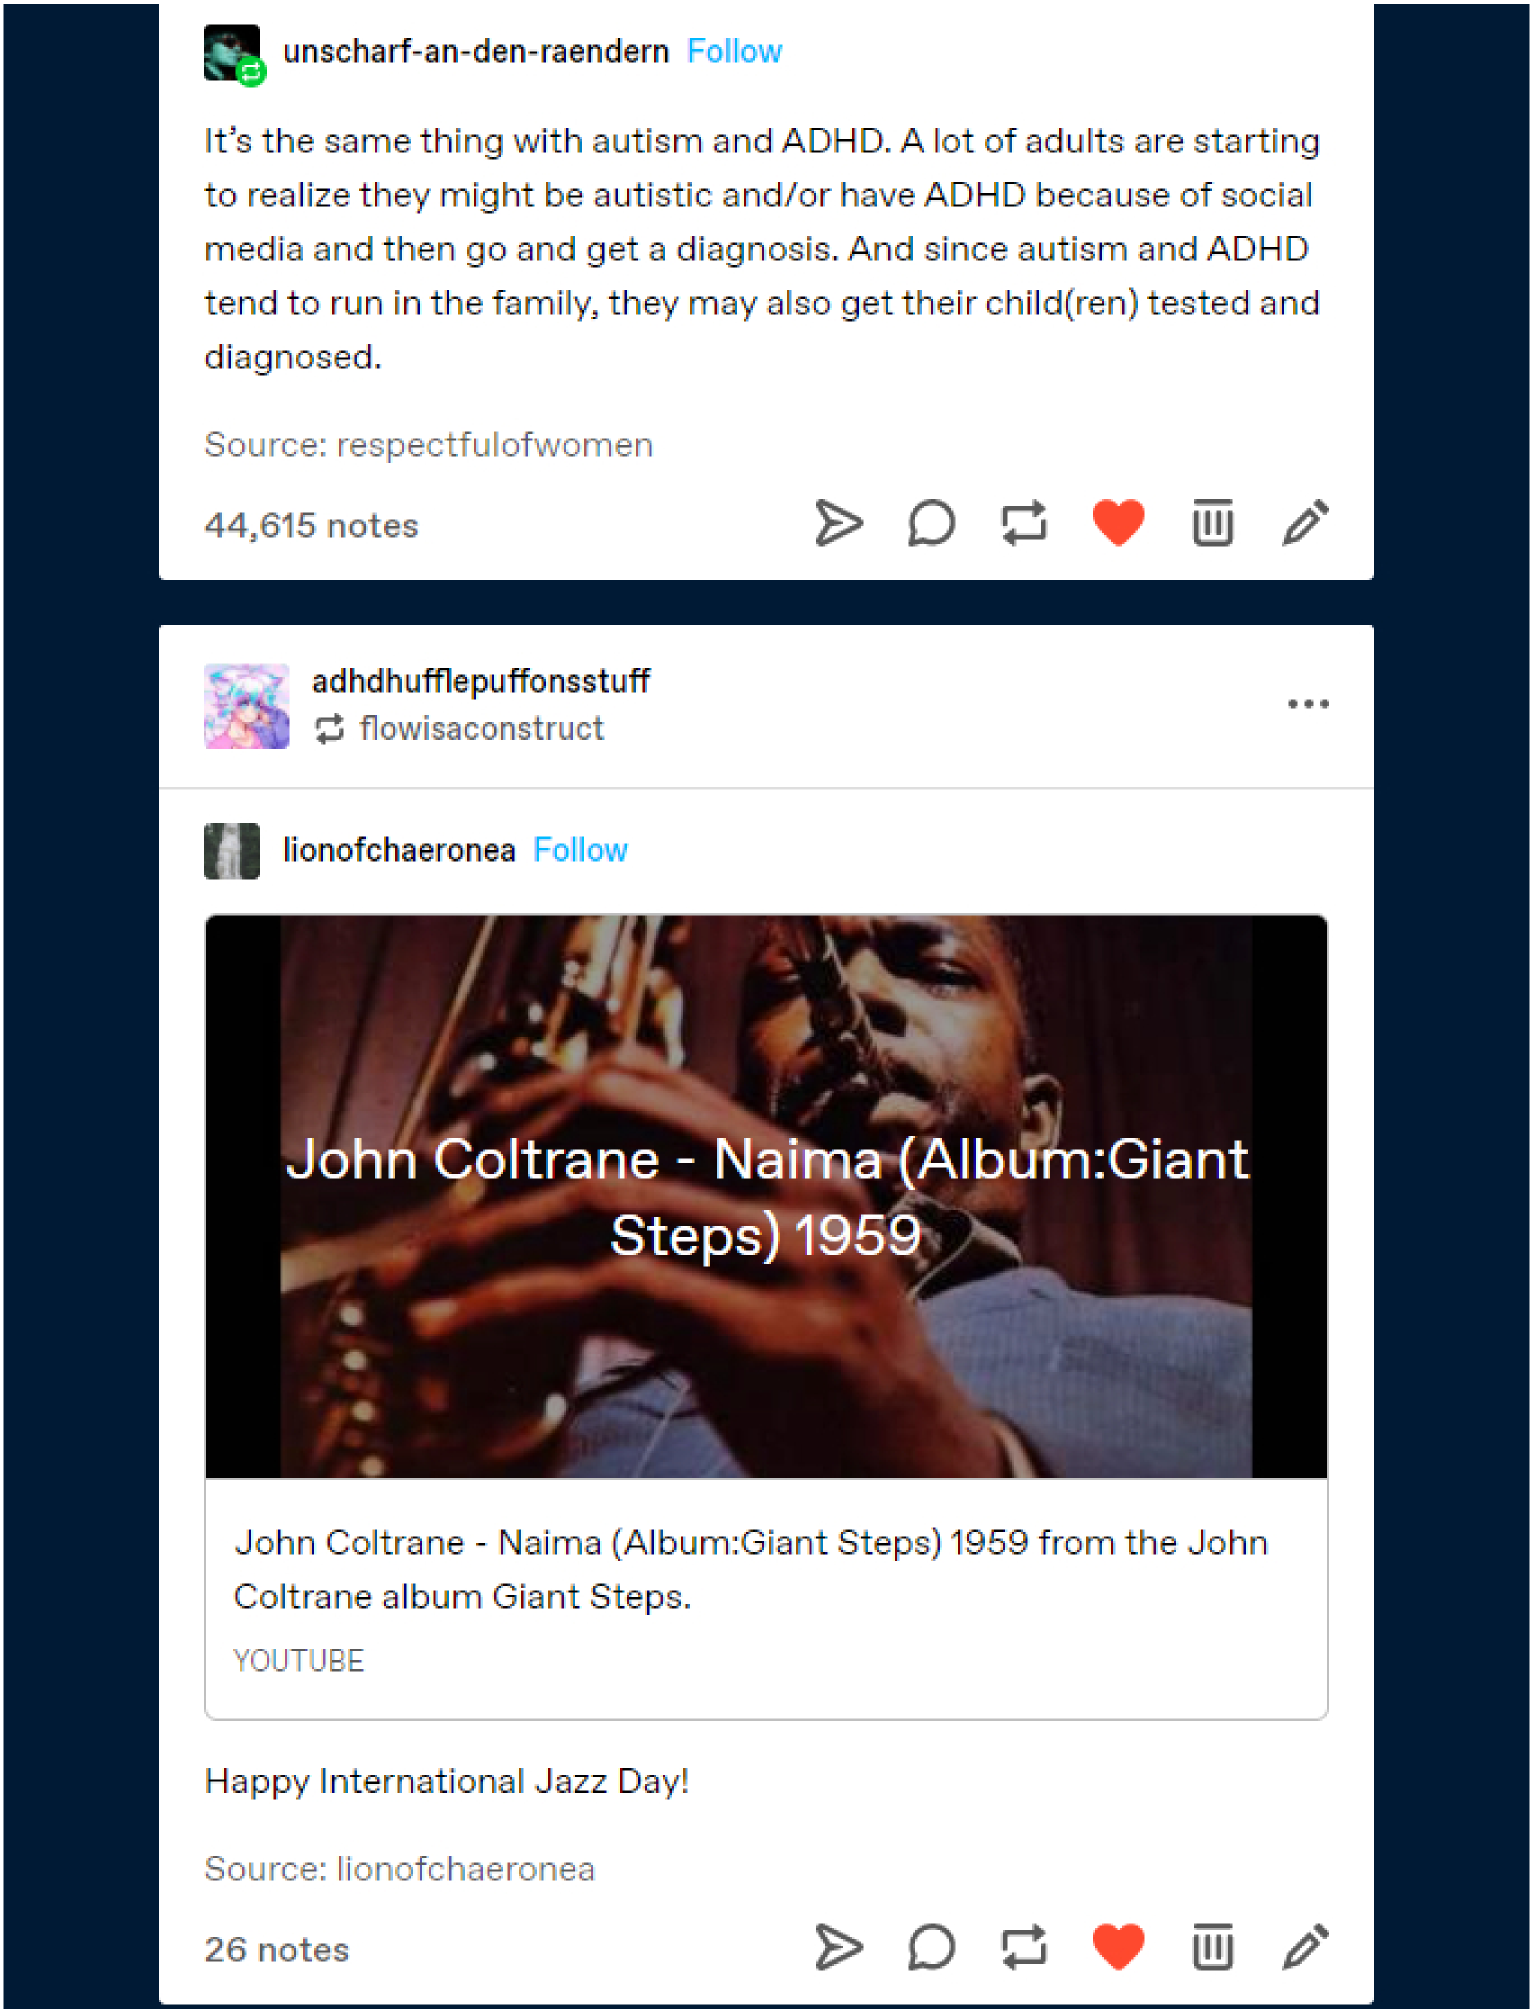
Whenever I see people talking about the “skyrocketing” rates of people saying that they’re trans, I think of this chart. They used to punish children for being left-handed and force them to write with their right hand. Guess what happened after that stopped?

The history of left-handedness

Rate of left-handedness among Americans, by year of birth

Josh Block @JoshABl... · 1 h

The phrase “transgender ideology” makes as much sense as “left-handed ideology.”



unscharf-an-den-raendern

It’s the same thing with autism and ADHD. A lot of adults are starting to realize they might be autistic and/or have ADHD because of social media and then go and get a diagnosis. And since autism and ADHD tend to run in the family, they may also get their child(ren) tested and diagnosed.

Source: respectfulofwomen

44,615 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

flowisaconstruct

lionofchaeronea

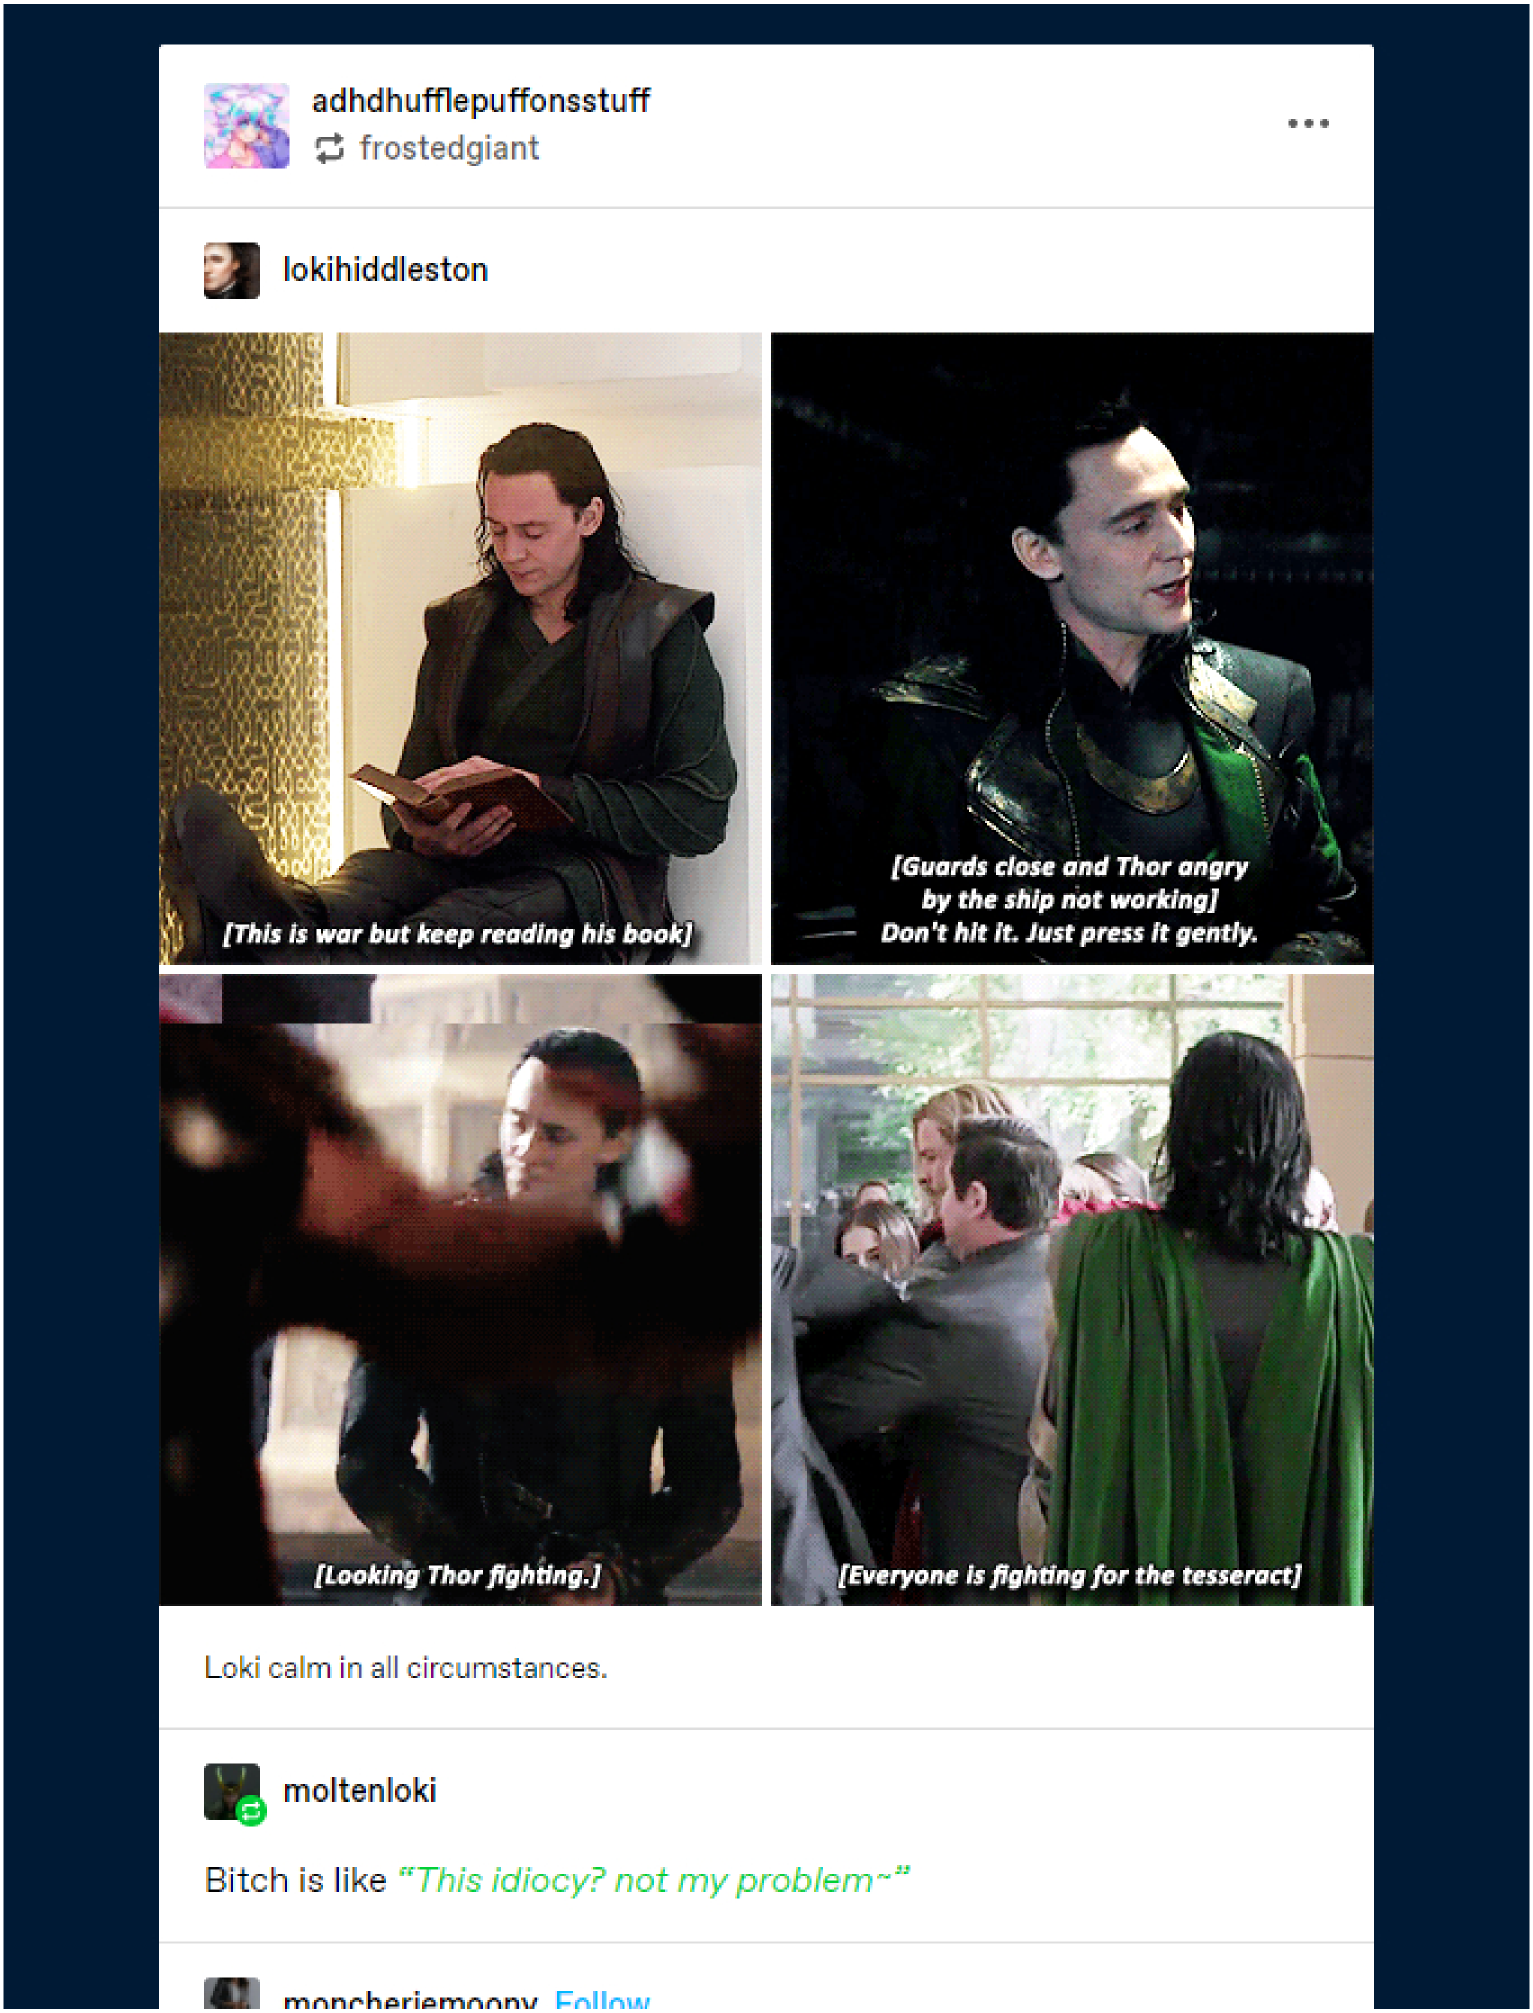
John Coltrane - Naima (Album:Giant Steps) 1959 from the John Coltrane album Giant Steps.

YOUTUBE

Happy International Jazz Day!

Source: lionofchaeronea

26 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

frostedgiant

lokihiddleston

[This is war but keep reading his book]

[Guards close and Thor angry by the ship not working] Don't hit it. Just press it gently.

[Looking Thor fighting.]

[Everyone is fighting for the tesseract]

Loki calm in all circumstances.

moltenloki

Bitch is like "This idiocy? not my problem~"

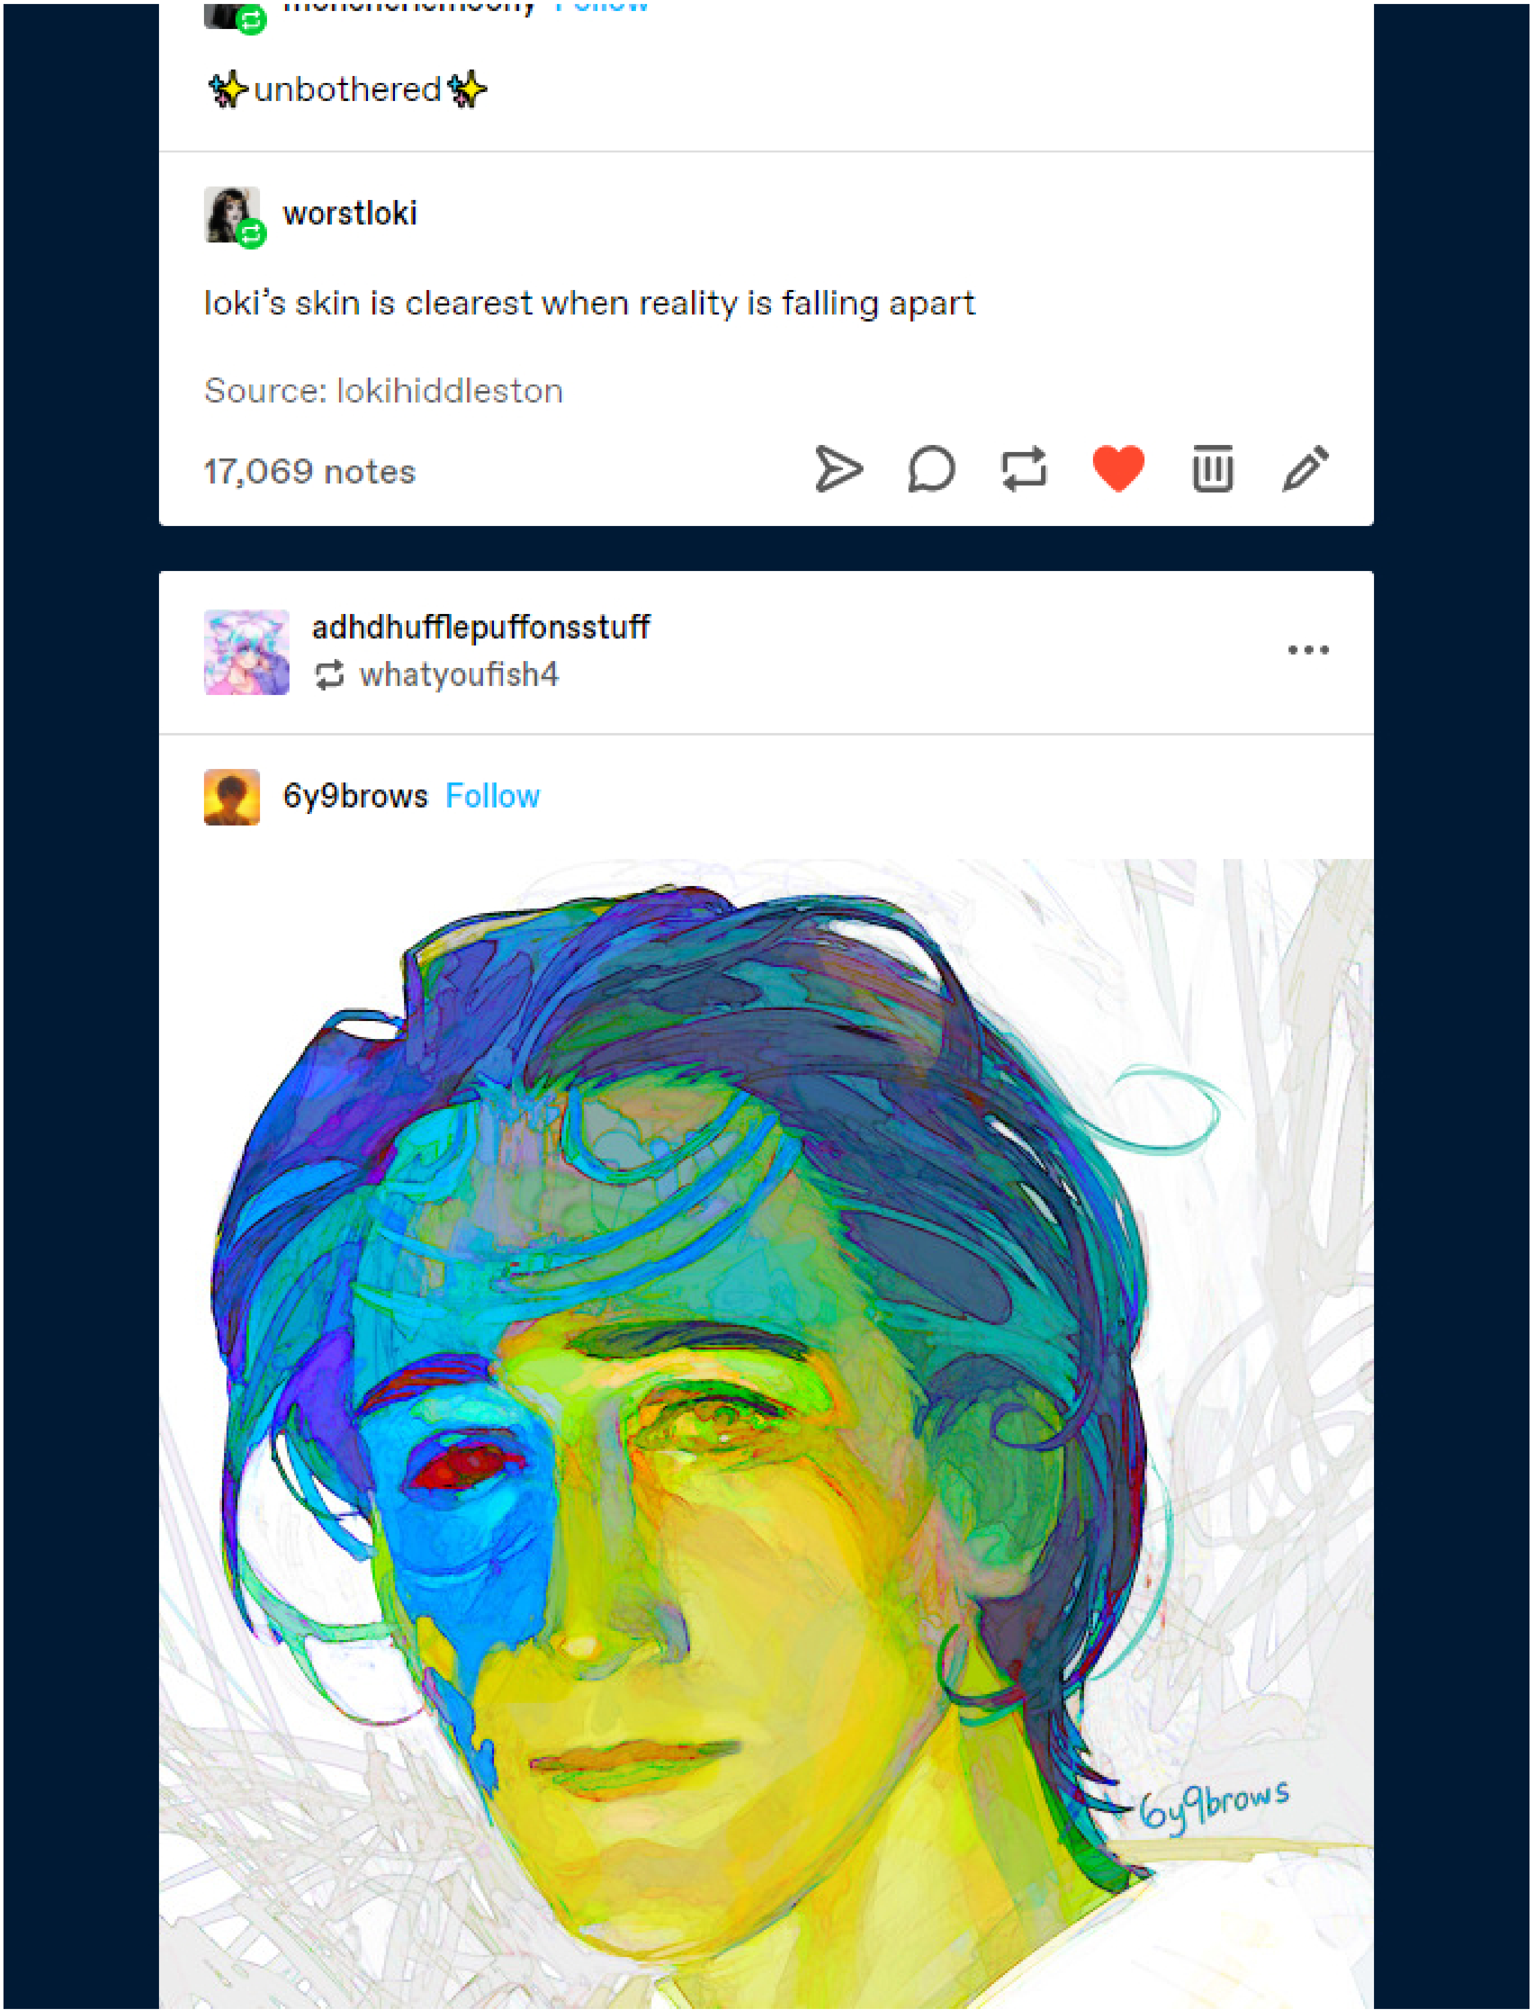
moncheriemoony Follow



✨unbothered✨

worstloki

loki's skin is clearest when reality is falling apart

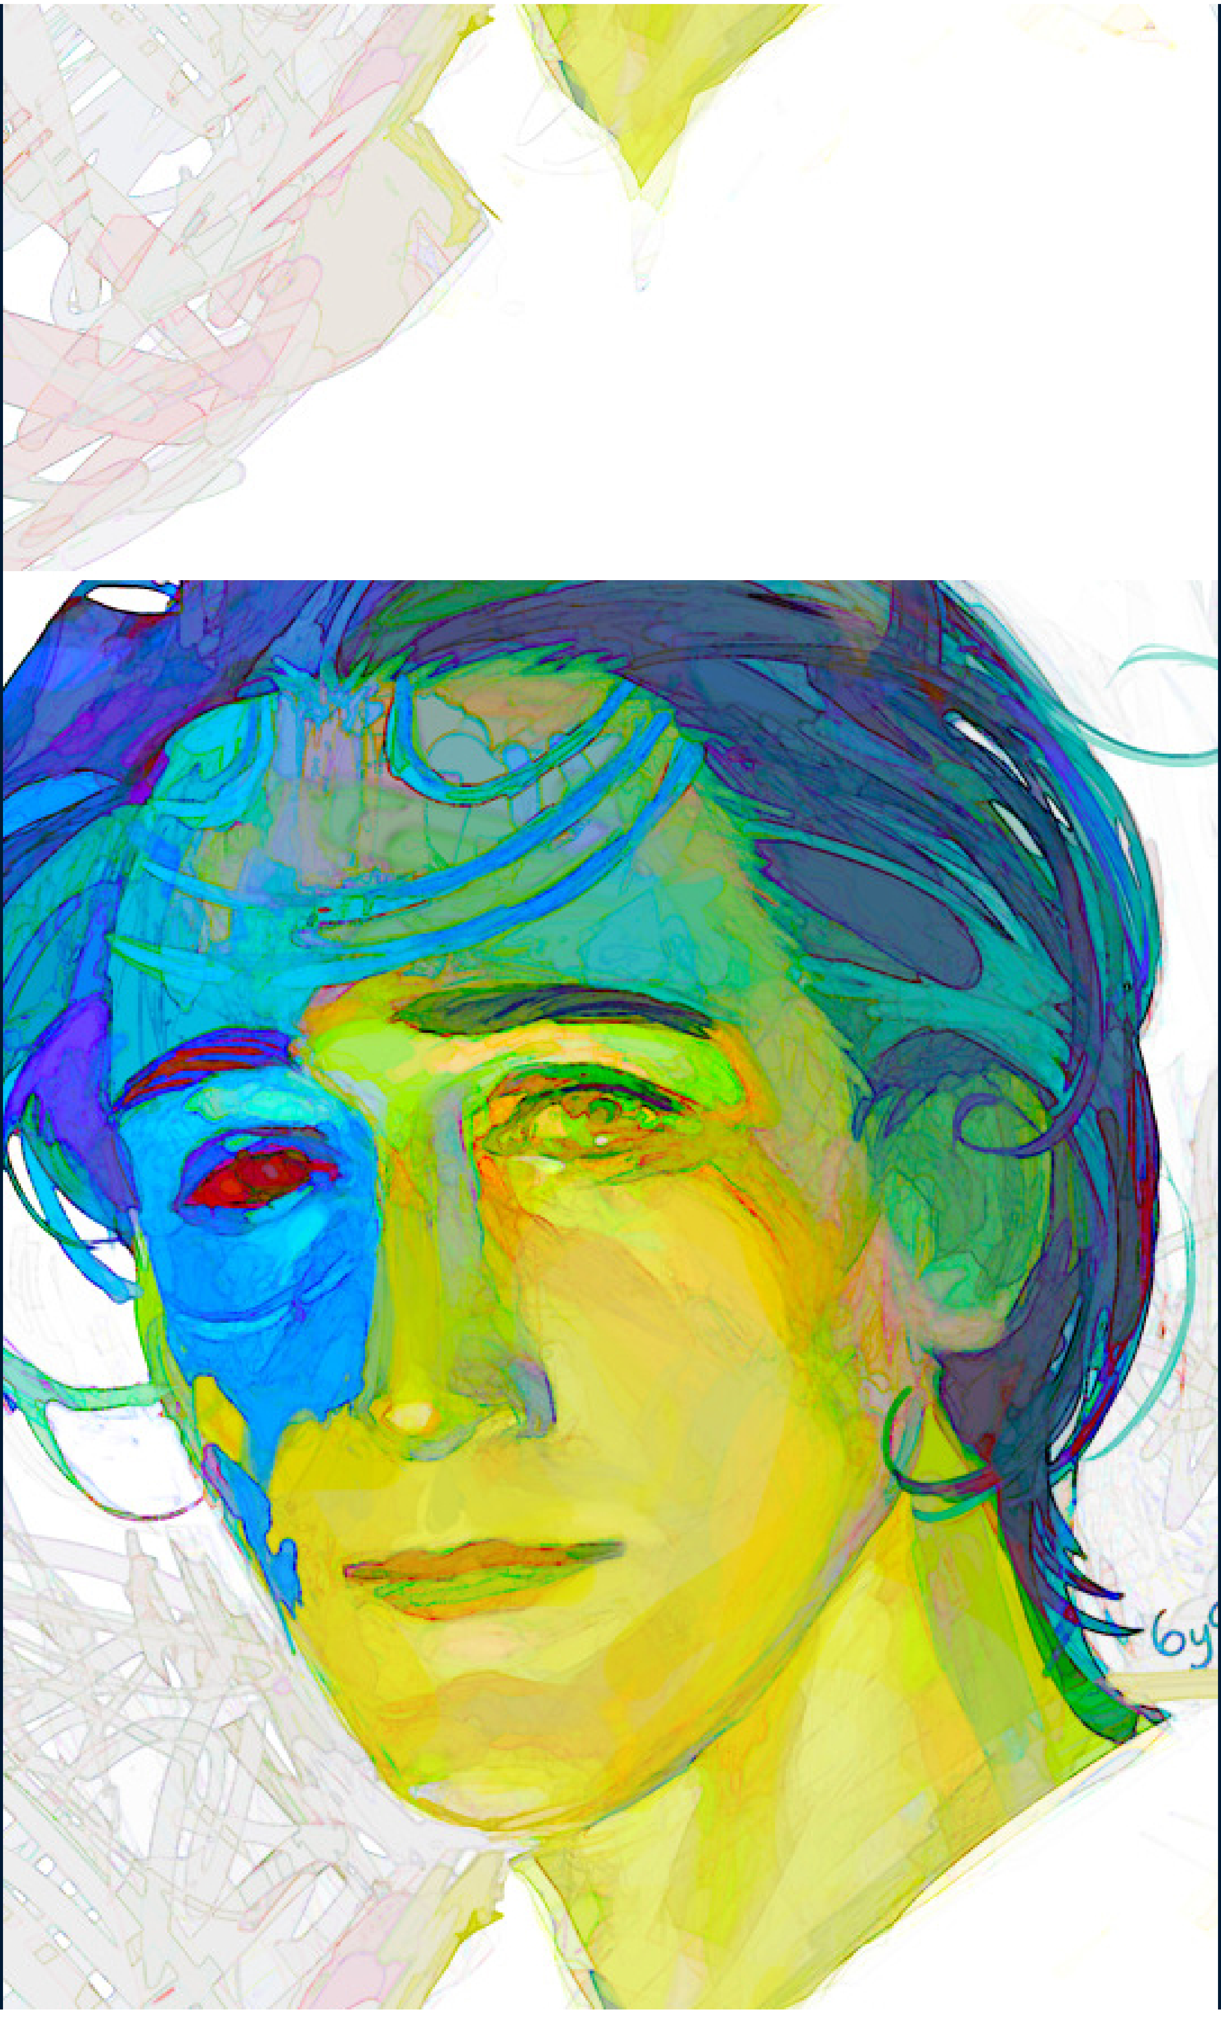
Source: lokihiddleston

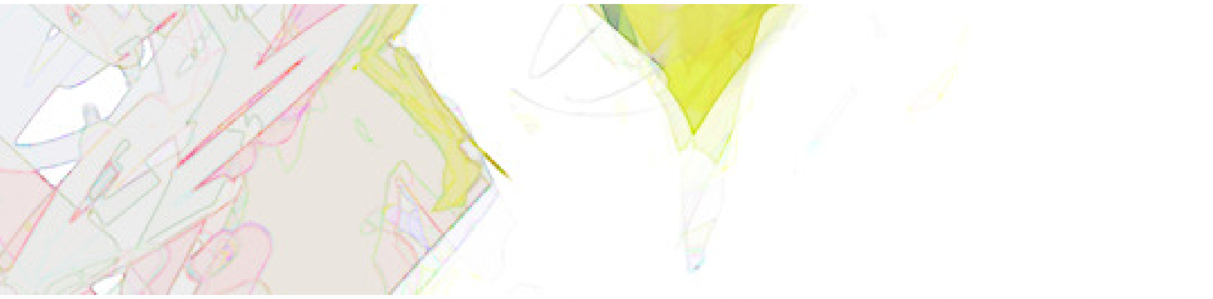
17,069 notes

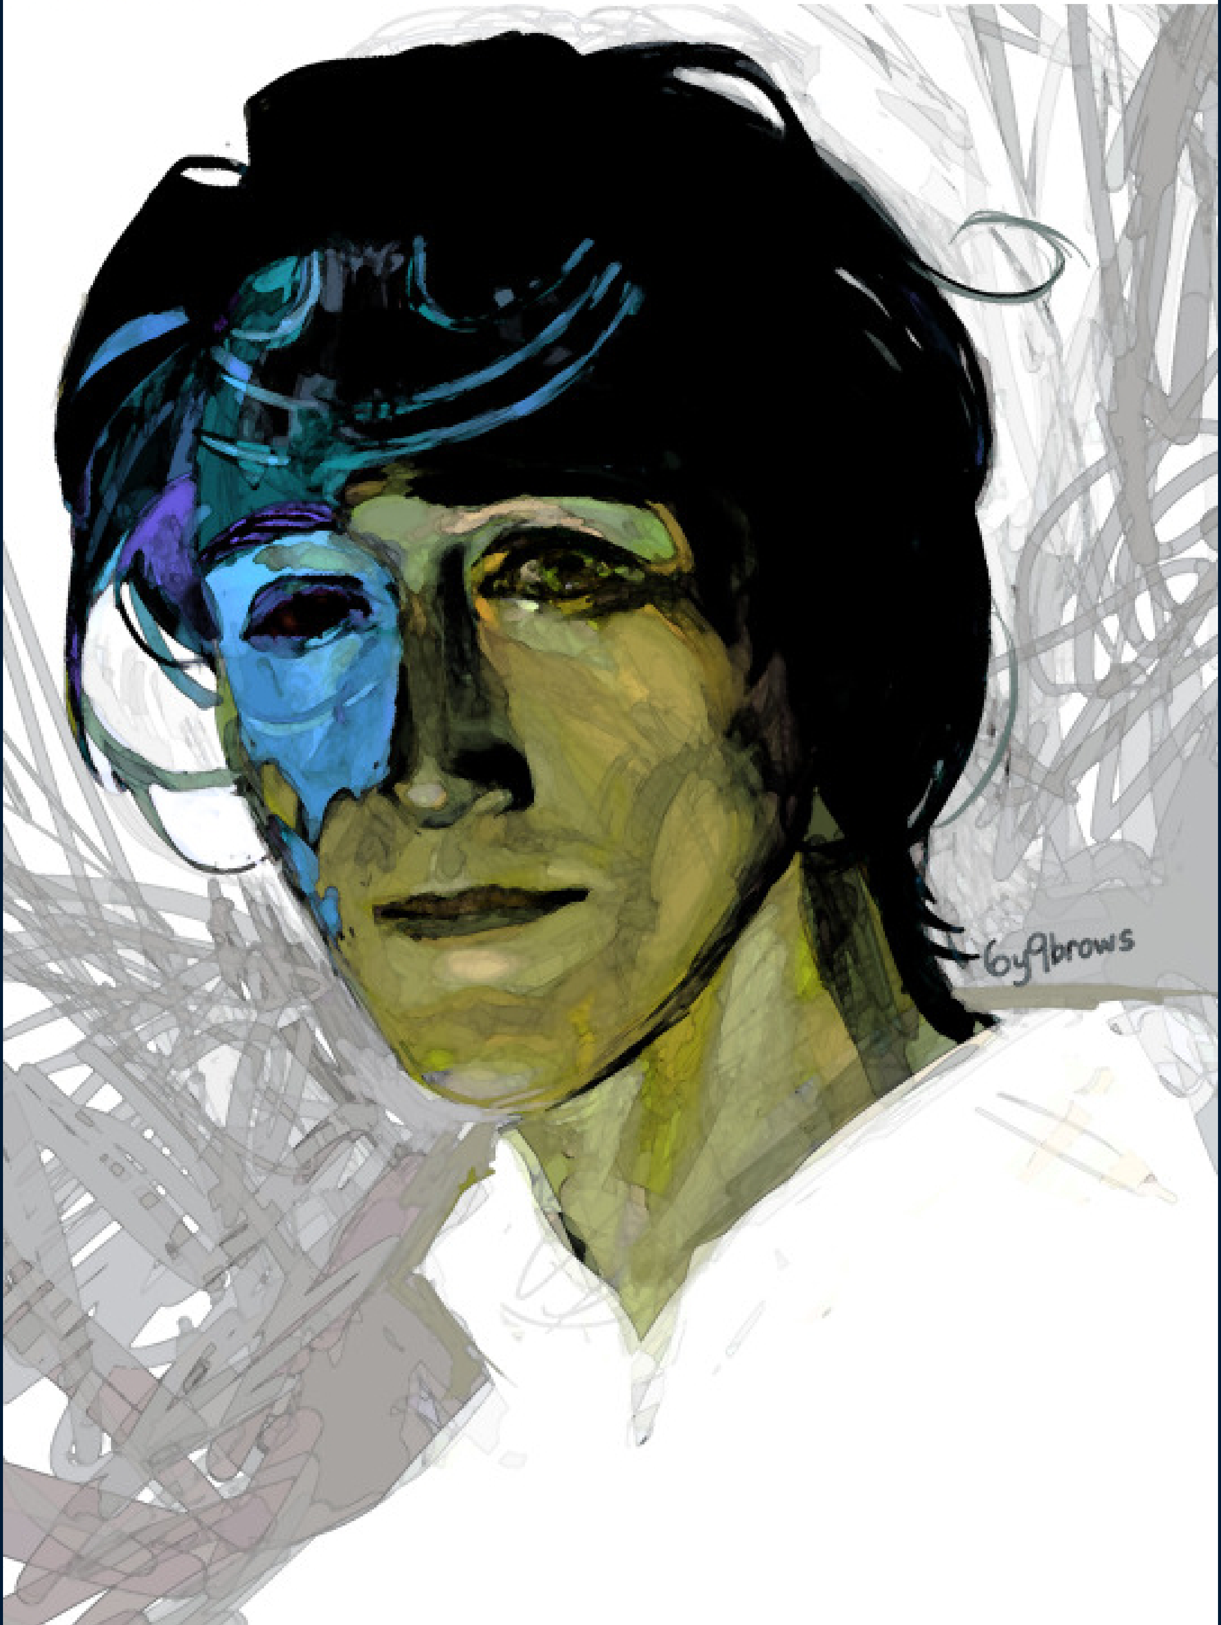
adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

whatyoufish4

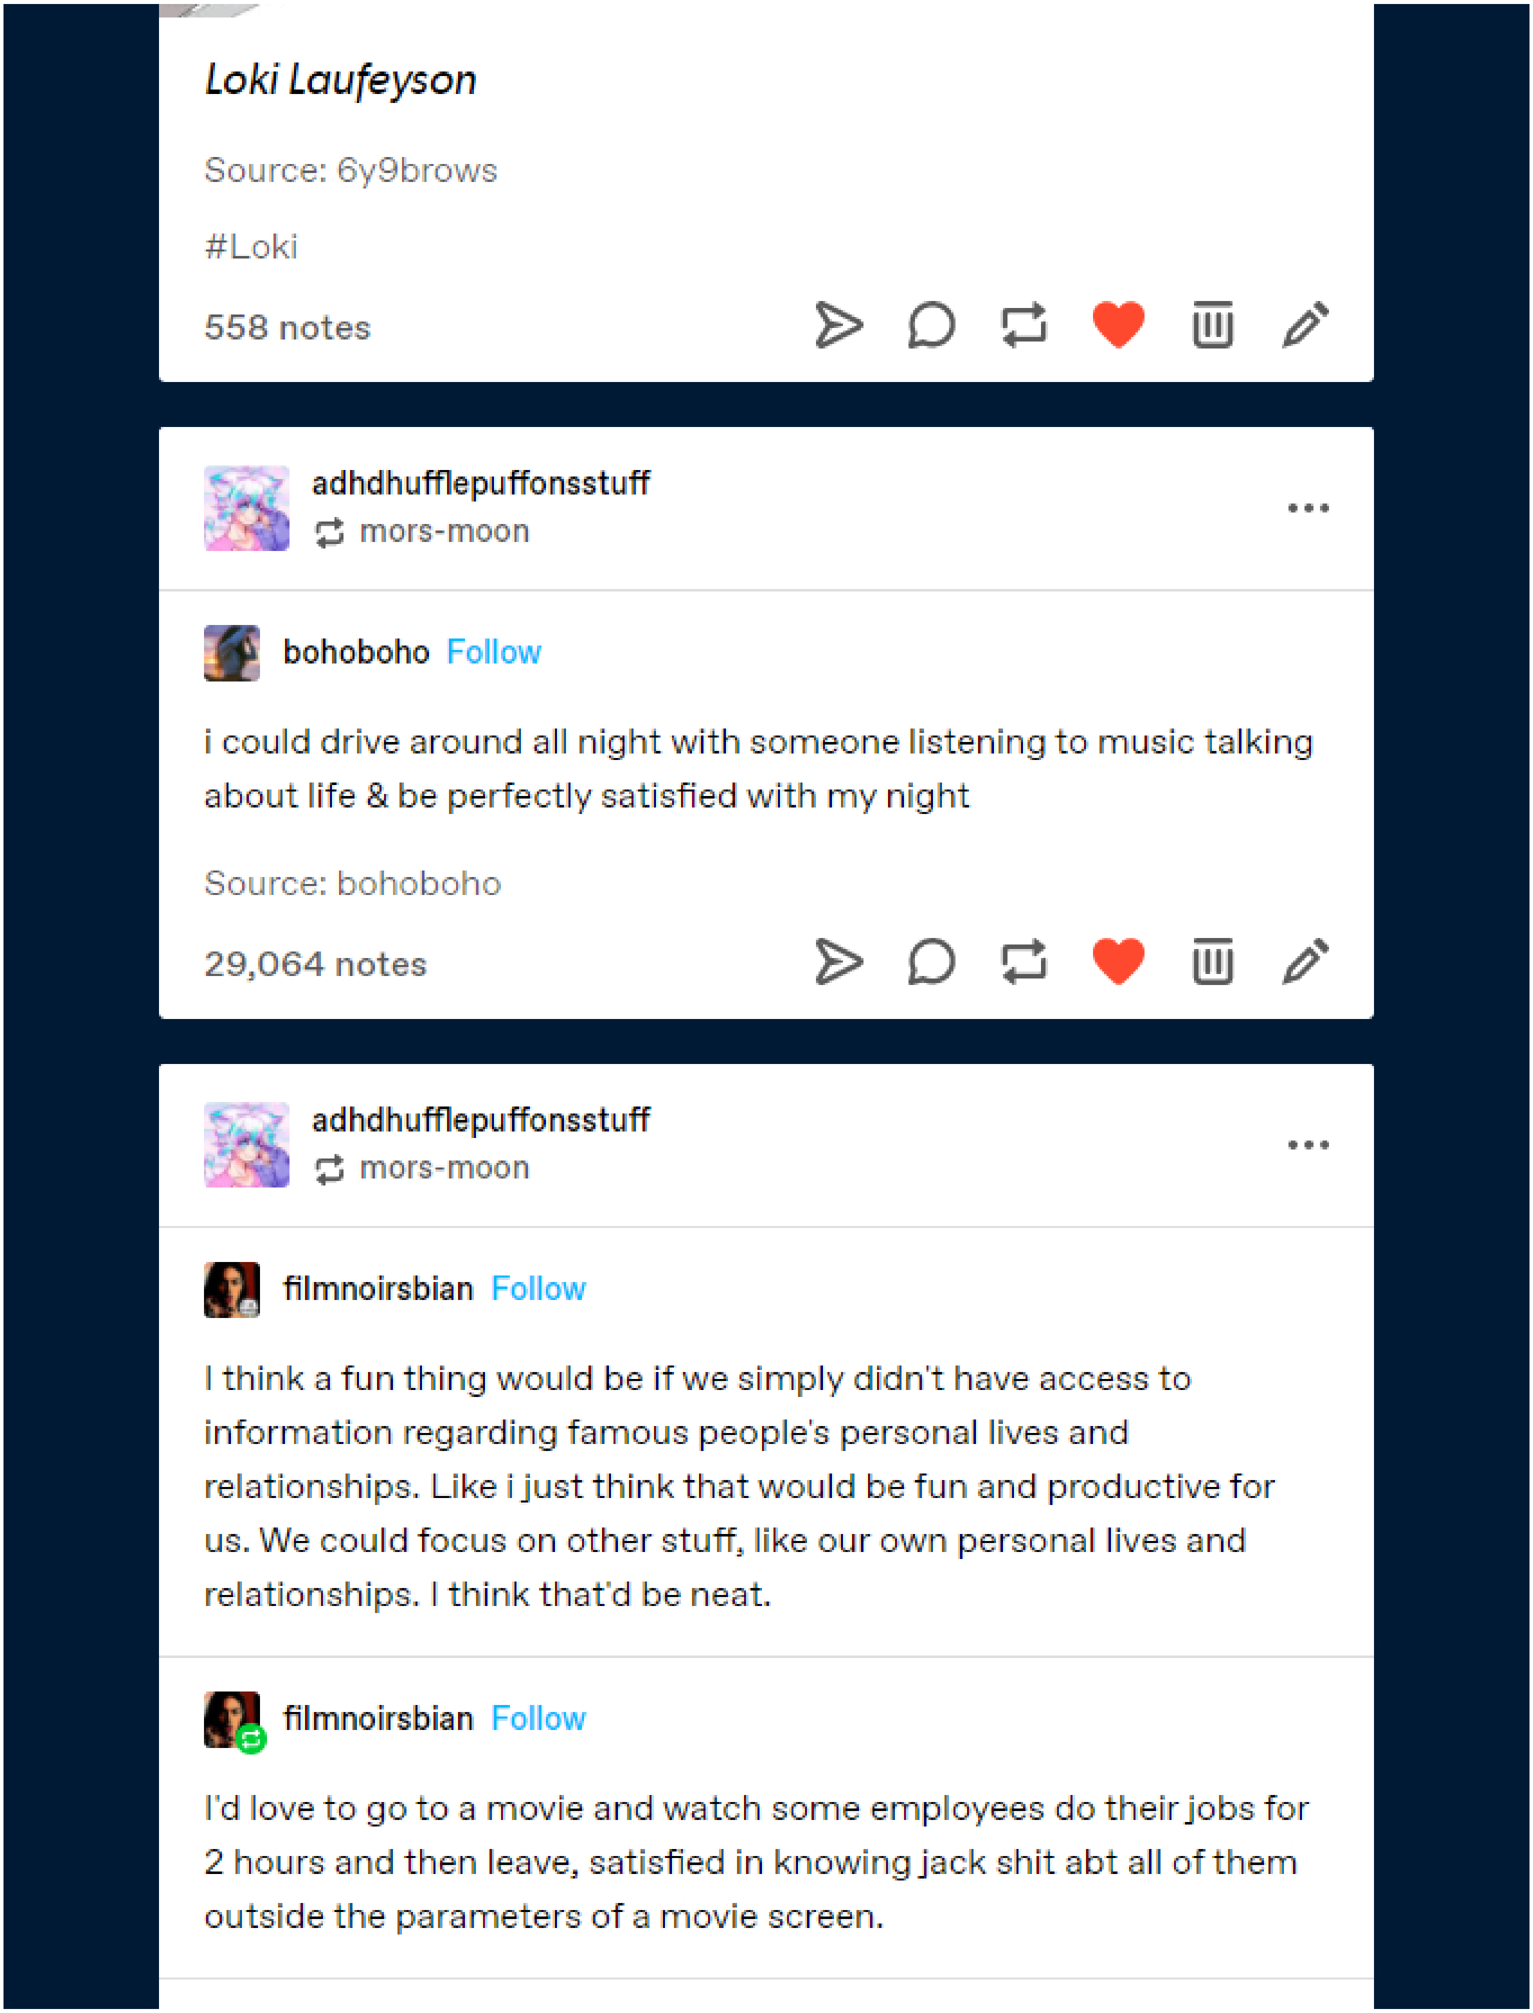
6y9brows Follow







6y9brows



Loki Laufeyson

Source: 6y9brows

#Loki

558 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

mors-moon

bohoboho Follow

i could drive around all night with someone listening to music talking about life & be perfectly satisfied with my night

Source: bohoboho

29,064 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

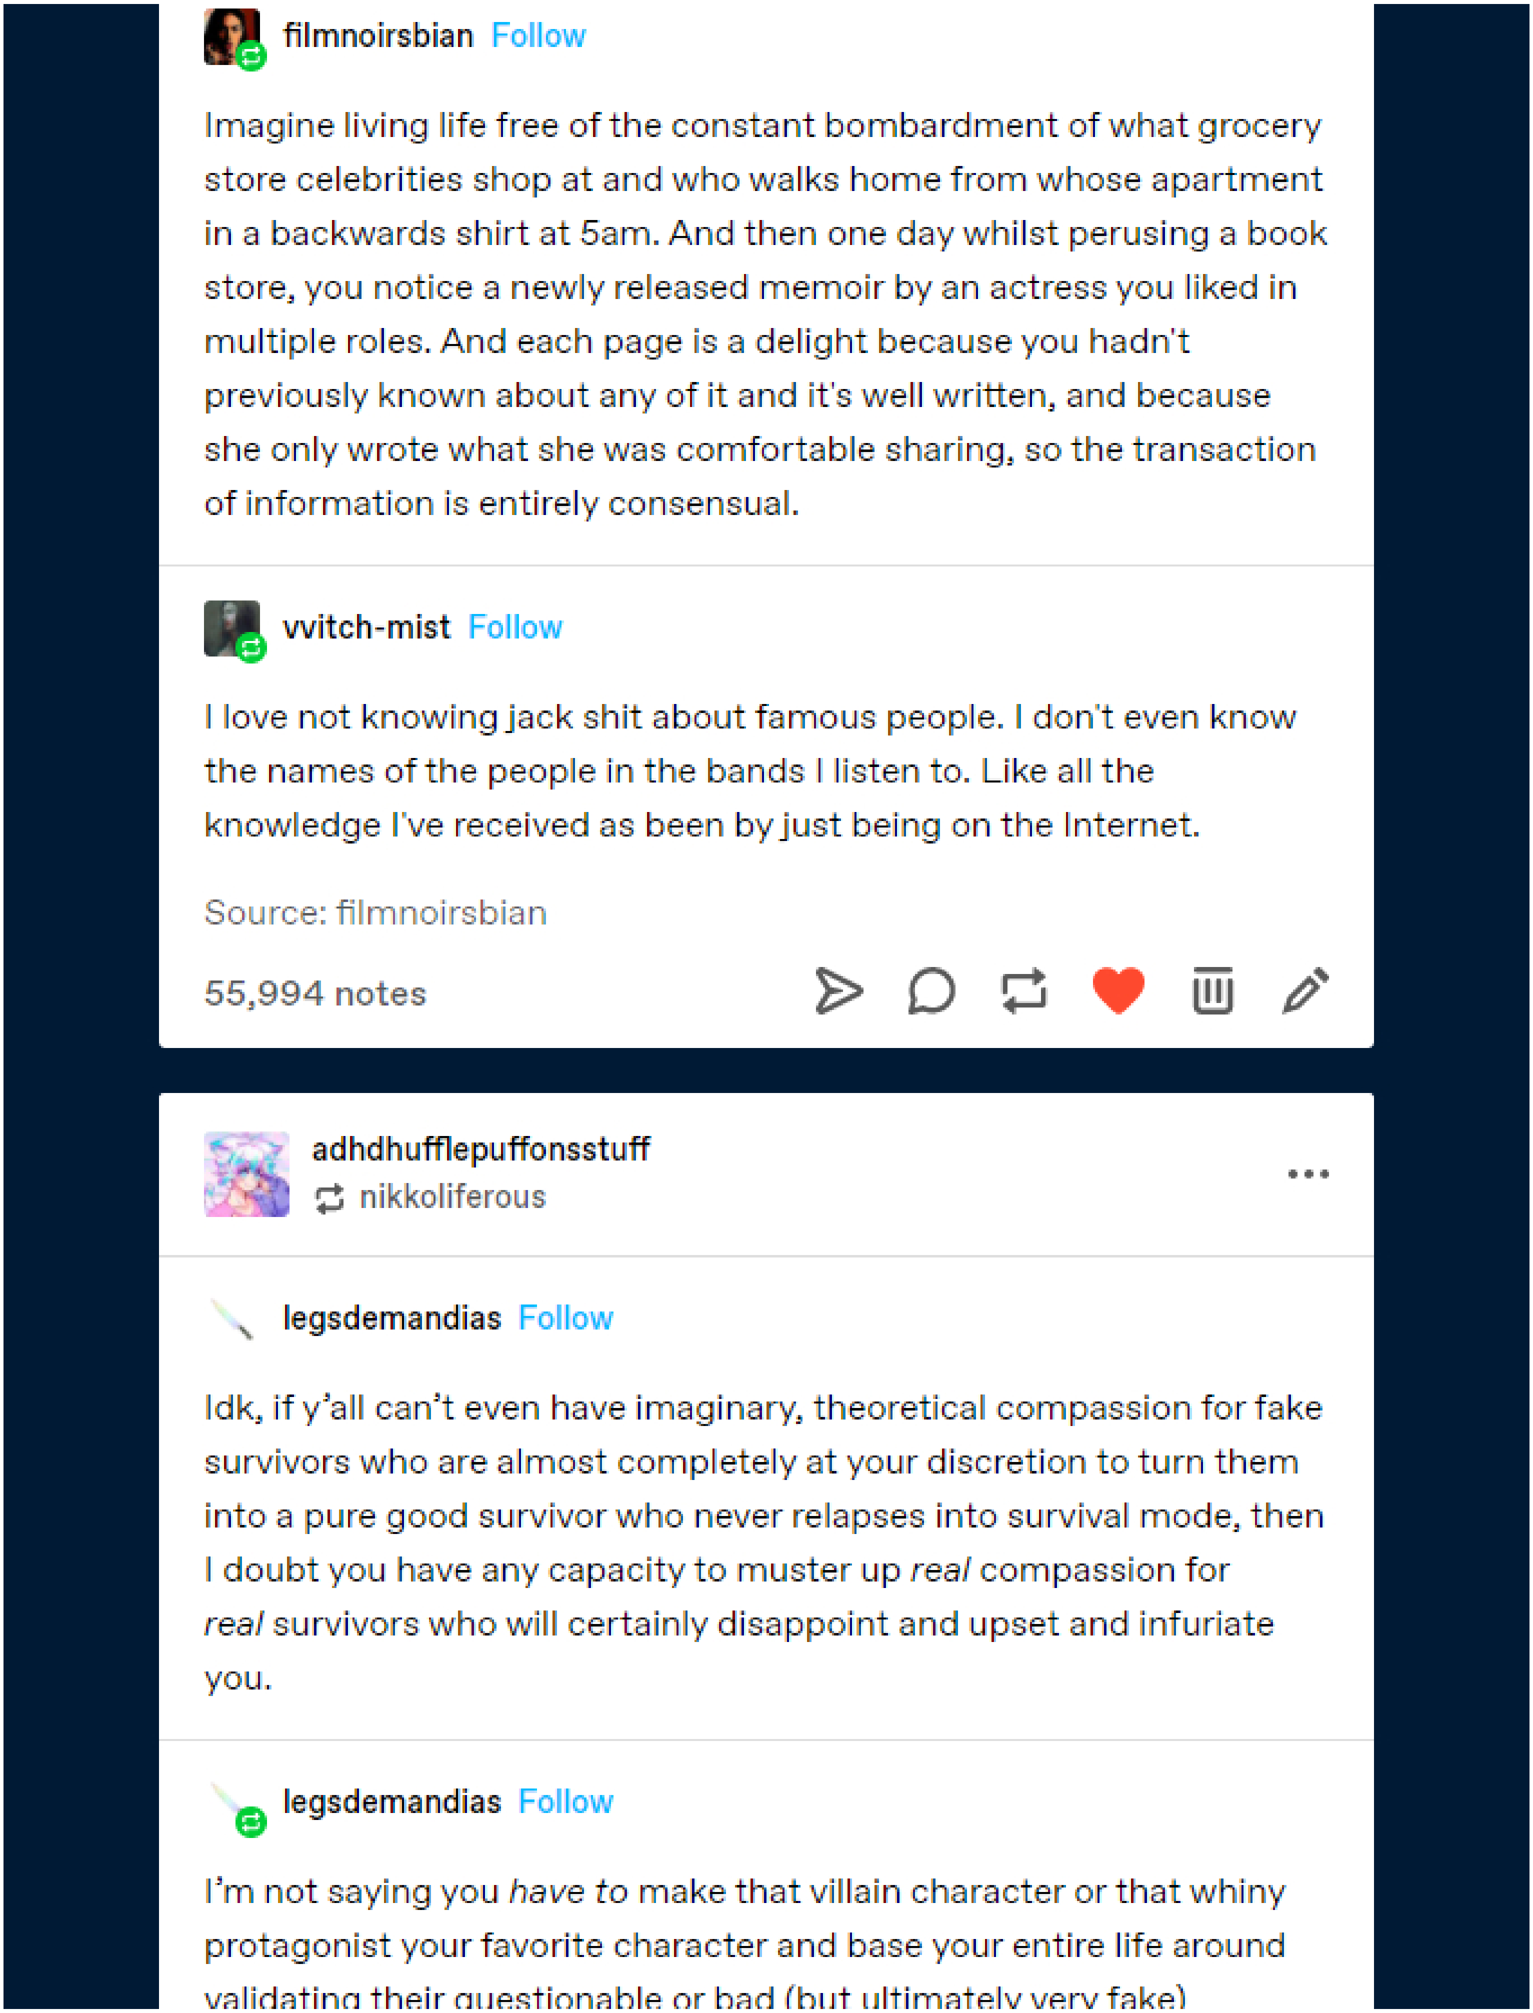
mors-moon

filmnoirsbian Follow

I think a fun thing would be if we simply didn't have access to information regarding famous people's personal lives and relationships. Like i just think that would be fun and productive for us. We could focus on other stuff, like our own personal lives and relationships. I think that'd be neat.

filmnoirsbian Follow

I'd love to go to a movie and watch some employees do their jobs for 2 hours and then leave, satisfied in knowing jack shit abt all of them outside the parameters of a movie screen.



filmnoirsbian Follow

Imagine living life free of the constant bombardment of what grocery store celebrities shop at and who walks home from whose apartment in a backwards shirt at 5am. And then one day whilst perusing a book store, you notice a newly released memoir by an actress you liked in multiple roles. And each page is a delight because you hadn't previously known about any of it and it's well written, and because she only wrote what she was comfortable sharing, so the transaction of information is entirely consensual.

vvitch-mist Follow

I love not knowing jack shit about famous people. I don't even know the names of the people in the bands I listen to. Like all the knowledge I've received as been by just being on the Internet.

Source: filmnoirsbian

55,994 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
⇄ nikkoliferous

legsdemandias Follow

Idk, if y'all can't even have imaginary, theoretical compassion for fake survivors who are almost completely at your discretion to turn them into a pure good survivor who never relapses into survival mode, then I doubt you have any capacity to muster up real compassion for real survivors who will certainly disappoint and upset and infuriate you.

legsdemandias Follow

I'm not saying you have to make that villain character or that whiny protagonist your favorite character and base your entire life around validating their questionable or bad (but ultimately very fake) behavior–all I'm saying is when given a "this character has almost never known peace" that you maybe go "aw that's sad" before you condemn them.

You don't have to change your mind about the kind of person they are, don't have to defend them, nor do you have to start insisting they were never a bad or annoying character, but it'd be kind of nice if you could stretch out your tiny, shriveled heart and go "it's a shame their life turned out this way, I wish it'd turned out differently".

It'd be nice if you could do that instead of snapping your back in half trying to bend between your own legs insisting that they did this bad thing so lol cool story, still murder! Y'all are so fucking terrifying responding to past trauma and justifying that because of future decisions. You can't even pretend to go "that child didn't deserve that". Can you, for just one second, imagine the weight of the word "that child deserves no compassion because when they grow up they become a bad person" what kind of fucked up Calvinist bullshit???

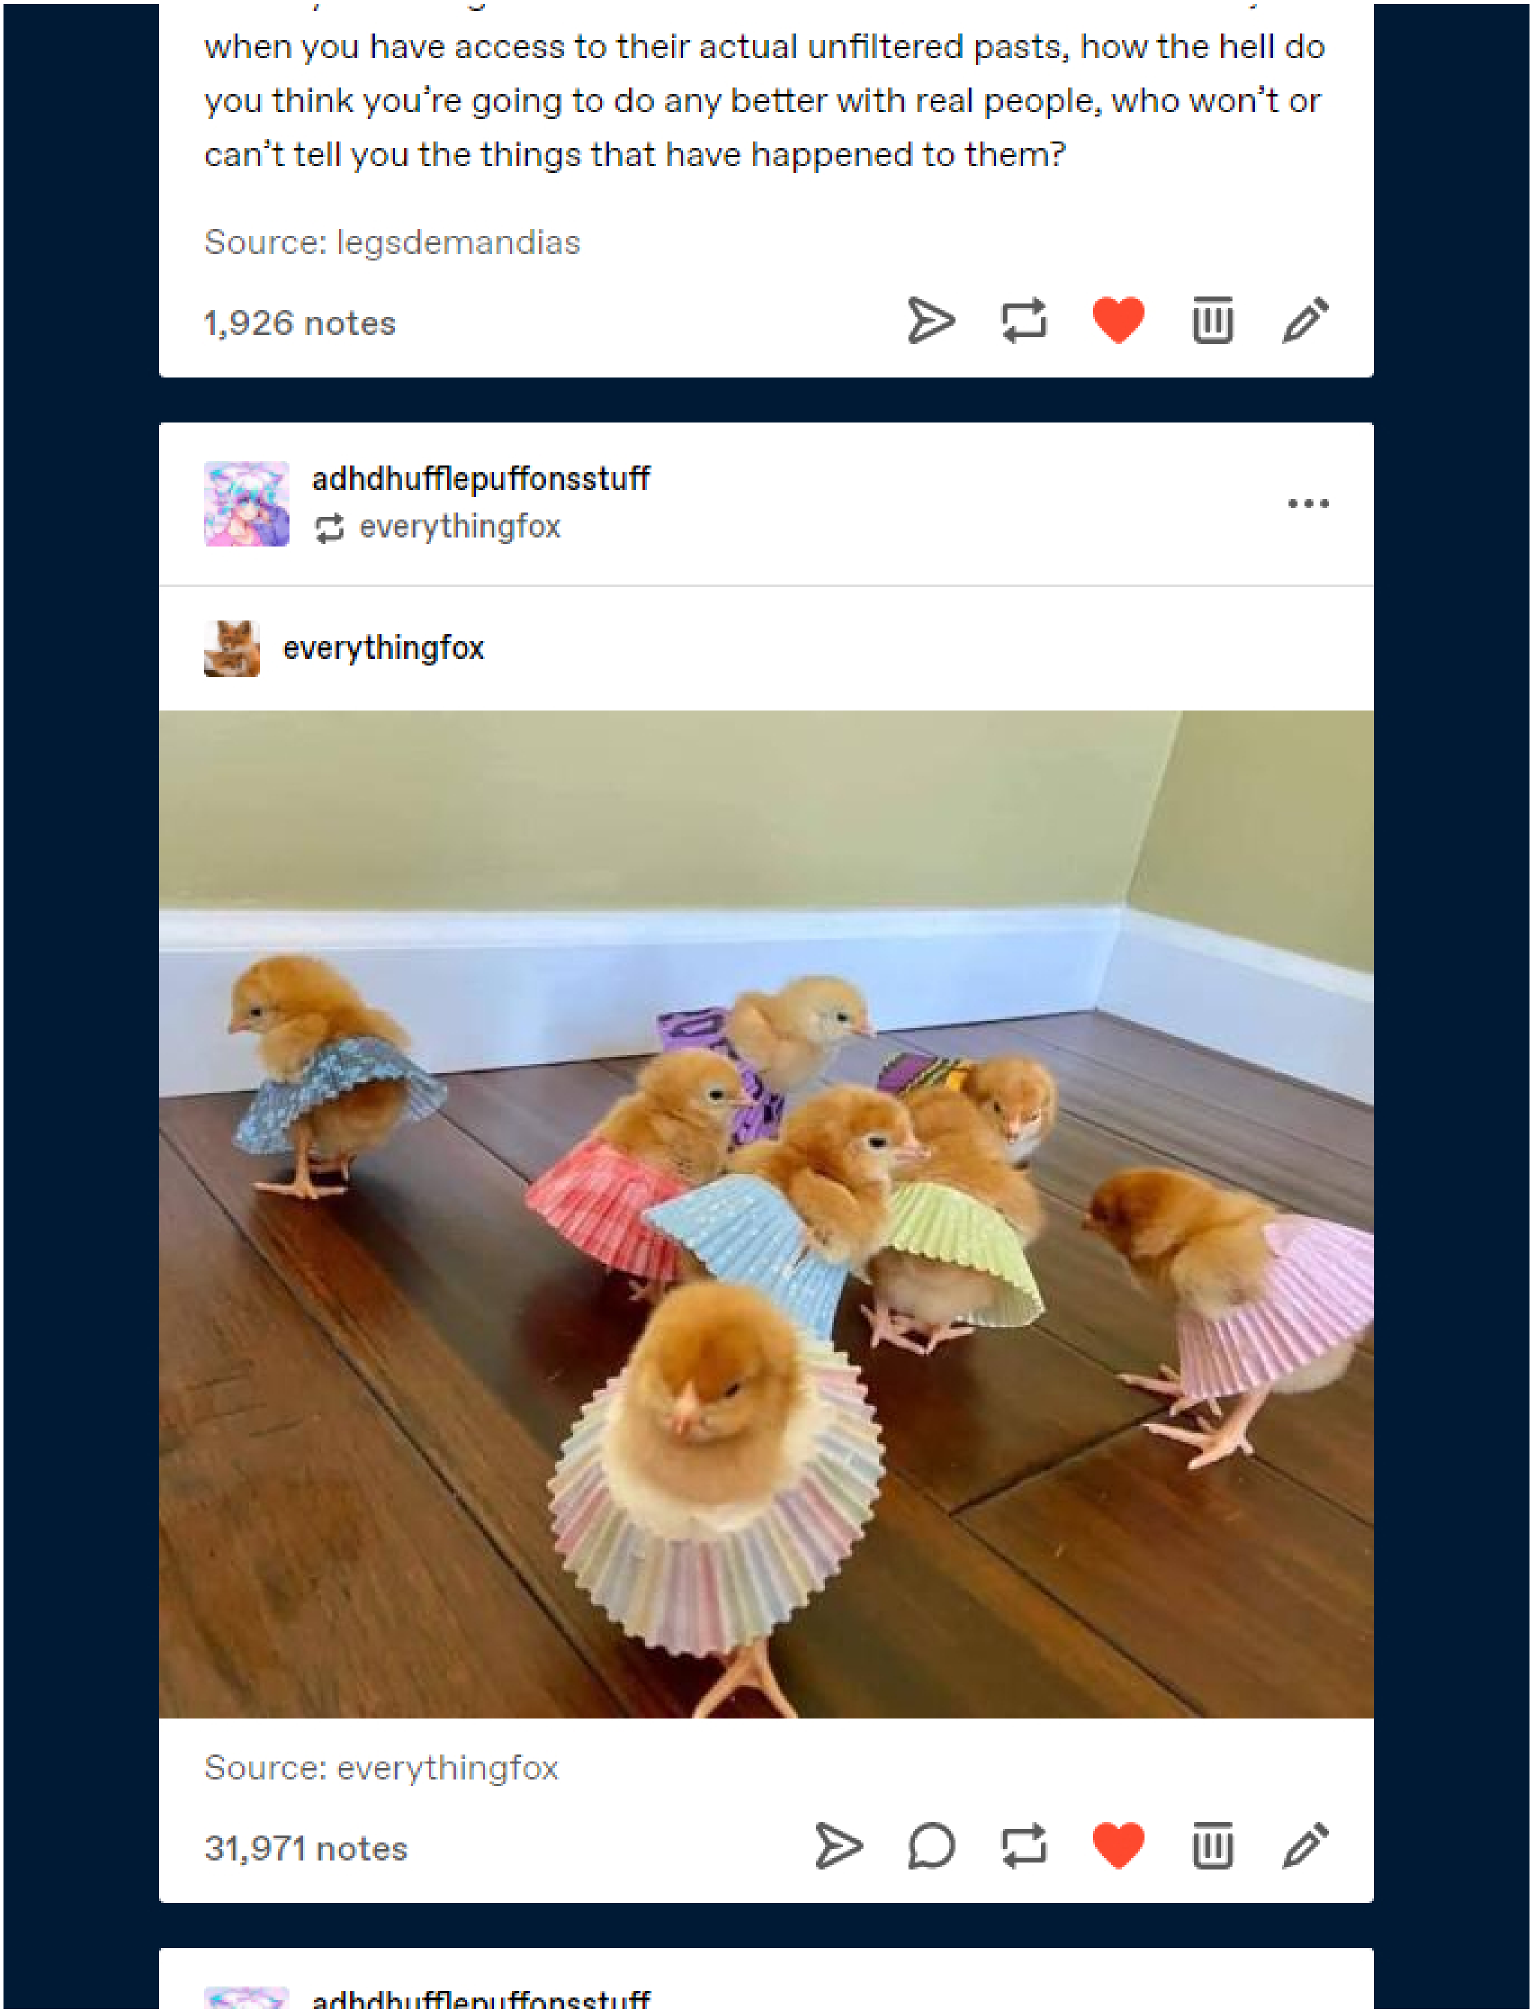
And I know not all bad people have bad childhoods, but that's the thing that really gets me–but even adults who experienced fucked up circumstances deserve a little head shaking and condemnation to the things that hurt them because, and I know this'll blow your nose off, but no one deserves to be abused or assaulted or manipulated.

Long story short, sorry to be the barer of bad news, but it's y'all that are in the wrong, y'all are the scary people, not the people compassionate for ~bad people~ with sad pasts.

as-thou-will Follow

Only having compassion for pure, wholesome characters isn't compassion at all; it's just another fucked up piece of purity culture, where the bad shit that happens to you is all your own fault for being a bad person and maybe if you were just a better person you wouldn't be suffering like that.

And if you can't give fictional characters the benefit of the doubt.



when you have access to their actual unfiltered pasts, how the hell do you think you're going to do any better with real people, who won't or can't tell you the things that have happened to them?

Source: legsdemandias

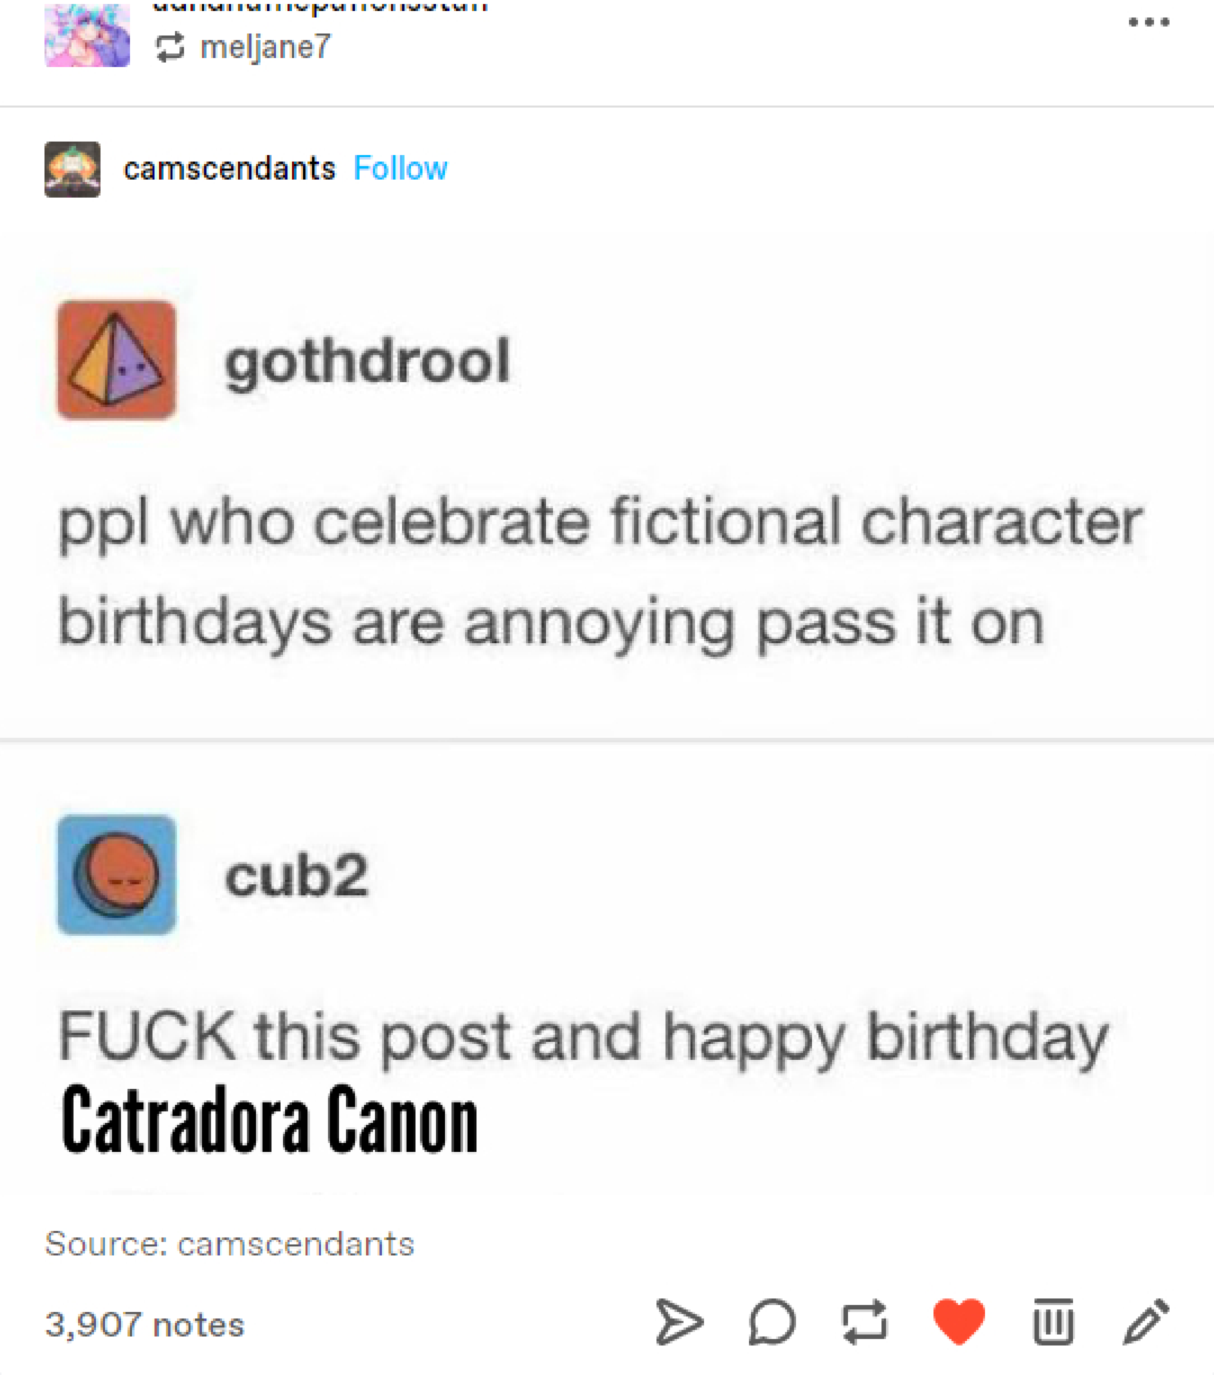
1,926 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
everythingfox

everythingfox

Source: everythingfox

31,971 notes



meljane7

camscendants Follow

gothdrool

ppl who celebrate fictional character birthdays are annoying pass it on cub2

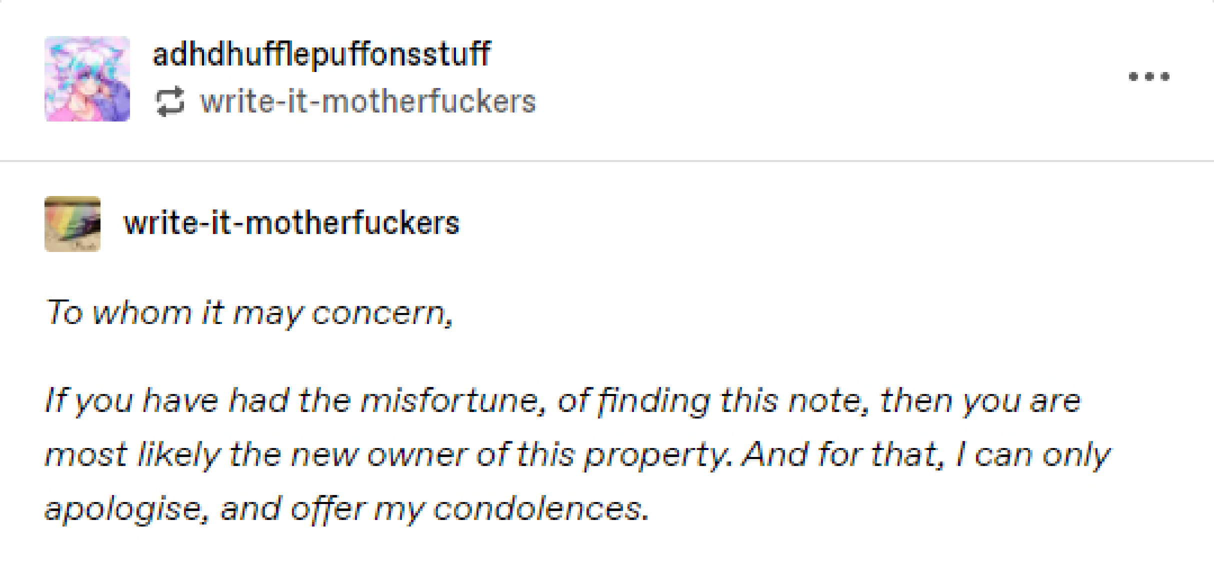
FUCK this post and happy birthday

Catradora Canon

Source: camscendants

3,907 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

write-it-motherfuckers

write-it-motherfuckers

To whom it may concern,

If you have had the misfortune, of finding this note, then you are most likely the new owner of this property. And for that, I can only apologise, and offer my condolences.

I have done everything within my power, to ensure that this property never gains a new owner, but as the years go by, and my body and mind begin to fail me, I fear that all of my preparations, might have been in vain, as one can never hope to fully prepare for every eventuality.

As such, all I can do now, is offer what little advice, I have managed to gather over the years, in the hopes that whichever poor soul, is reading this, will be able to avoid the fate that myself, and all those before me, were doomed to.

1 - Never extinguish, or move, the lantern in the attic.

2 - If the lantern moves by itself, do not try and put it back in its usual place. It will return there in due time.

3 - Never use the back door. It does not lead to where you think it does, and it is locked for a reason.

4 - If said reason, starts knocking, or scratching, at that door, do not respond, but be sure to cook a little extra that night, and try to pretend you do not notice, when there is nothing left behind, come the morn.

5 - Never remove flowers from the garden, without having something on hand, to give back in return.

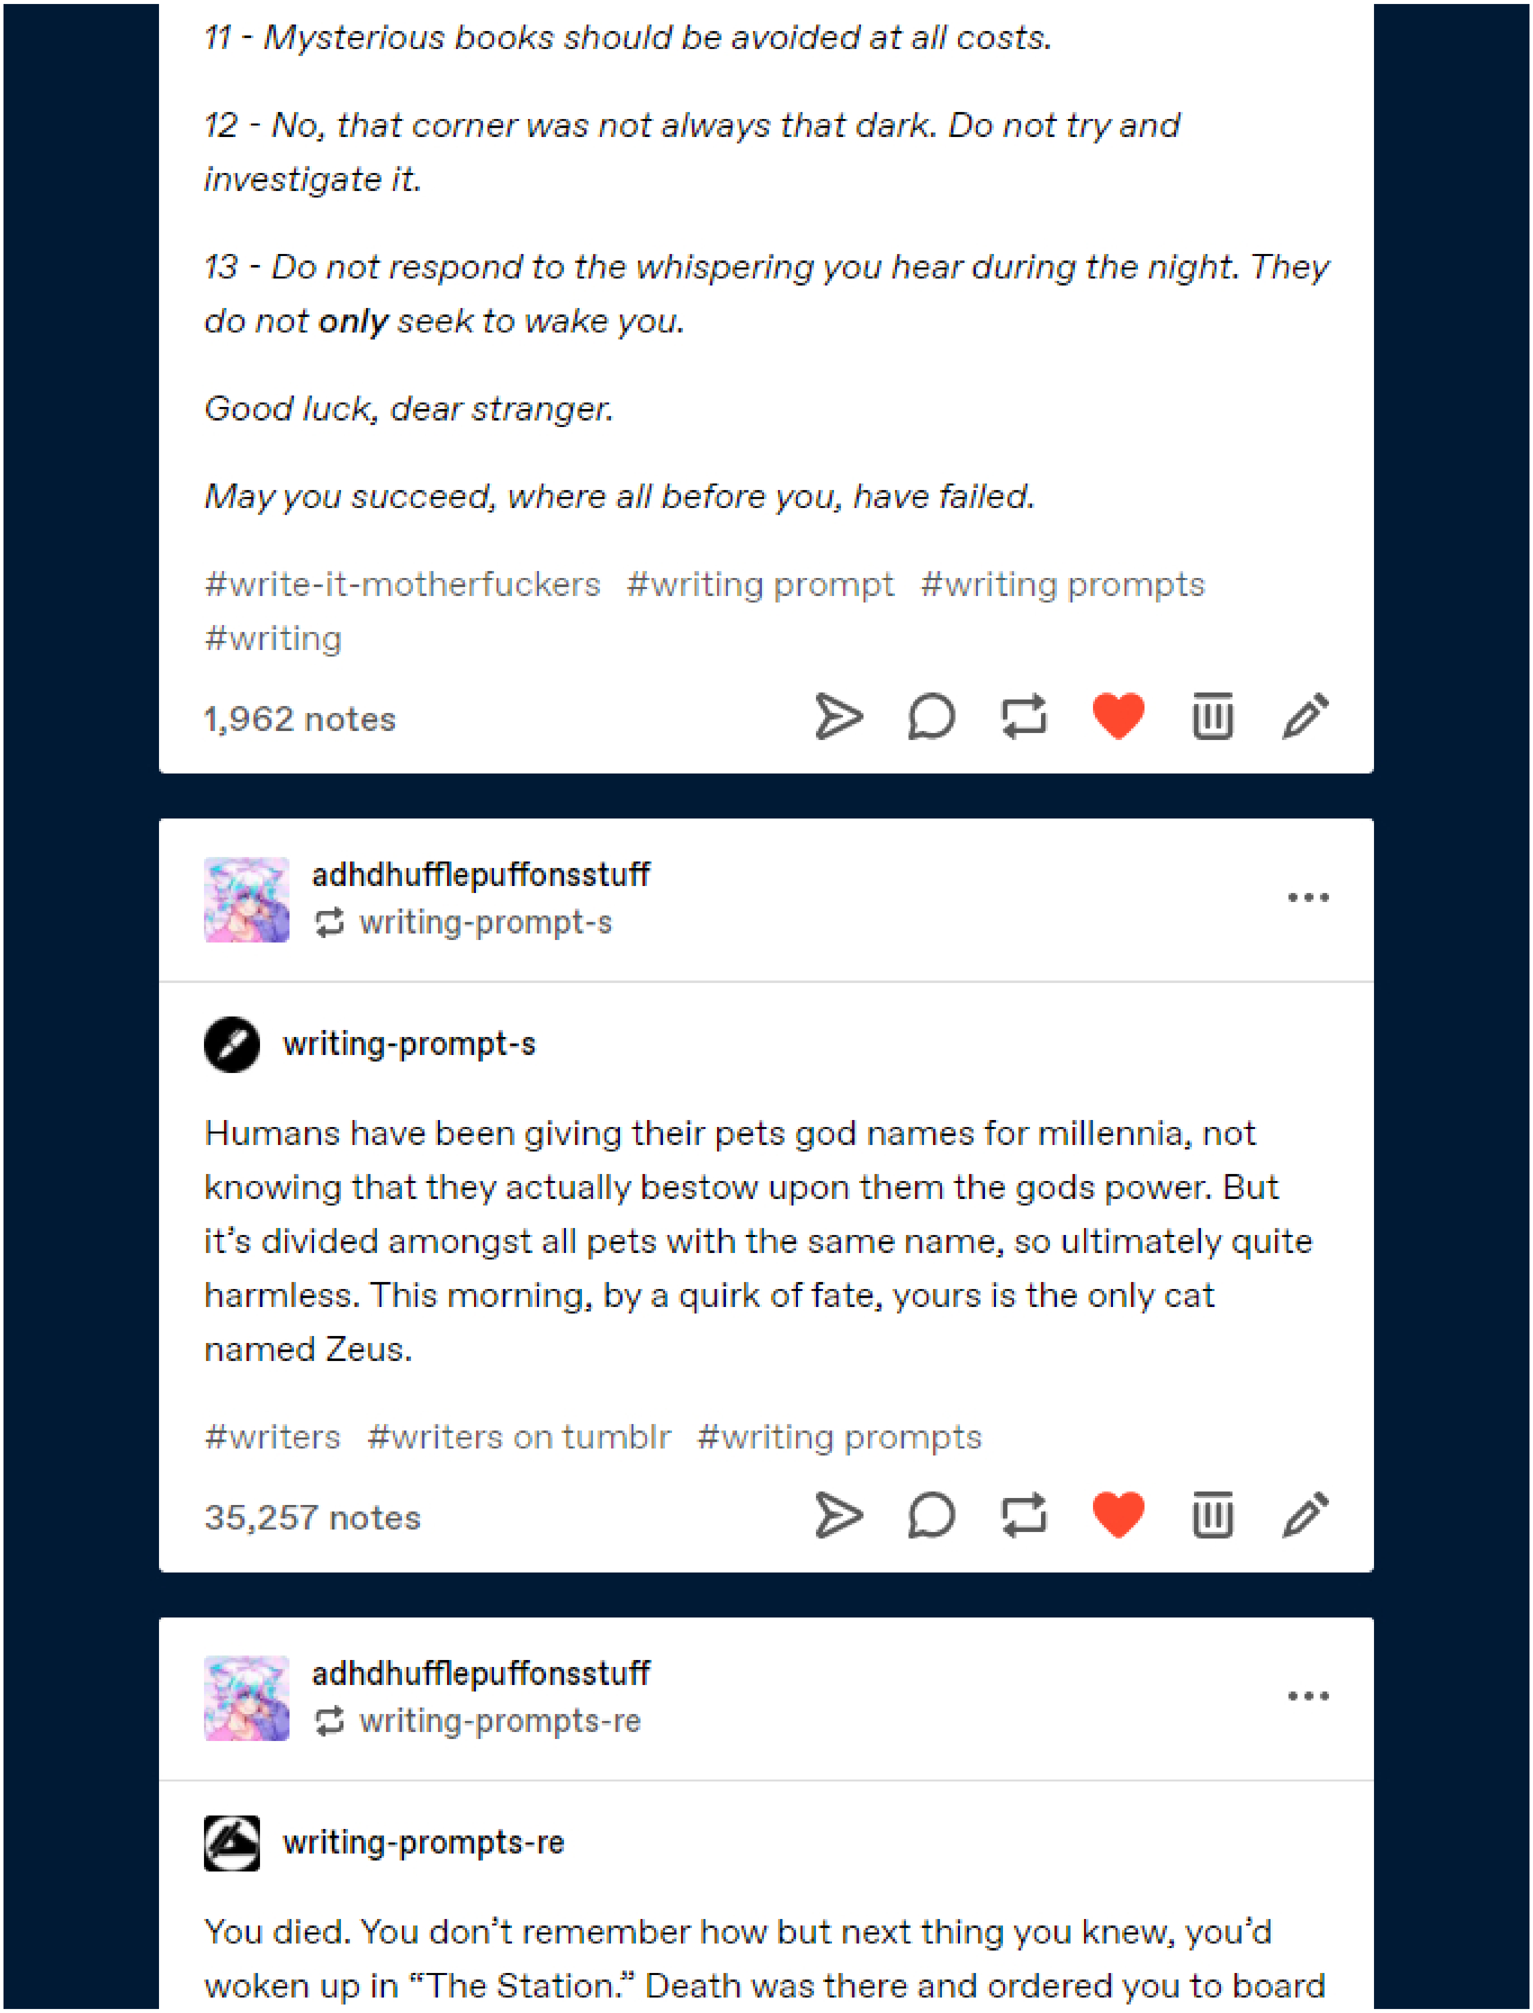
6 - Do not light the fireplace on the north wall. There is something living there, and the flames will be seen as an invitation.

7 - Those are not people, by the lake, and they do not like it when you stare.

8 - Do not touch the apple tree. You cannot afford what they cost.

9 - The fourth step, will squeak if you step on it during the day. Pay no attention to how it growls, when you do so at night.

10 - Never leave a mirror uncovered, when you leave a room. These too, will be taken as an invitation, and not all guests, are as polite as the chimney beast.



11 - Mysterious books should be avoided at all costs.

12 - No, that corner was not always that dark. Do not try and investigate it.

13 - Do not respond to the whispering you hear during the night. They do not only seek to wake you.

Good luck, dear stranger.

May you succeed, where all before you, have failed.

#write-it-motherfuckers #writing prompt #writing prompts #writing

1,962 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
writing-prompt-s

writing-prompt-s

Humans have been giving their pets god names for millennia, not knowing that they actually bestow upon them the gods power. But it's divided amongst all pets with the same name, so ultimately quite harmless. This morning, by a quirk of fate, yours is the only cat named Zeus.

#writers #writers on tumblr #writing prompts

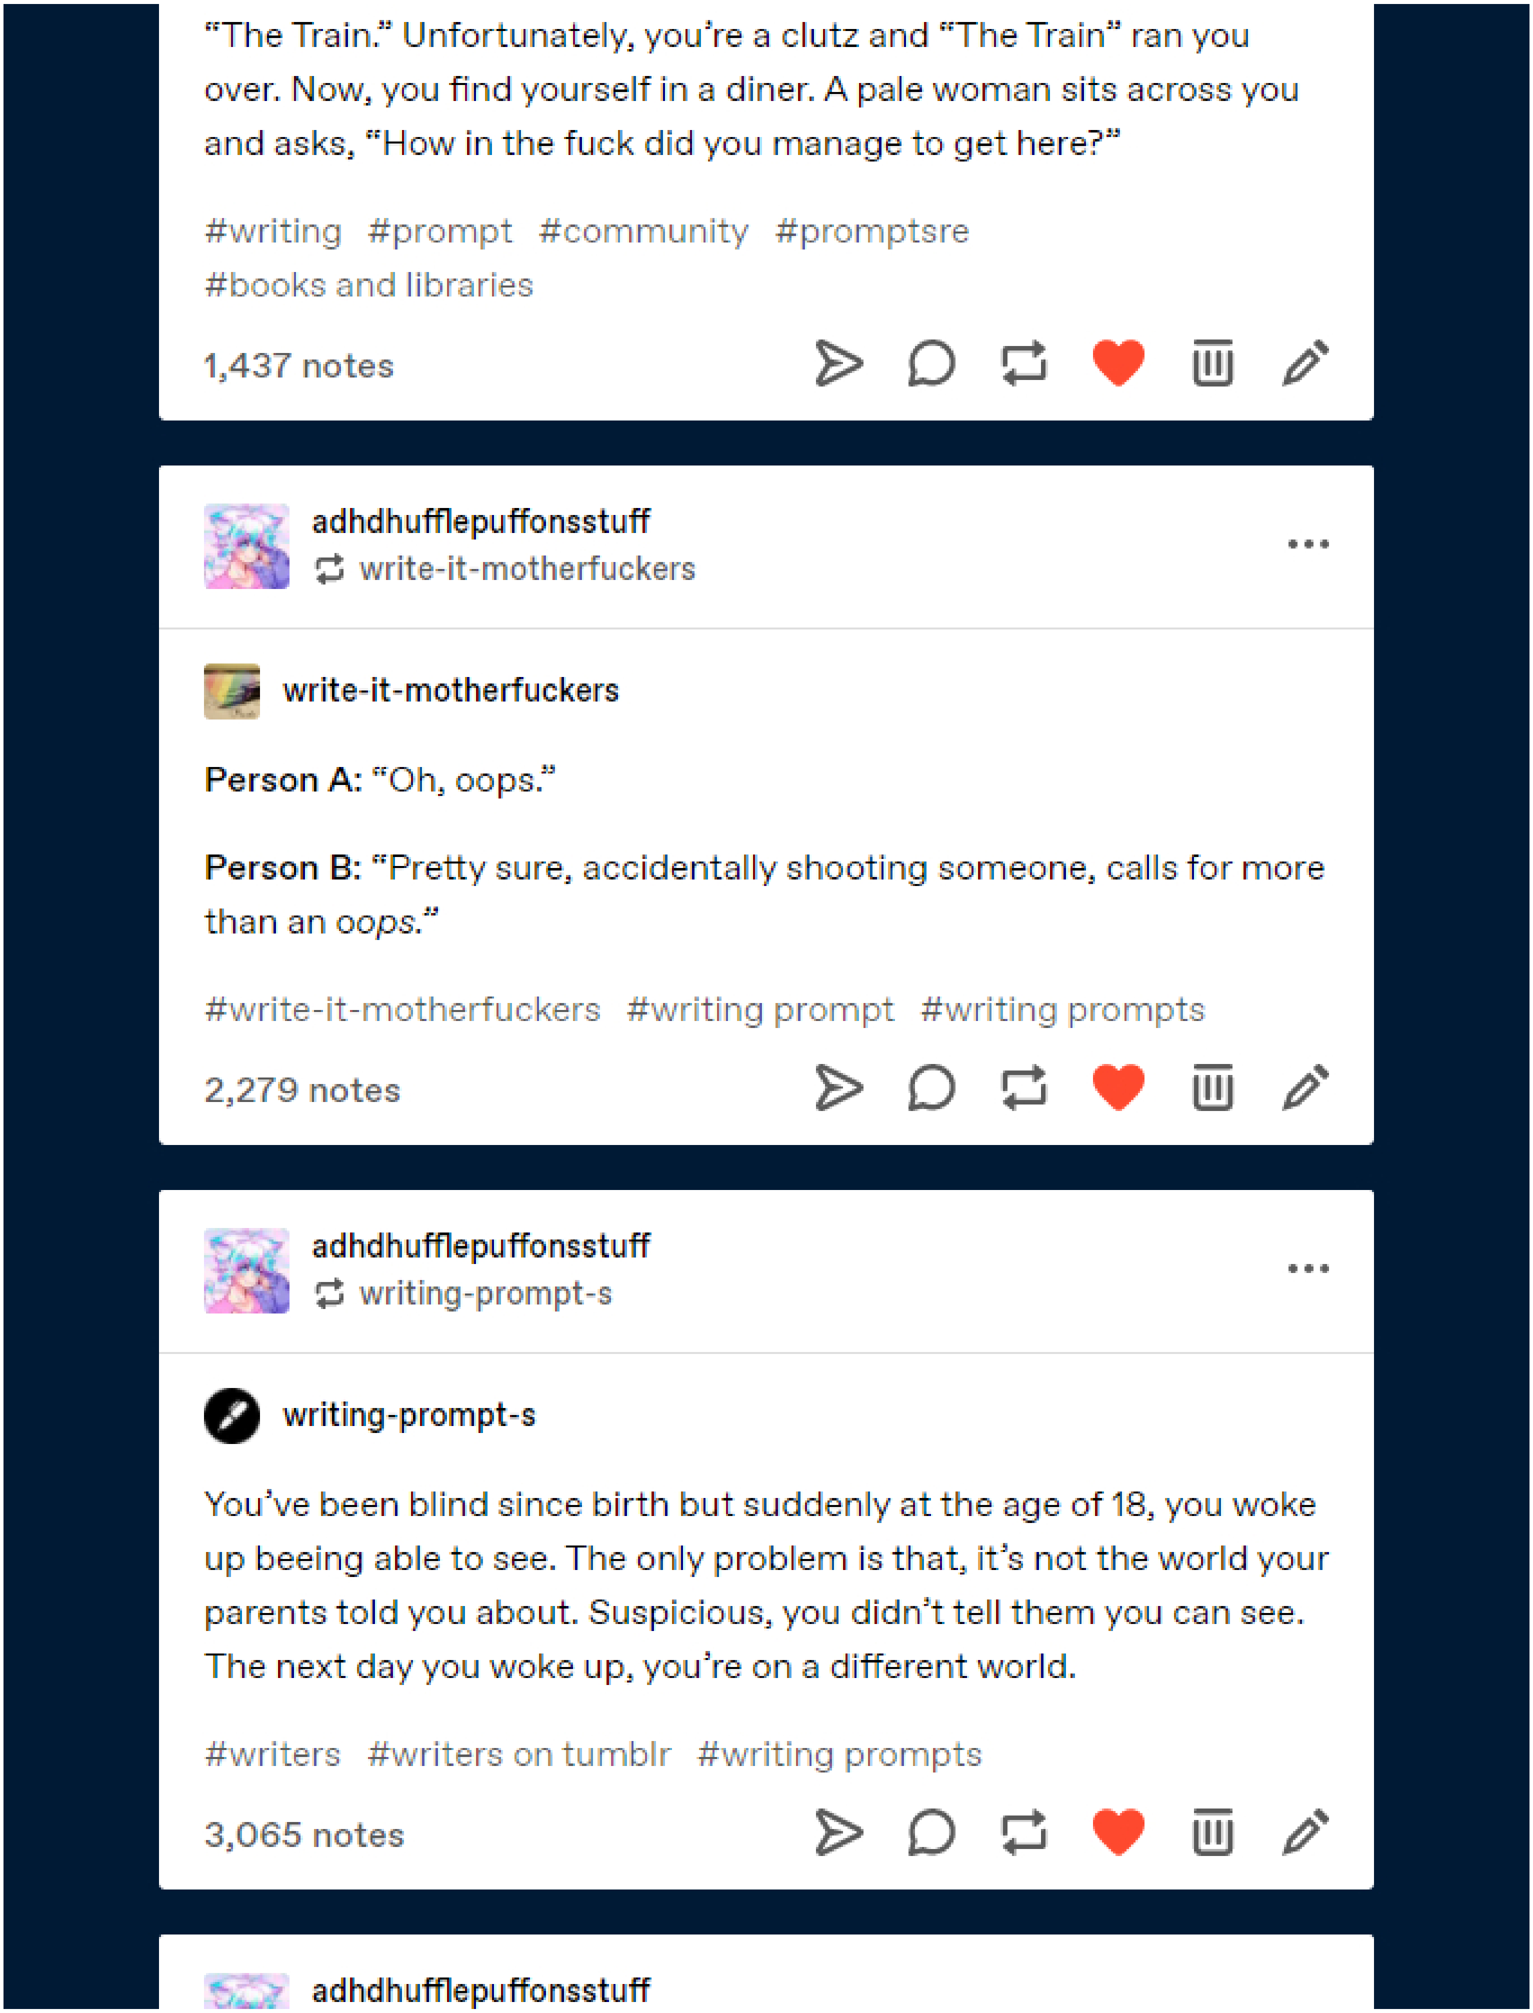
35,257 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
writing-prompts-re

writing-prompts-re

You died. You don't remember how but next thing you knew, you'd woken up in "The Station." Death was there and ordered you to board



"The Train." Unfortunately, you're a clutz and "The Train" ran you over. Now, you find yourself in a diner. A pale woman sits across you and asks, "How in the fuck did you manage to get here?"

#writing #prompt #community #promptsre #books and libraries

1,437 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
write-it-motherfuckers

write-it-motherfuckers

Person A: "Oh, oops."

Person B: "Pretty sure, accidentally shooting someone, calls for more than an oops."

#write-it-motherfuckers #writing prompt #writing prompts

2,279 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
writing-prompt-s

writing-prompt-s

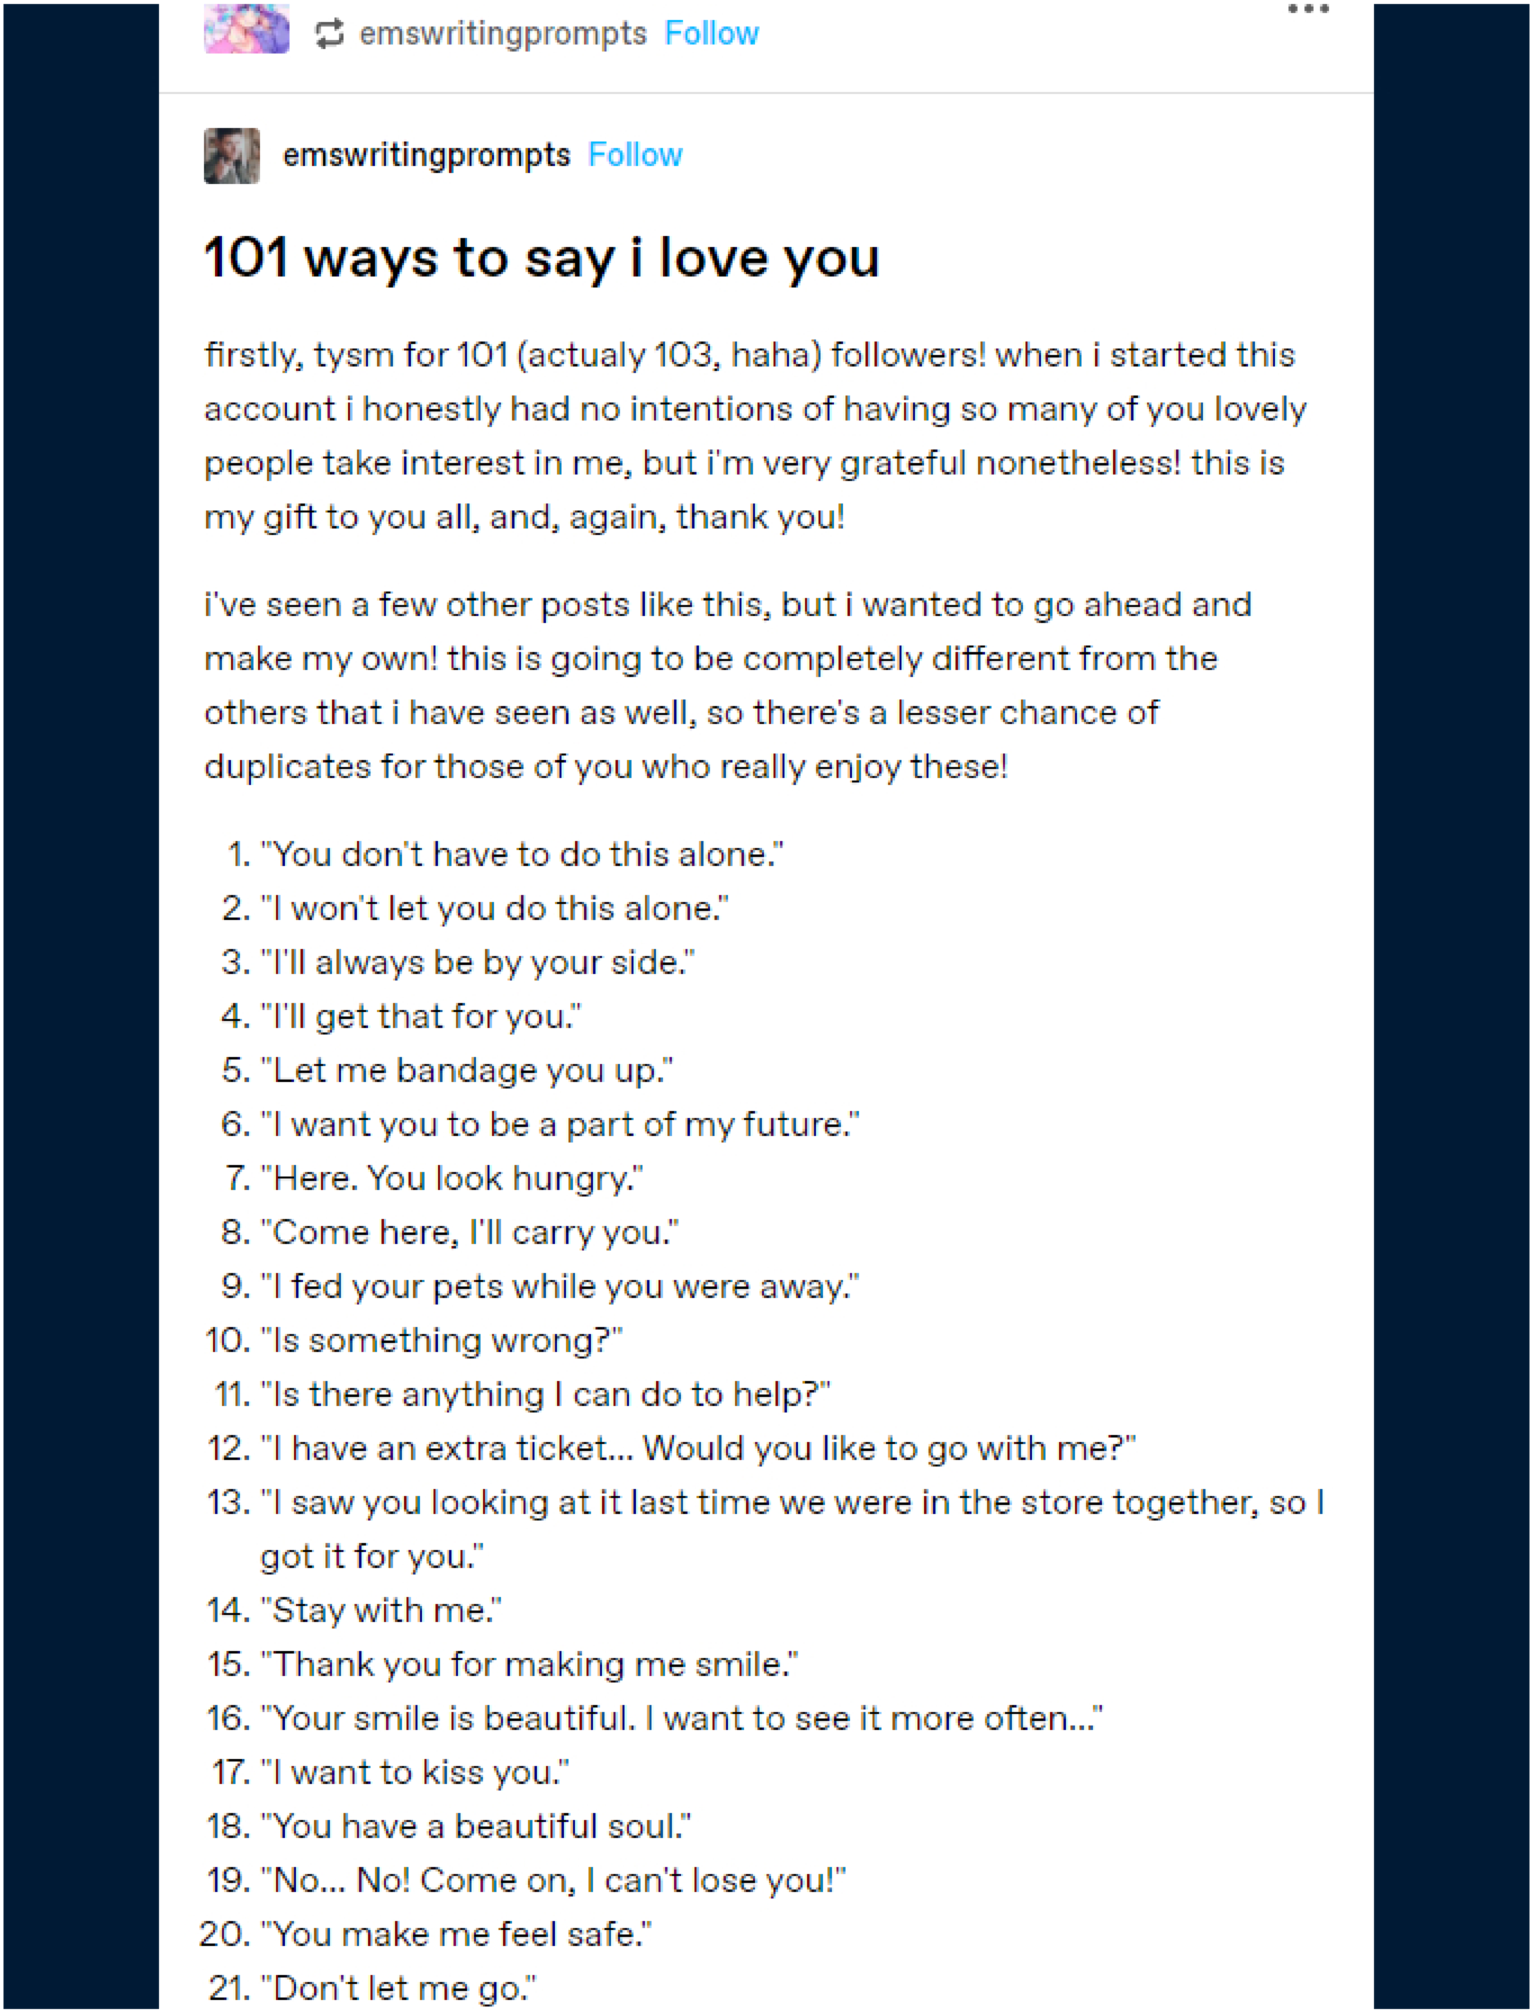
You've been blind since birth but suddenly at the age of 18, you woke up beeing able to see. The only problem is that, it's not the world your parents told you about. Suspicious, you didn't tell them you can see. The next day you woke up, you're on a different world.

#writers #writers on tumblr #writing prompts

3,065 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff



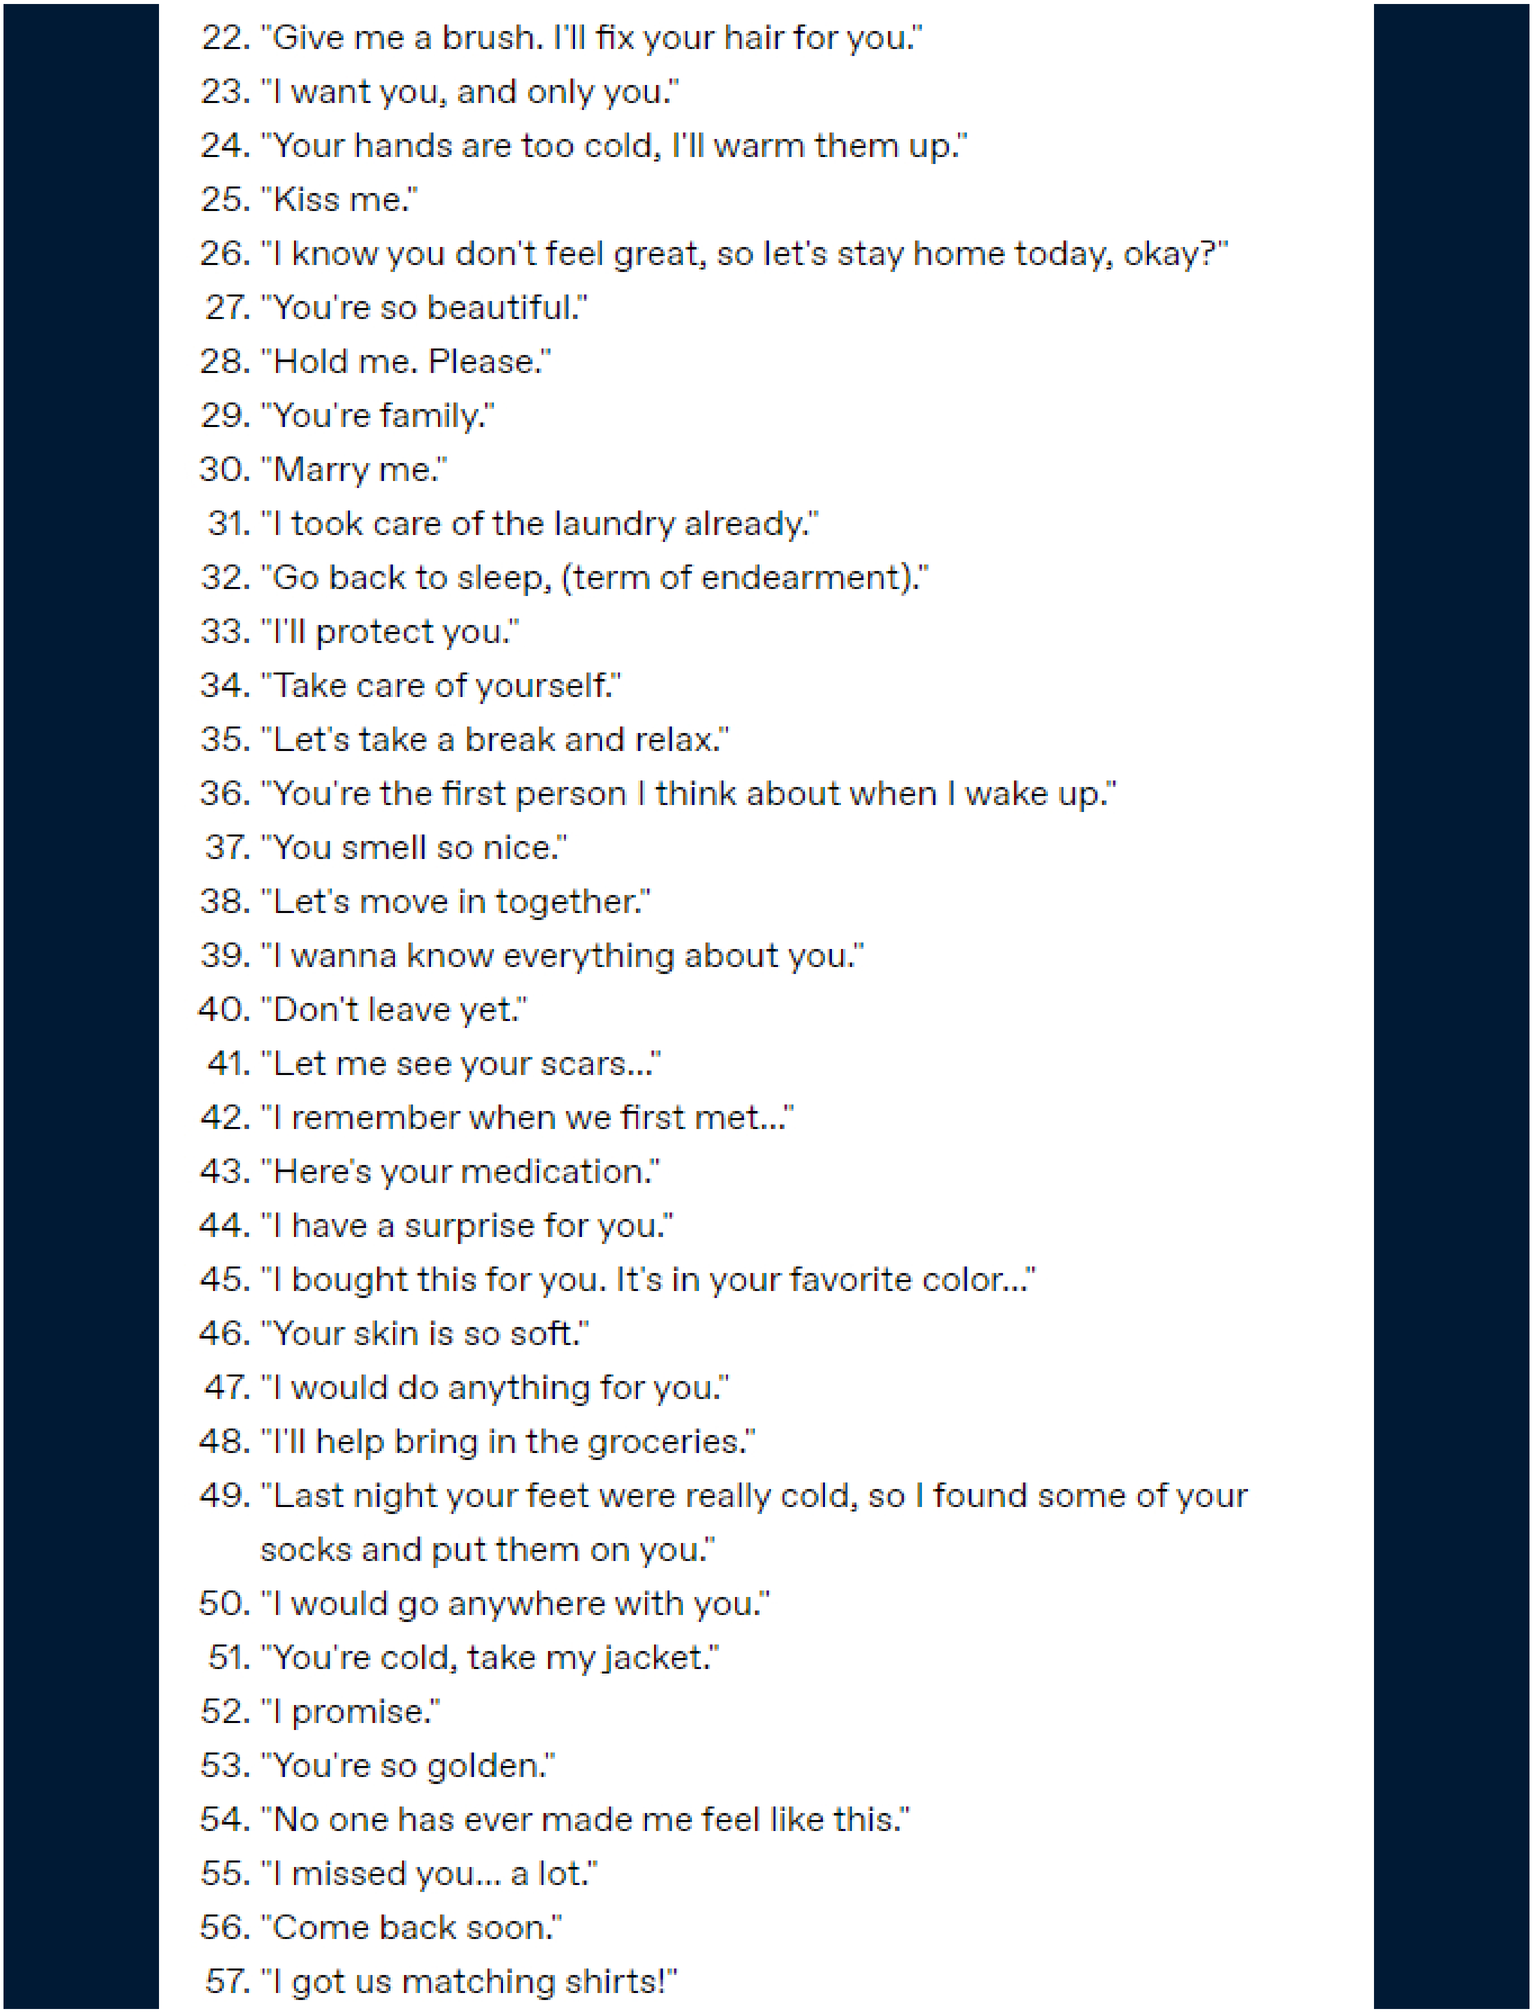
emswritingprompts Follow

101 ways to say i love you

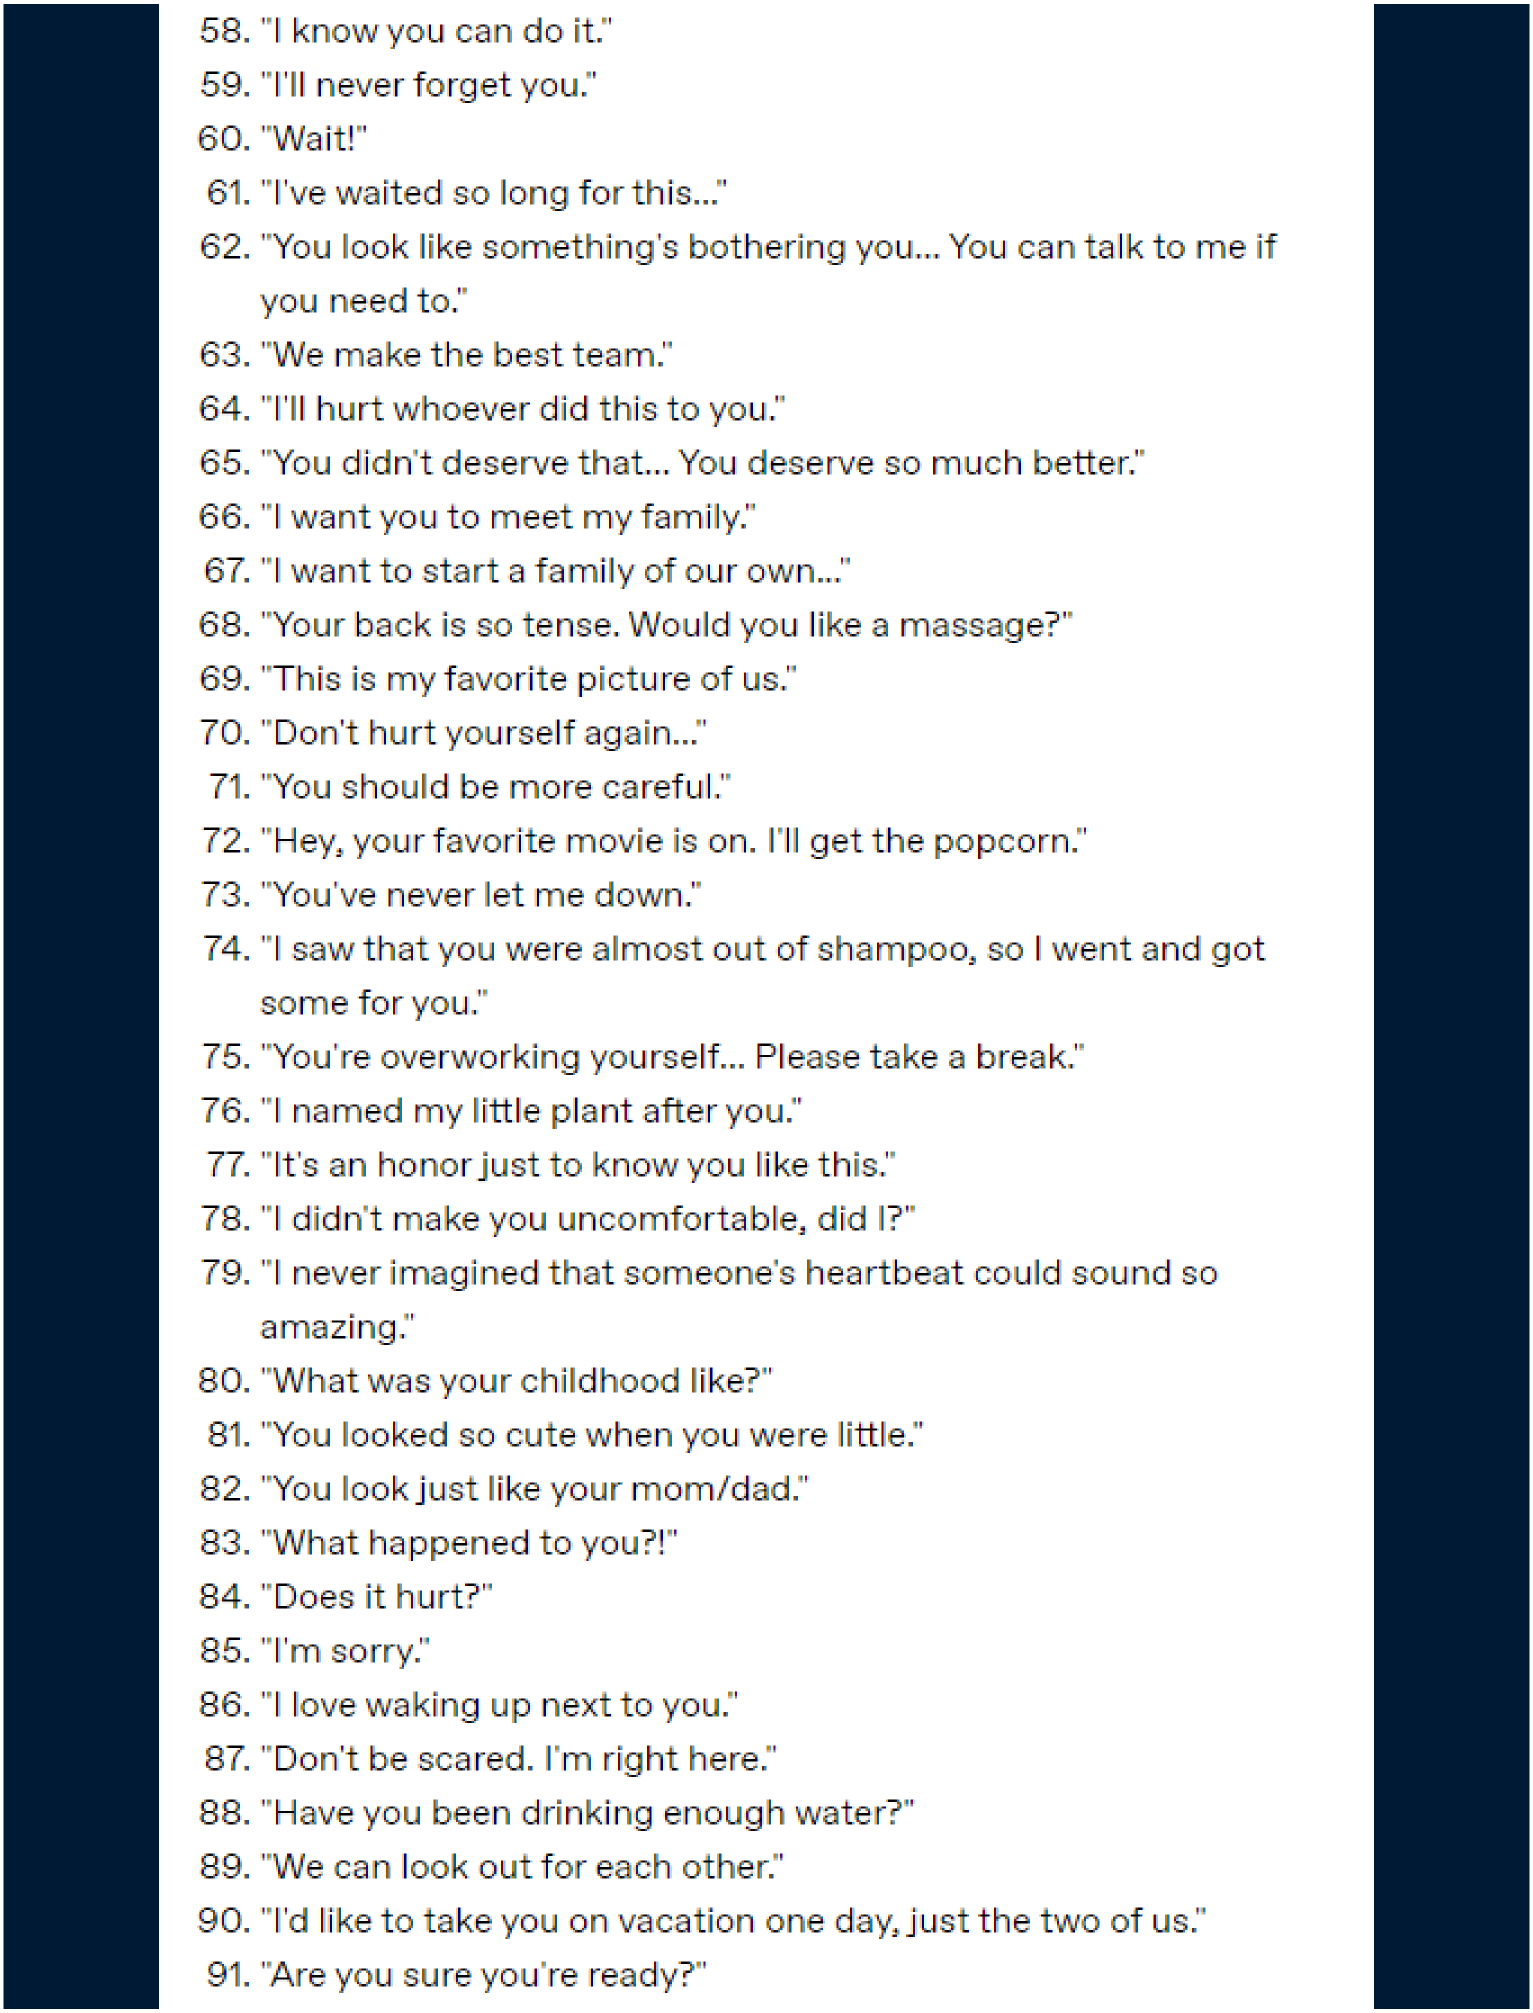
firstly, tysm for 101 (actualy 103, haha) followers! when i started this account i honestly had no intentions of having so many of you lovely people take interest in me, but i'm very grateful nonetheless! this is my gift to you all, and, again, thank you!

i've seen a few other posts like this, but i wanted to go ahead and make my own! this is going to be completely different from the others that i have seen as well, so there's a lesser chance of duplicates for those of you who really enjoy these!

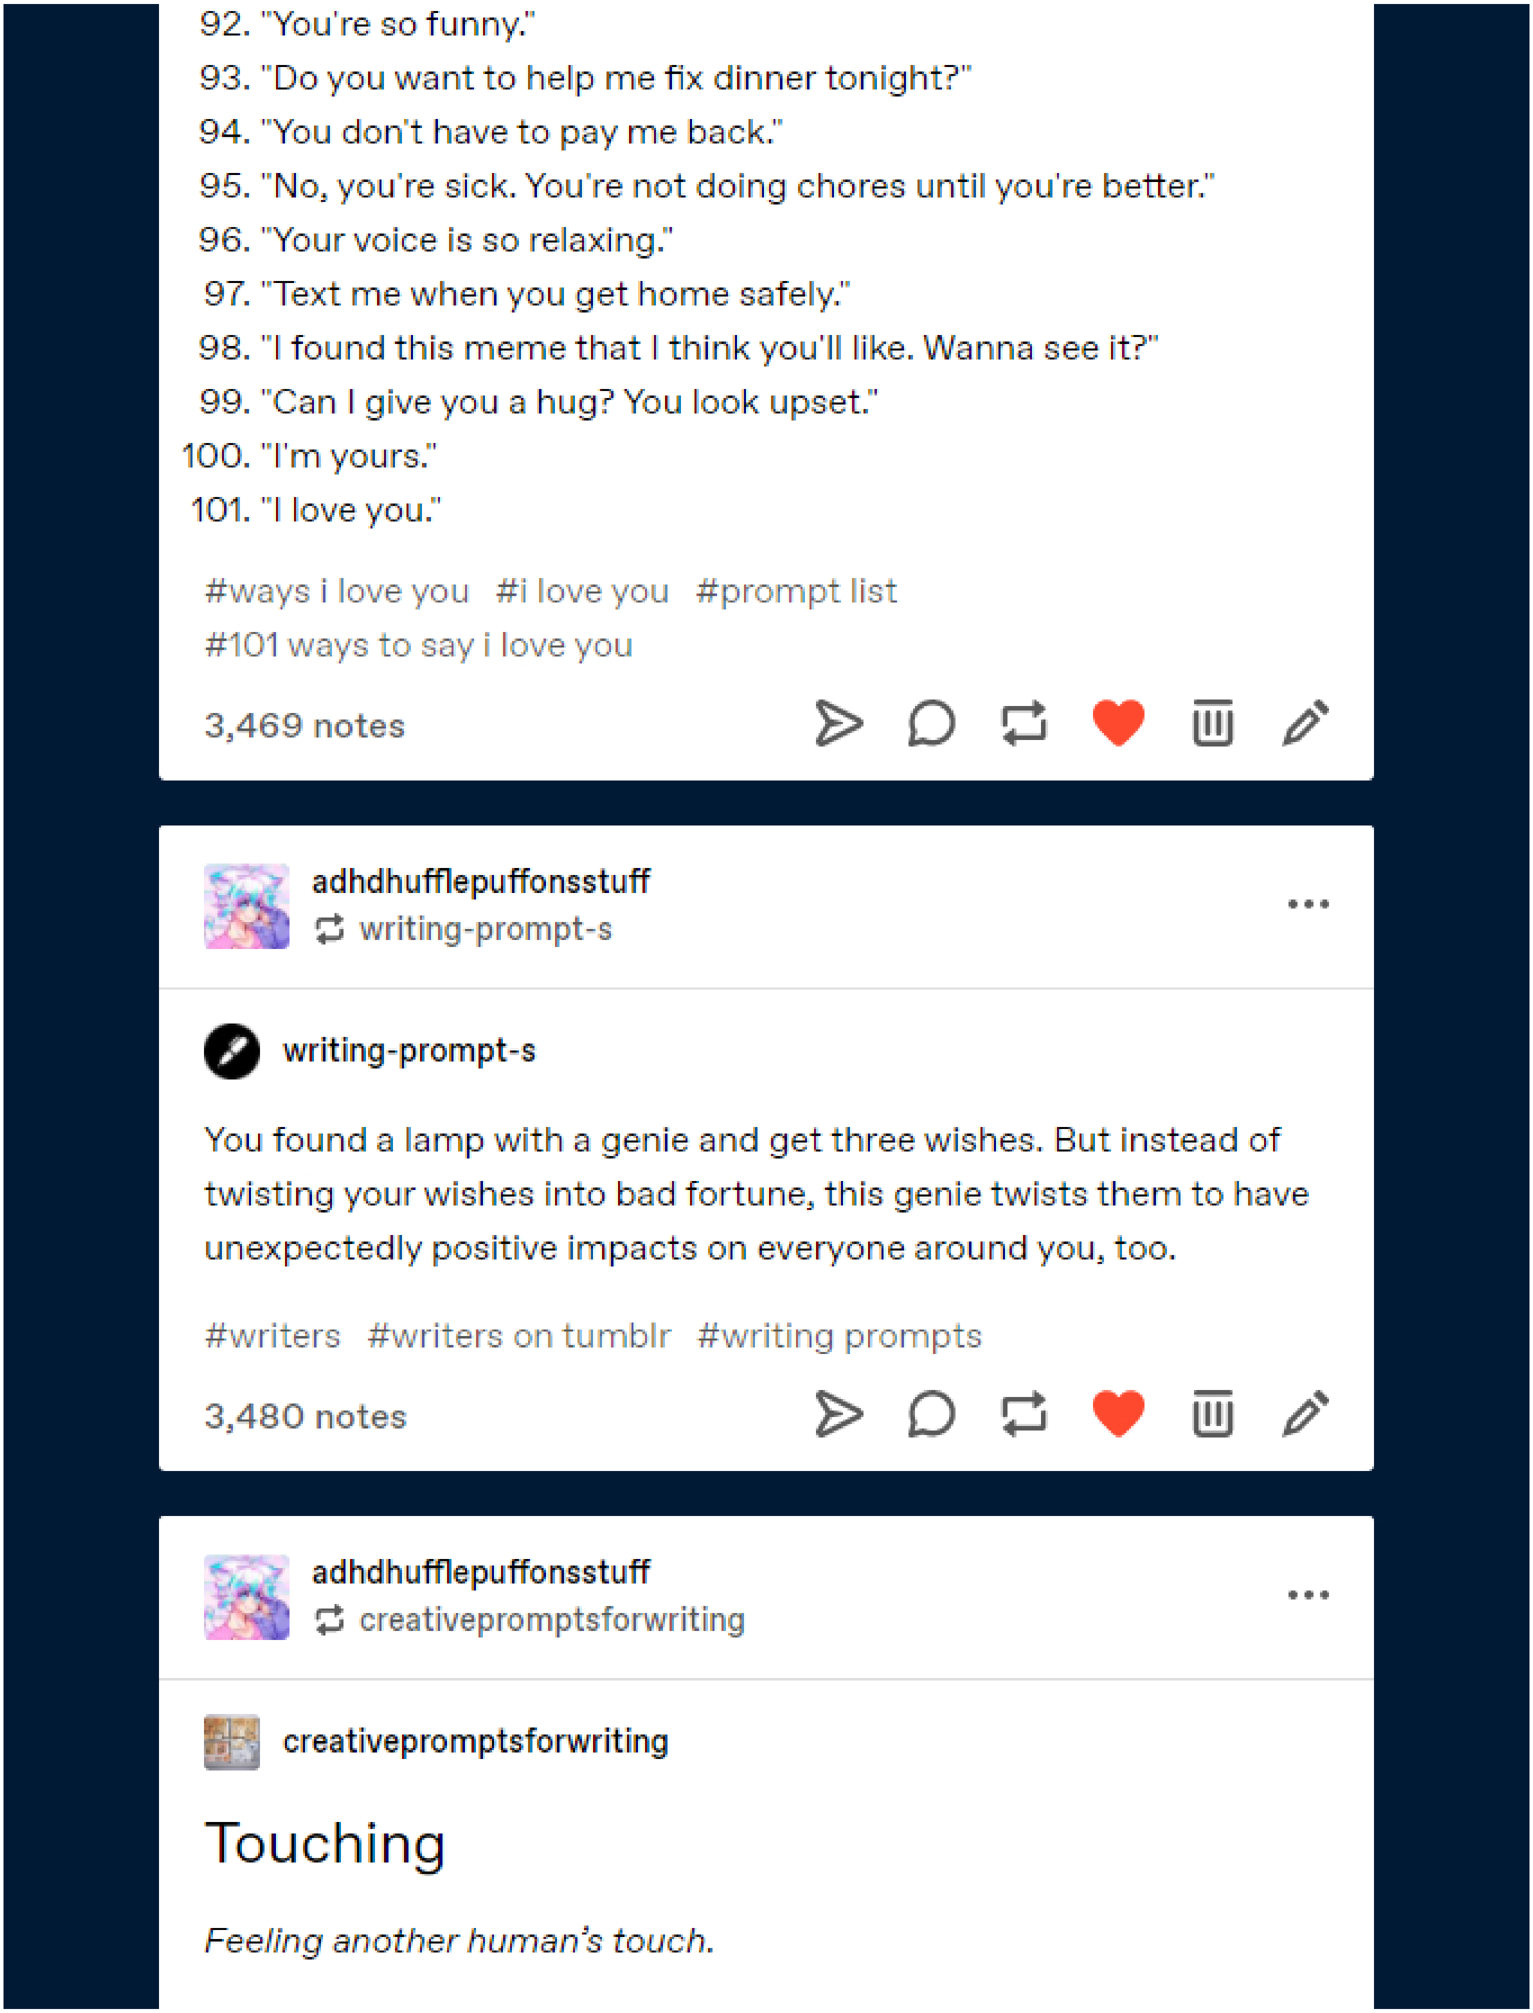
1. "You don't have to do this alone."
2. "I won't let you do this alone."
3. "I'll always be by your side."
4. "I'll get that for you."
5. "Let me bandage you up."
6. "I want you to be a part of my future."
7. "Here. You look hungry."
8. "Come here, I'll carry you."
9. "I fed your pets while you were away."
10. "Is something wrong?"
11. "Is there anything I can do to help?"
12. "I have an extra ticket... Would you like to go with me?"
13. "I saw you looking at it last time we were in the store together, so I got it for you."
14. "Stay with me."
15. "Thank you for making me smile."
16. "Your smile is beautiful. I want to see it more often..."
17. "I want to kiss you."
18. "You have a beautiful soul."
19. "No... No! Come on, I can't lose you!"
20. "You make me feel safe."
21. "Don't let me go."



22. "Give me a brush. I'll fix your hair for you."
23. "I want you, and only you."
24. "Your hands are too cold, I'll warm them up."
25. "Kiss me."
26. "I know you don't feel great, so let's stay home today, okay?"
27. "You're so beautiful."
28. "Hold me. Please."
29. "You're family."
30. "Marry me."
31. "I took care of the laundry already."
32. "Go back to sleep, (term of endearment)."
33. "I'll protect you."
34. "Take care of yourself."
35. "Let's take a break and relax."
36. "You're the first person I think about when I wake up."
37. "You smell so nice."
38. "Let's move in together."
39. "I wanna know everything about you."
40. "Don't leave yet."
41. "Let me see your scars..."
42. "I remember when we first met..."
43. "Here's your medication."
44. "I have a surprise for you."
45. "I bought this for you. It's in your favorite color..."
46. "Your skin is so soft."
47. "I would do anything for you."
48. "I'll help bring in the groceries."
49. "Last night your feet were really cold, so I found some of your socks and put them on you."
50. "I would go anywhere with you."
51. "You're cold, take my jacket."
52. "I promise."
53. "You're so golden."
54. "No one has ever made me feel like this."
55. "I missed you... a lot."
56. "Come back soon."
57. "I got us matching shirts!"



58. "I know you can do it."
59. "I'll never forget you."
60. "Wait!"
61. "I've waited so long for this..."
62. "You look like something's bothering you... You can talk to me if you need to."
63. "We make the best team."
64. "I'll hurt whoever did this to you."
65. "You didn't deserve that... You deserve so much better."
66. "I want you to meet my family."
67. "I want to start a family of our own..."
68. "Your back is so tense. Would you like a massage?"
69. "This is my favorite picture of us."
70. "Don't hurt yourself again..."
71. "You should be more careful."
72. "Hey, your favorite movie is on. I'll get the popcorn."
73. "You've never let me down."
74. "I saw that you were almost out of shampoo, so I went and got some for you."
75. "You're overworking yourself... Please take a break."
76. "I named my little plant after you."
77. "It's an honor just to know you like this."
78. "I didn't make you uncomfortable, did I?"
79. "I never imagined that someone's heartbeat could sound so amazing."
80. "What was your childhood like?"
81. "You looked so cute when you were little."
82. "You look just like your mom/dad."
83. "What happened to you?!"
84. "Does it hurt?"
85. "I'm sorry."
86. "I love waking up next to you."
87. "Don't be scared. I'm right here."
88. "Have you been drinking enough water?"
89. "We can look out for each other."
90. "I'd like to take you on vacation one day, just the two of us."
91. "Are you sure you're ready?"



92. "You're so funny."
93. "Do you want to help me fix dinner tonight?"
94. "You don't have to pay me back."
95. "No, you're sick. You're not doing chores until you're better."
96. "Your voice is so relaxing."
97. "Text me when you get home safely."
98. "I found this meme that I think you'll like. Wanna see it?"
99. "Can I give you a hug? You look upset."
100. "I'm yours."
101. "I love you."

#ways i love you #i love you #prompt list #101 ways to say i love you

3,469 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
writing-prompt-s

writing-prompt-s

You found a lamp with a genie and get three wishes. But instead of twisting your wishes into bad fortune, this genie twists them to have unexpectedly positive impacts on everyone around you, too.

#writers #writers on tumblr #writing prompts

3,480 notes

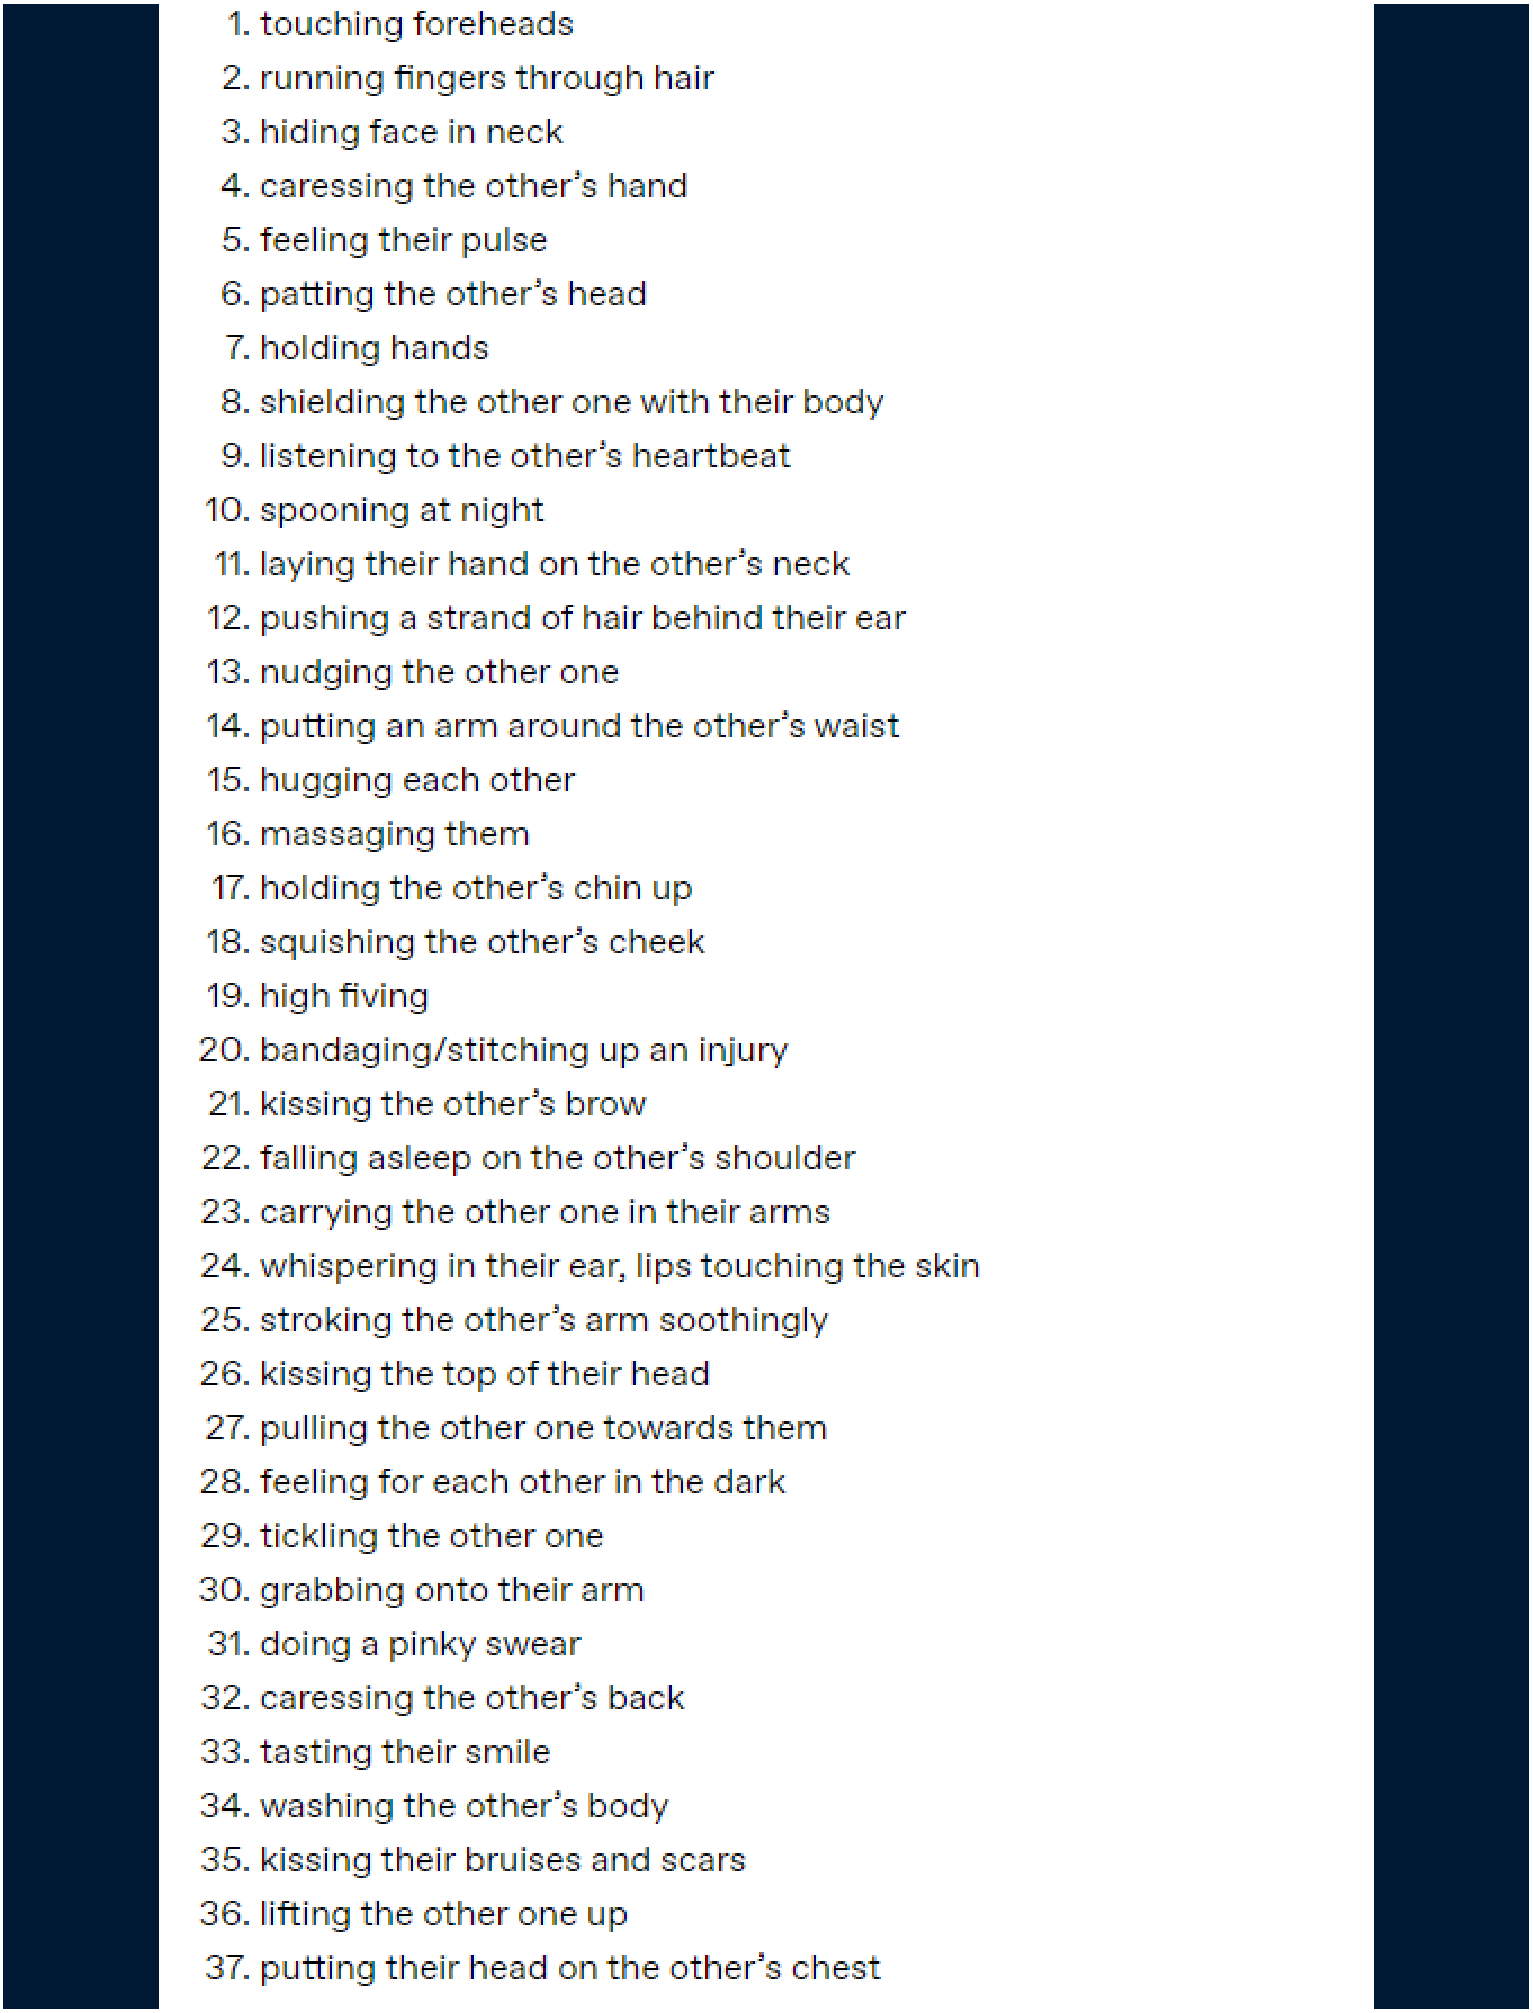
---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
creativepromptsforwriting

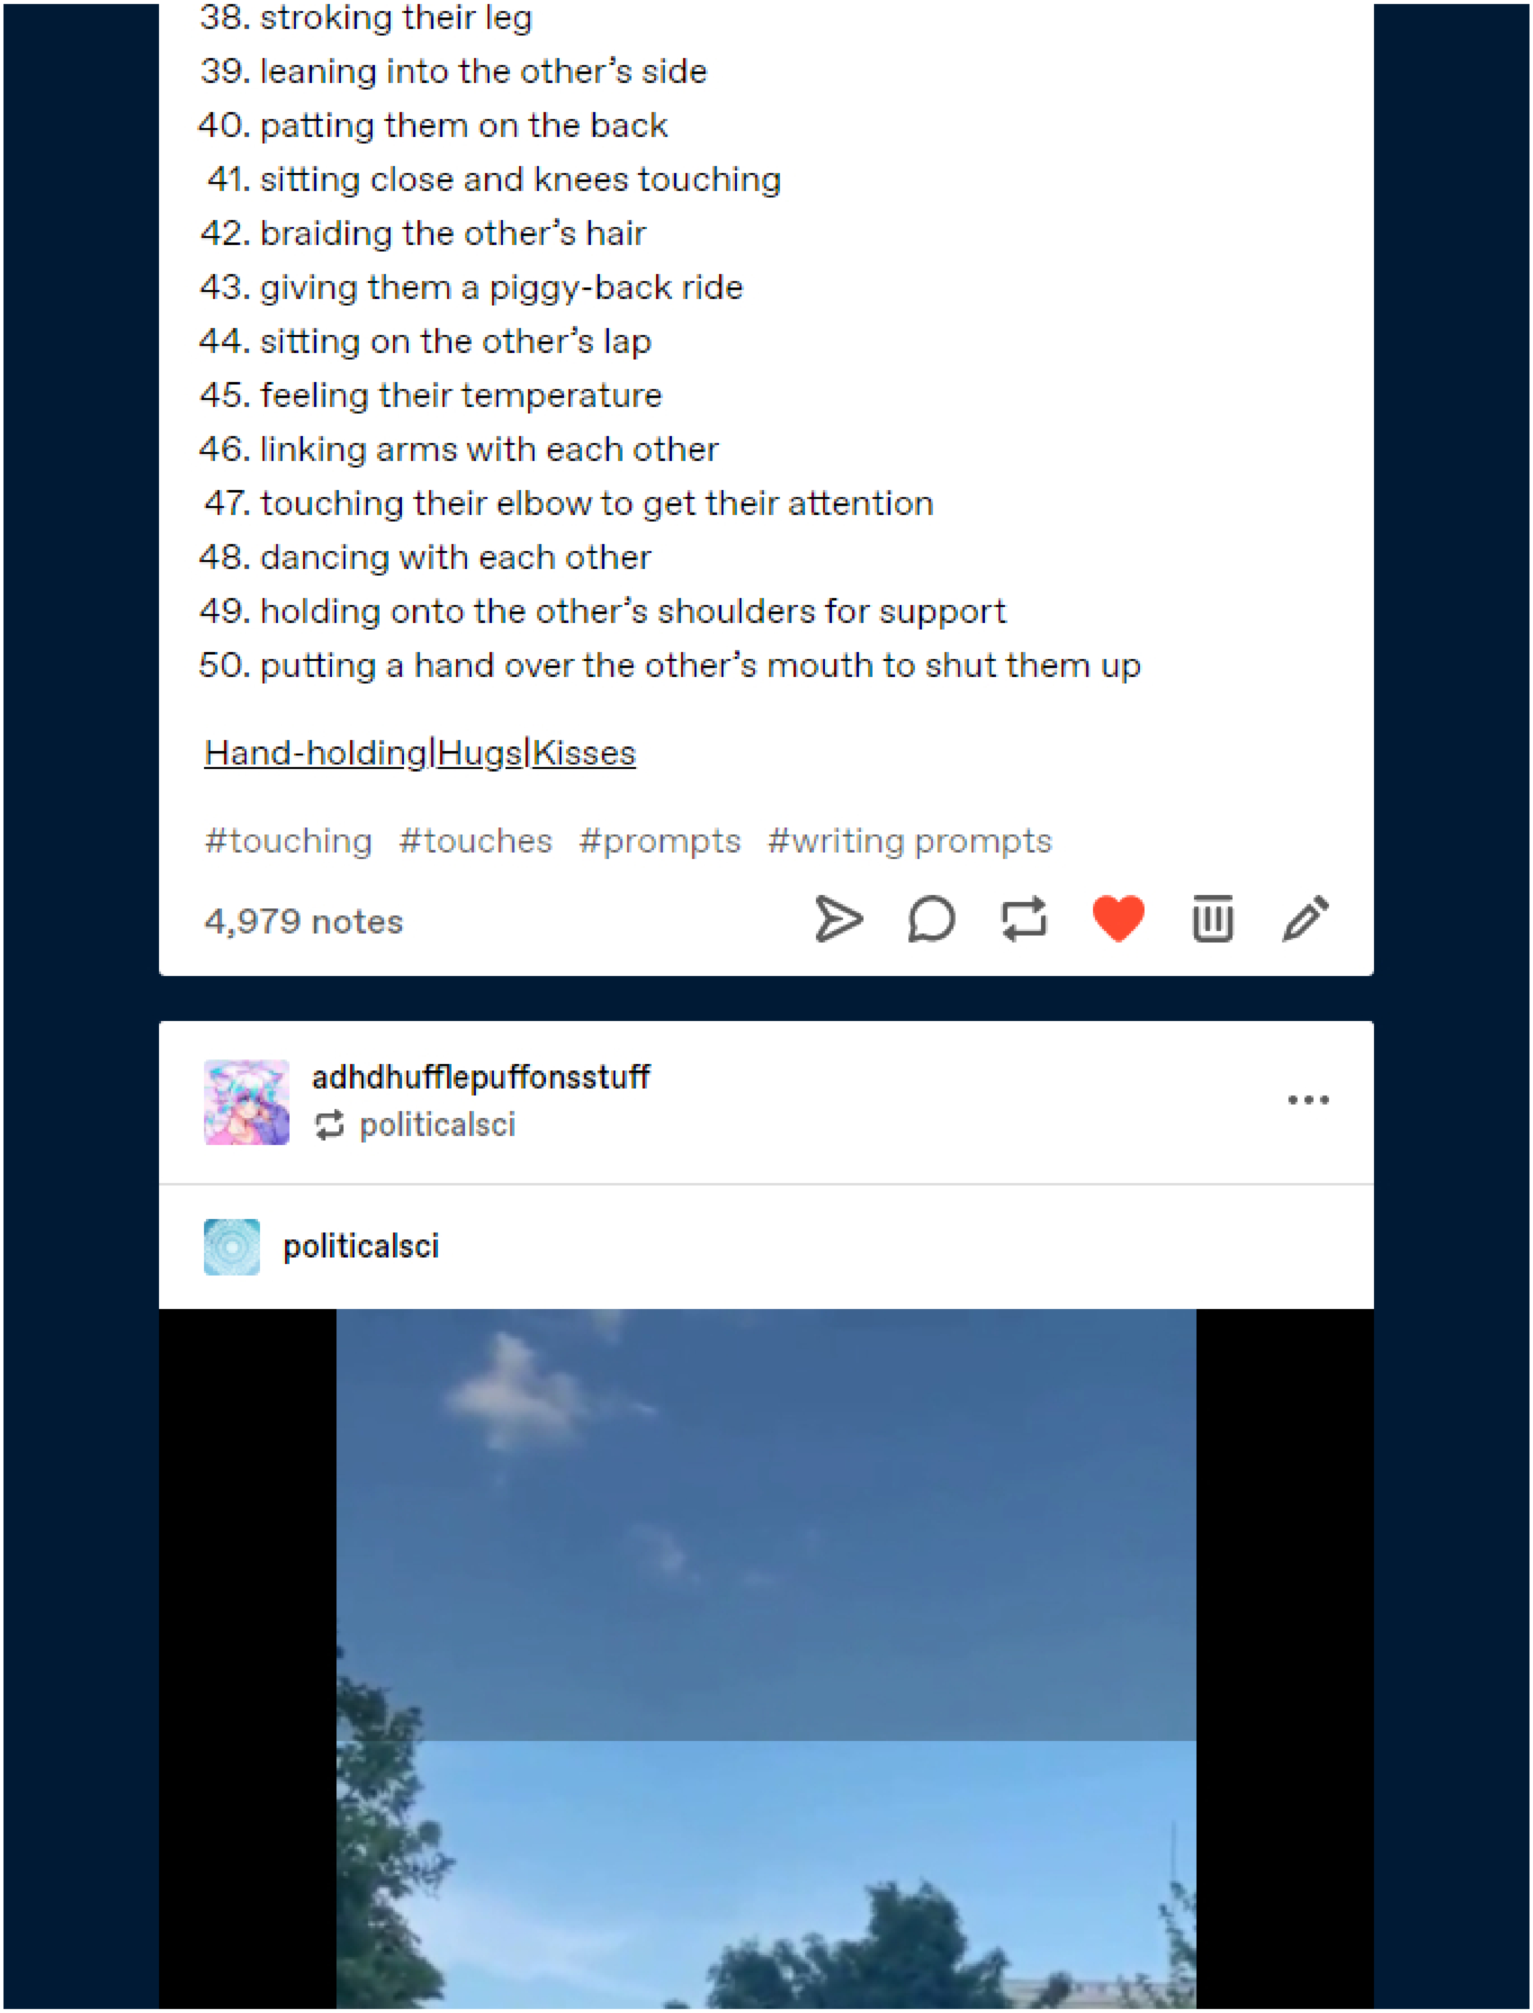
creativepromptsforwriting

Touching

Feeling another human's touch.



1. touching foreheads
2. running fingers through hair
3. hiding face in neck
4. caressing the other’s hand
5. feeling their pulse
6. patting the other’s head
7. holding hands
8. shielding the other one with their body
9. listening to the other’s heartbeat
10. spooning at night
11. laying their hand on the other’s neck
12. pushing a strand of hair behind their ear
13. nudging the other one
14. putting an arm around the other’s waist
15. hugging each other
16. massaging them
17. holding the other’s chin up
18. squishing the other’s cheek
19. high fiving
20. bandaging/stitching up an injury
21. kissing the other’s brow
22. falling asleep on the other’s shoulder
23. carrying the other one in their arms
24. whispering in their ear, lips touching the skin
25. stroking the other’s arm soothingly
26. kissing the top of their head
27. pulling the other one towards them
28. feeling for each other in the dark
29. tickling the other one
30. grabbing onto their arm
31. doing a pinky swear
32. caressing the other’s back
33. tasting their smile
34. washing the other’s body
35. kissing their bruises and scars
36. lifting the other one up
37. putting their head on the other’s chest



38. stroking their leg
39. leaning into the other's side
40. patting them on the back
41. sitting close and knees touching
42. braiding the other's hair
43. giving them a piggy-back ride
44. sitting on the other's lap
45. feeling their temperature
46. linking arms with each other
47. touching their elbow to get their attention
48. dancing with each other
49. holding onto the other's shoulders for support
50. putting a hand over the other's mouth to shut them up

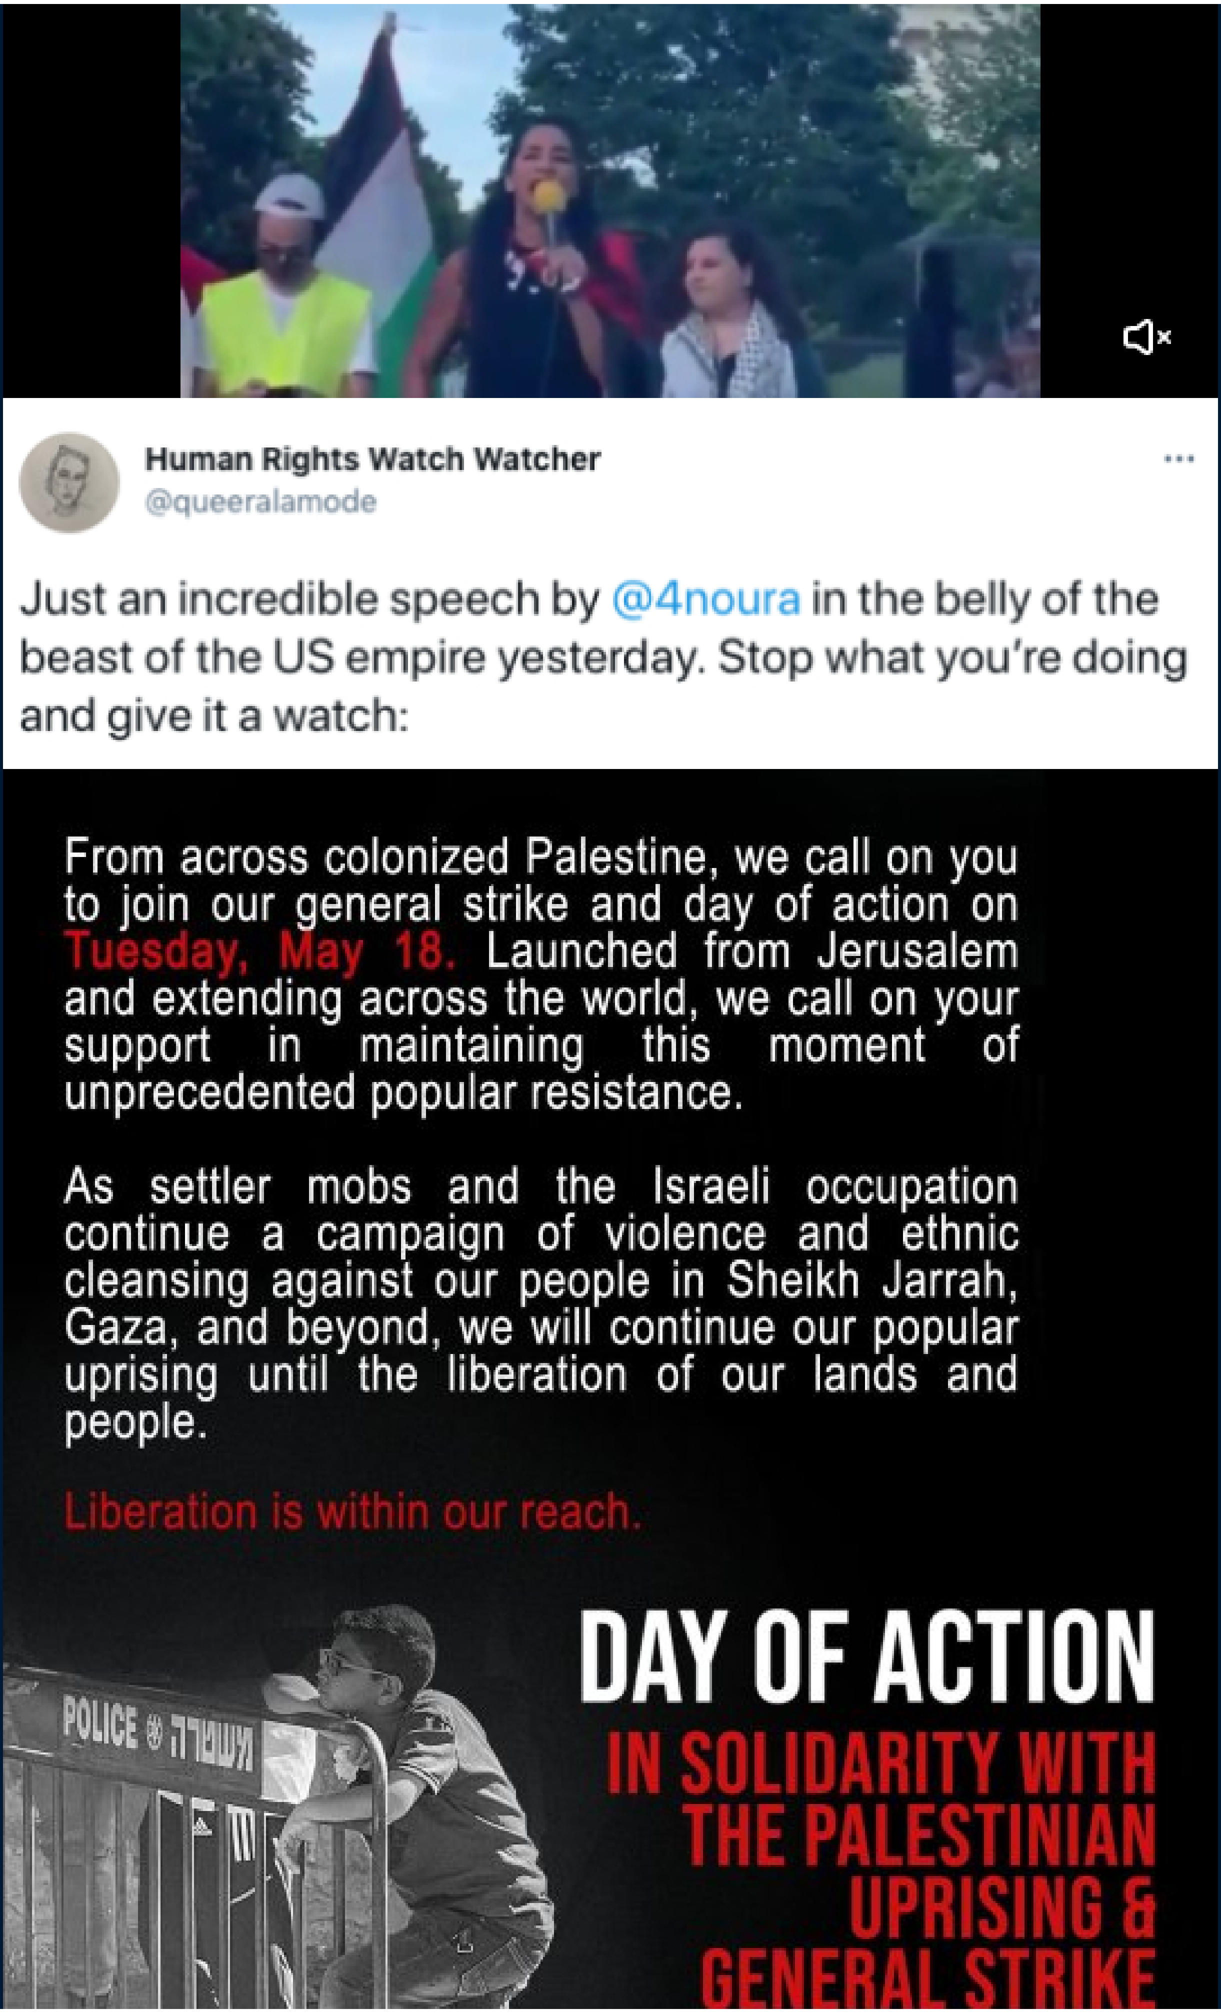
Hand-holding|Hugs|Kisses

#touching #touches #prompts #writing prompts

4,979 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
politicalsci

politicalsci



Human Rights Watch Watcher
@queeralamode

Just an incredible speech by @4noura in the belly of the beast of the US empire yesterday. Stop what you're doing and give it a watch:

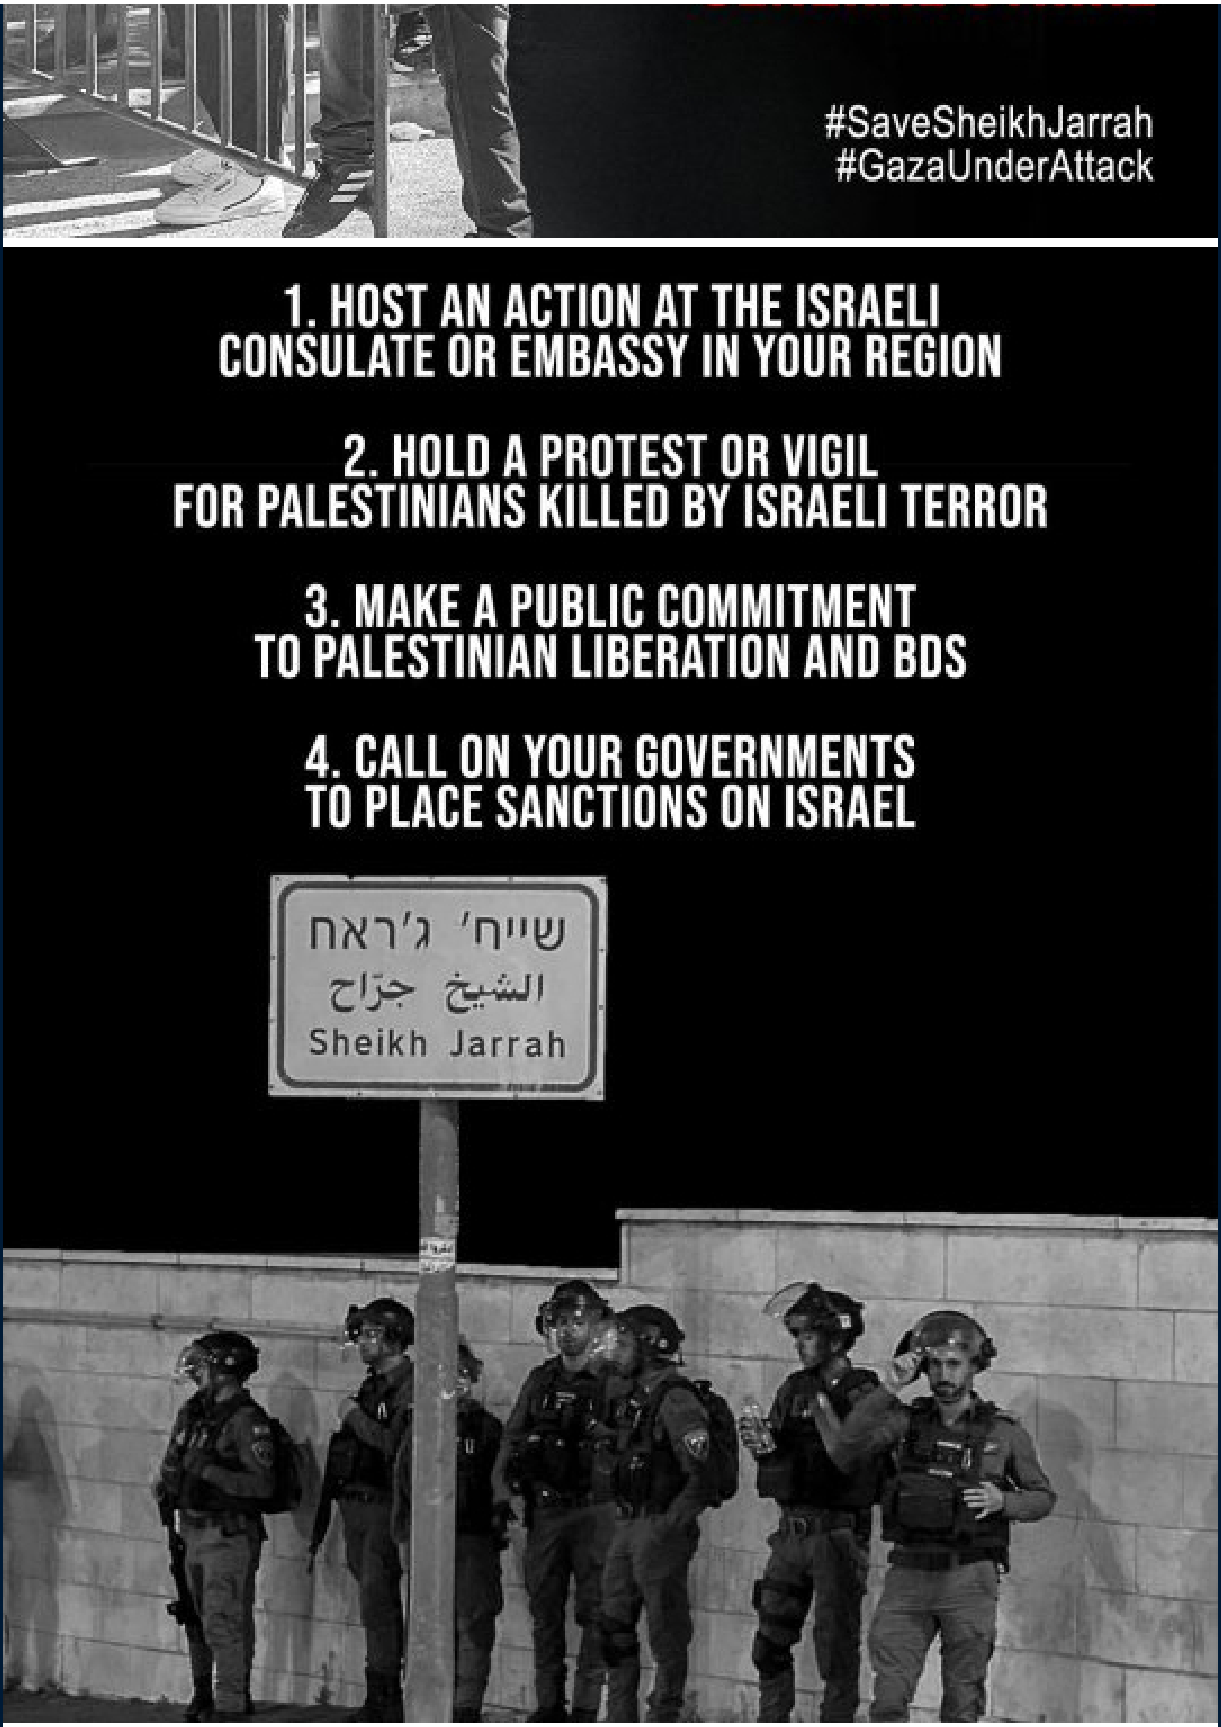
From across colonized Palestine, we call on you to join our general strike and day of action on Tuesday, May 18. Launched from Jerusalem and extending across the world, we call on your support in maintaining this moment of unprecedented popular resistance.

As settler mobs and the Israeli occupation continue a campaign of violence and ethnic cleansing against our people in Sheikh Jarrah, Gaza, and beyond, we will continue our popular uprising until the liberation of our lands and people.

Liberation is within our reach.

DAY OF ACTION

IN SOLIDARITY WITH THE PALESTINIAN UPRISING & GENERAL STRIKE



#SaveSheikhJarrah
#GazaUnderAttack

1. HOST AN ACTION AT THE ISRAELI CONSULATE OR EMBASSY IN YOUR REGION

2. HOLD A PROTEST OR VIGIL FOR PALESTINIANS KILLED BY ISRAELI TERROR

3. MAKE A PUBLIC COMMITMENT TO PALESTINIAN LIBERATION AND BDS

4. CALL ON YOUR GOVERNMENTS TO PLACE SANCTIONS ON ISRAEL asad abukhalil أسعد أبو خليل @asadabukhalil

When there was no PLO, Israel killed Palestinians. When there was no Nasser, Israel killed Palestinians. When Iran was under the pro-Israel Shah, Israel killed Palestinians. Before the birth of Hamas and Hizbullah, Israel killed Palestinians. Before Oslo and after: Israel killed

Mondoweiss
@Mondoweiss

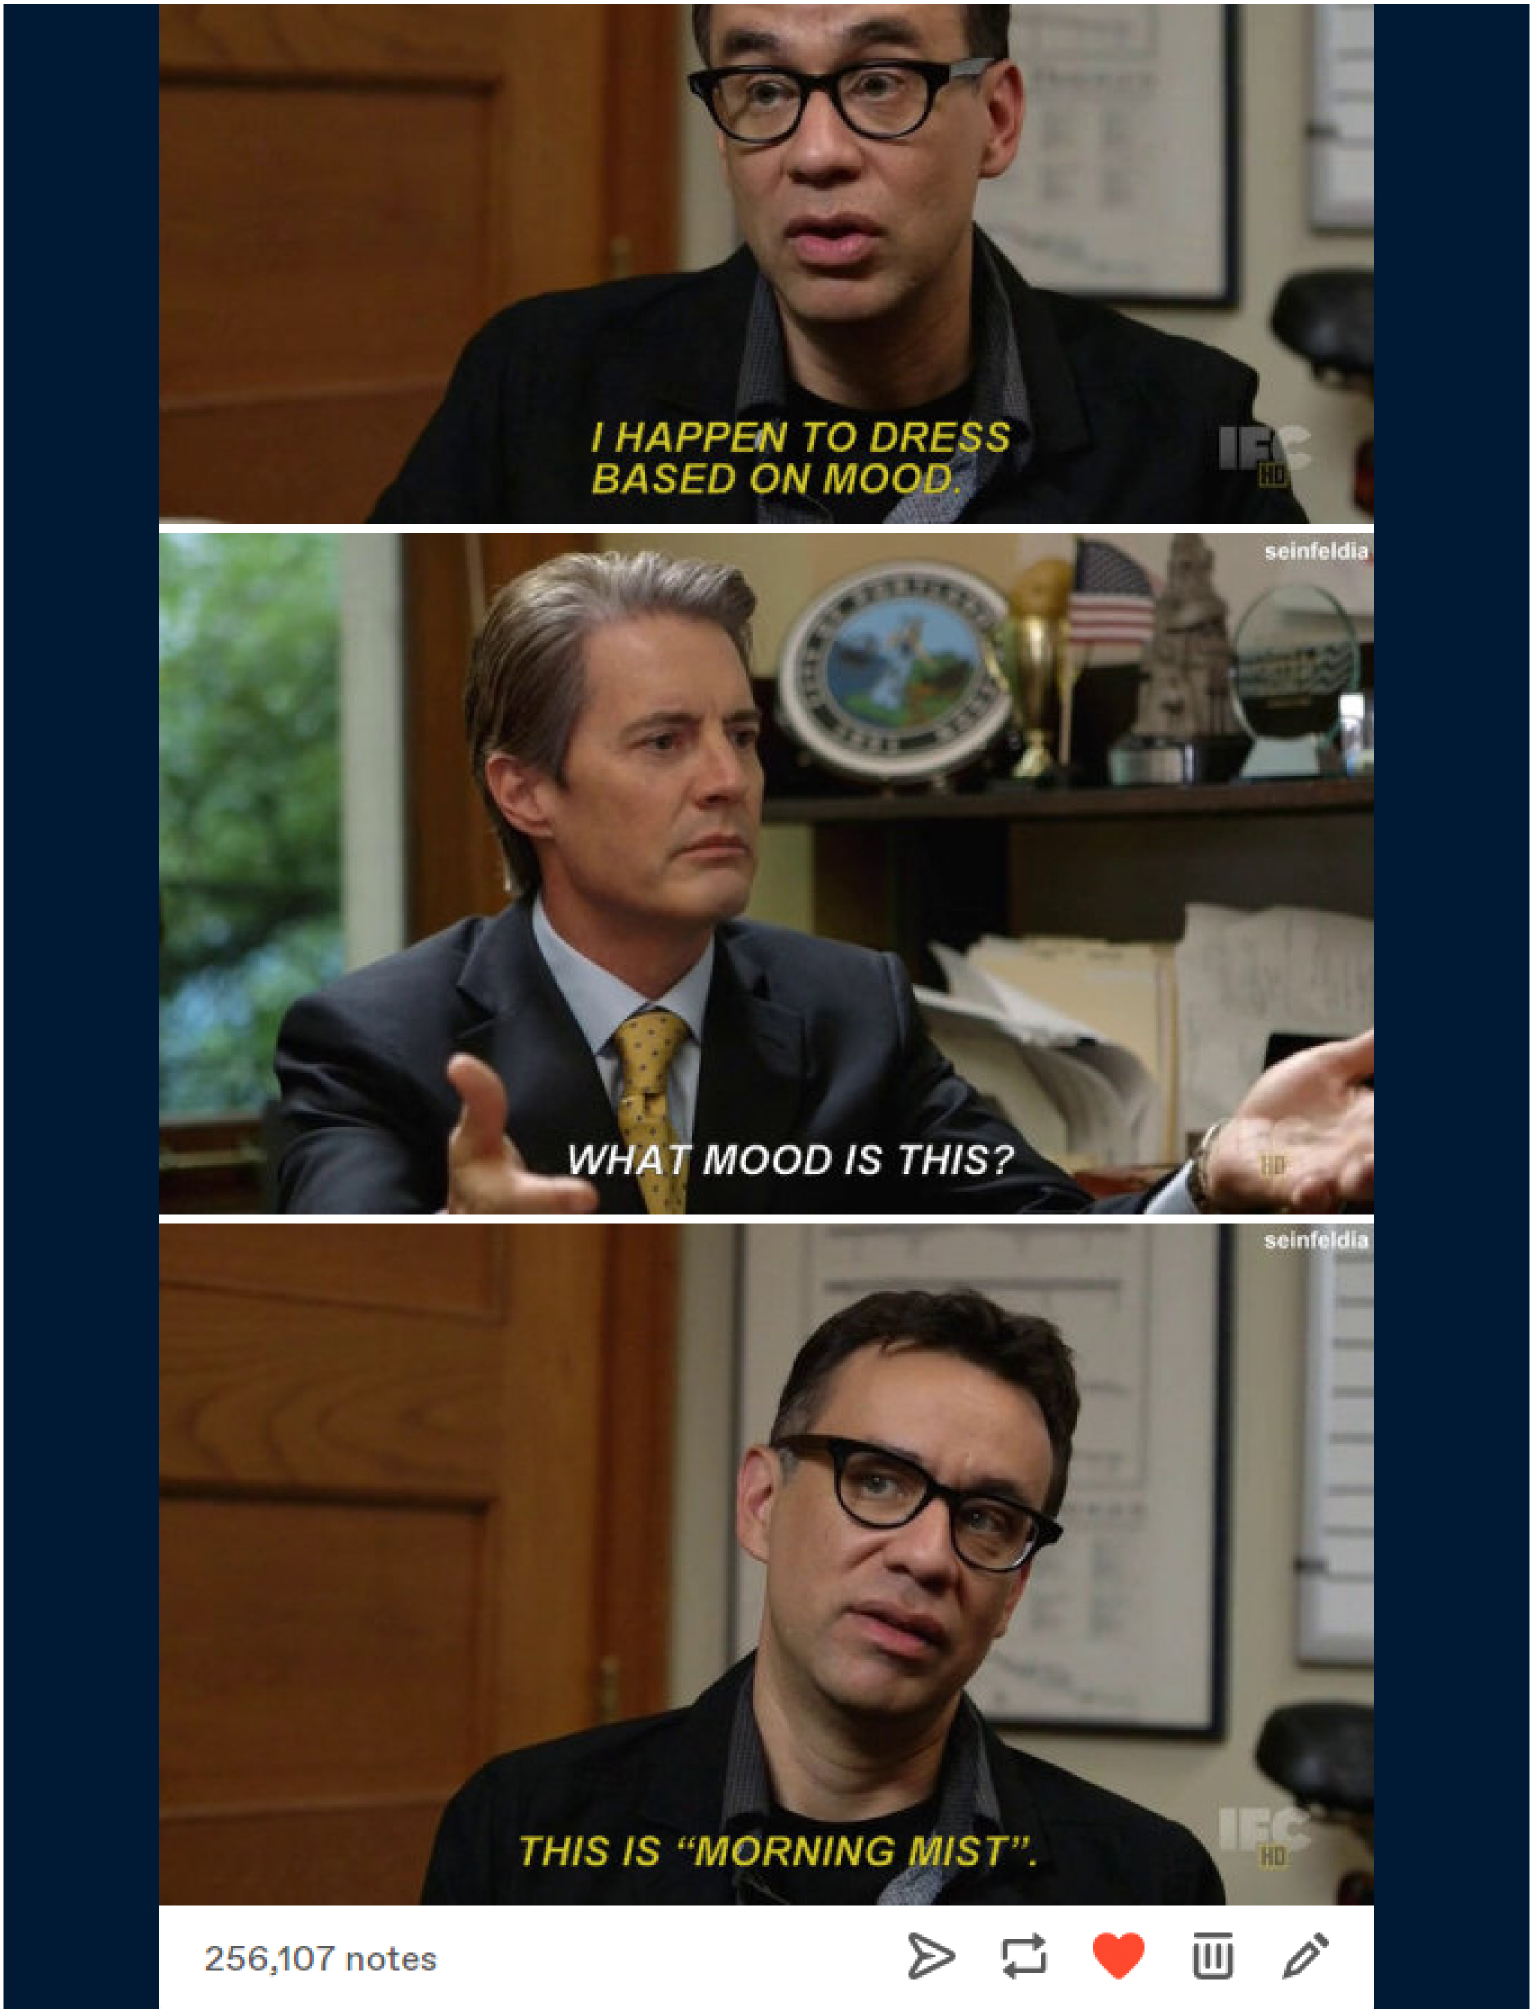
Israel's Wehda Street massacre shows it seeks to annihilate us. We won't let it. mondoweiss.net/2021/05/israel… #Palestine #Israel

#politics #israel #palestine #free palestine #bds

160 notes

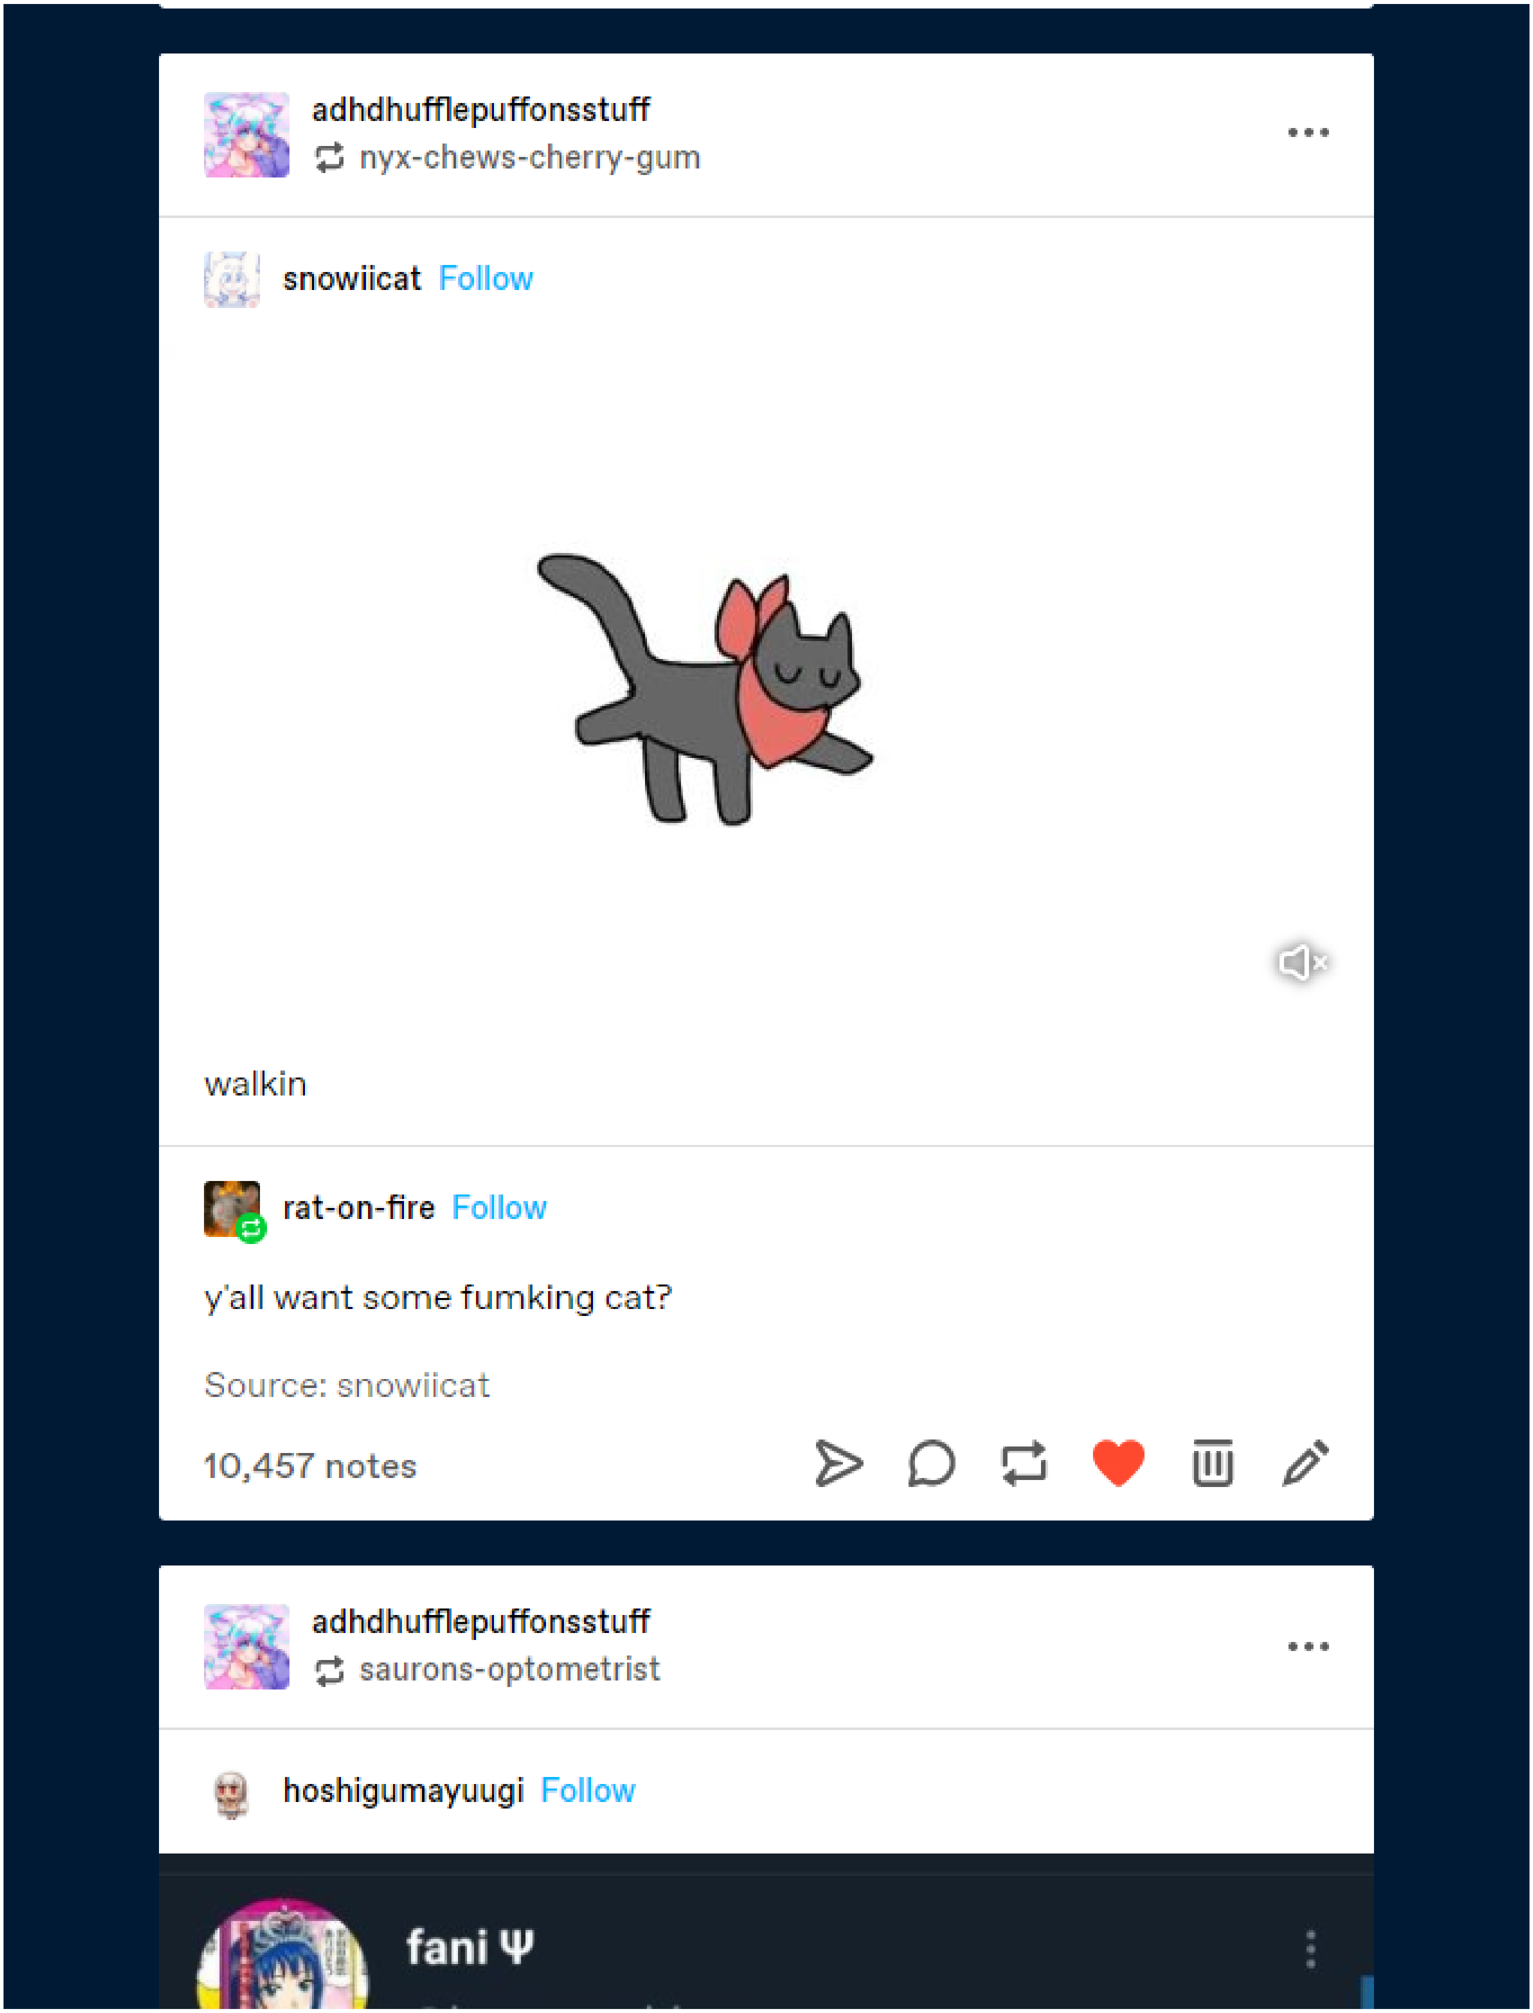
adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
saurons-optometrist

seinfeldia



I HAPPEN TO DRESS BASED ON MOOD.
IFC HD
seinfeldia
WHAT MOOD IS THIS?
seinfeldia
THIS IS "MORNING MIST".
IFC HD

256,107 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

nyx-chews-cherry-gum

snowiicat Follow

walkin

rat-on-fire Follow

y'all want some fumking cat?

Source: snowiicat

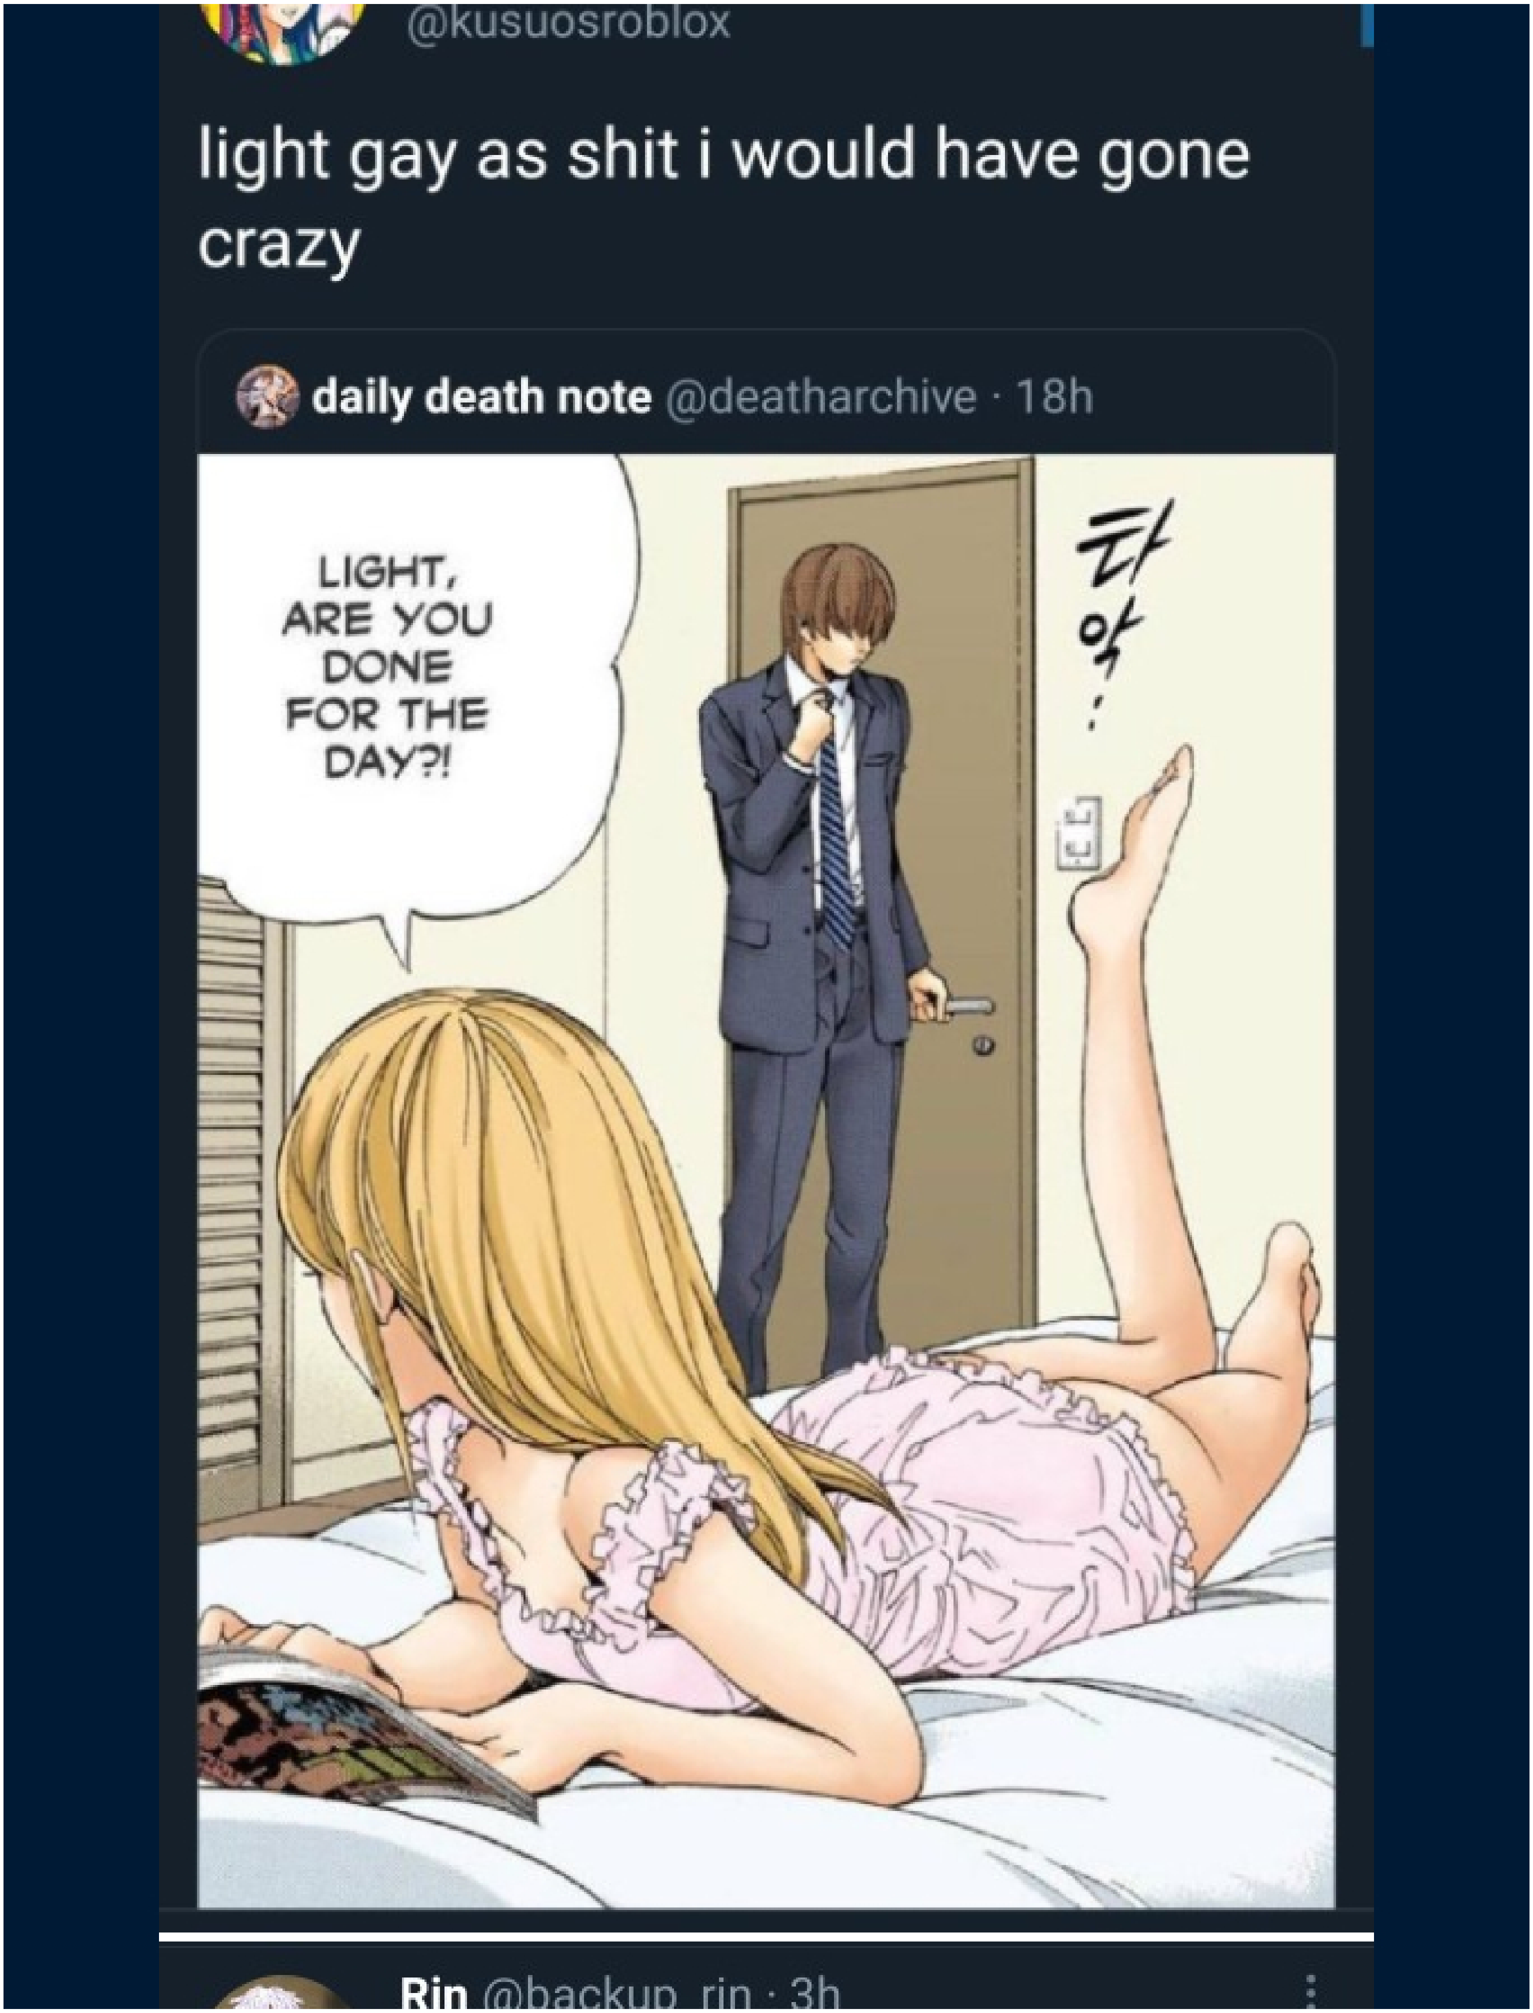
10,457 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

saurons-optometrist

hoshigumayuugi Follow

fani Ψ



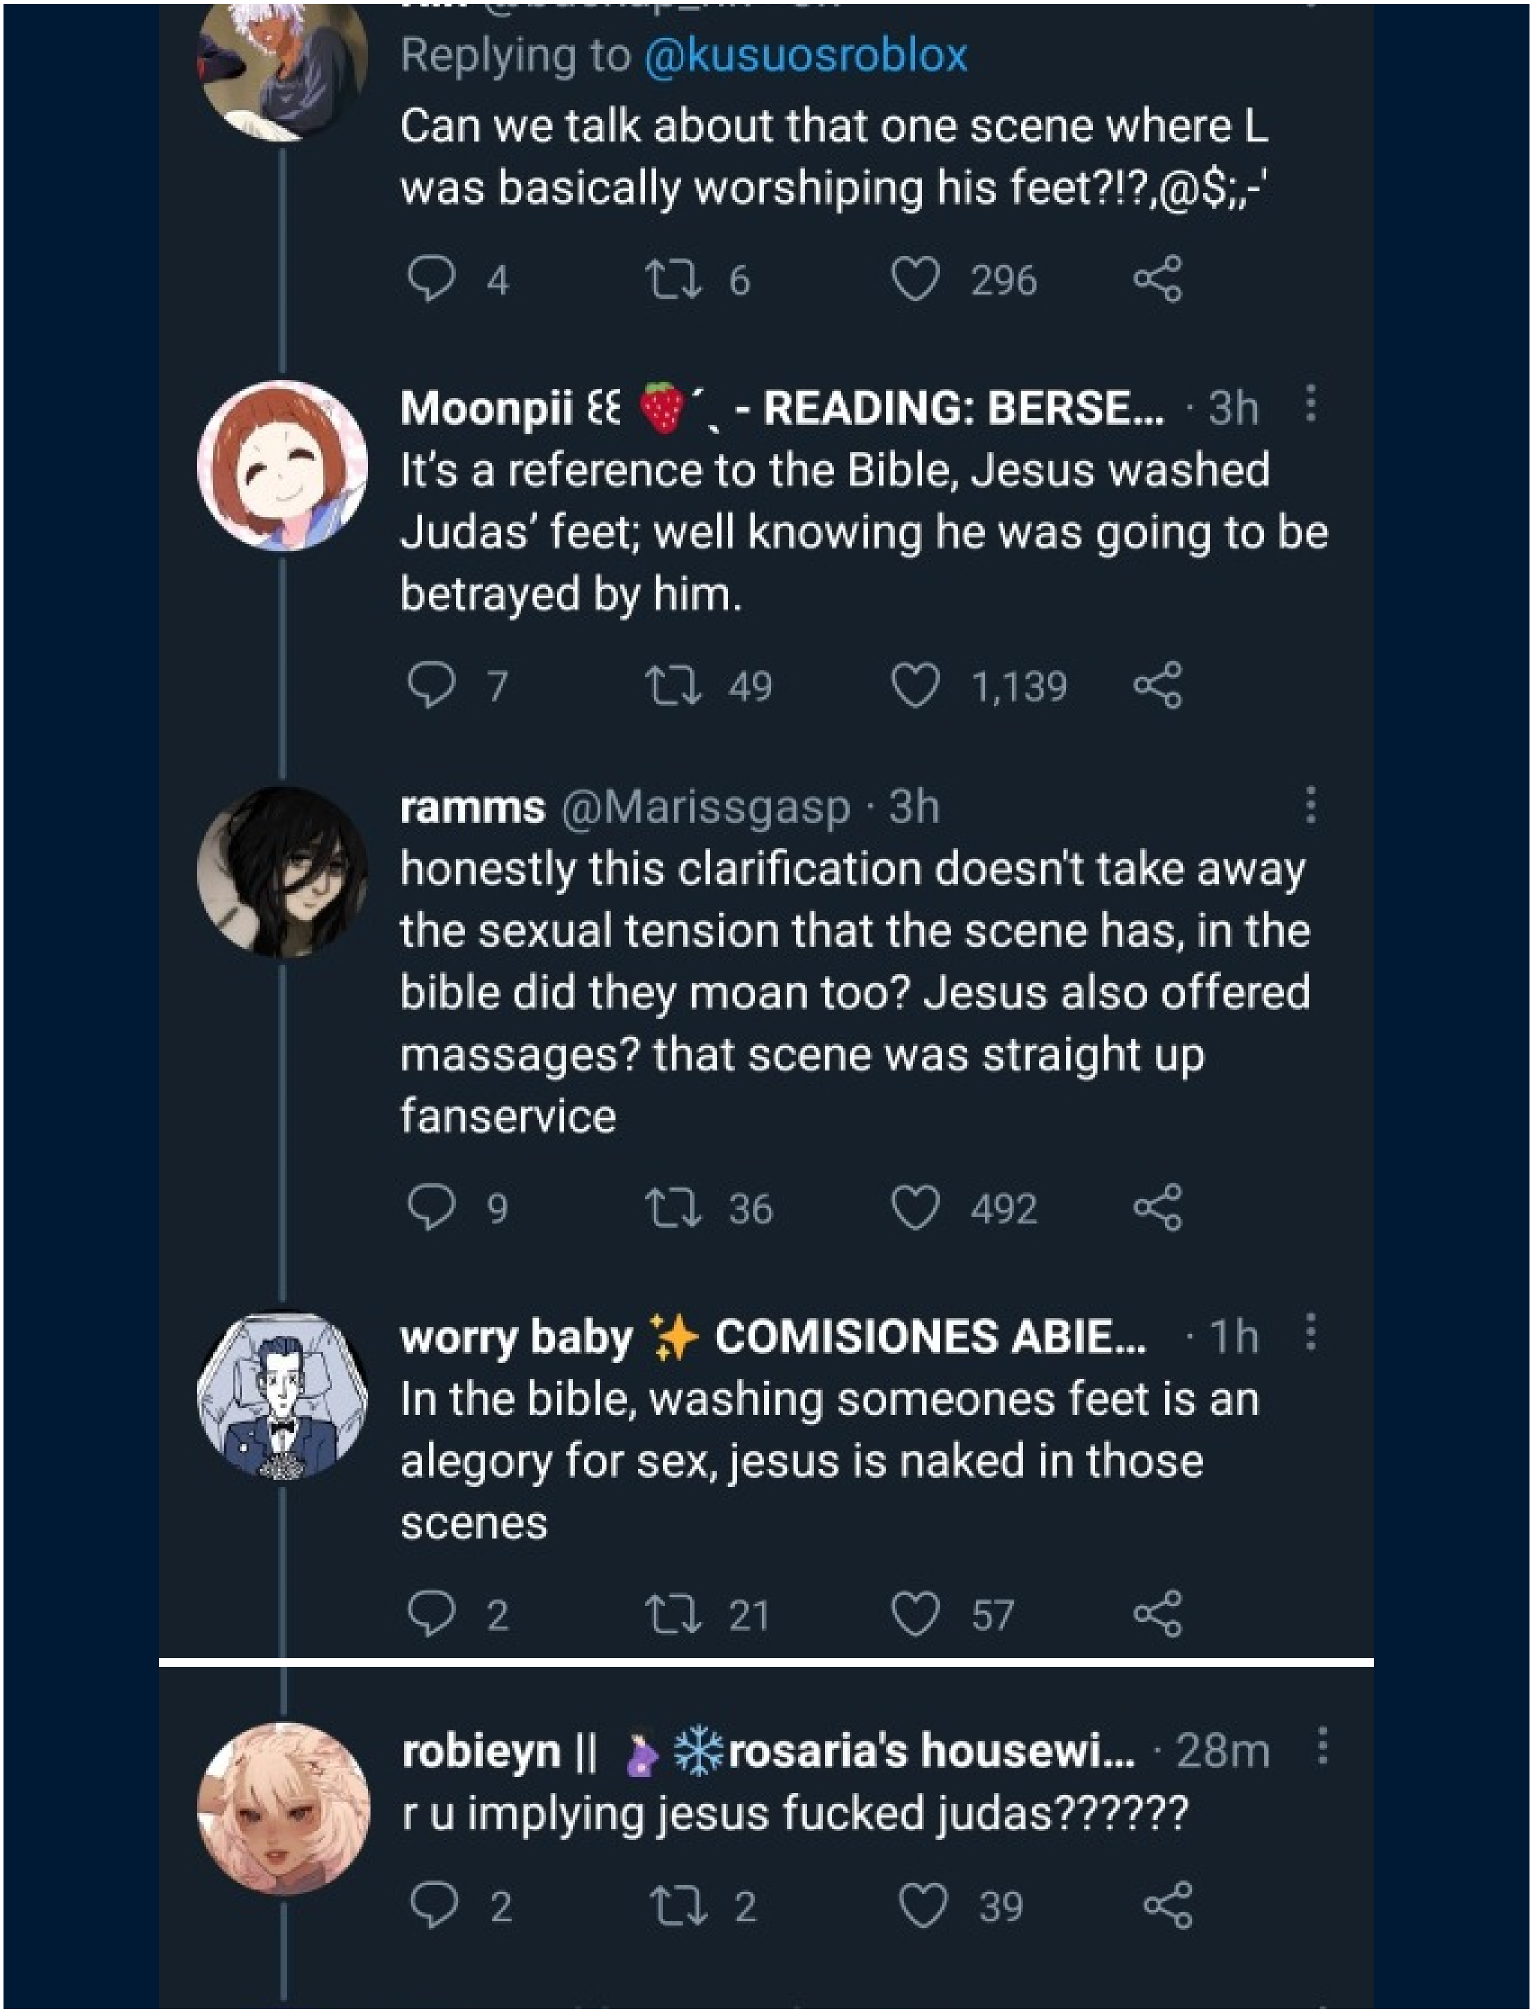
@kusuosroblox

light gay as shit i would have gone crazy

daily death note @deatharchive · 18h

LIGHT, ARE YOU DONE FOR THE DAY?!
타악..

Rin @backup_rin · 3h



Replying to @kusuosroblox

Can we talk about that one scene where L was basically worshiping his feet?!?,@$;,-'

4 6 296

Moonpii ꒰꒱ 🍓ˊˎ - READING: BERSE... · 3h

It's a reference to the Bible, Jesus washed Judas' feet; well knowing he was going to be betrayed by him.

7 49 1,139

ramms @Marissgasp · 3h

honestly this clarification doesn't take away the sexual tension that the scene has, in the bible did they moan too? Jesus also offered massages? that scene was straight up fanservice

9 36 492

worry baby ✨ COMISIONES ABIE... · 1h

In the bible, washing someones feet is an alegory for sex, jesus is naked in those scenes

2 21 57

robieyn || 🤰❄️rosaria's housewi... · 28m

r u implying jesus fucked judas??????

2 2 39

an @oddyooncircle · 26m good for him??

2 1 50

@M4sterOfNone · 3m

No?? Judas was super toxic and problematic :/

2

im losing it right now this is so funny

Source: hoshigumayuugi

50,318 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

saurons-optometrist

mswyrr Follow

Delaney King 🙎‍♀️✍️

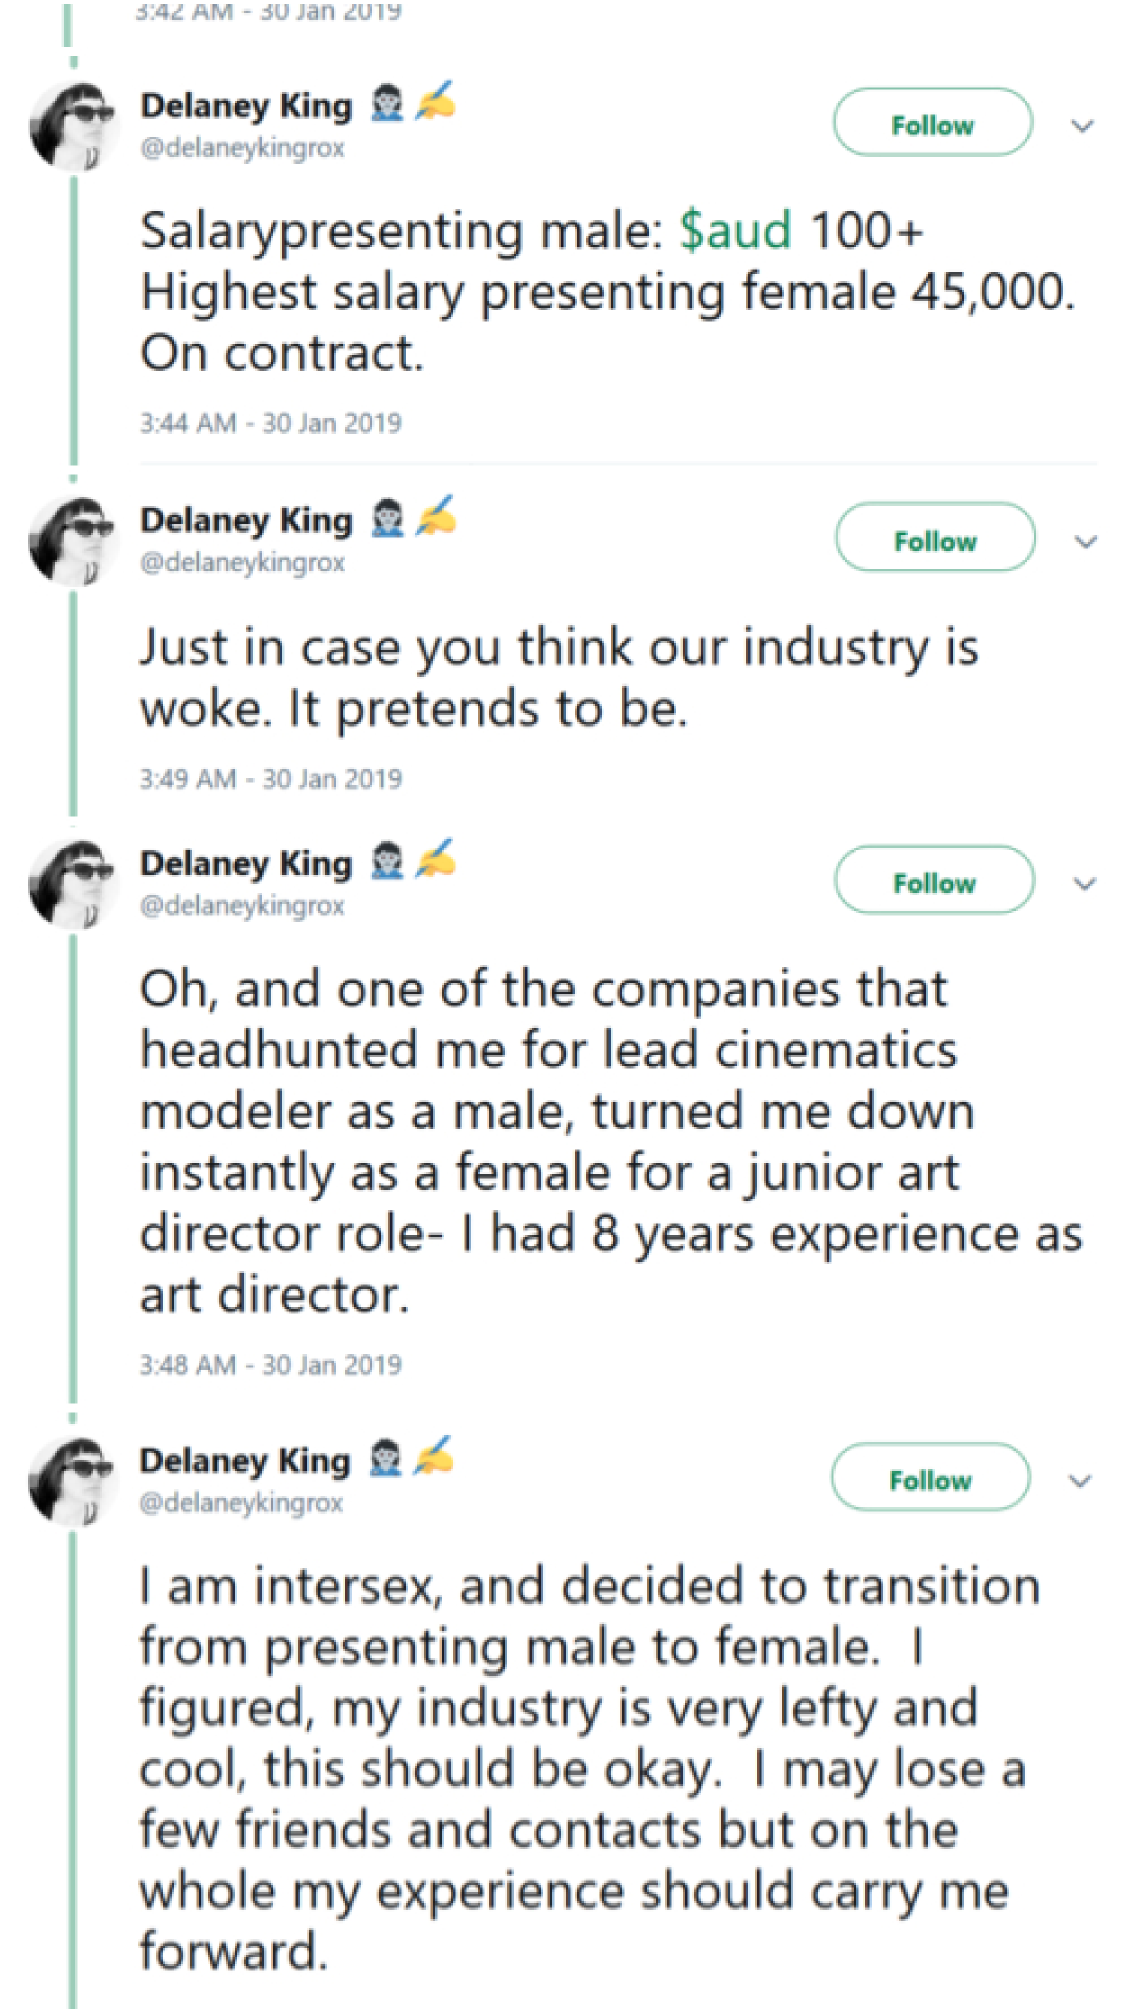
@delaneykingrox

Follow

Having over 20+ yrs experience & several games of the year under my belt, Transitioning from presenting male to female goes like this.

As male: headhunted by studios, flown to interviews overseas.

As female: email response to CV "we don't think you would be happy here"



3:42 AM - 30 Jan 2019

Delaney King 👩✍
@delaneykingrox

Salarypresenting male: $aud 100+
Highest salary presenting female 45,000.
On contract.

3:44 AM - 30 Jan 2019

Delaney King 👩✍
@delaneykingrox

Just in case you think our industry is woke. It pretends to be.

3:49 AM - 30 Jan 2019

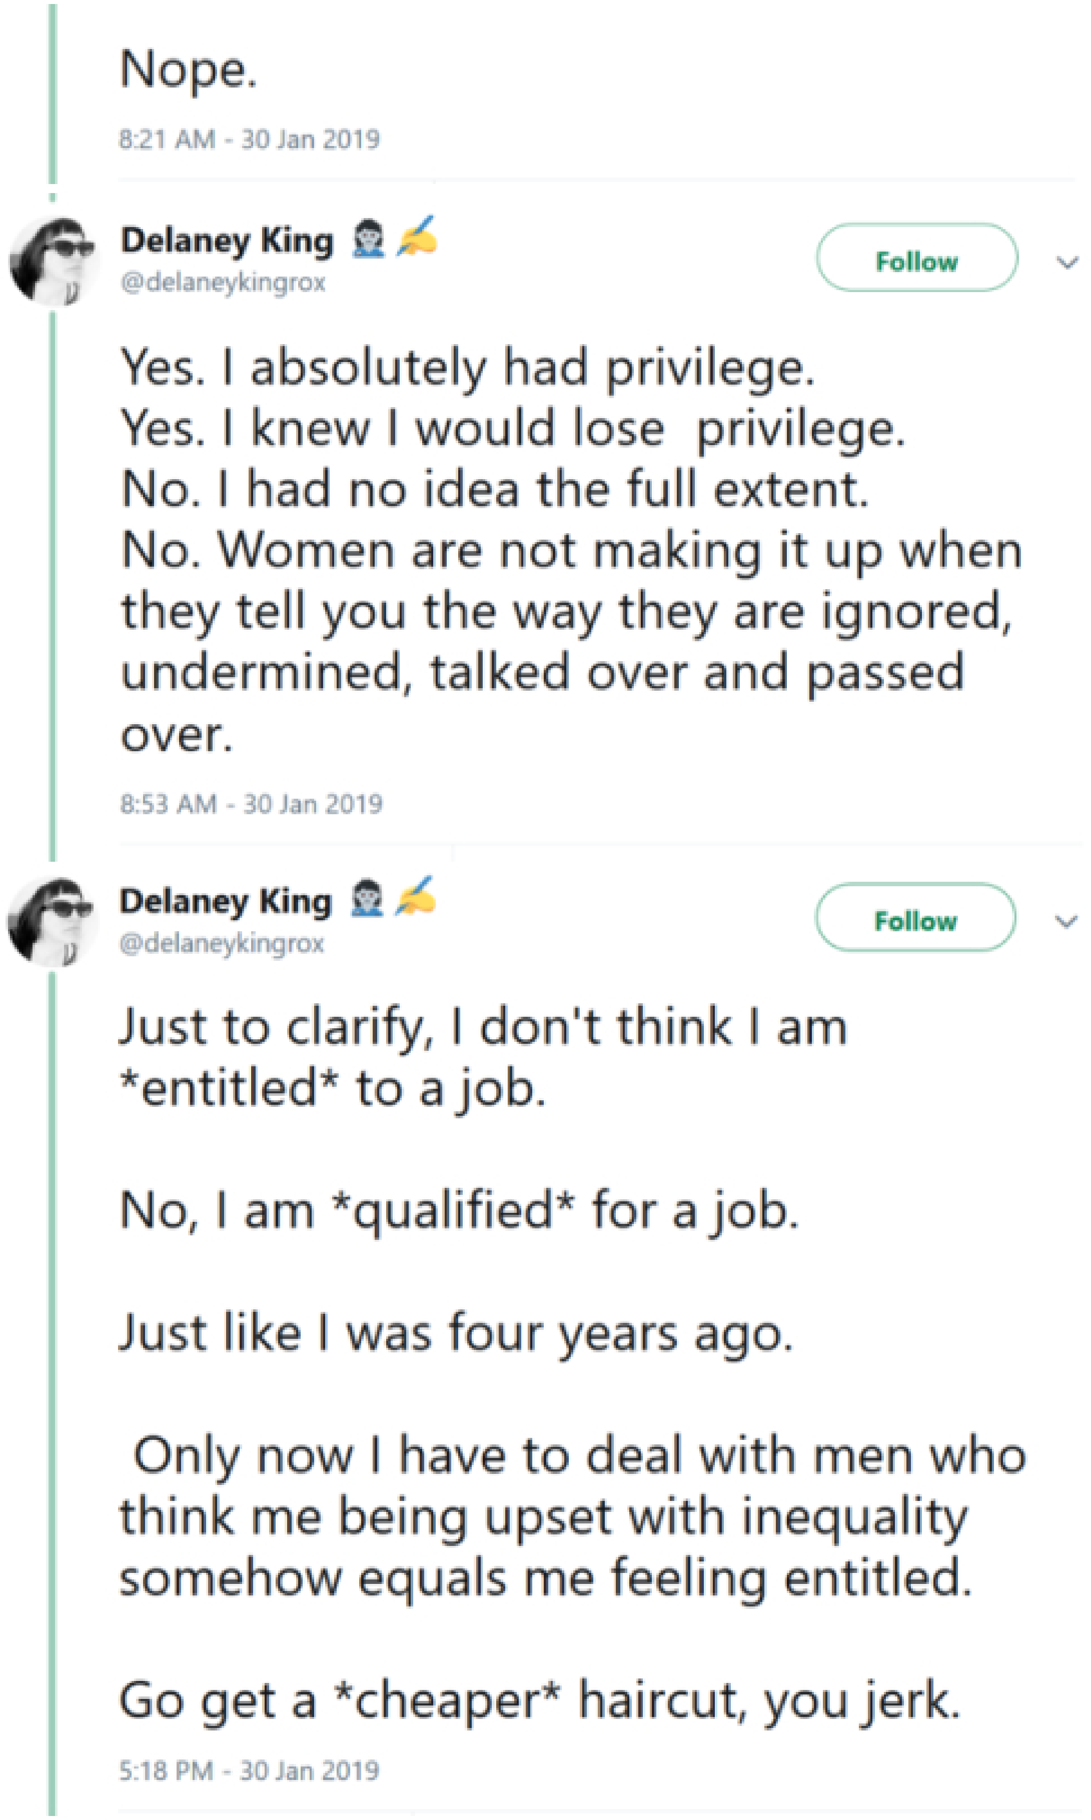
Delaney King 👩✍
@delaneykingrox

Oh, and one of the companies that headhunted me for lead cinematics modeler as a male, turned me down instantly as a female for a junior art director role- I had 8 years experience as art director.

3:48 AM - 30 Jan 2019

Delaney King 👩✍
@delaneykingrox

I am intersex, and decided to transition from presenting male to female. I figured, my industry is very lefty and cool, this should be okay. I may lose a few friends and contacts but on the whole my experience should carry me forward.



Nope.

8:21 AM - 30 Jan 2019

Delaney King 👩‍🔬✍️
@delaneykingrox

Yes. I absolutely had privilege.
Yes. I knew I would lose privilege.
No. I had no idea the full extent.
No. Women are not making it up when they tell you the way they are ignored, undermined, talked over and passed over.

8:53 AM - 30 Jan 2019

Delaney King 👩‍🔬✍️
@delaneykingrox

Just to clarify, I don't think I am entitled to a job.

No, I am qualified for a job.

Just like I was four years ago.

Only now I have to deal with men who think me being upset with inequality somehow equals me feeling entitled.

Go get a cheaper haircut, you jerk.

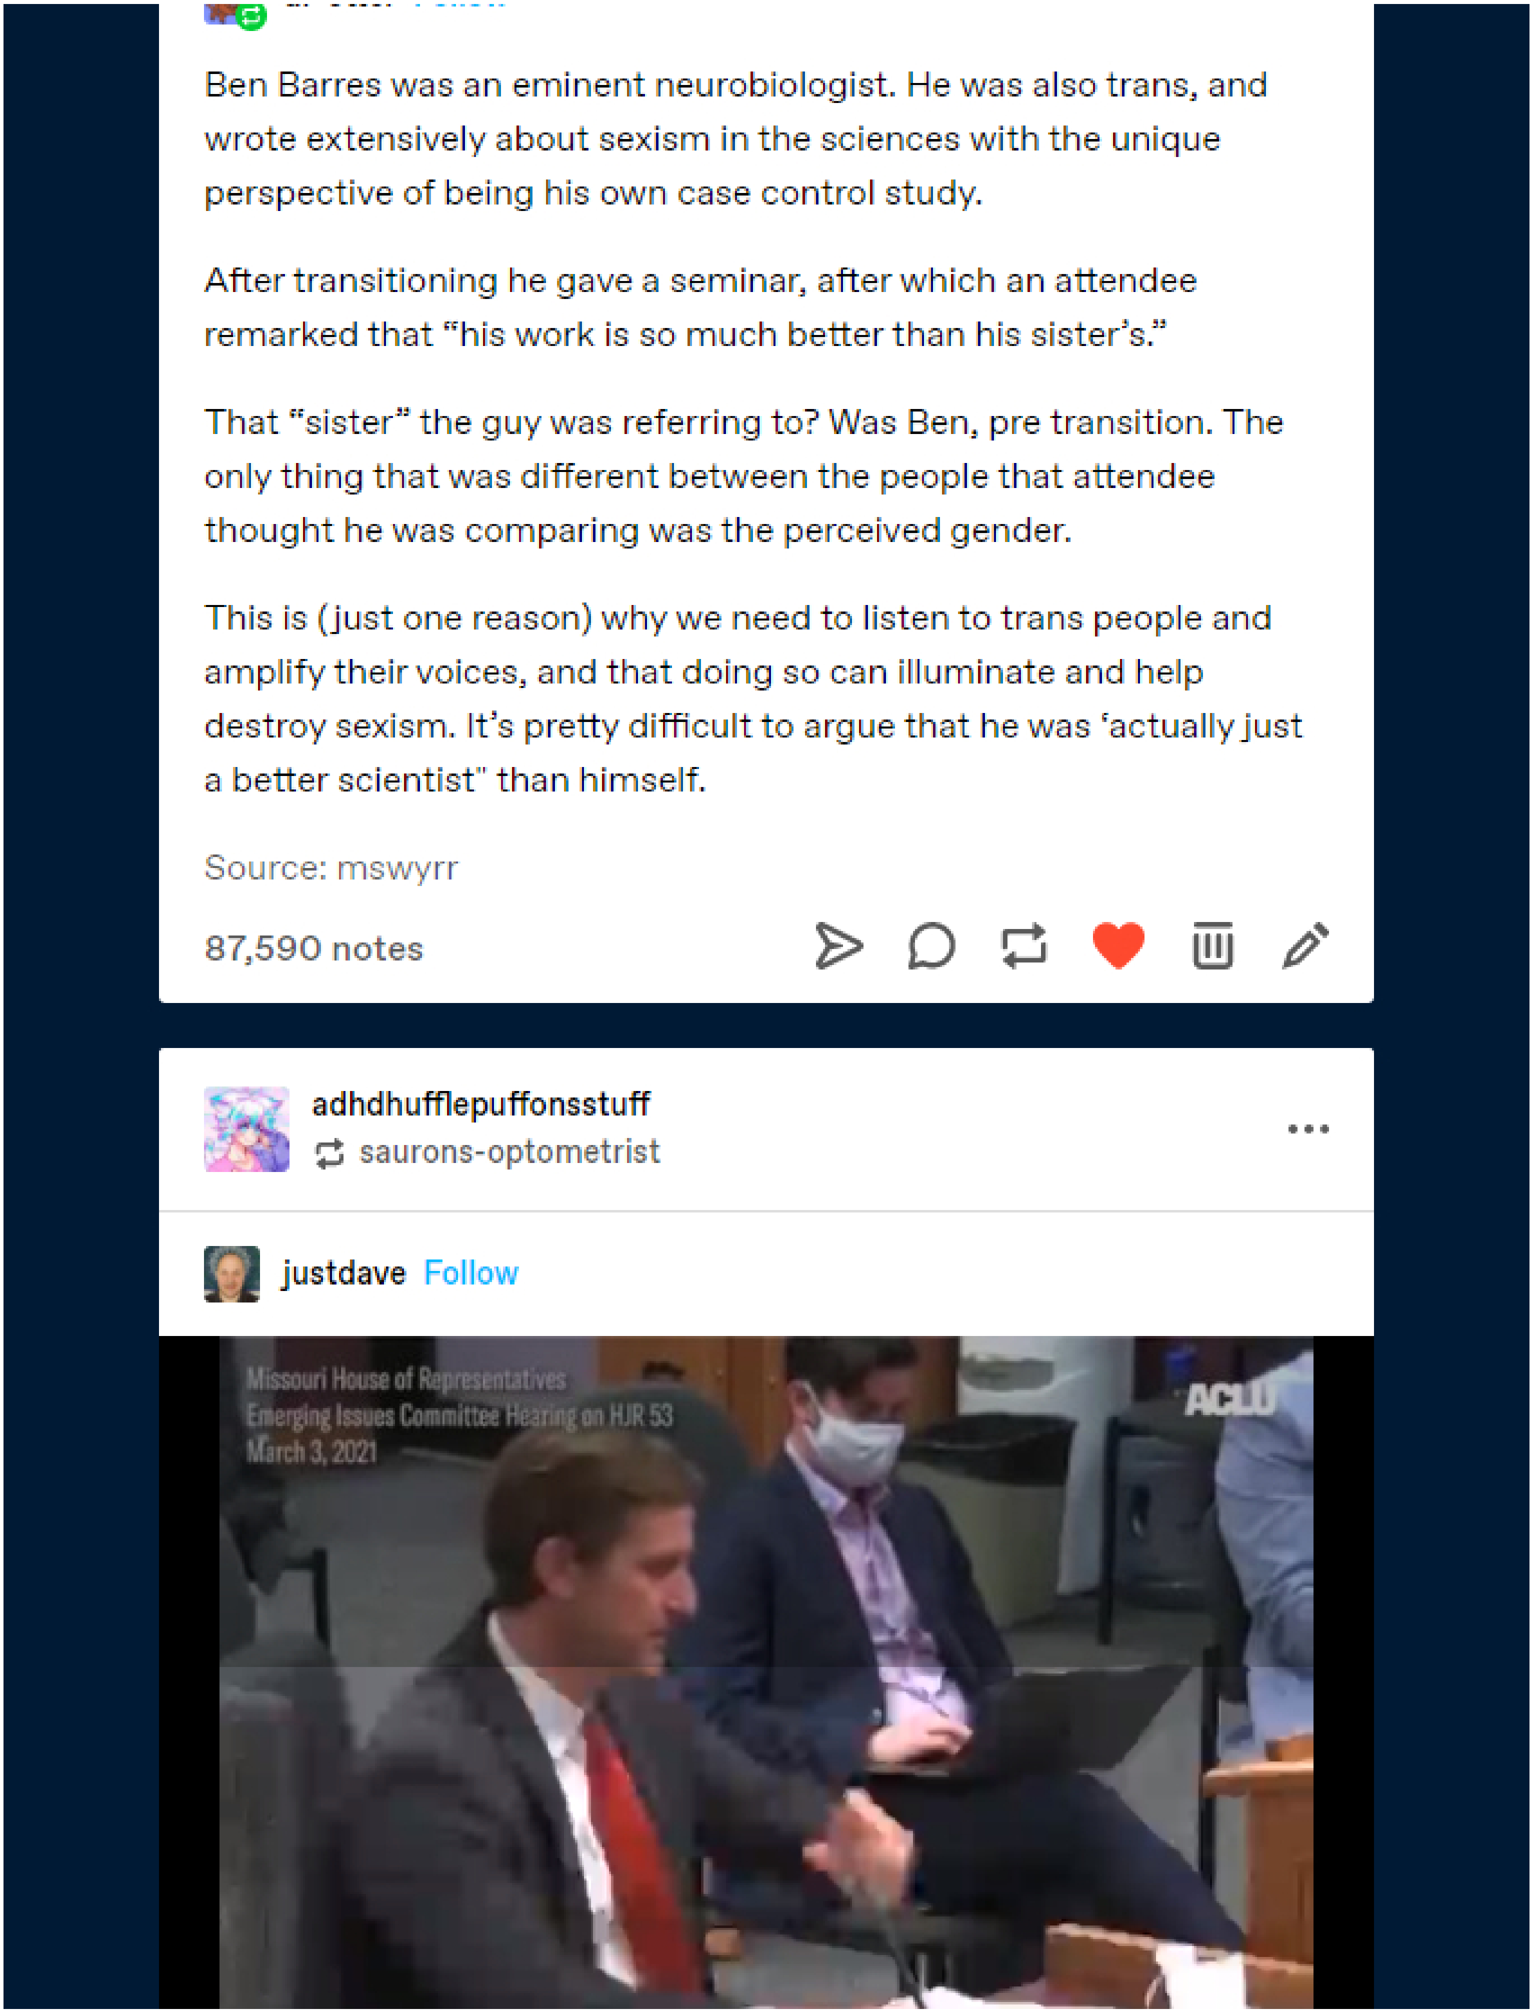
5:18 PM - 30 Jan 2019

https://twitter.com/delaneykingrox/status/1090402436995473408

dr-otter Follow



Ben Barres was an eminent neurobiologist. He was also trans, and wrote extensively about sexism in the sciences with the unique perspective of being his own case control study.

After transitioning he gave a seminar, after which an attendee remarked that "his work is so much better than his sister's."

That "sister" the guy was referring to? Was Ben, pre transition. The only thing that was different between the people that attendee thought he was comparing was the perceived gender.

This is (just one reason) why we need to listen to trans people and amplify their voices, and that doing so can illuminate and help destroy sexism. It's pretty difficult to argue that he was 'actually just a better scientist" than himself.

Source: mswyrr

87,590 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

saurons-optometrist

justdave Follow

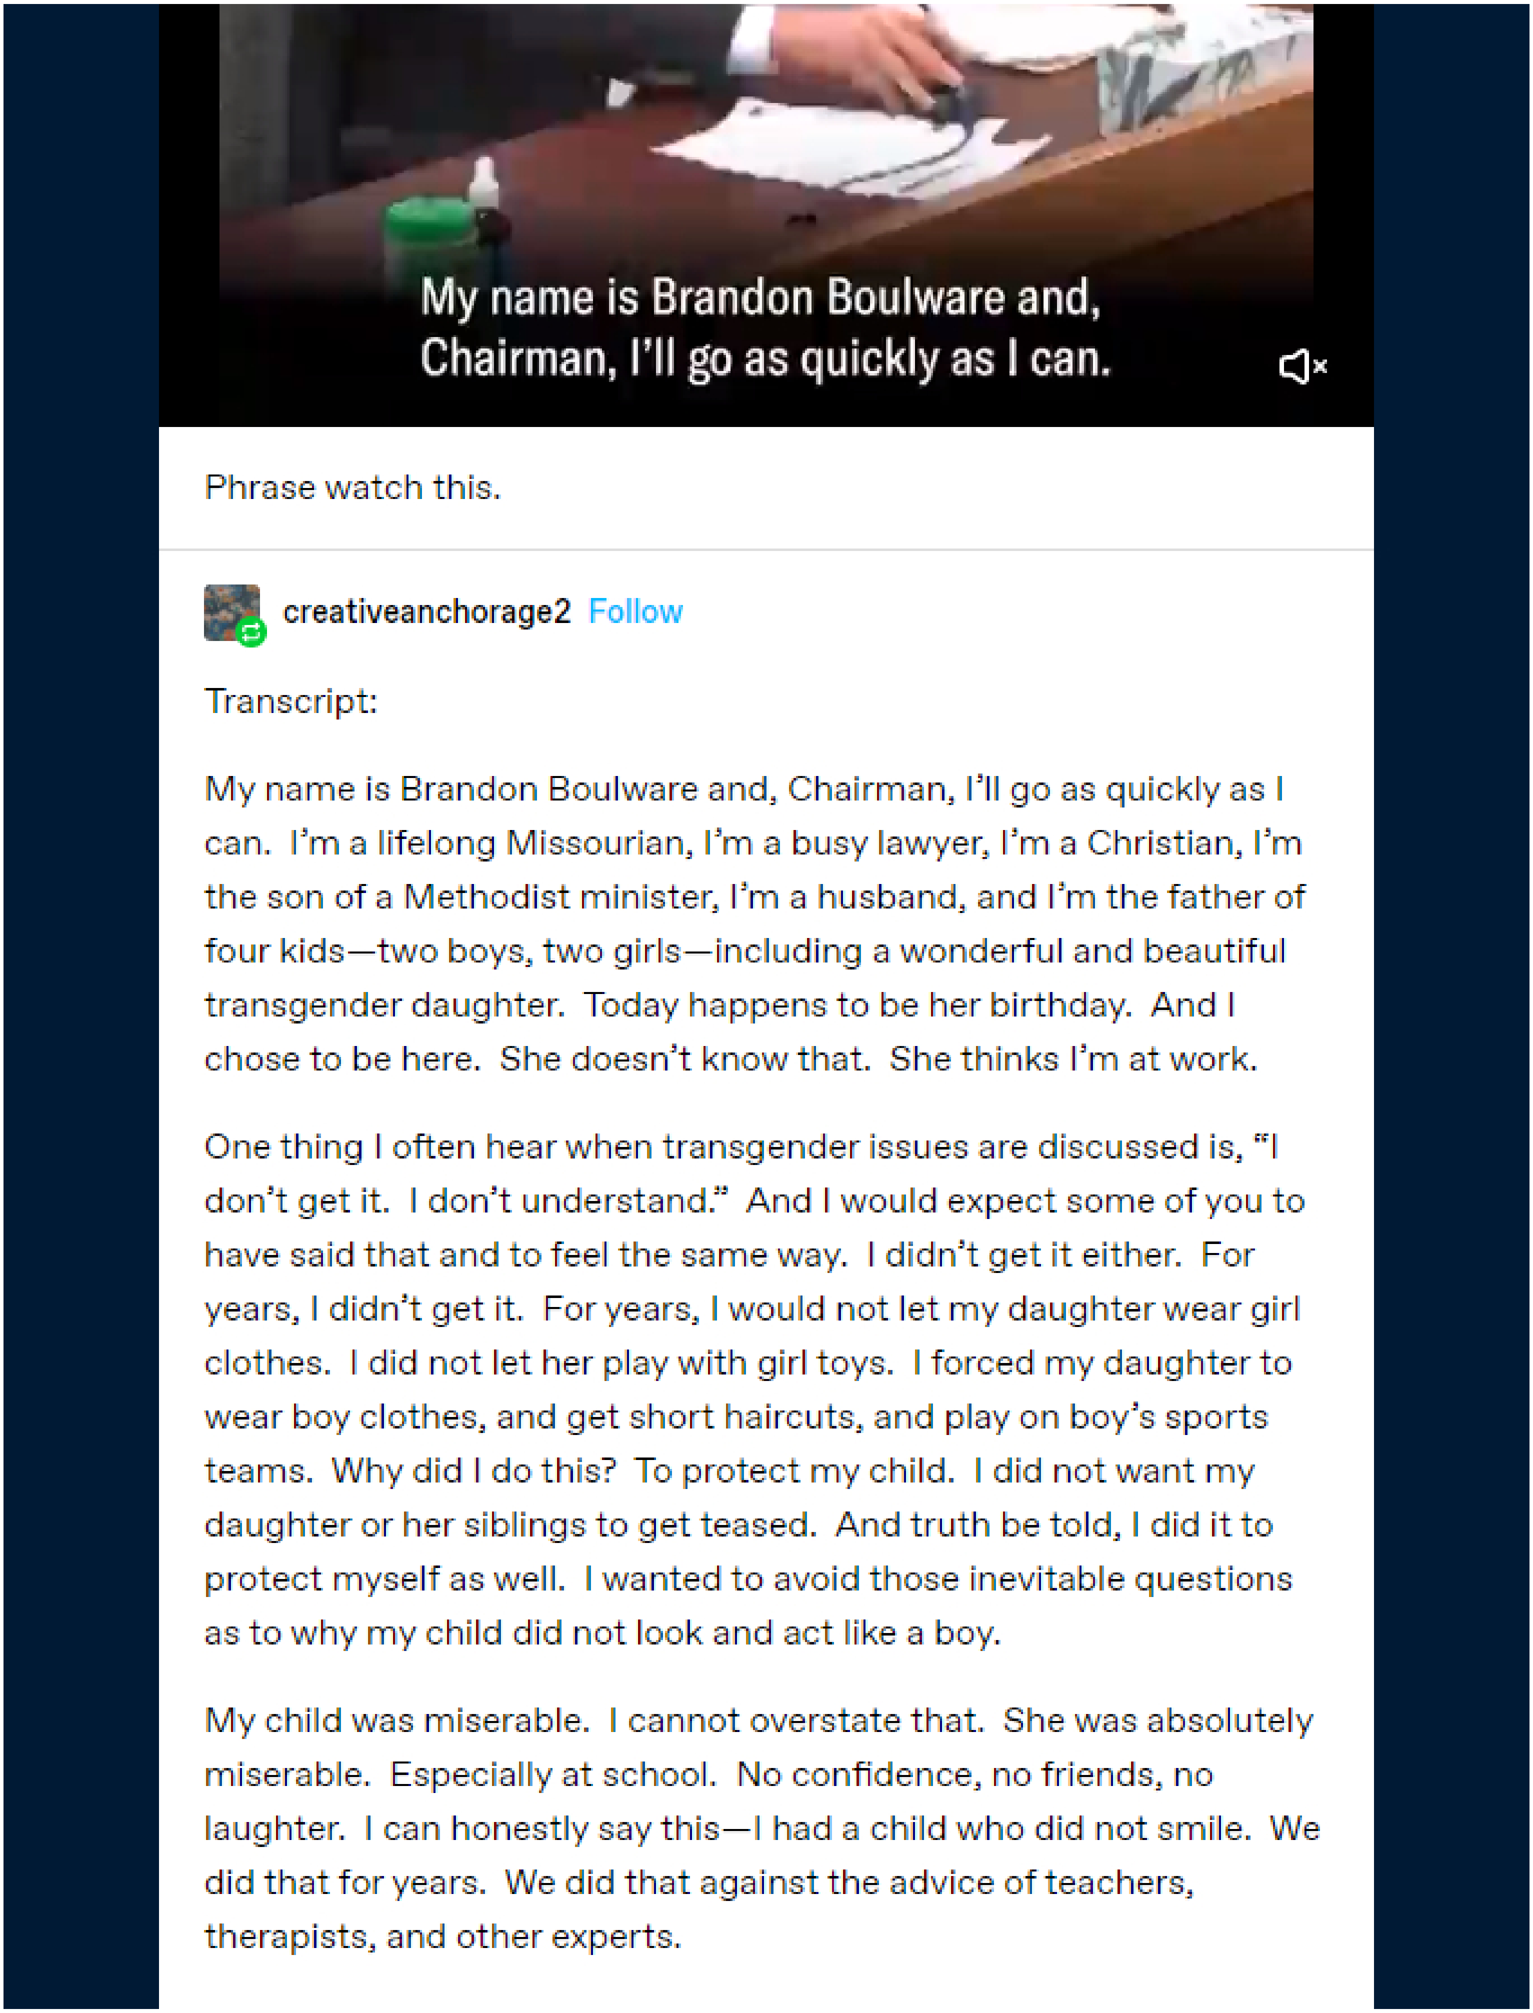
Missouri House of Representatives Emerging Issues Committee Hearing on HJR 53
March 3, 2021
ACLU



My name is Brandon Boulware and,
Chairman, I'll go as quickly as I can.

Phrase watch this.

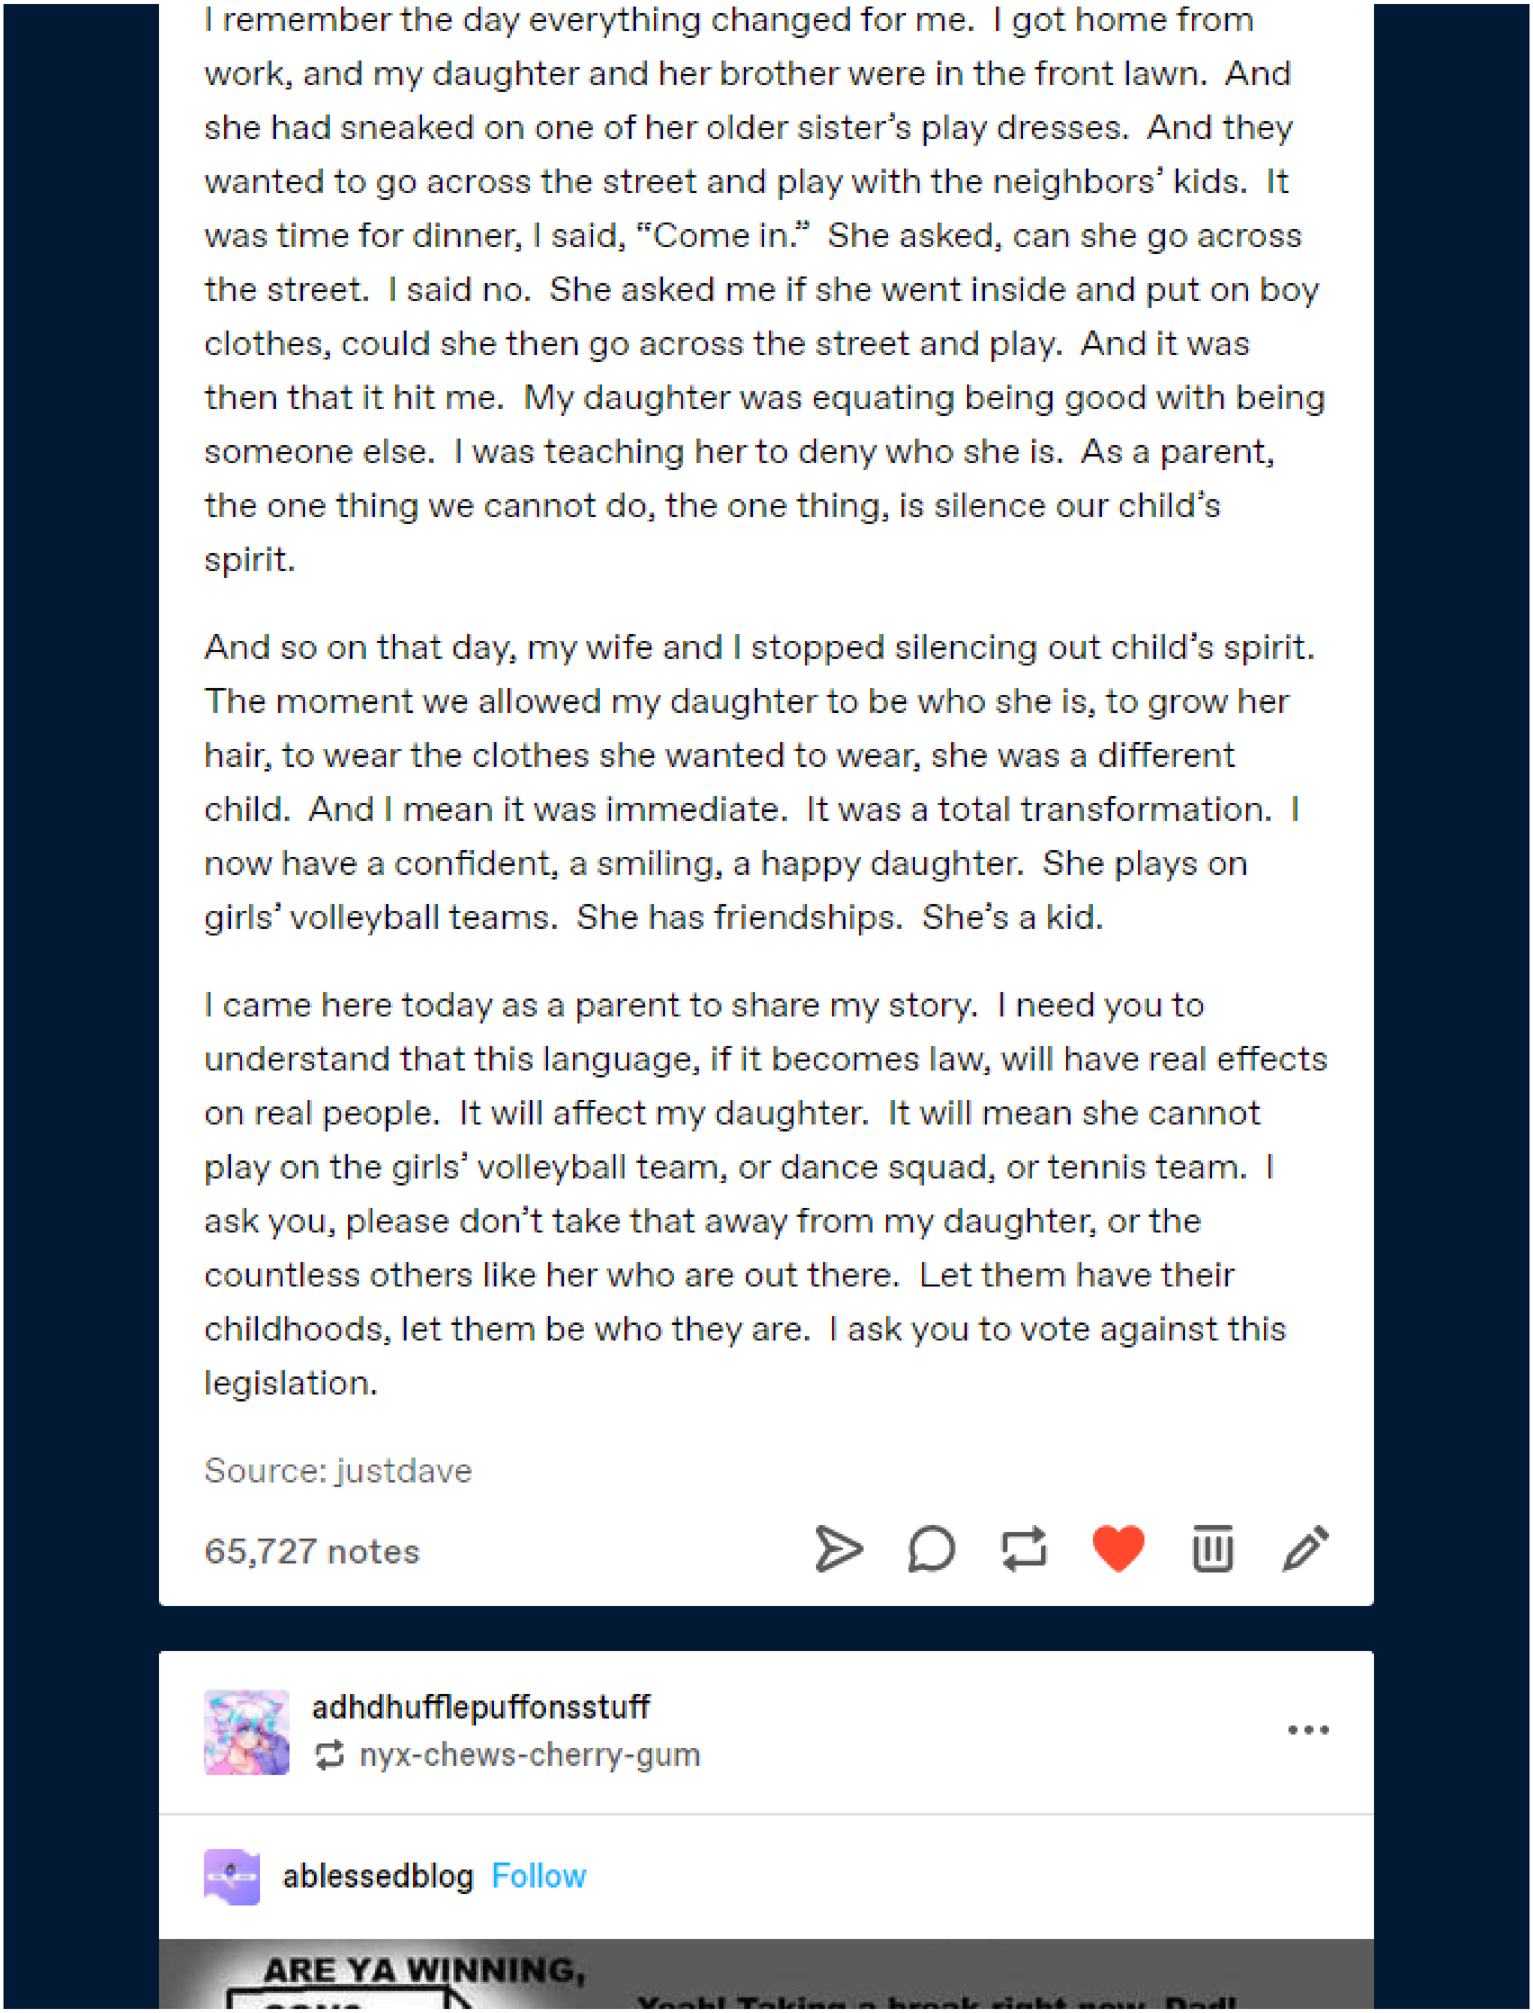
creativeanchorage2 Follow

Transcript:

My name is Brandon Boulware and, Chairman, I'll go as quickly as I can. I'm a lifelong Missourian, I'm a busy lawyer, I'm a Christian, I'm the son of a Methodist minister, I'm a husband, and I'm the father of four kids—two boys, two girls—including a wonderful and beautiful transgender daughter. Today happens to be her birthday. And I chose to be here. She doesn't know that. She thinks I'm at work.

One thing I often hear when transgender issues are discussed is, "I don't get it. I don't understand." And I would expect some of you to have said that and to feel the same way. I didn't get it either. For years, I didn't get it. For years, I would not let my daughter wear girl clothes. I did not let her play with girl toys. I forced my daughter to wear boy clothes, and get short haircuts, and play on boy's sports teams. Why did I do this? To protect my child. I did not want my daughter or her siblings to get teased. And truth be told, I did it to protect myself as well. I wanted to avoid those inevitable questions as to why my child did not look and act like a boy.

My child was miserable. I cannot overstate that. She was absolutely miserable. Especially at school. No confidence, no friends, no laughter. I can honestly say this—I had a child who did not smile. We did that for years. We did that against the advice of teachers, therapists, and other experts.



I remember the day everything changed for me. I got home from work, and my daughter and her brother were in the front lawn. And she had sneaked on one of her older sister's play dresses. And they wanted to go across the street and play with the neighbors' kids. It was time for dinner, I said, "Come in." She asked, can she go across the street. I said no. She asked me if she went inside and put on boy clothes, could she then go across the street and play. And it was then that it hit me. My daughter was equating being good with being someone else. I was teaching her to deny who she is. As a parent, the one thing we cannot do, the one thing, is silence our child's spirit.

And so on that day, my wife and I stopped silencing out child's spirit. The moment we allowed my daughter to be who she is, to grow her hair, to wear the clothes she wanted to wear, she was a different child. And I mean it was immediate. It was a total transformation. I now have a confident, a smiling, a happy daughter. She plays on girls' volleyball teams. She has friendships. She's a kid.

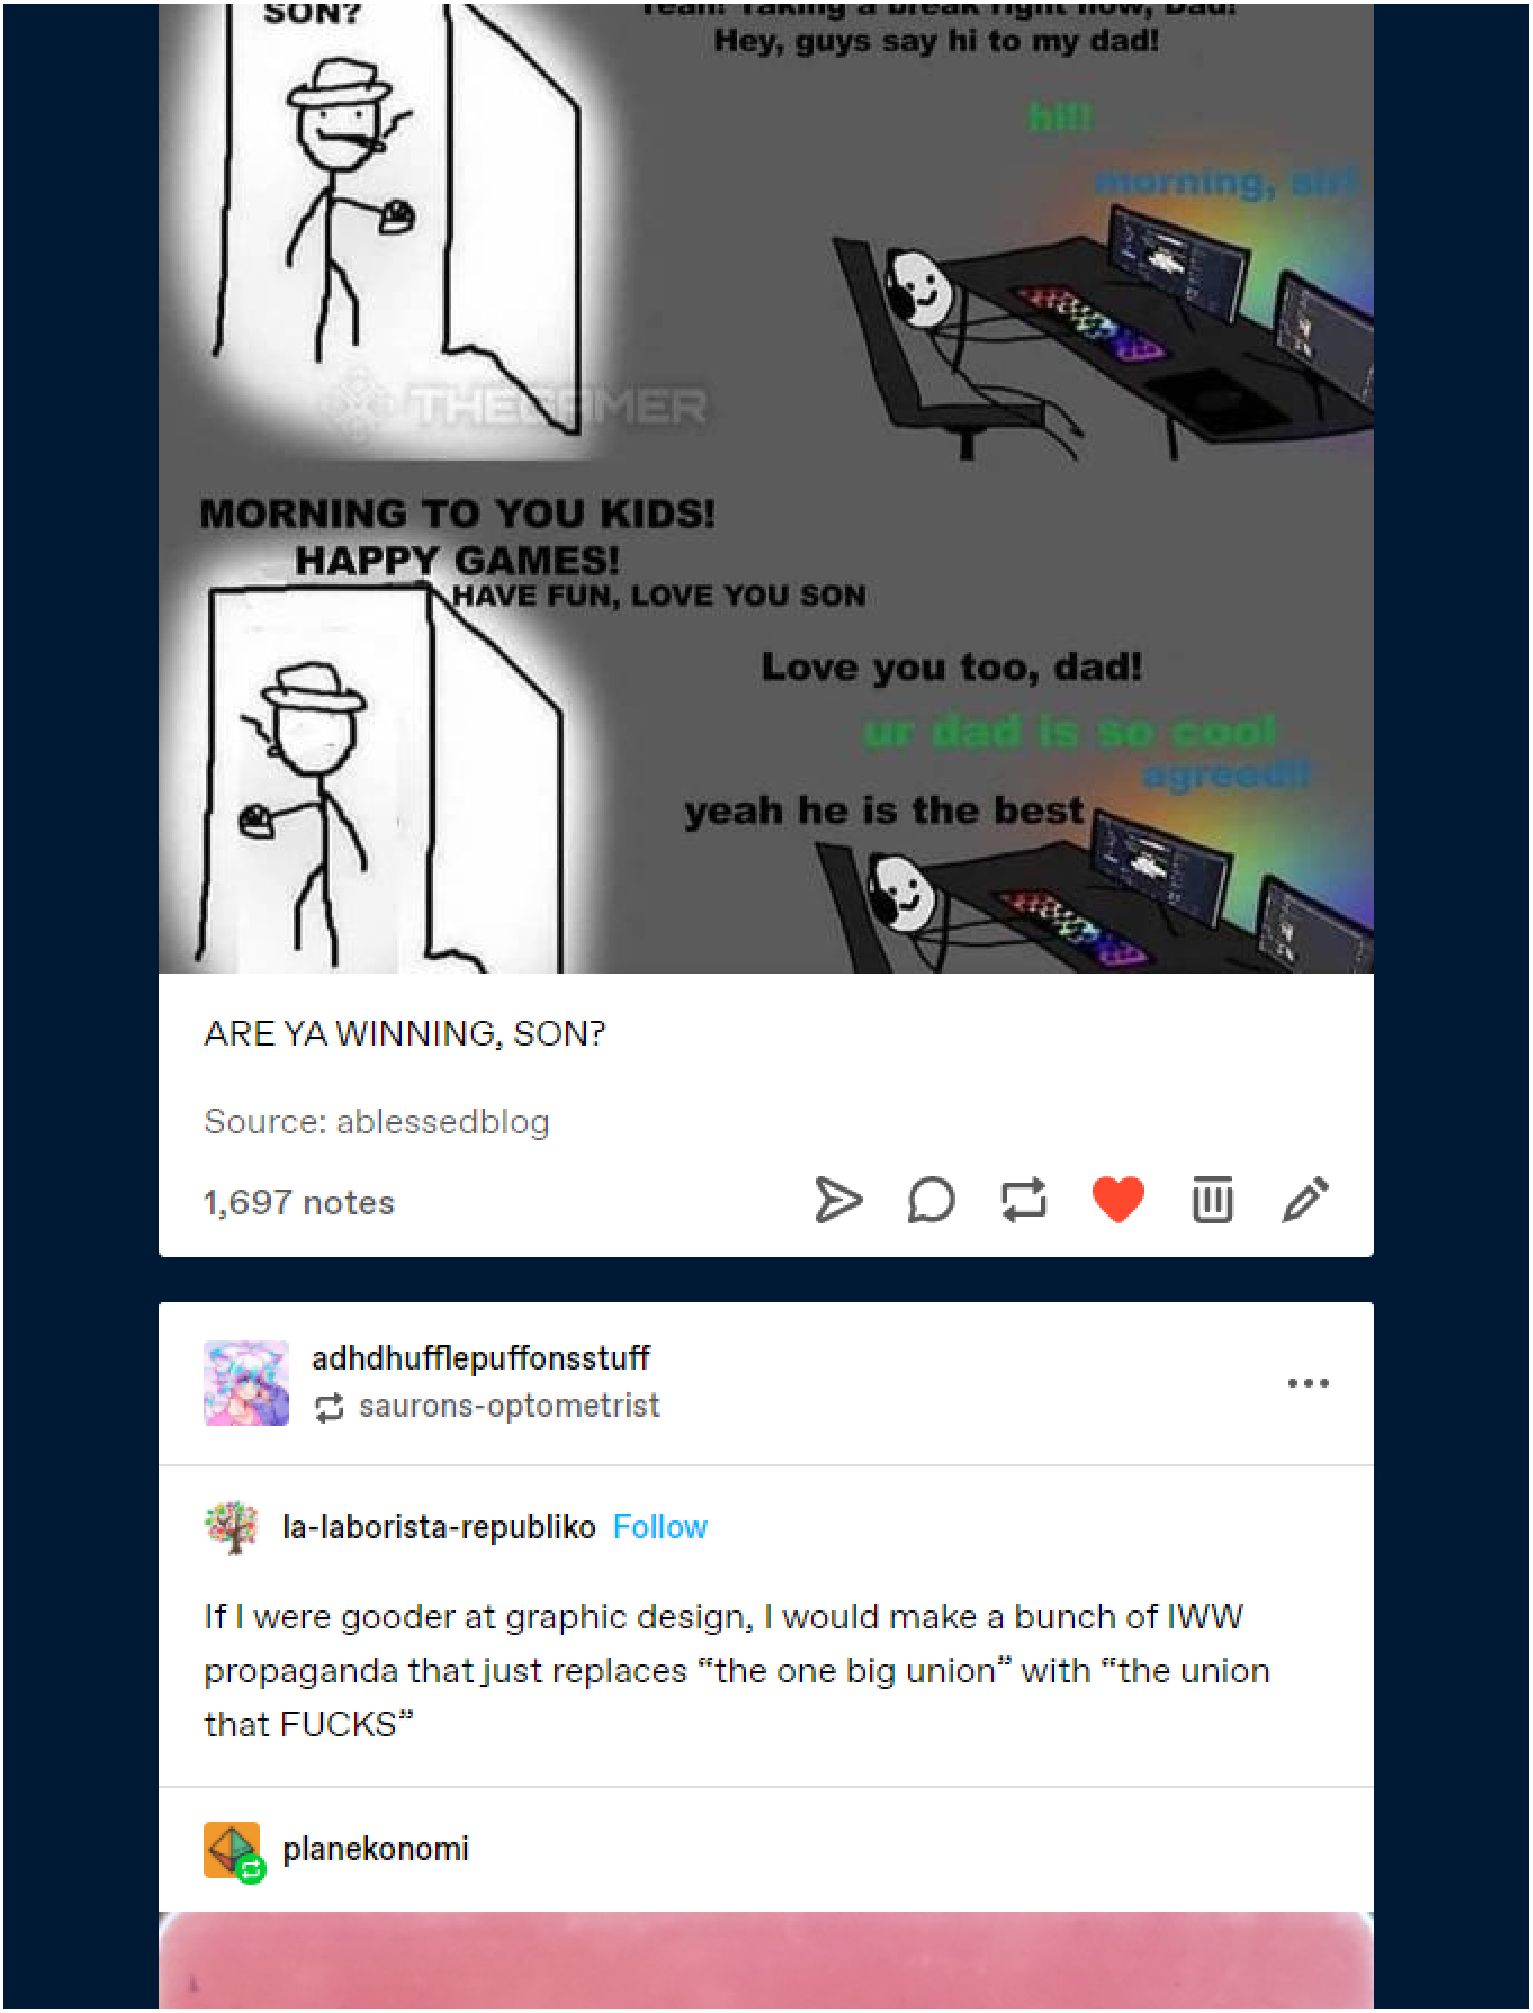
I came here today as a parent to share my story. I need you to understand that this language, if it becomes law, will have real effects on real people. It will affect my daughter. It will mean she cannot play on the girls' volleyball team, or dance squad, or tennis team. I ask you, please don't take that away from my daughter, or the countless others like her who are out there. Let them have their childhoods, let them be who they are. I ask you to vote against this legislation.

Source: justdave

65,727 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
nyx-chews-cherry-gum

ablessedblog Follow



SON?
Yeah! Taking a break right now, Dad!
Hey, guys say hi to my dad!
hi!! morning, sir!
MORNING TO YOU KIDS!
HAPPY GAMES!
HAVE FUN, LOVE YOU SON Love you too, dad!
ur dad is so cool agreed!! yeah he is the best

ARE YA WINNING, SON?

Source: ablessedblog

1,697 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
saurons-optometrist

la-laborista-republiko Follow

If I were gooder at graphic design, I would make a bunch of IWW propaganda that just replaces "the one big union" with "the union that FUCKS"

planekonomi

THE UNION THAT FUCKS baseline graphics

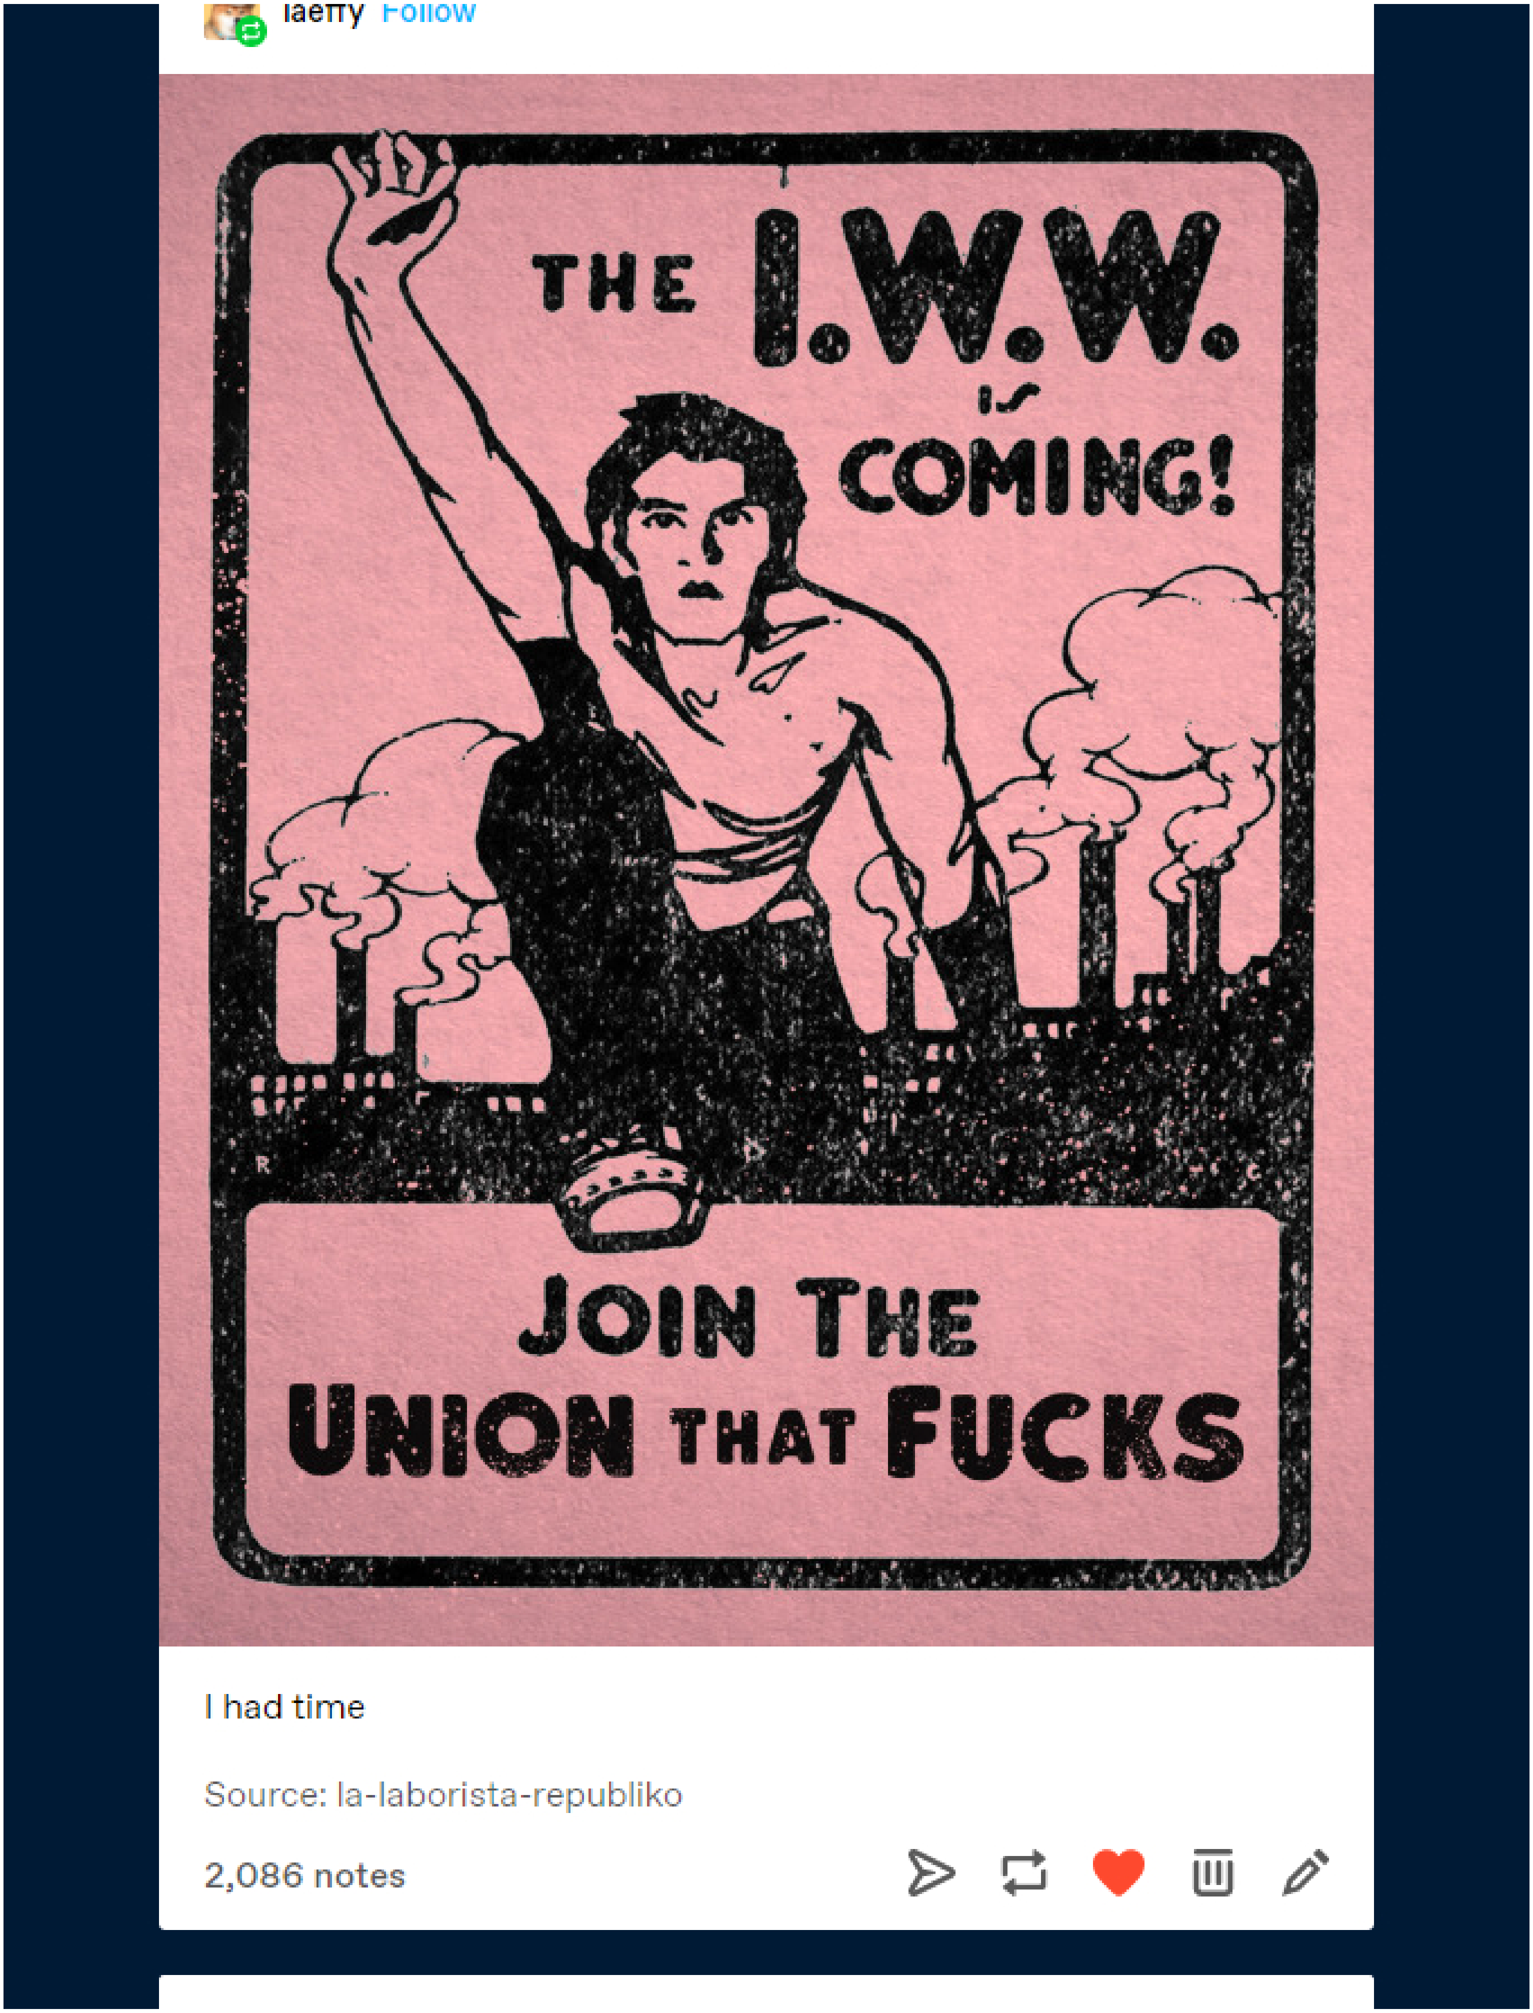
I only have my phone rn but here you go.



laeffy Follow
THE I.W.W. is COMING!
JOIN THE UNION THAT FUCKS

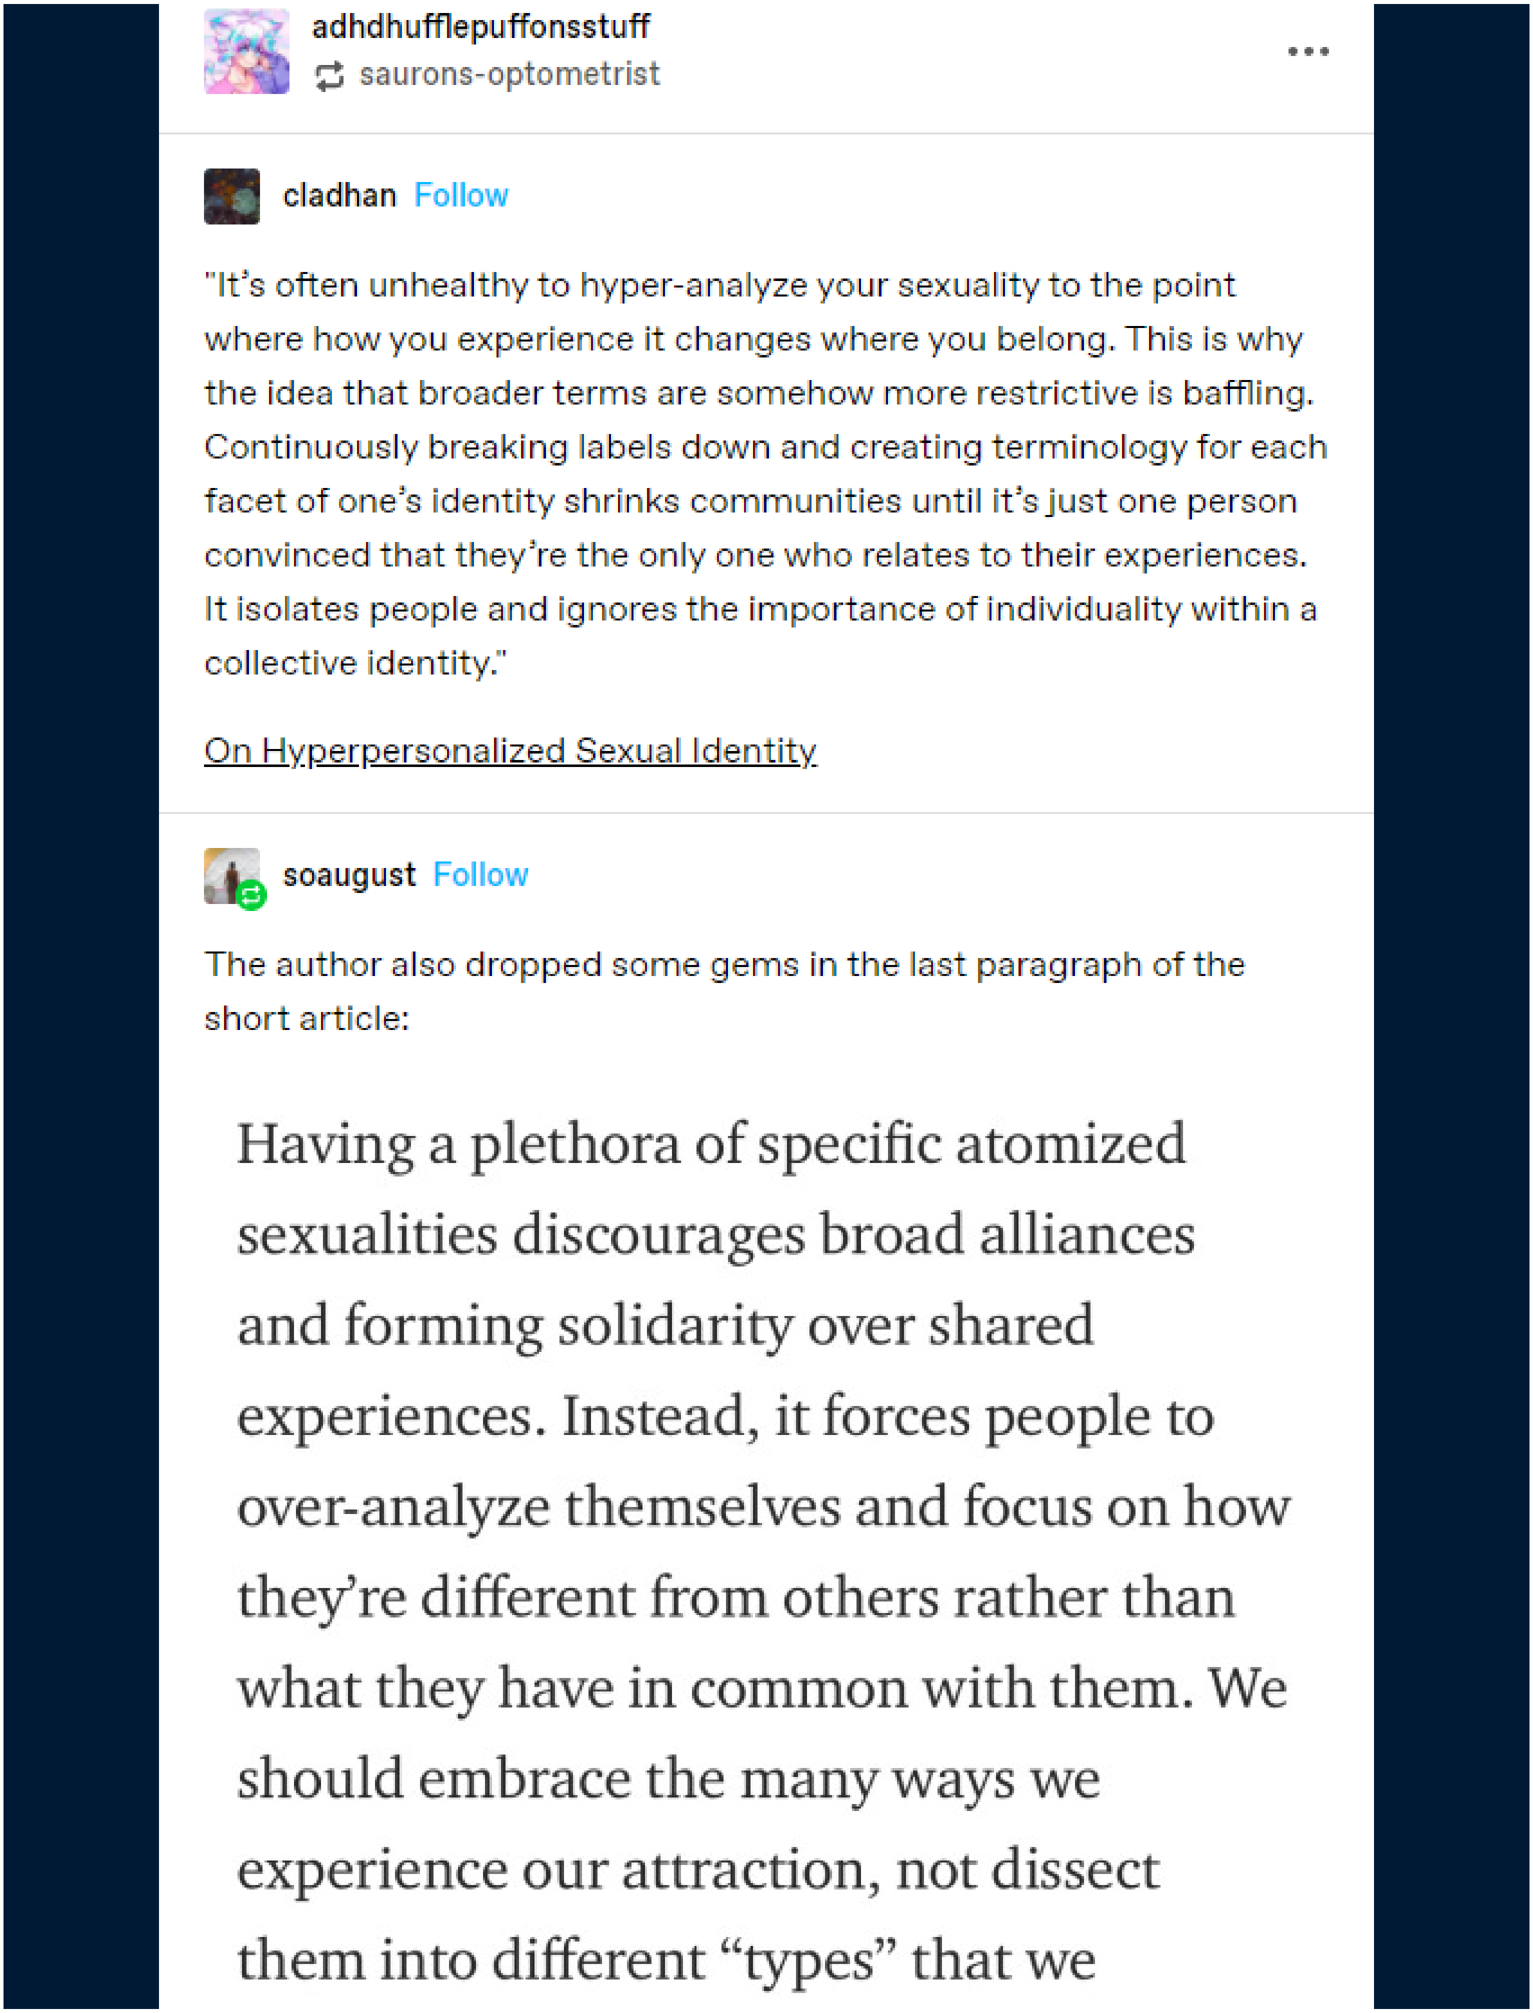
I had time

Source: la-laborista-republiko

2,086 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
saurons-optometrist

cladhan

"It's often unhealthy to hyper-analyze your sexuality to the point where how you experience it changes where you belong. This is why the idea that broader terms are somehow more restrictive is baffling. Continuously breaking labels down and creating terminology for each facet of one's identity shrinks communities until it's just one person convinced that they're the only one who relates to their experiences. It isolates people and ignores the importance of individuality within a collective identity."

On Hyperpersonalized Sexual Identity

soaugust

The author also dropped some gems in the last paragraph of the short article:

> Having a plethora of specific atomized sexualities discourages broad alliances and forming solidarity over shared experiences. Instead, it forces people to over-analyze themselves and focus on how they're different from others rather than what they have in common with them. We should embrace the many ways we experience our attraction, not dissect them into different "types" that we mustn't ever conflate — sectioning everyone off over the most minor contrasts does us no favors. We should approach sexual liberation with collectivism, not individualism.

Source: cladhan

27,034 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
saurons-optometrist

darkcomedies Follow

there are other aspects of how adults engage with children's media that are far more concerning than this but the way grown people "engage critically" with children's television and film is insane

darkcomedies Follow

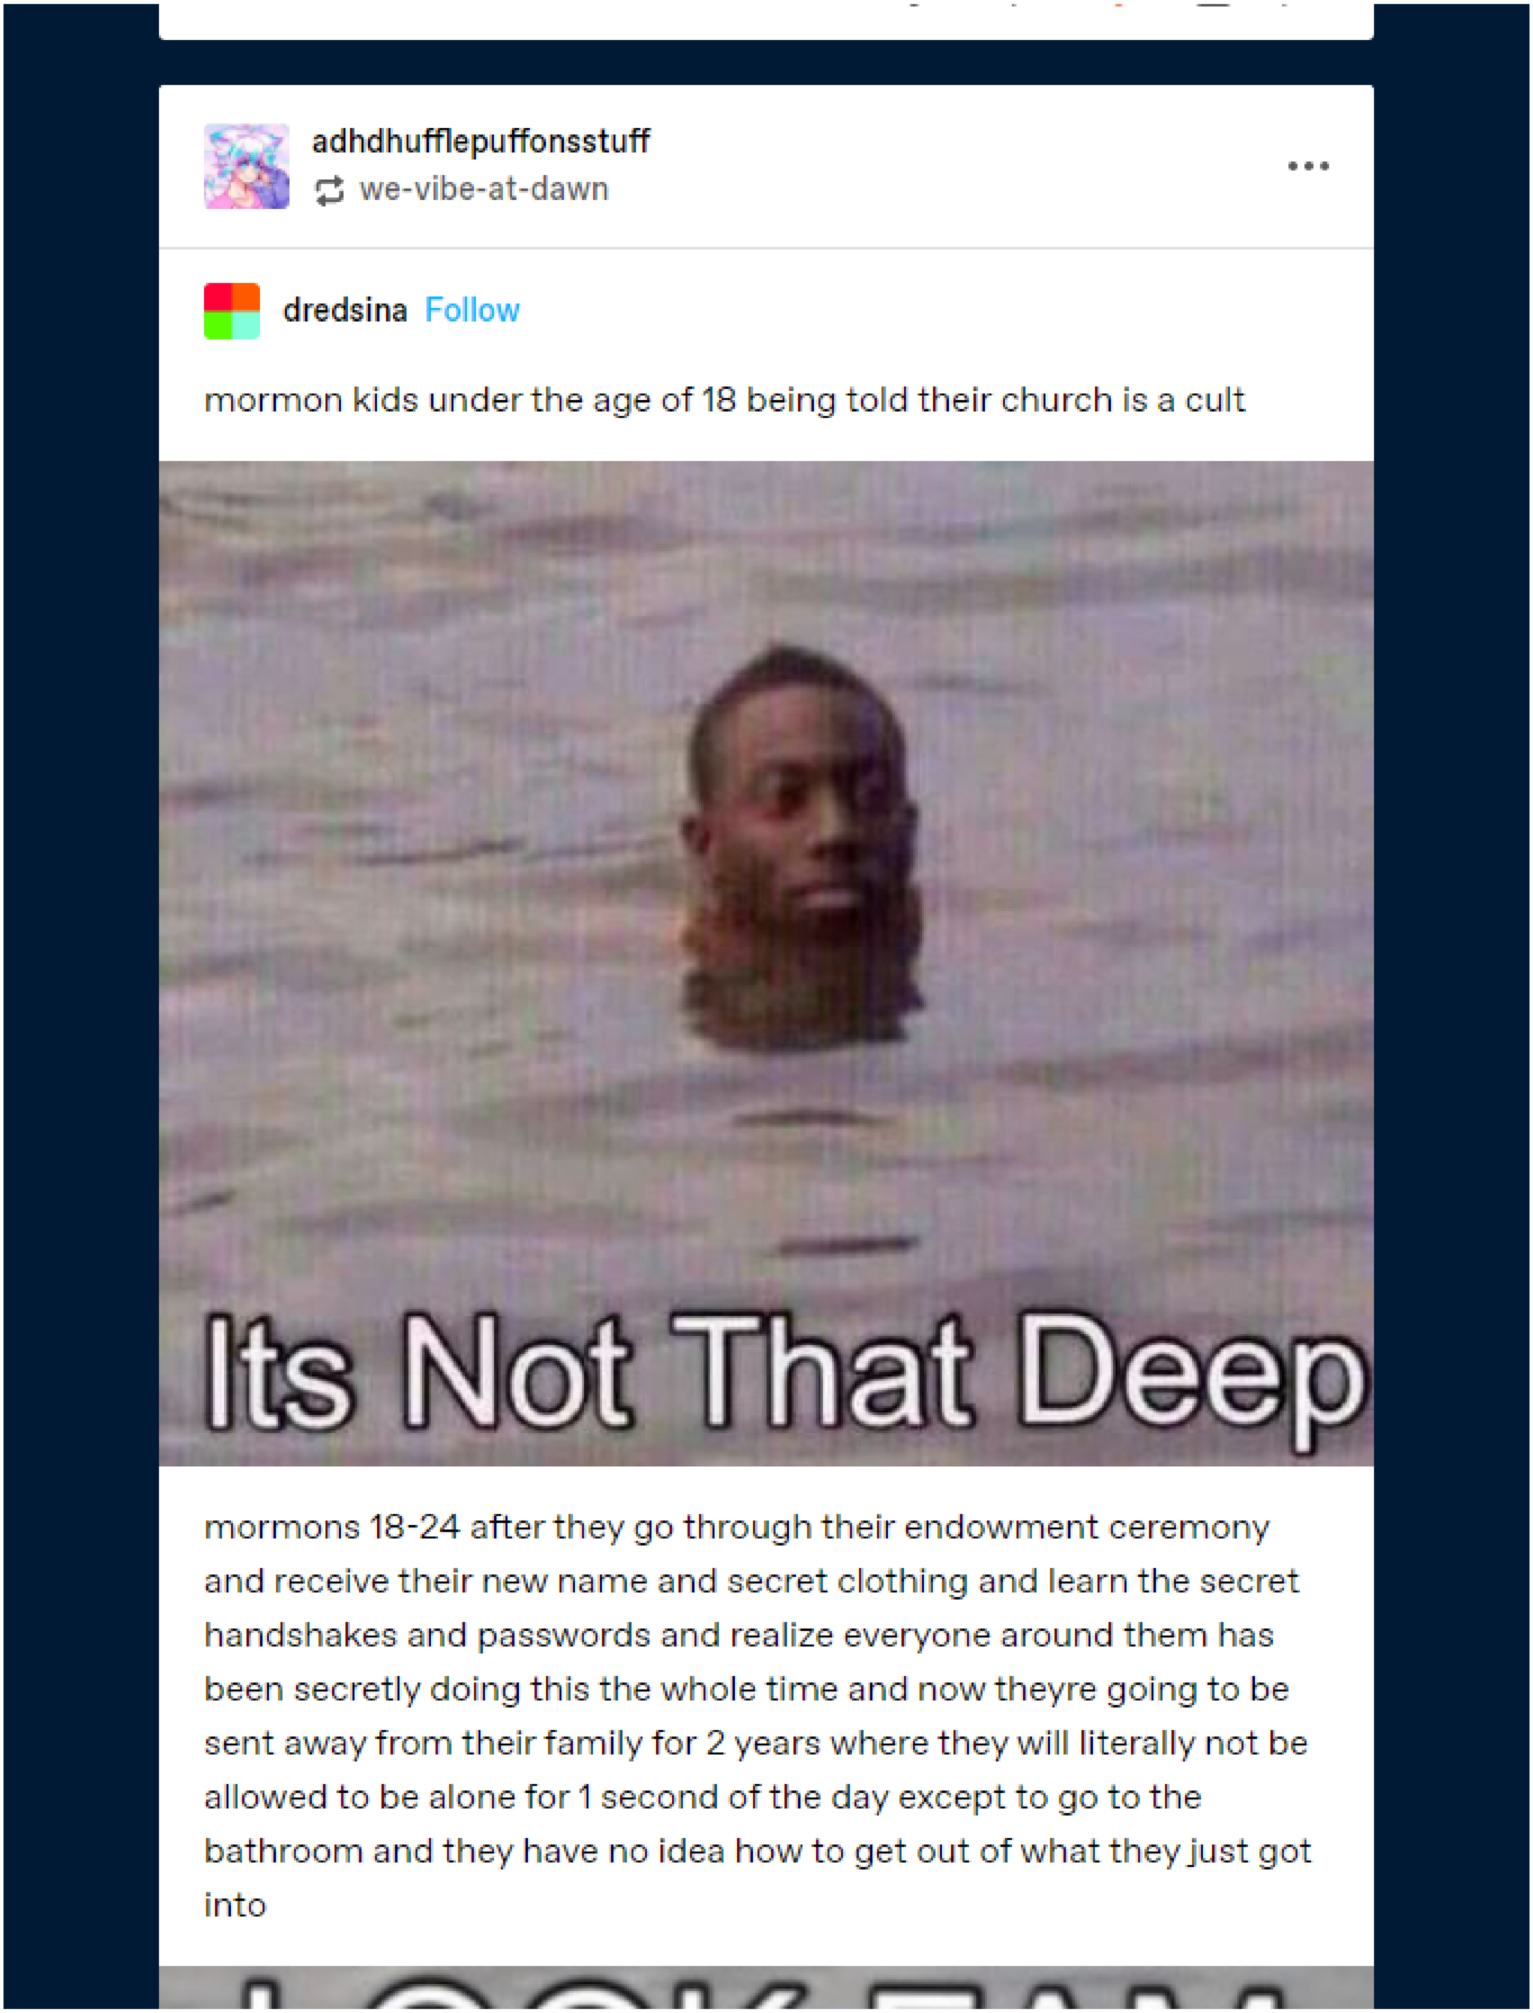
sorry the 13-year-old in a bear hat and his shape shifting dog brother didn't tackle mortality this week, matthew. doesn't mean it lost thematic or artistic value. maybe you should watch breaking bad or something

wombatking Follow

The show about colorful rock people isn't endorsing fascism because it's half-rock boy hero believes you can fix villains through the power of magic pink love, Samantha.

Source: darkcomedies

47,198 notes



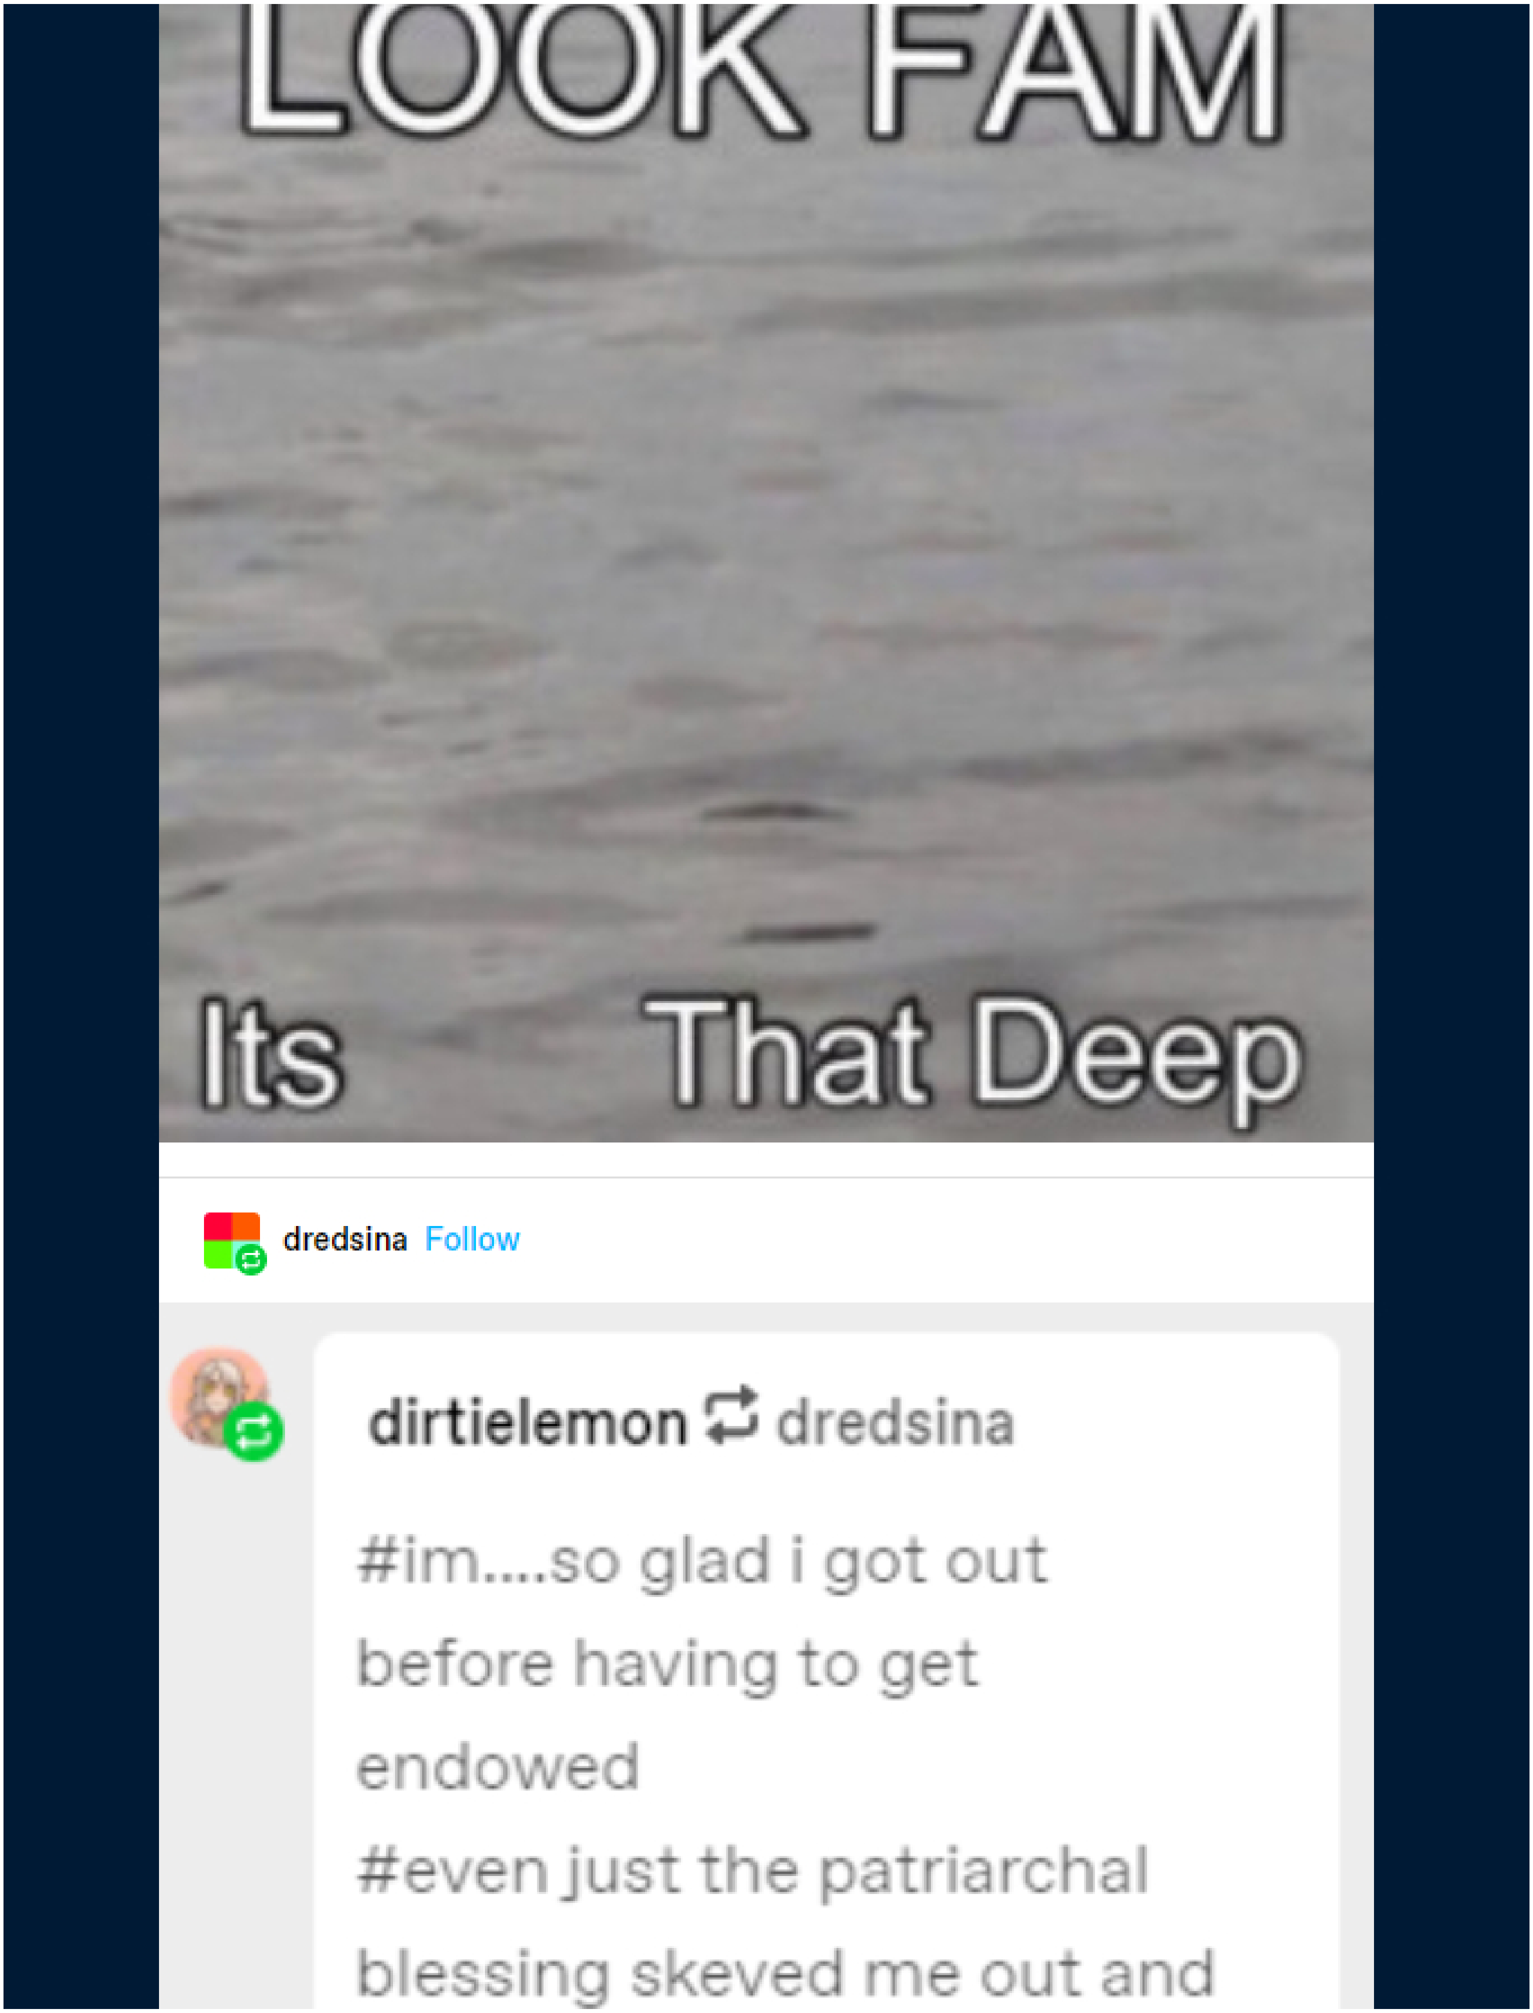
adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
we-vibe-at-dawn
•••
Follow

dredsina

mormon kids under the age of 18 being told their church is a cult

Its Not That Deep

mormons 18-24 after they go through their endowment ceremony and receive their new name and secret clothing and learn the secret handshakes and passwords and realize everyone around them has been secretly doing this the whole time and now theyre going to be sent away from their family for 2 years where they will literally not be allowed to be alone for 1 second of the day except to go to the bathroom and they have no idea how to get out of what they just got into



LOOK FAM
Its That Deep Follow

dredsina

dirtielemon dredsina

#im....so glad i got out before having to get endowed

#even just the patriarchal blessing skeved me out and > made me wanna run for the hills

one of the only perks of being a mormon woman is that i didn’t get my endowment at age 19 and i had a little extra time to mature and be out on my own. that’s all i needed to make a clean break and i got out at 21 before i wouldve gotten my endowment.

kittleimp Follow

wait what? can anyone elaborate on this? because I had no idea this was a thing

dredsina Follow

basically when youre a mormon kid growing up you realize your church is a little strict but you’re like whatever. i have friends at church because i go to church 6 days a week and everyone around me is affirming that this is the right thing to do and we have special knowledge no one else has otherwise everyone would be like this. so youve gotta go teach them & it’s the greatest thing in the world to be a missionary. also the temple is beautiful and amazing and spiritual and holy and everyone wants to go there. but it’s a secret! :) because it’s holy and sacred then if youre a boy and u turn 18 they’re like wow amazing!!! you get to go on a mission and be like all the great men around you!! and now you get to go through the temple! so #blessed!

and then you go through the temple and all the above mentioned SECRET CULTY SHIT happens (EXPLANATION HERE http://mormoncurtain.infymus.com/topic_templeceremonies.html) and youre shipped off to a strange place where everything you eat, wear, go, listen to and do is controlled, and you’re not allowed to talk to your family or friends (except through a once-a-week email) and you literally are being watched by your companion at all. times.

some might say “you can leave at any time” but consider that i never went on a mission and i never went through the temple and i still consider leaving the mormon church the hardest thing i ever did. you have no social network outside the church. you are lacking major knowledge and skills. you have to grapple with the fact that you may never see your family again.

chortletortoise Follow

I’m reblogging this again bc I have Thoughts.

Leaving is such an isolating experience. No one inside wants anything to do with you anymore and no one outside understands the scale of messed up that Mormonism is. Like it’s easy to point and laugh at the ridiculousness, but it’s literally a cult. There’s so much trauma involved and there’s trauma in leaving.

People on the outside don’t understand how hard it is to leave. I grew up where all my friends were catholic and are no longer religious and they’re like “well everyone hates church, you just stop going” but Mormonism isn’t like that at all. For starters I had to get a lawyer involved to leave and then the ostracization from the entire community that nurtured me growing up was just the cherry on top. It’s effectively being shunned. Everyone you were forced to call sister and brother growing up no longer wants anything to do with you. And you deserve it, because you shouldn’t have fallen for the anti-Mormon lies.

Leaving The Church was the hardest thing I ever did and my family accepts me so I’m a lucky one. But they still ardently adhere to the institution that hurt me and has resulted in the deaths of people I love. I will never understand.

smallest-feeblest-boggart

“There’s so much trauma involved and there’s trauma in leaving.”

leaving.

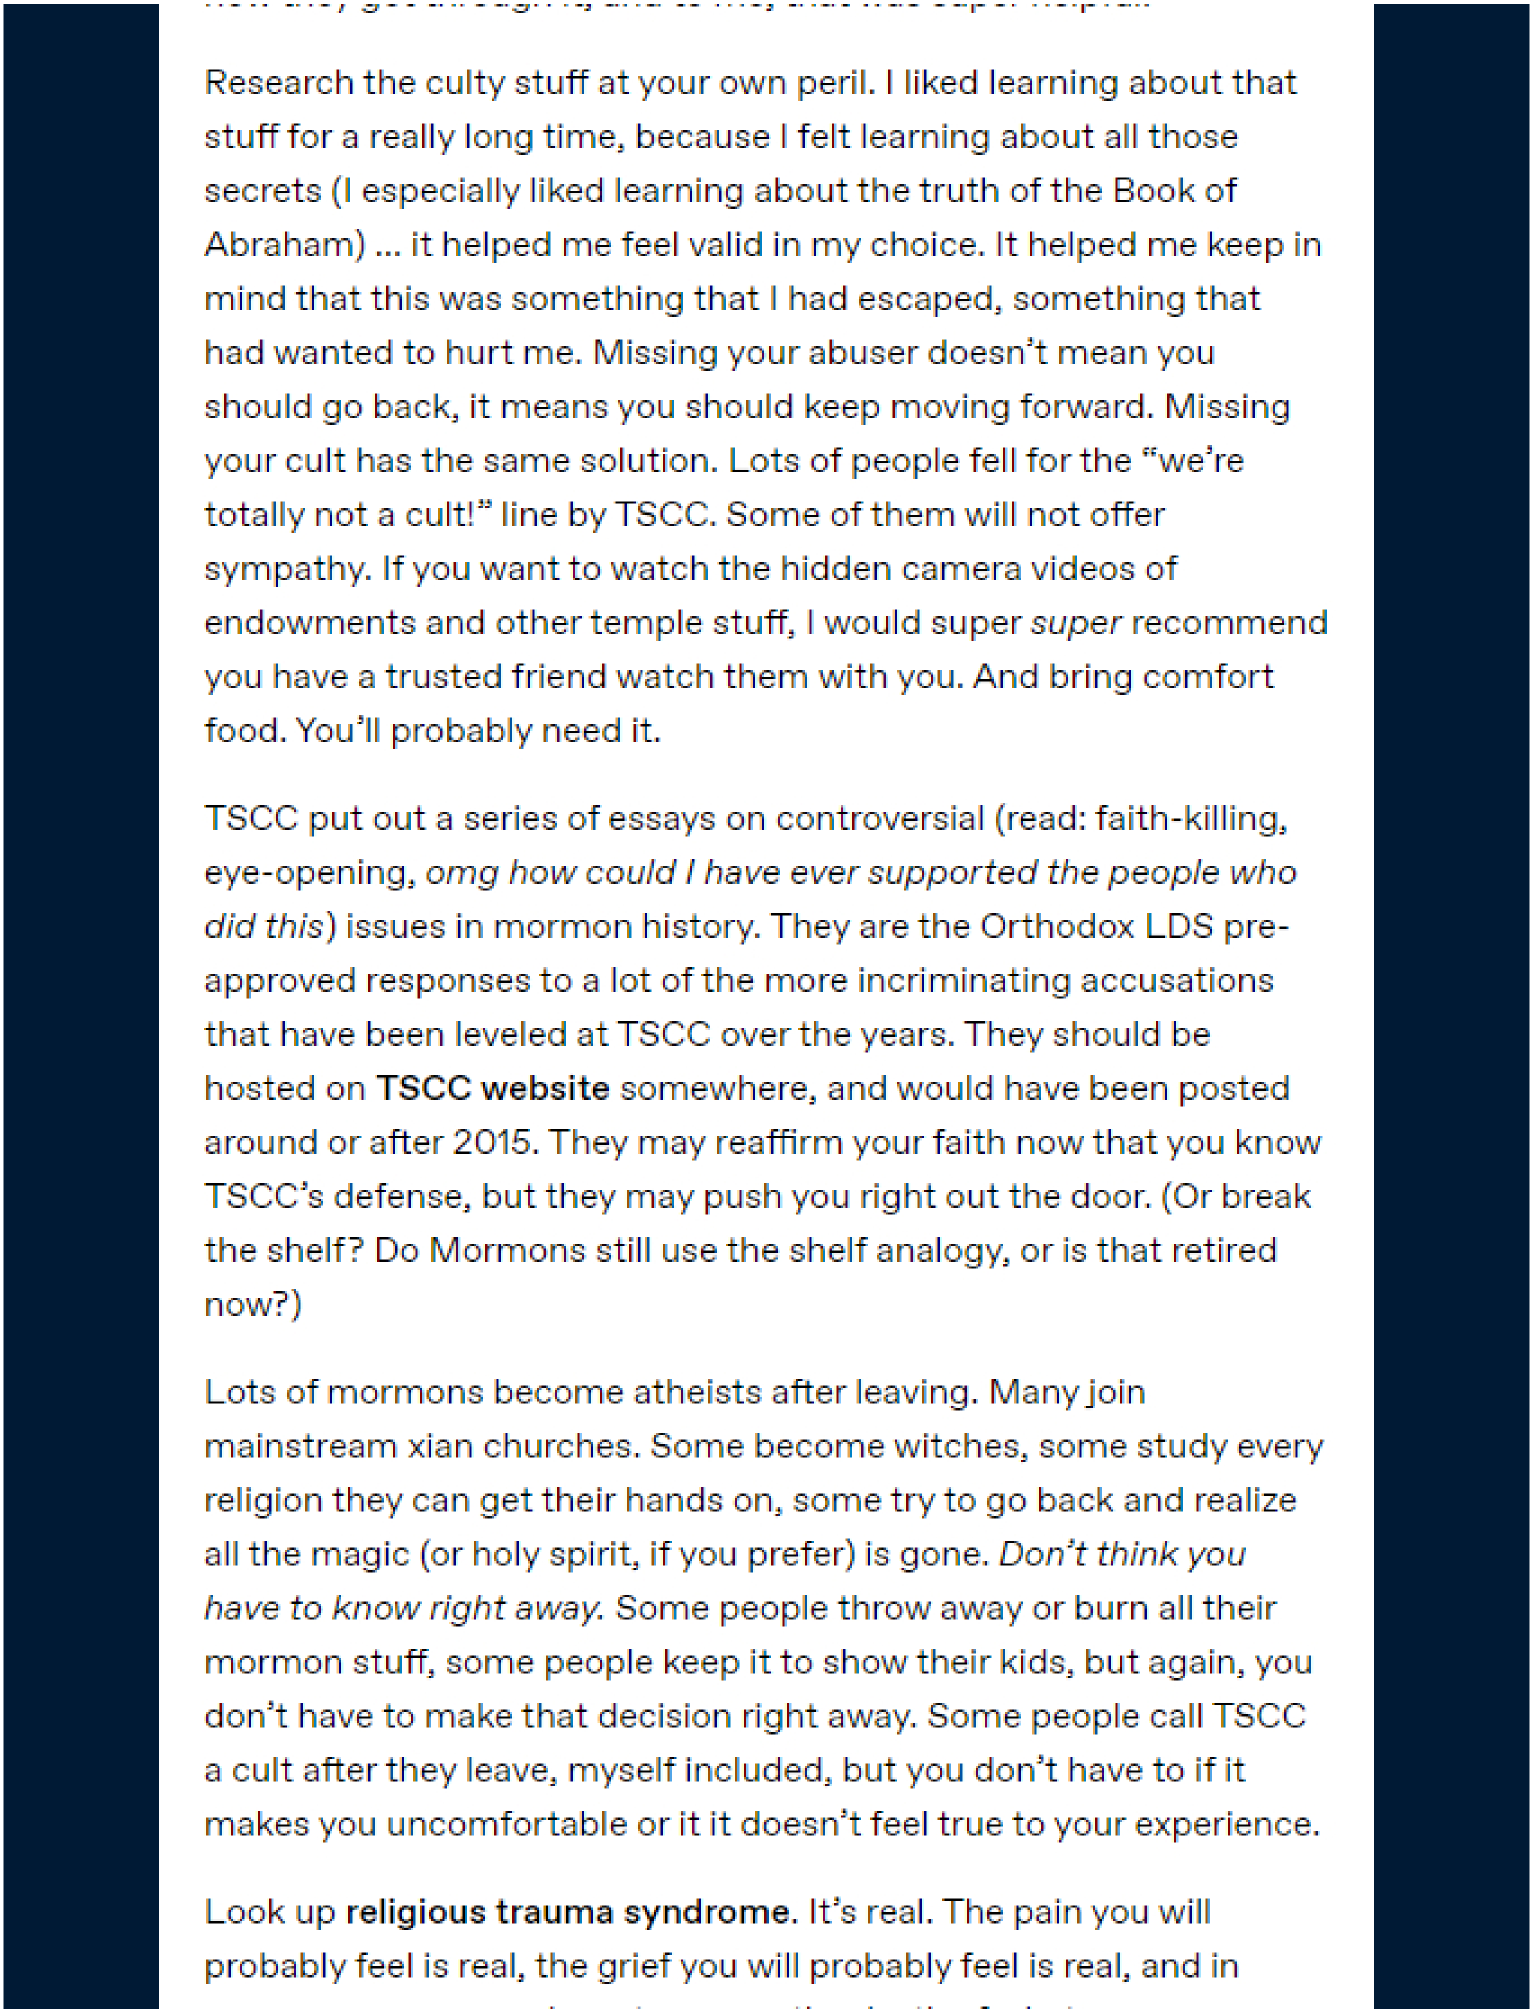
It's easy for people looking in from the outside to forget this. Thank you for the reminder. Can anyone recommend resources for young Mormons looking to explore their options?

periwinklepromise Follow

Please note: this post will be directly addressed to those hypothetical young Mormons

If you know you're ready to leave, use quitmormon.com. It's run by the guy from reddit who is now famous in exmormon circles for offering absolutely free legal services to anybody who needs help leaving. You can give your church id number if you know it, but it's not required (I never memorized mine, and I sure wasn't going to ask for it). He takes care of everything. This keeps TSCC (the so-called church) from getting all your latest info and keeps them from hassling you or harassing you. They have to talk to your lawyer instead. Pre 2015, it felt almost impossible to try to leave, but it's a lot easier now! The years of picketing General Conference to force an excommunication trial are over!

Find a support system. Lean on your friends that have never been mormon, any family members who left, anyone you know who left. I'm an exmormon happy to answer any questions, and I'm sure there are plenty others in the notes who would be super willing to be supportive too. Exmormon groups are many and varied now, and it's best to find the one that vibes for you. There's a subreddit that's popular, but I personally used - and I know this sounds weird, since I don't have kids - a forum called Mormonism & More on the site babycenter.com. It was started several years ago by some mormons who had questions they weren't allowed to ask on the normal mormon board (because that board required uplifting, mormon-approved answers at all times). It's since shifted to ex-mormons or people who want to leave but can't right now because of family situations. Even though the threads were years old, I spent weeks on that forum, reading about what other people had gone through and how they got through it, and to me, that was super helpful.



how they got through it, and to me, that was super helpful.

Research the culty stuff at your own peril. I liked learning about that stuff for a really long time, because I felt learning about all those secrets (I especially liked learning about the truth of the Book of Abraham) … it helped me feel valid in my choice. It helped me keep in mind that this was something that I had escaped, something that had wanted to hurt me. Missing your abuser doesn't mean you should go back, it means you should keep moving forward. Missing your cult has the same solution. Lots of people fell for the "we're totally not a cult!" line by TSCC. Some of them will not offer sympathy. If you want to watch the hidden camera videos of endowments and other temple stuff, I would super super recommend you have a trusted friend watch them with you. And bring comfort food. You'll probably need it.

TSCC put out a series of essays on controversial (read: faith-killing, eye-opening, omg how could I have ever supported the people who did this) issues in mormon history. They are the Orthodox LDS pre-approved responses to a lot of the more incriminating accusations that have been leveled at TSCC over the years. They should be hosted on TSCC website somewhere, and would have been posted around or after 2015. They may reaffirm your faith now that you know TSCC's defense, but they may push you right out the door. (Or break the shelf? Do Mormons still use the shelf analogy, or is that retired now?)

Lots of mormons become atheists after leaving. Many join mainstream xian churches. Some become witches, some study every religion they can get their hands on, some try to go back and realize all the magic (or holy spirit, if you prefer) is gone. Don't think you have to know right away. Some people throw away or burn all their mormon stuff, some people keep it to show their kids, but again, you don't have to make that decision right away. Some people call TSCC a cult after they leave, myself included, but you don't have to if it makes you uncomfortable or it it doesn't feel true to your experience.

Look up religious trauma syndrome. It's real. The pain you will probably feel is real, the grief you will probably feel is real, and in many ways, you may have to mourn the death of what you were always told Life Will Be For You.

And learn that the world is not half as evil as TSCC told you. Your coworkers who drink a beer at the end of the day are not evil or abusive. Your friends who wear sleeveless shirts are not evil or promiscuous. You're allowed to wear short shorts! You're allowed to drink coffee! You're allowed to ask questions in a faith community without being silenced or condemned! You're allowed to not want kids! There's a lot of unlearning here.

TLDR? You have options. You have freedom. Find nonmormon friends who will support you. Be kind to yourself.

Source: dredsina

96,058 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

we-vibe-at-dawn

jenny-jinya

Why Homosexuality is NATURAL and IMPORTANT

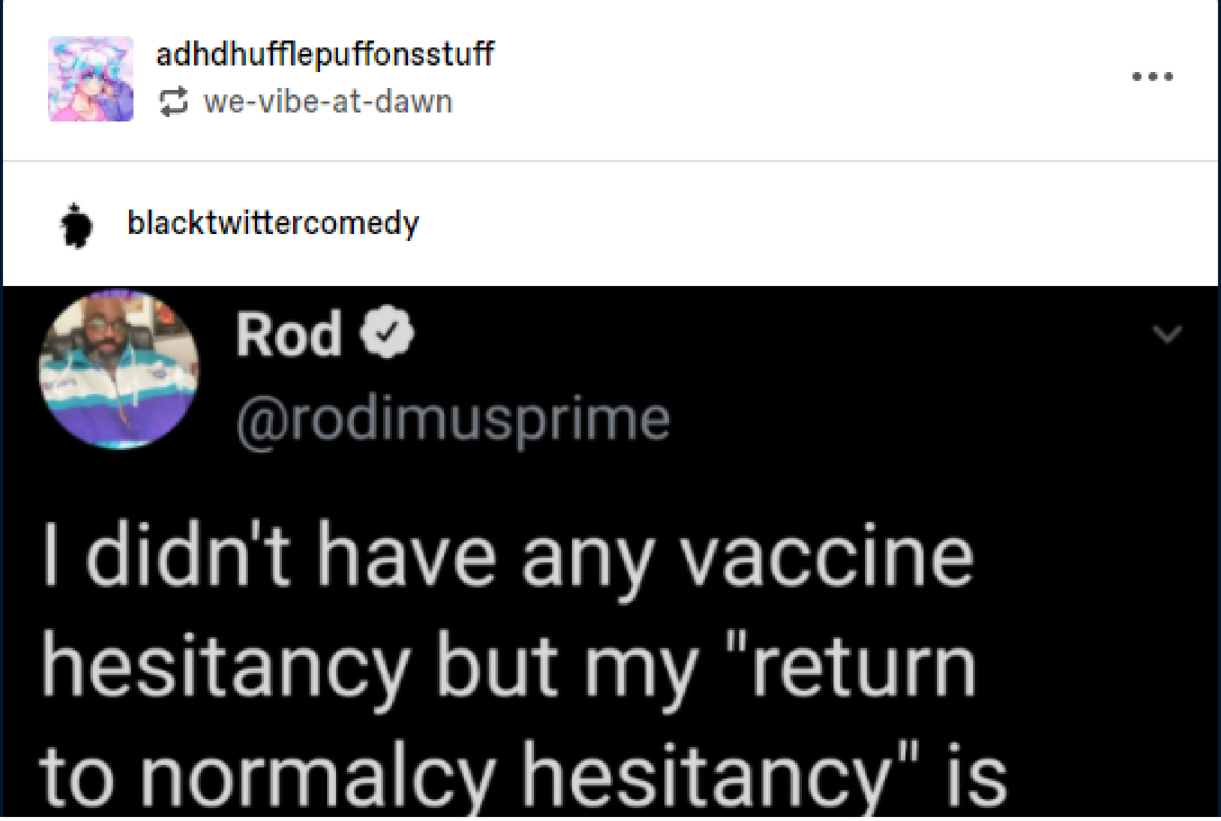
According to Science Homosexuality can be found in more than 1500 animal species

It was also discovered that homosexual animals are very important for the survival of the species!

Why ?!
©JENNYJINYA.COM
BECAUSE
When hetero Parents die or disown their offspring...
...homosexual couples would adopt the orphan child and raise it !
Jenny-Jinya.com
hetero couple usually don't do this because they are busy reproducing
?
Animals raised by homosexual parents turned out to be completely fine!
Homophobia, however, only exists in one species: the human

Source: jenny-jinya

389,862 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

we-vibe-at-dawn

blacktwittercomedy

Rod

@rodimusprime

I didn't have any vaccine hesitancy but my "return to normalcy hesitancy" is kicking my ass.

6:00 PM · 25 Apr 21 · TweetDeck

3,167 Retweets 299 Quote Tweets

28.4K Likes

Rod @rodimusprime · 1d

Replying to @rodimusprime

"You wanna go to the movies?'

"THE MOVIES?!"

"Okay okay what about the gym?"

"THE GYM!?!!?"

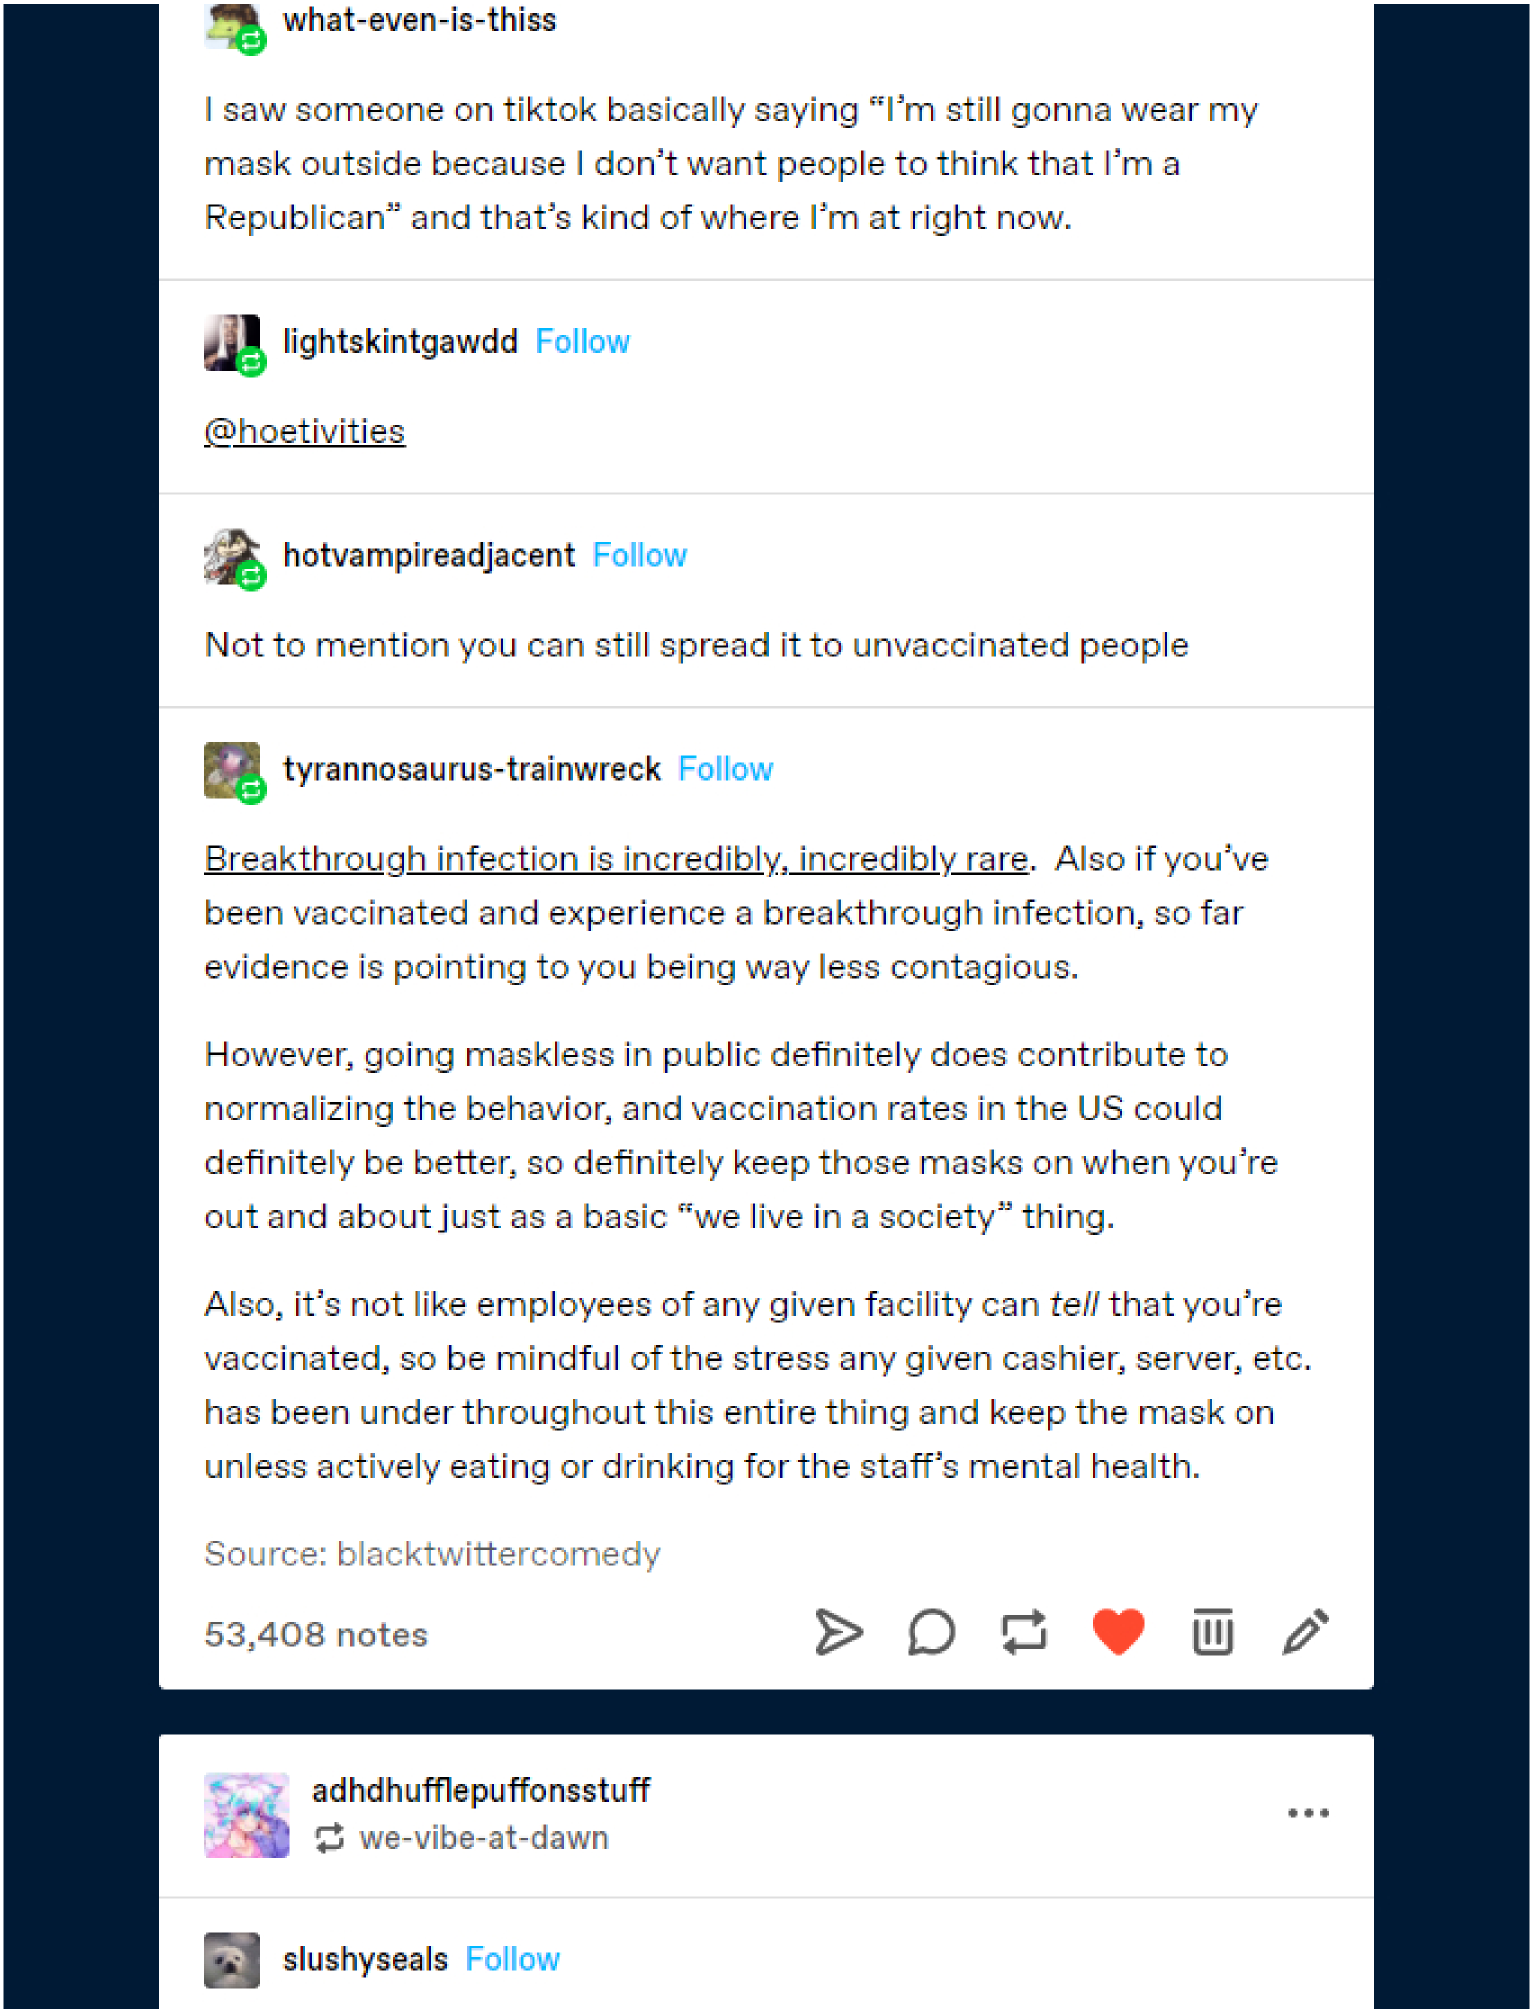
Black Social Comedy

lauramkaye Follow

THIS.

"Do you want to go to a restaurant now that we're both fully immunized?"

"A RESTAURANT? TAKE OFF MY MASK? WHAT?"



what-even-is-thiss

I saw someone on tiktok basically saying "I'm still gonna wear my mask outside because I don't want people to think that I'm a Republican" and that's kind of where I'm at right now.

lightskintgawdd Follow

@hoetivities

hotvampireadjacent Follow

Not to mention you can still spread it to unvaccinated people

tyrannosaurus-trainwreck Follow

Breakthrough infection is incredibly, incredibly rare. Also if you've been vaccinated and experience a breakthrough infection, so far evidence is pointing to you being way less contagious.

However, going maskless in public definitely does contribute to normalizing the behavior, and vaccination rates in the US could definitely be better, so definitely keep those masks on when you're out and about just as a basic "we live in a society" thing.

Also, it's not like employees of any given facility can tell that you're vaccinated, so be mindful of the stress any given cashier, server, etc. has been under throughout this entire thing and keep the mask on unless actively eating or drinking for the staff's mental health.

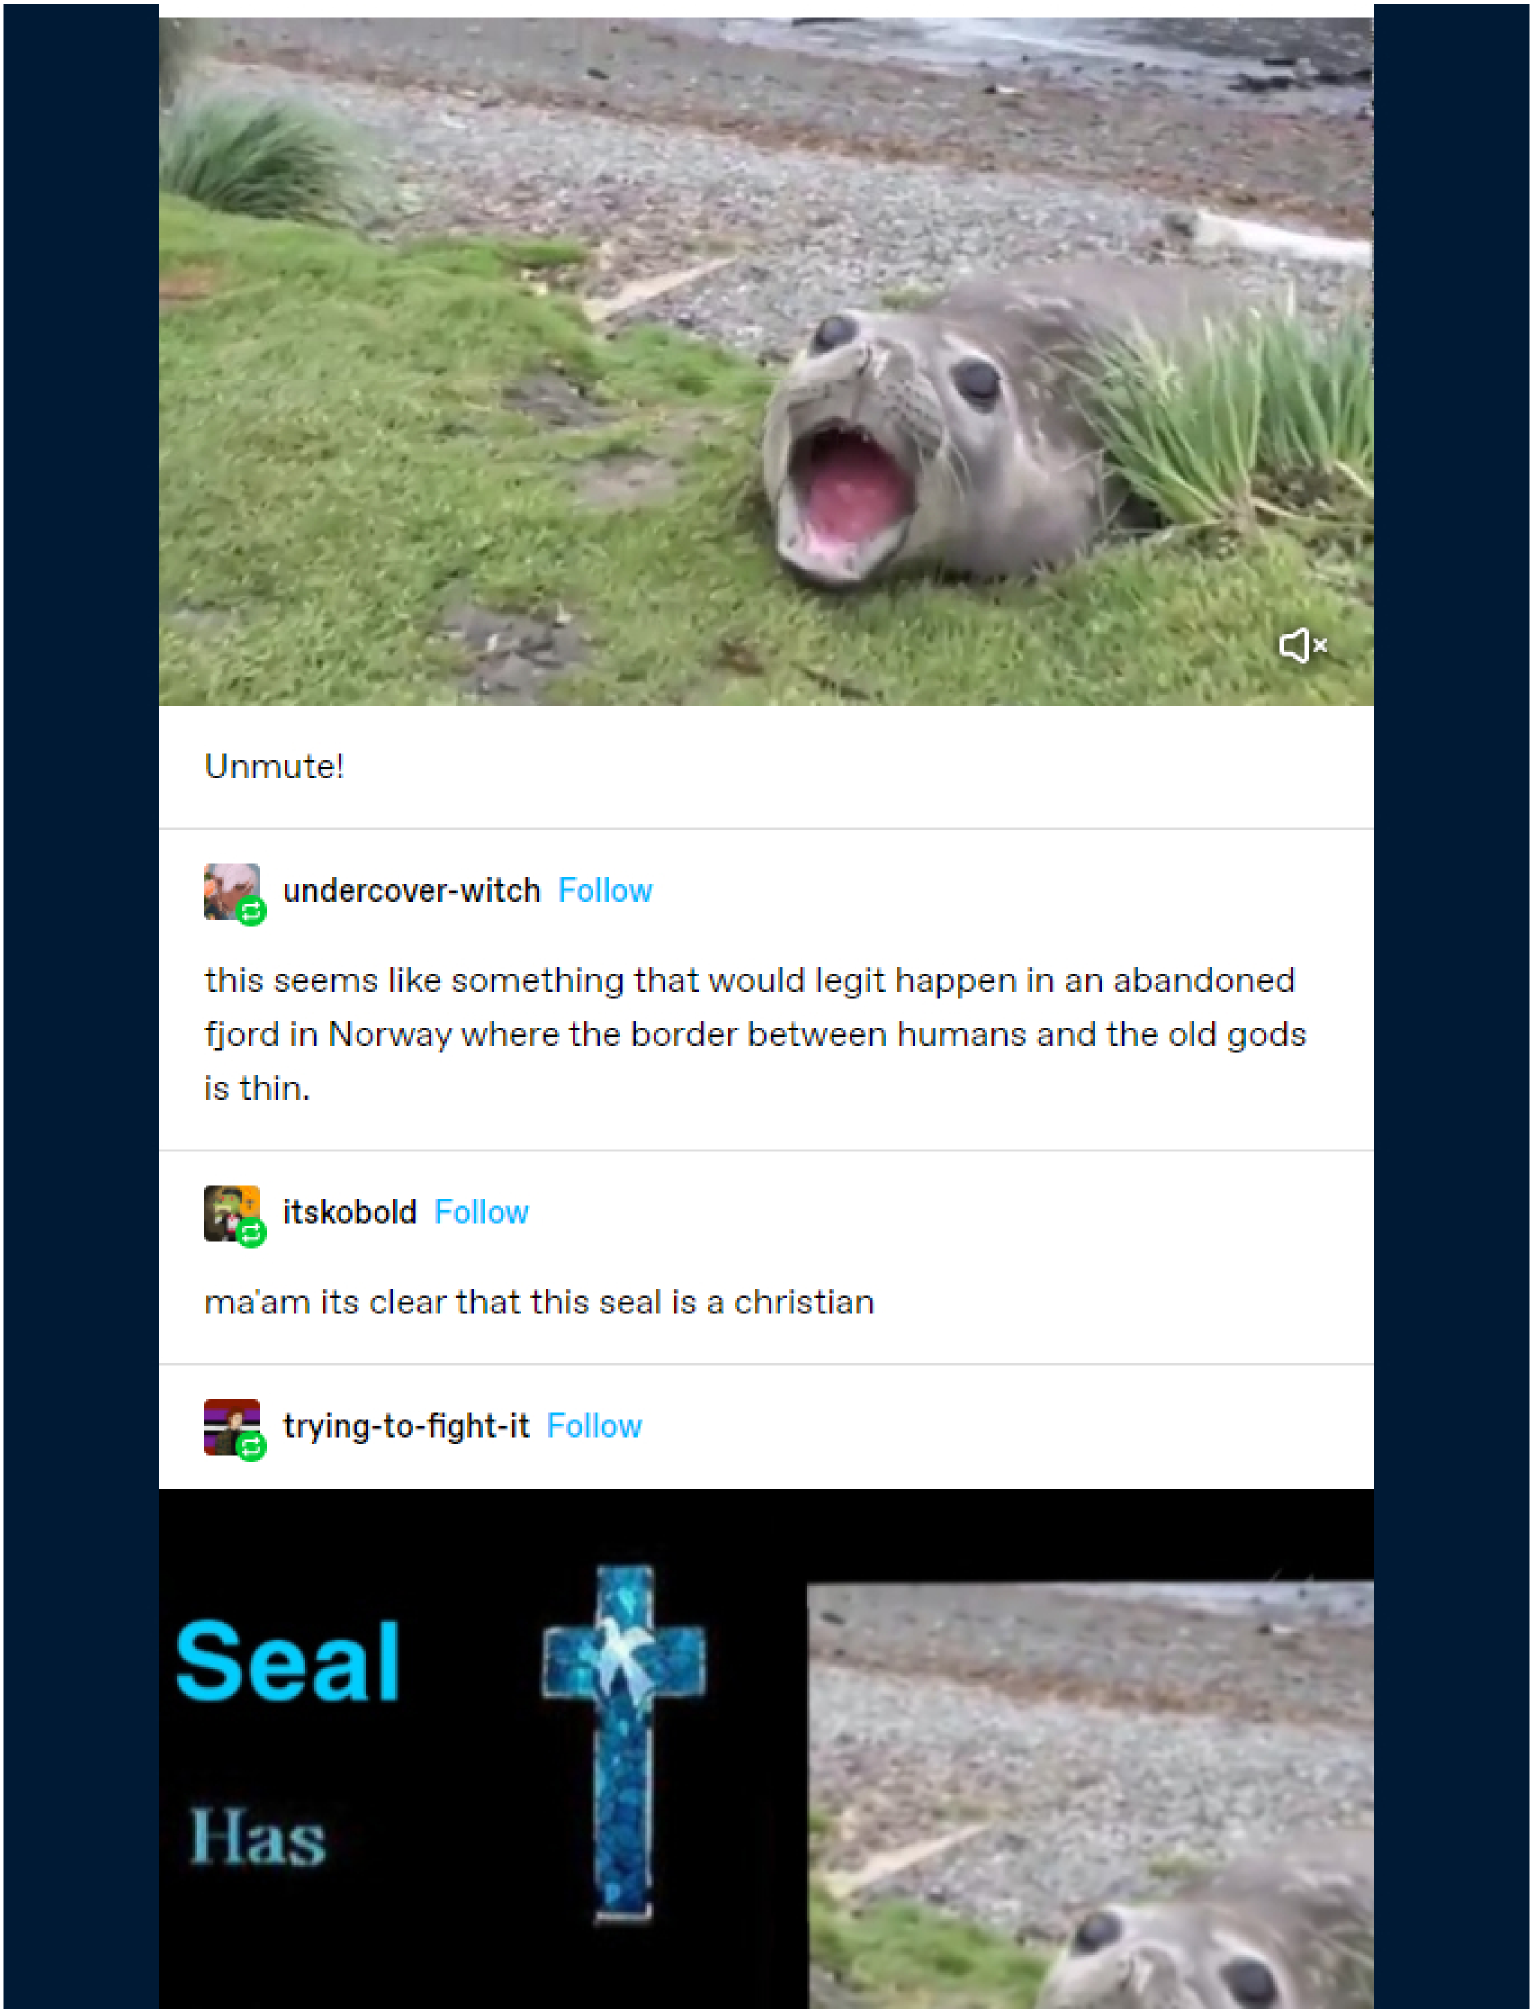
Source: blacktwittercomedy

53,408 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

⟲ we-vibe-at-dawn

slushyseals Follow



Unmute!

undercover-witch Follow

this seems like something that would legit happen in an abandoned fjord in Norway where the border between humans and the old gods is thin.

itskobold Follow

ma'am its clear that this seal is a christian trying-to-fight-it Follow

Become Catholic

thevioletsunflower Follow

[video description: a seal lying on a beach with its head resting on the edge of the grass. As the camera approaches, the seal opens its mouth, presumably to make seal sounds, but instead of seal sounds the videographer has edited in the sounds of a men's choir singing etherial music]

kaijuno Follow

He's not catholic that's the Halo theme. He is a gamer smh sirblerginton Follow

Seal Has Become GAMER
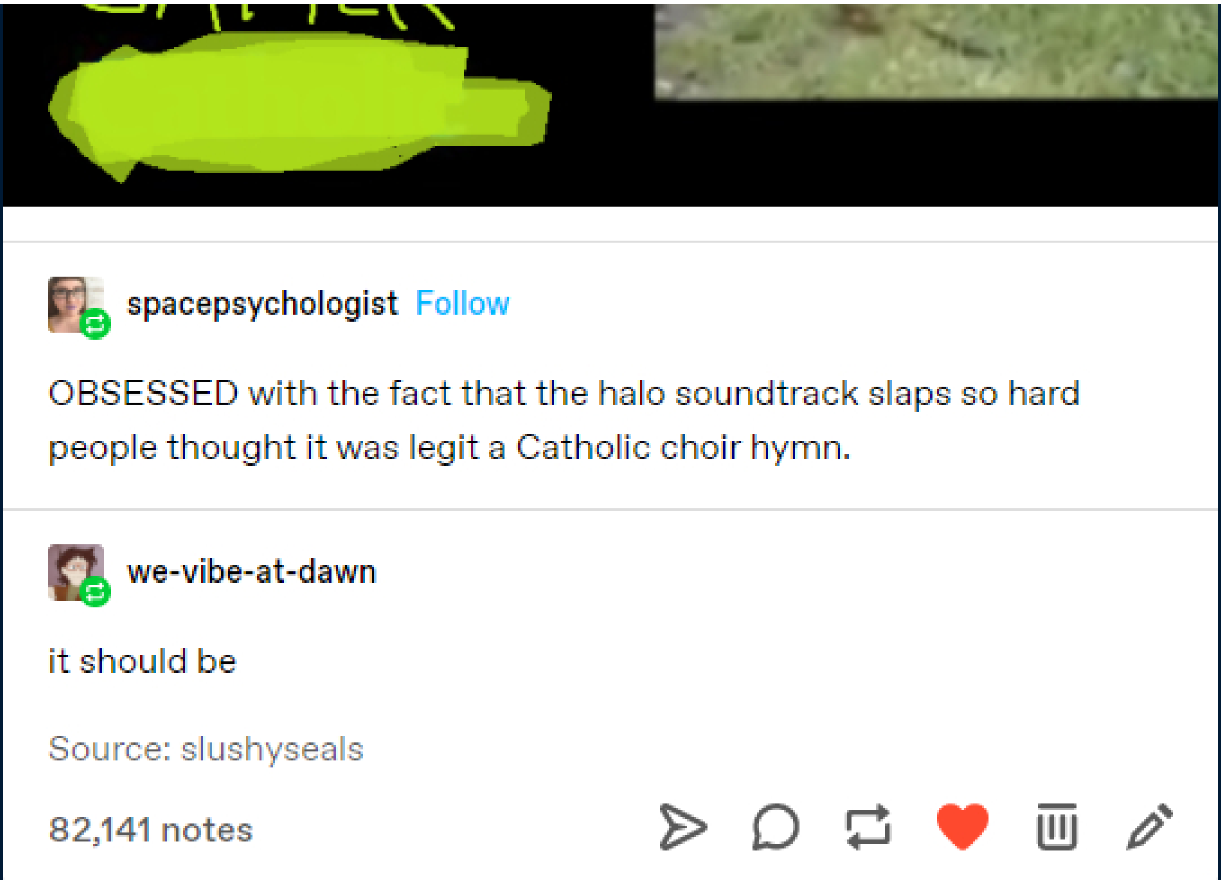
YOU DON'T SEE THIS



spacepsychologist Follow

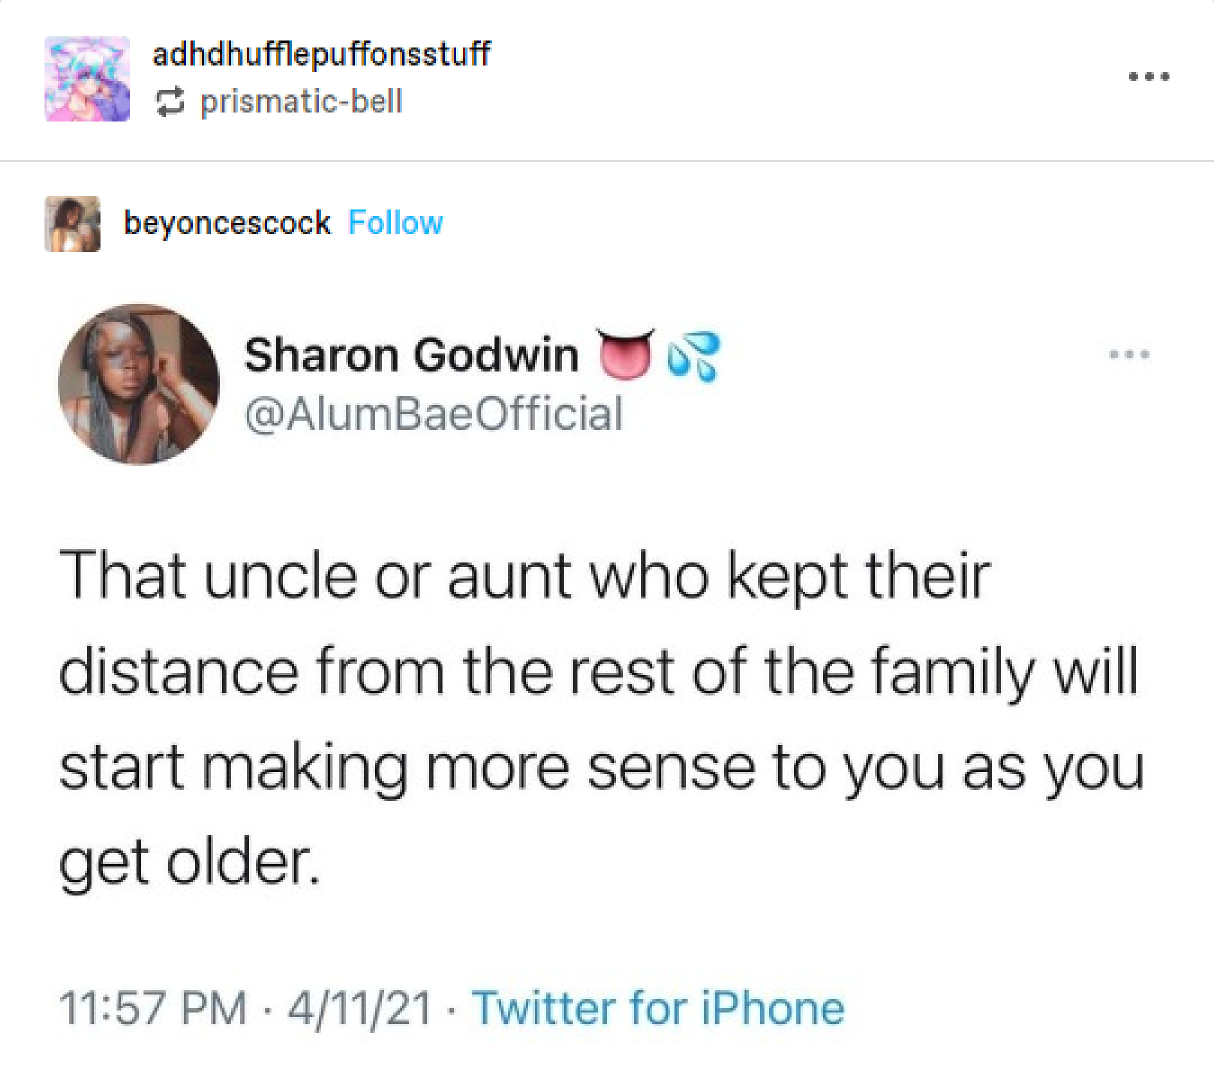
OBSESSED with the fact that the halo soundtrack slaps so hard people thought it was legit a Catholic choir hymn.

we-vibe-at-dawn

it should be

Source: slushyseals

82,141 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
prismatic-bell

beyoncescock Follow

Sharon Godwin 👅💦 @AlumBaeOfficial

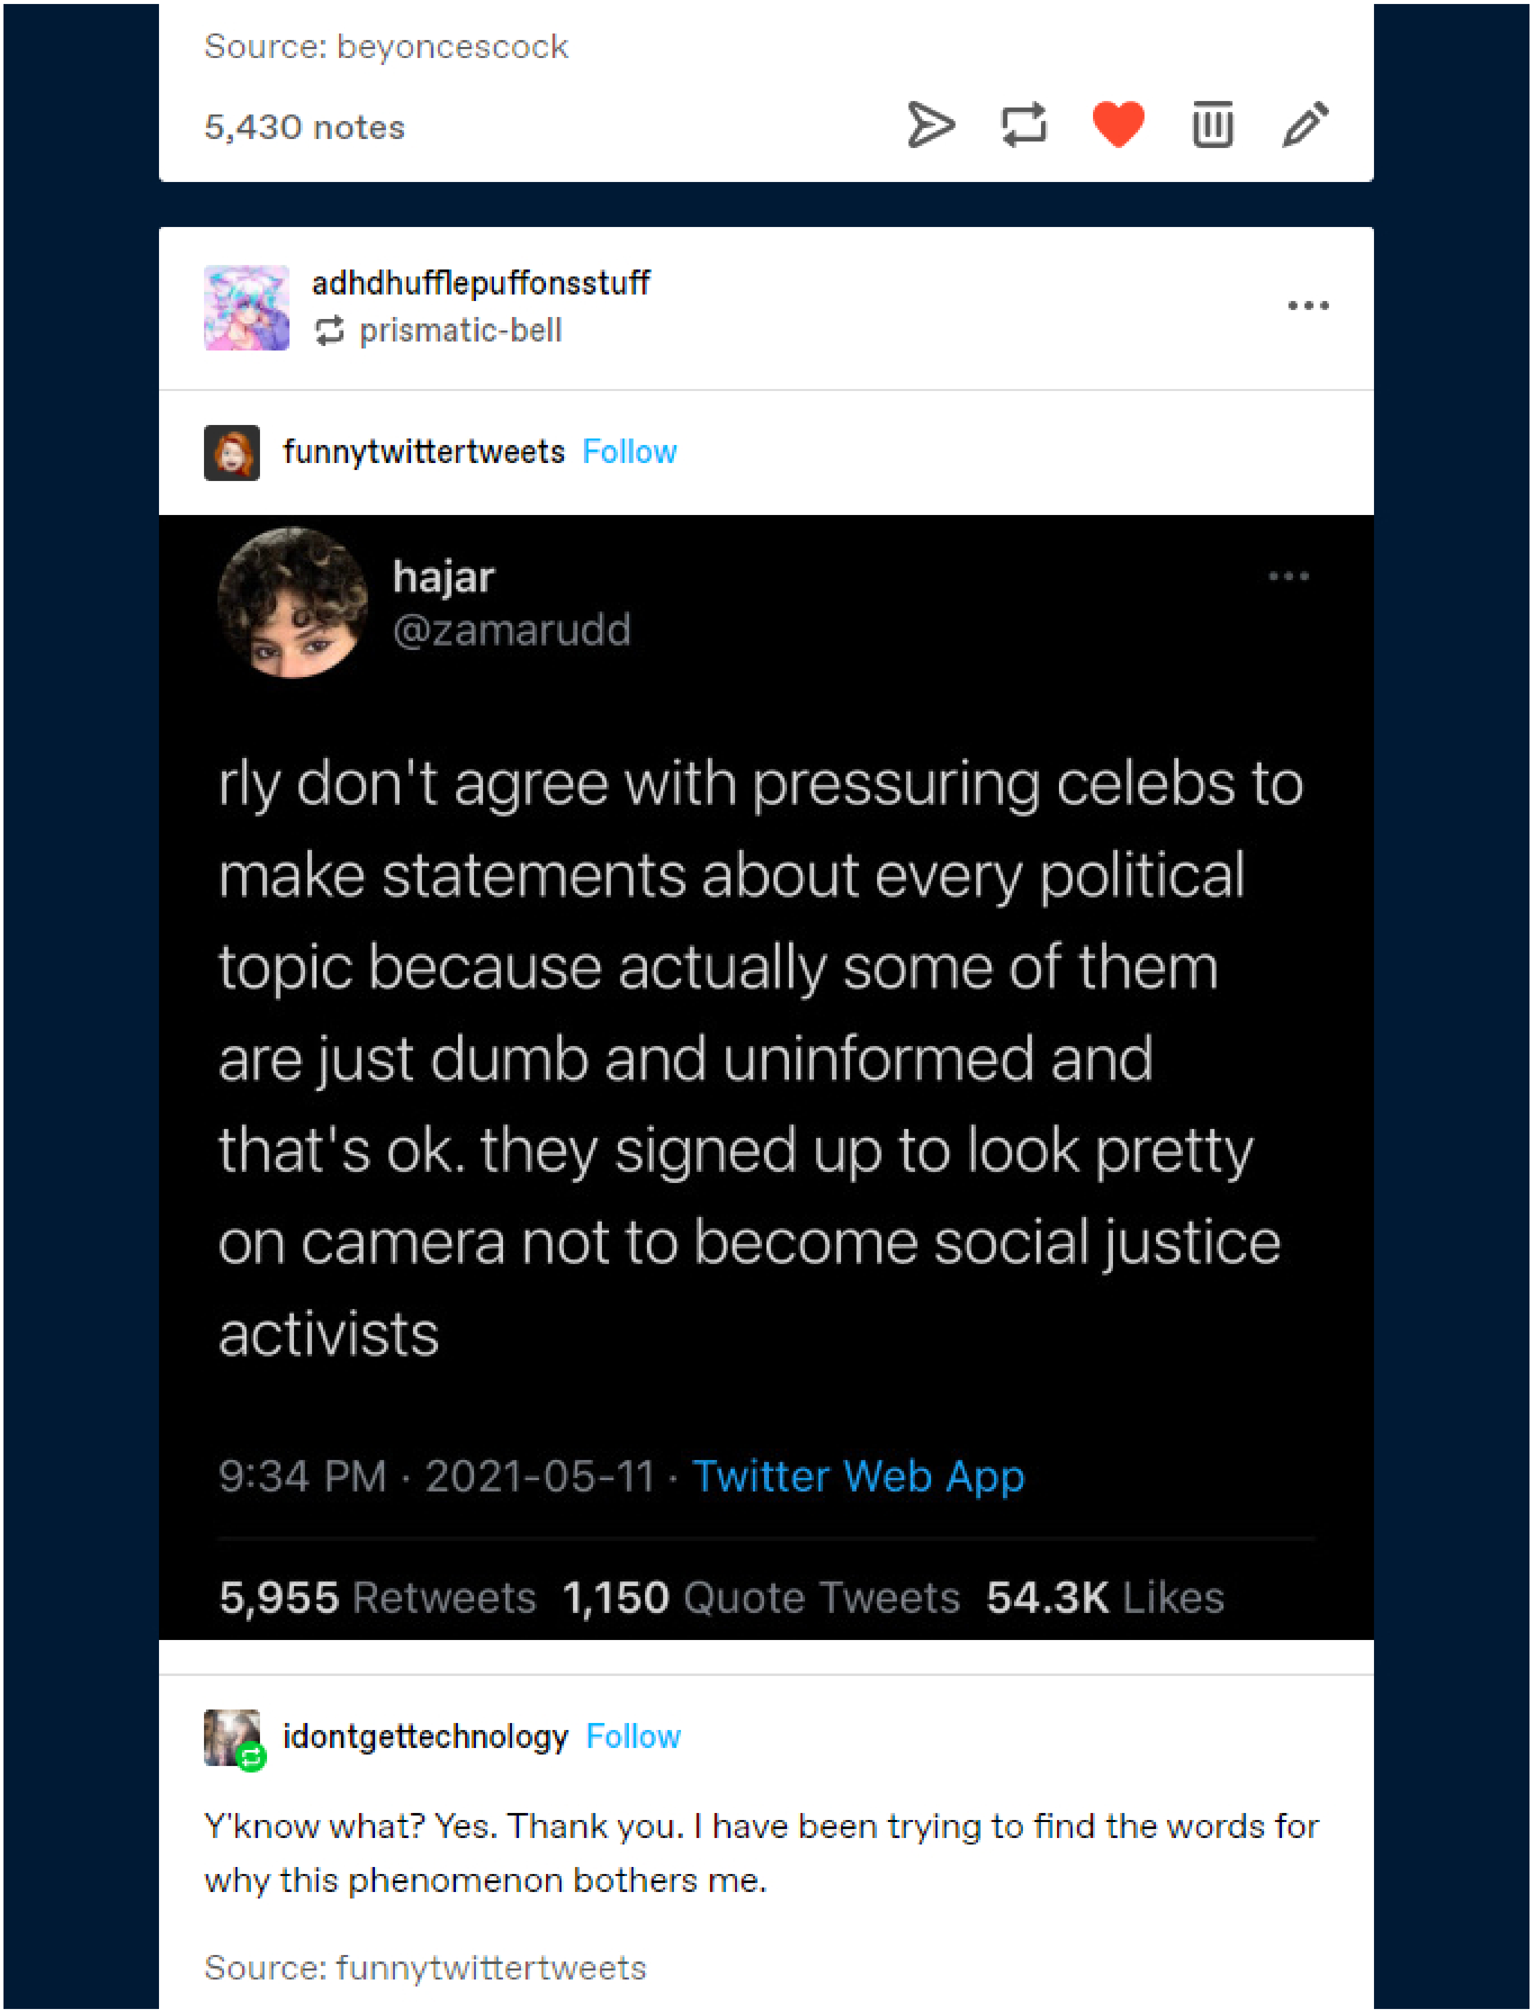
That uncle or aunt who kept their distance from the rest of the family will start making more sense to you as you get older.

11:57 PM · 4/11/21 · Twitter for iPhone



Source: beyoncescock

5,430 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

prismatic-bell

funnytwittertweets Follow

hajar

@zamarudd

rly don't agree with pressuring celebs to make statements about every political topic because actually some of them are just dumb and uninformed and that's ok. they signed up to look pretty on camera not to become social justice activists

9:34 PM · 2021-05-11 · Twitter Web App

5,955 Retweets 1,150 Quote Tweets 54.3K Likes idontgettechnology Follow

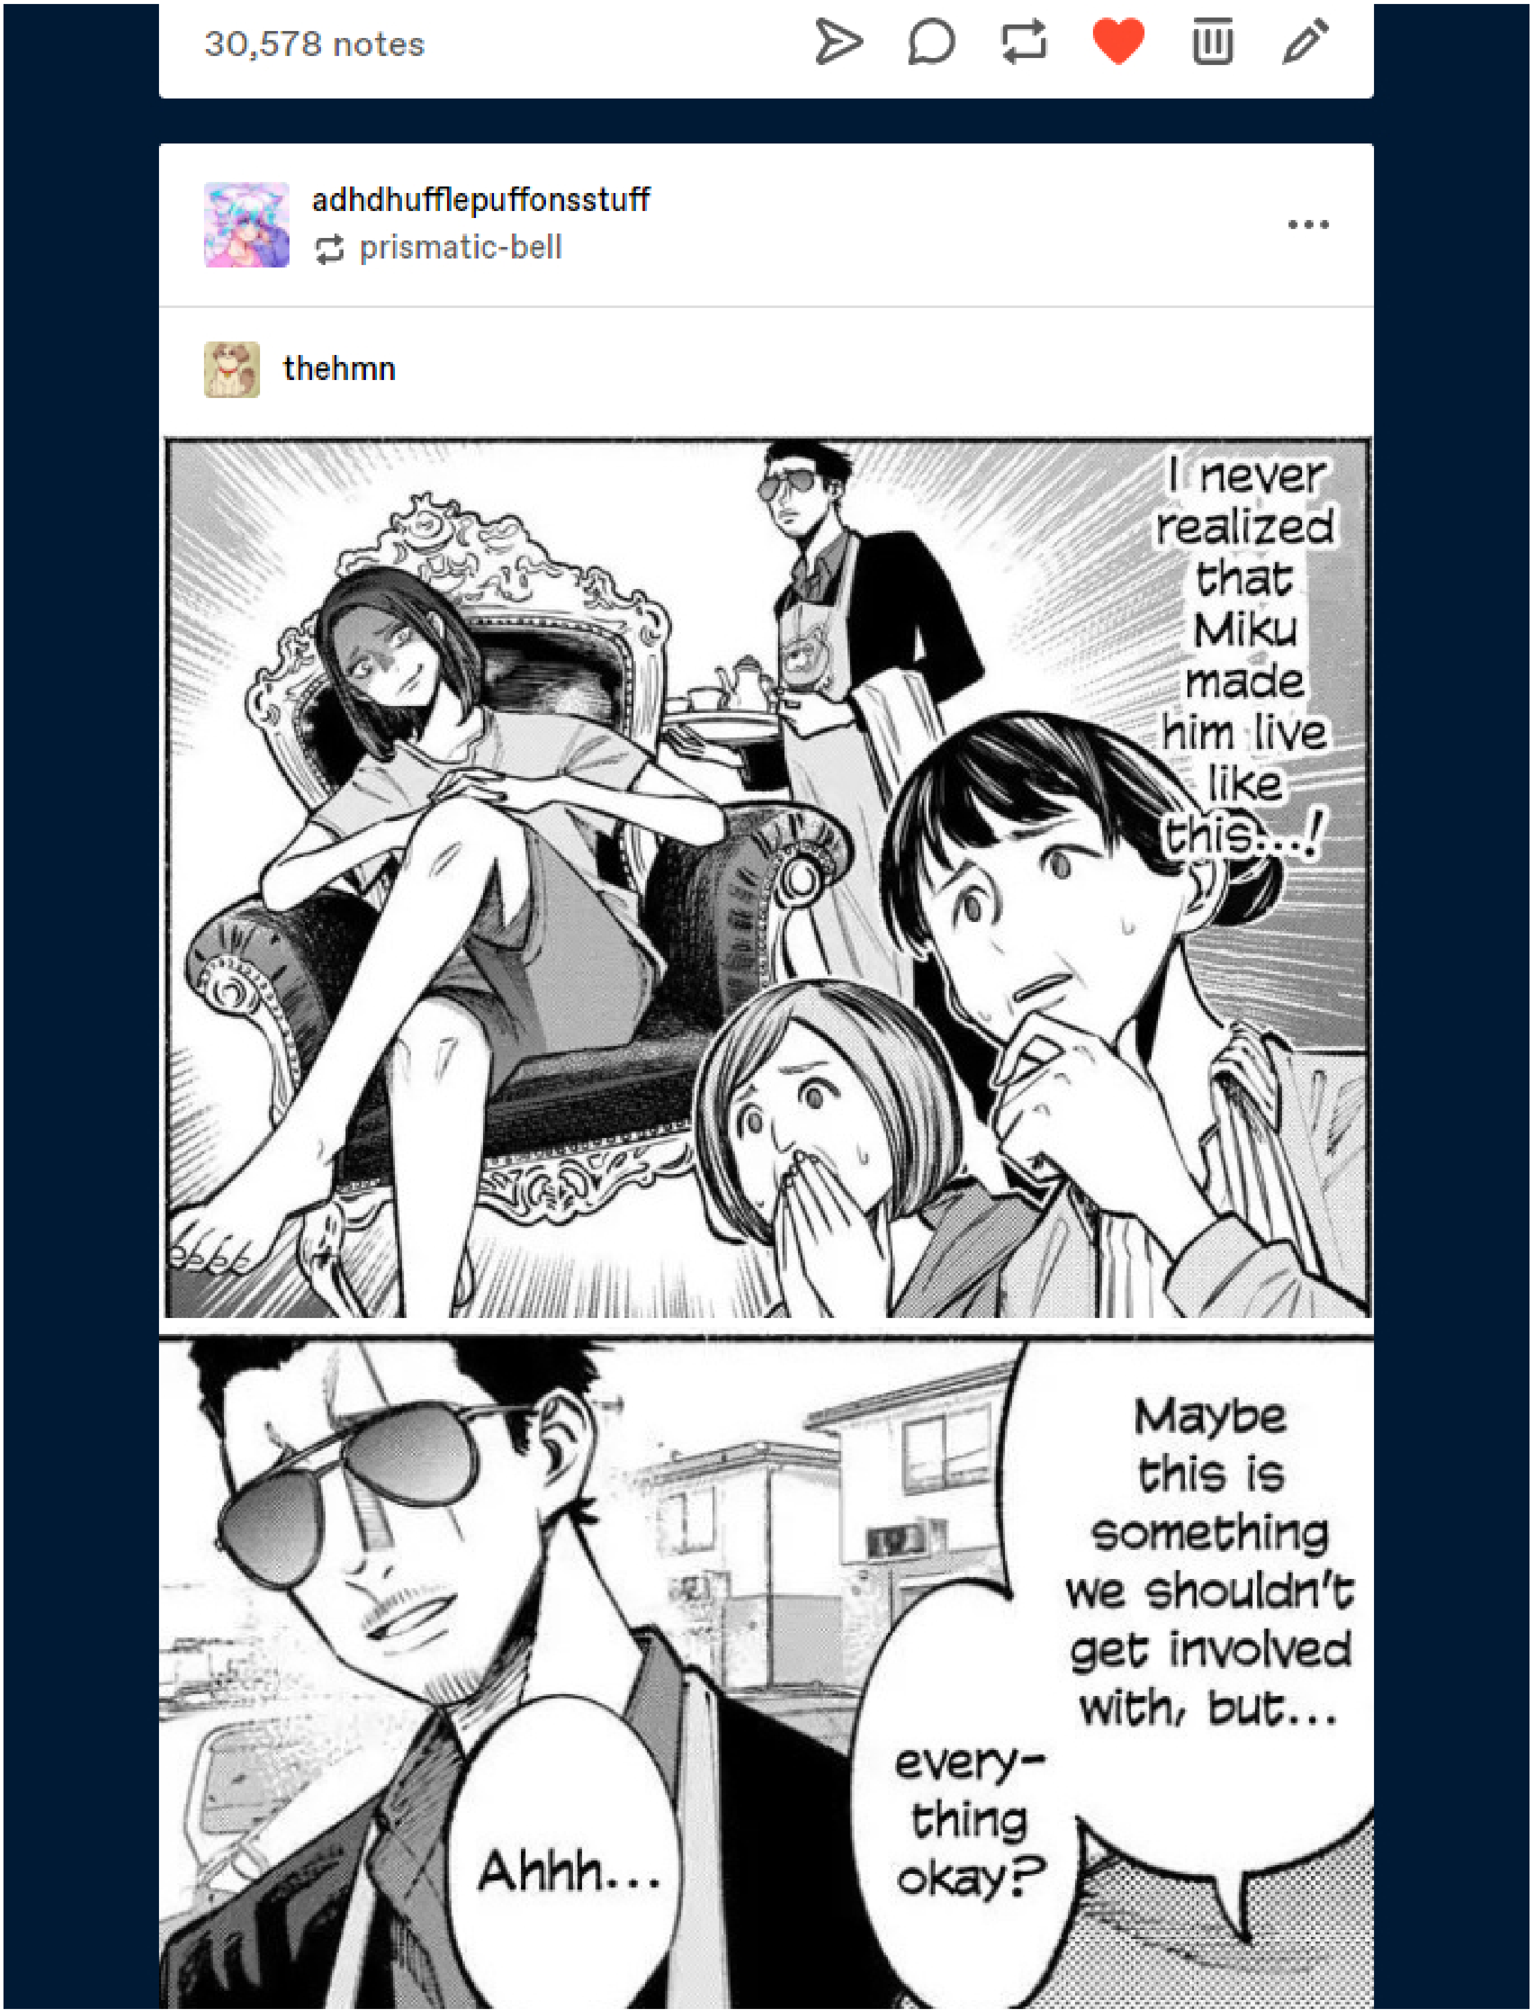
Y'know what? Yes. Thank you. I have been trying to find the words for why this phenomenon bothers me.

Source: funnytwittertweets

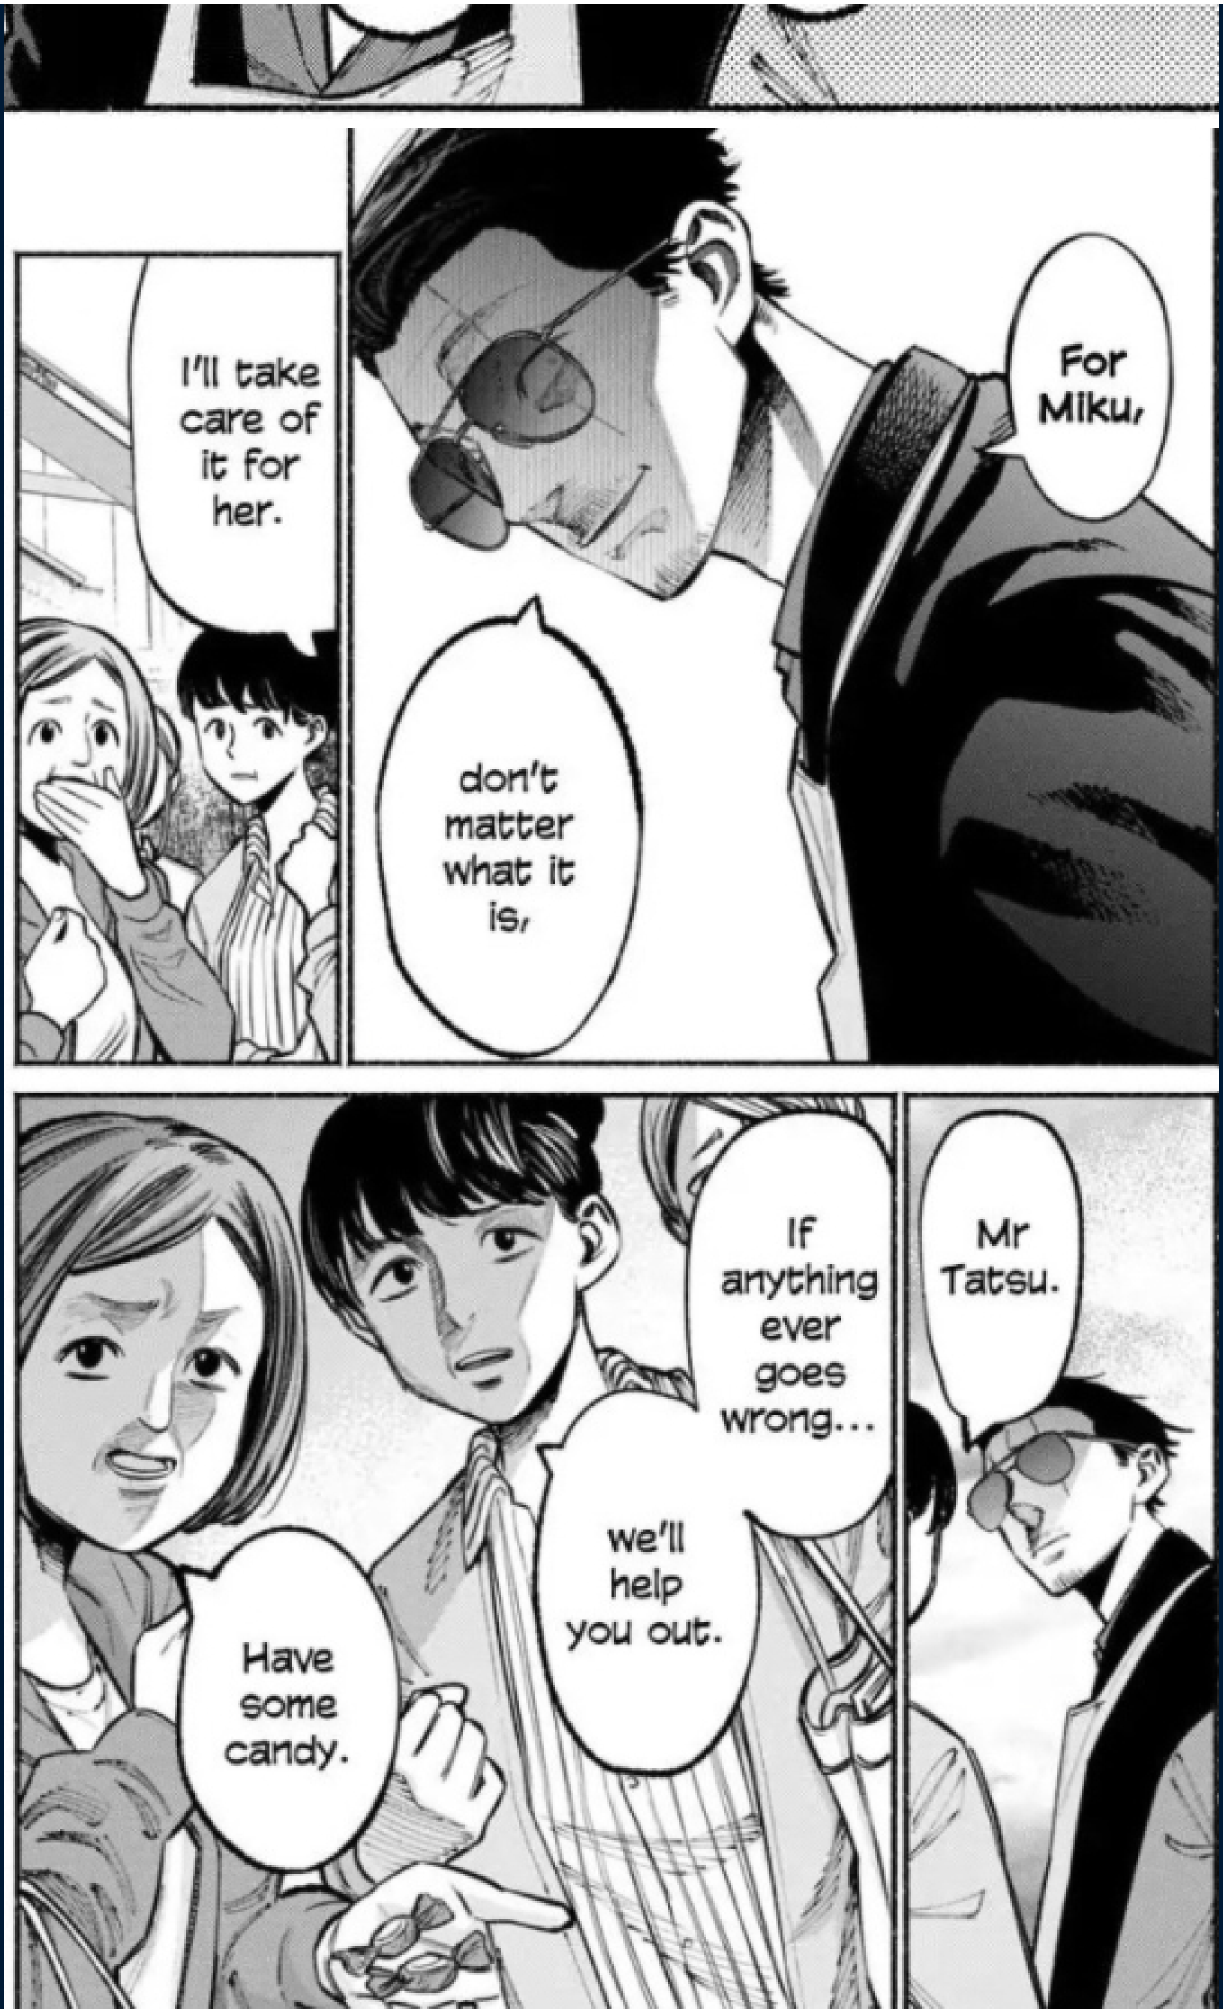


30,578 notes

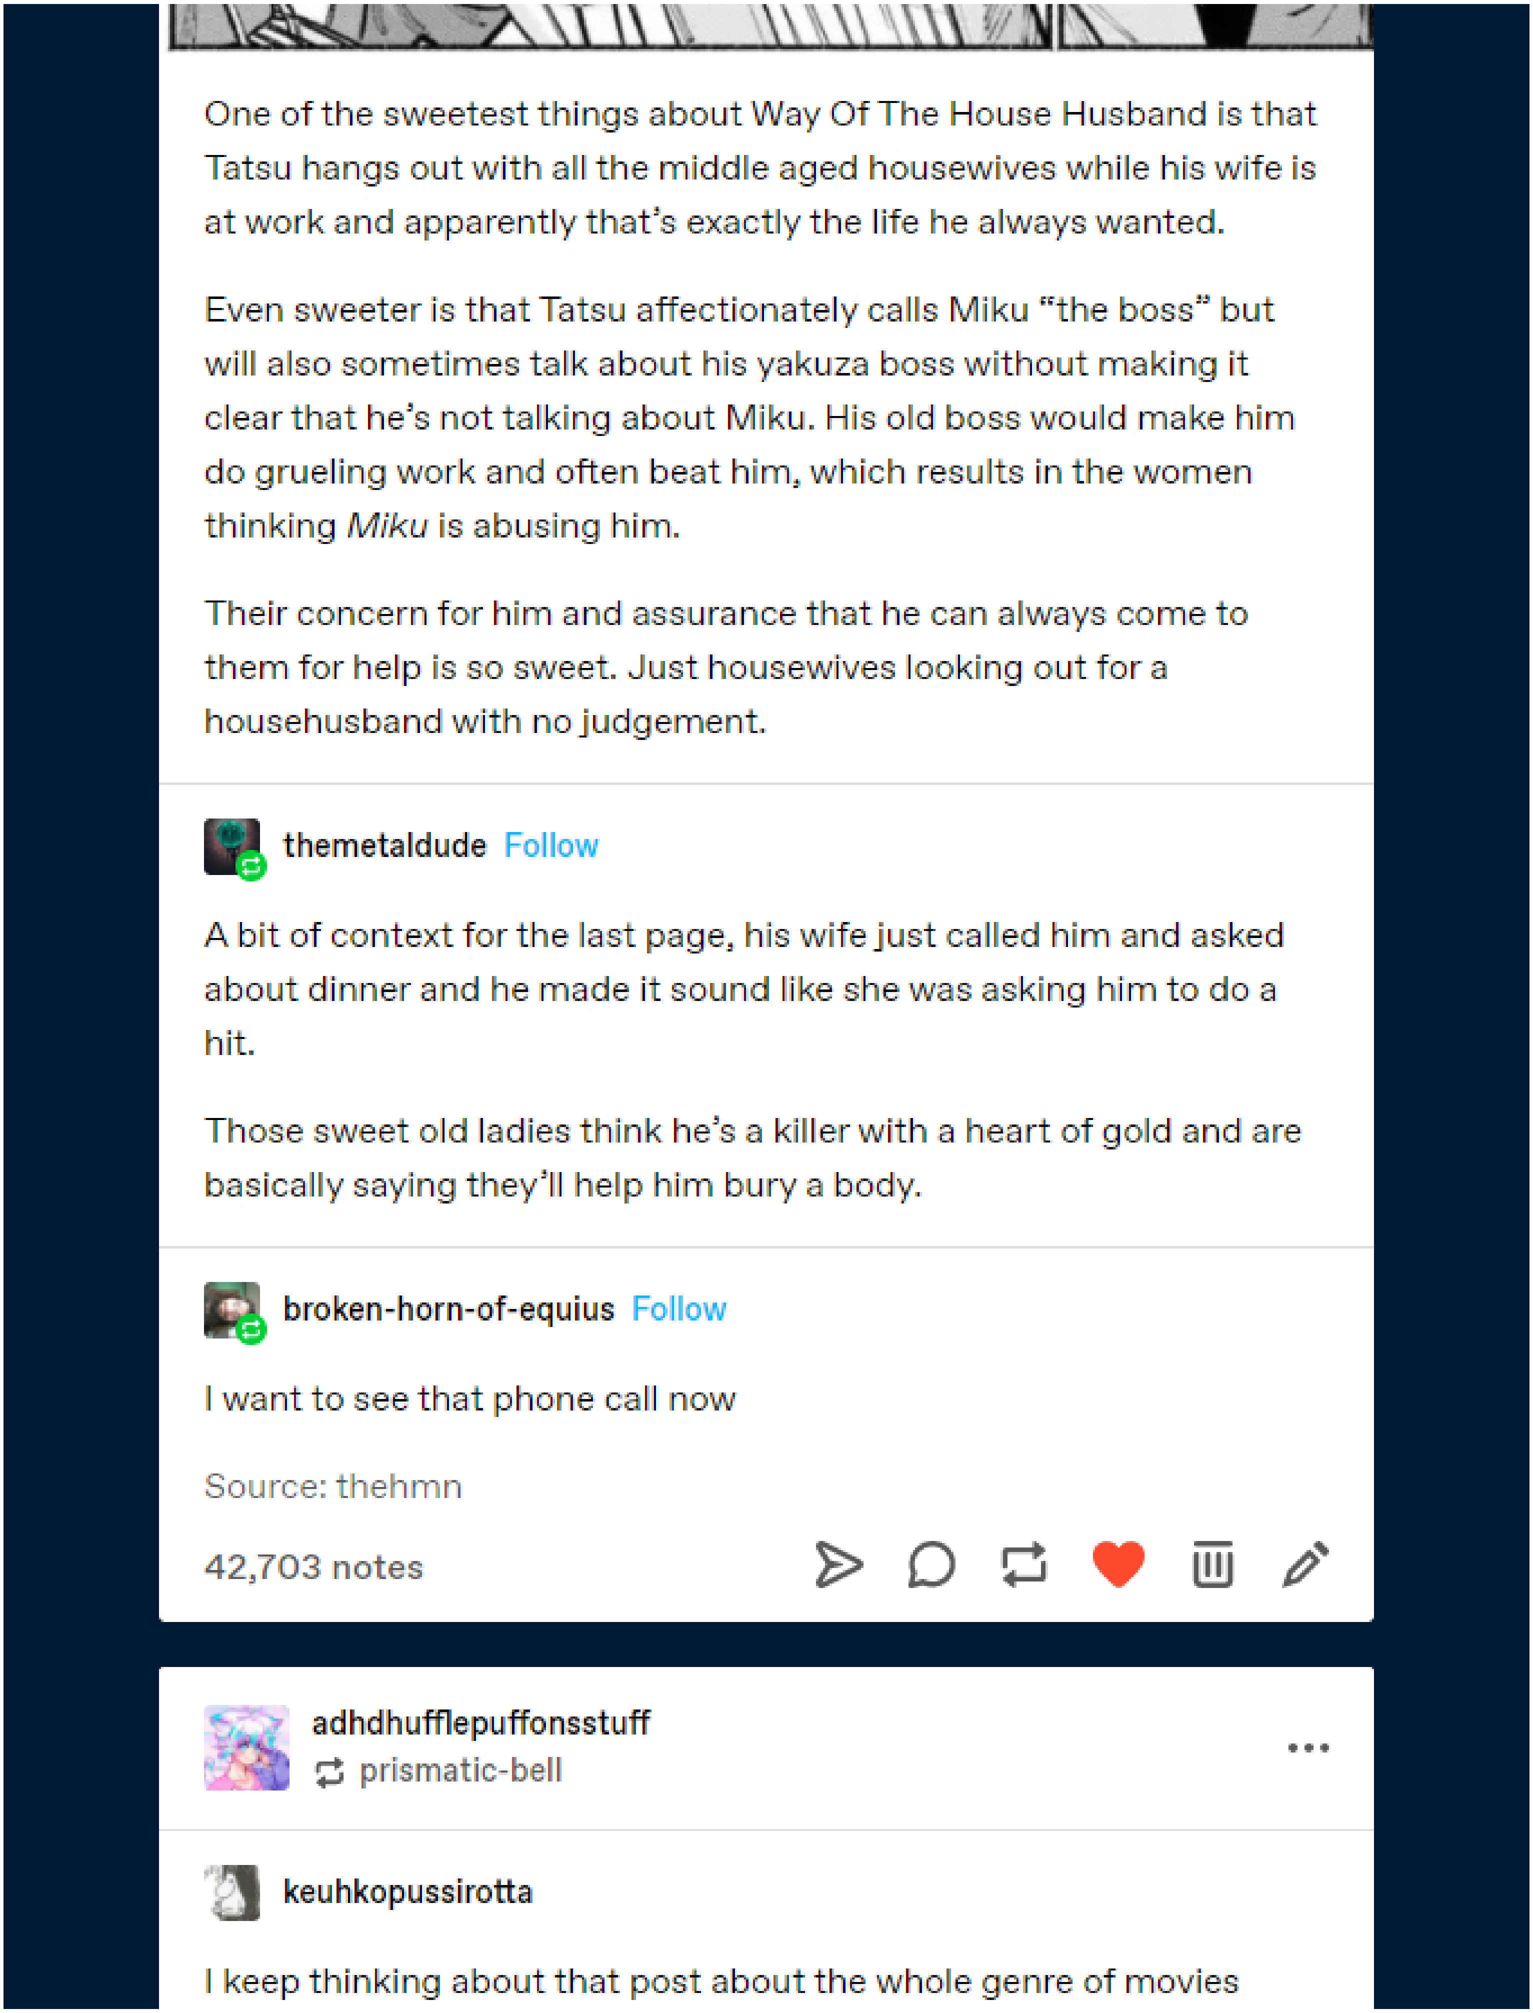
adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
prismatic-bell

thehmn

I never realized that Miku made him live like this...!
Maybe this is something we shouldn't get involved with, but...
every-thing okay?
Ahhh...



For Miku,
don't matter what it is,
I'll take care of it for her.
Mr Tatsu.
If anything ever goes wrong...
we'll help you out.
Have some candy.



One of the sweetest things about Way Of The House Husband is that Tatsu hangs out with all the middle aged housewives while his wife is at work and apparently that's exactly the life he always wanted.

Even sweeter is that Tatsu affectionately calls Miku "the boss" but will also sometimes talk about his yakuza boss without making it clear that he's not talking about Miku. His old boss would make him do grueling work and often beat him, which results in the women thinking Miku is abusing him.

Their concern for him and assurance that he can always come to them for help is so sweet. Just housewives looking out for a househusband with no judgement.

themetaldude

A bit of context for the last page, his wife just called him and asked about dinner and he made it sound like she was asking him to do a hit.

Those sweet old ladies think he's a killer with a heart of gold and are basically saying they'll help him bury a body.

broken-horn-of-equius

I want to see that phone call now

Source: thehmn

42,703 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
prismatic-bell

keuhkopussirotta

I keep thinking about that post about the whole genre of movies about a white guy getting into an asian philosophy, matrial art etc and then proceeding to surpass his teacher and be the best ever at it, and I started thinking about the opposite of it.

I want a movie about a chinese dude who comes to Finland, downs an entire bottle of Koskenkorva, tries to fight a nearby cow and ends up lying face down in a ditch while sobbing about his ex wife and having like 5 finnish dudes staring at him in awe like

“That’s him. That’s the chosen one.”

marithlizard

The 5 finnish dudes bring him home with them. The next day, the chinese dude wakes up on the couch with a mighty hangover. He turns on the TV and for the first time in his life sees Moomintroll. Instant spiritual bonding experience. Overcome with emotion, he begins to sing an ode to Snufkin in a high clear tenor voice. The 5 finnish dudes hastily call their live-in wise old mentor. “Yes,” says the mentor after watching chinese dude for a few minutes. “The prophecy was true. This is the chosen one. This man...will be our 2020 Eurovision act.”

cookingwithroxy

I would PAY to see this movie.

Source: keuhkopussirotta

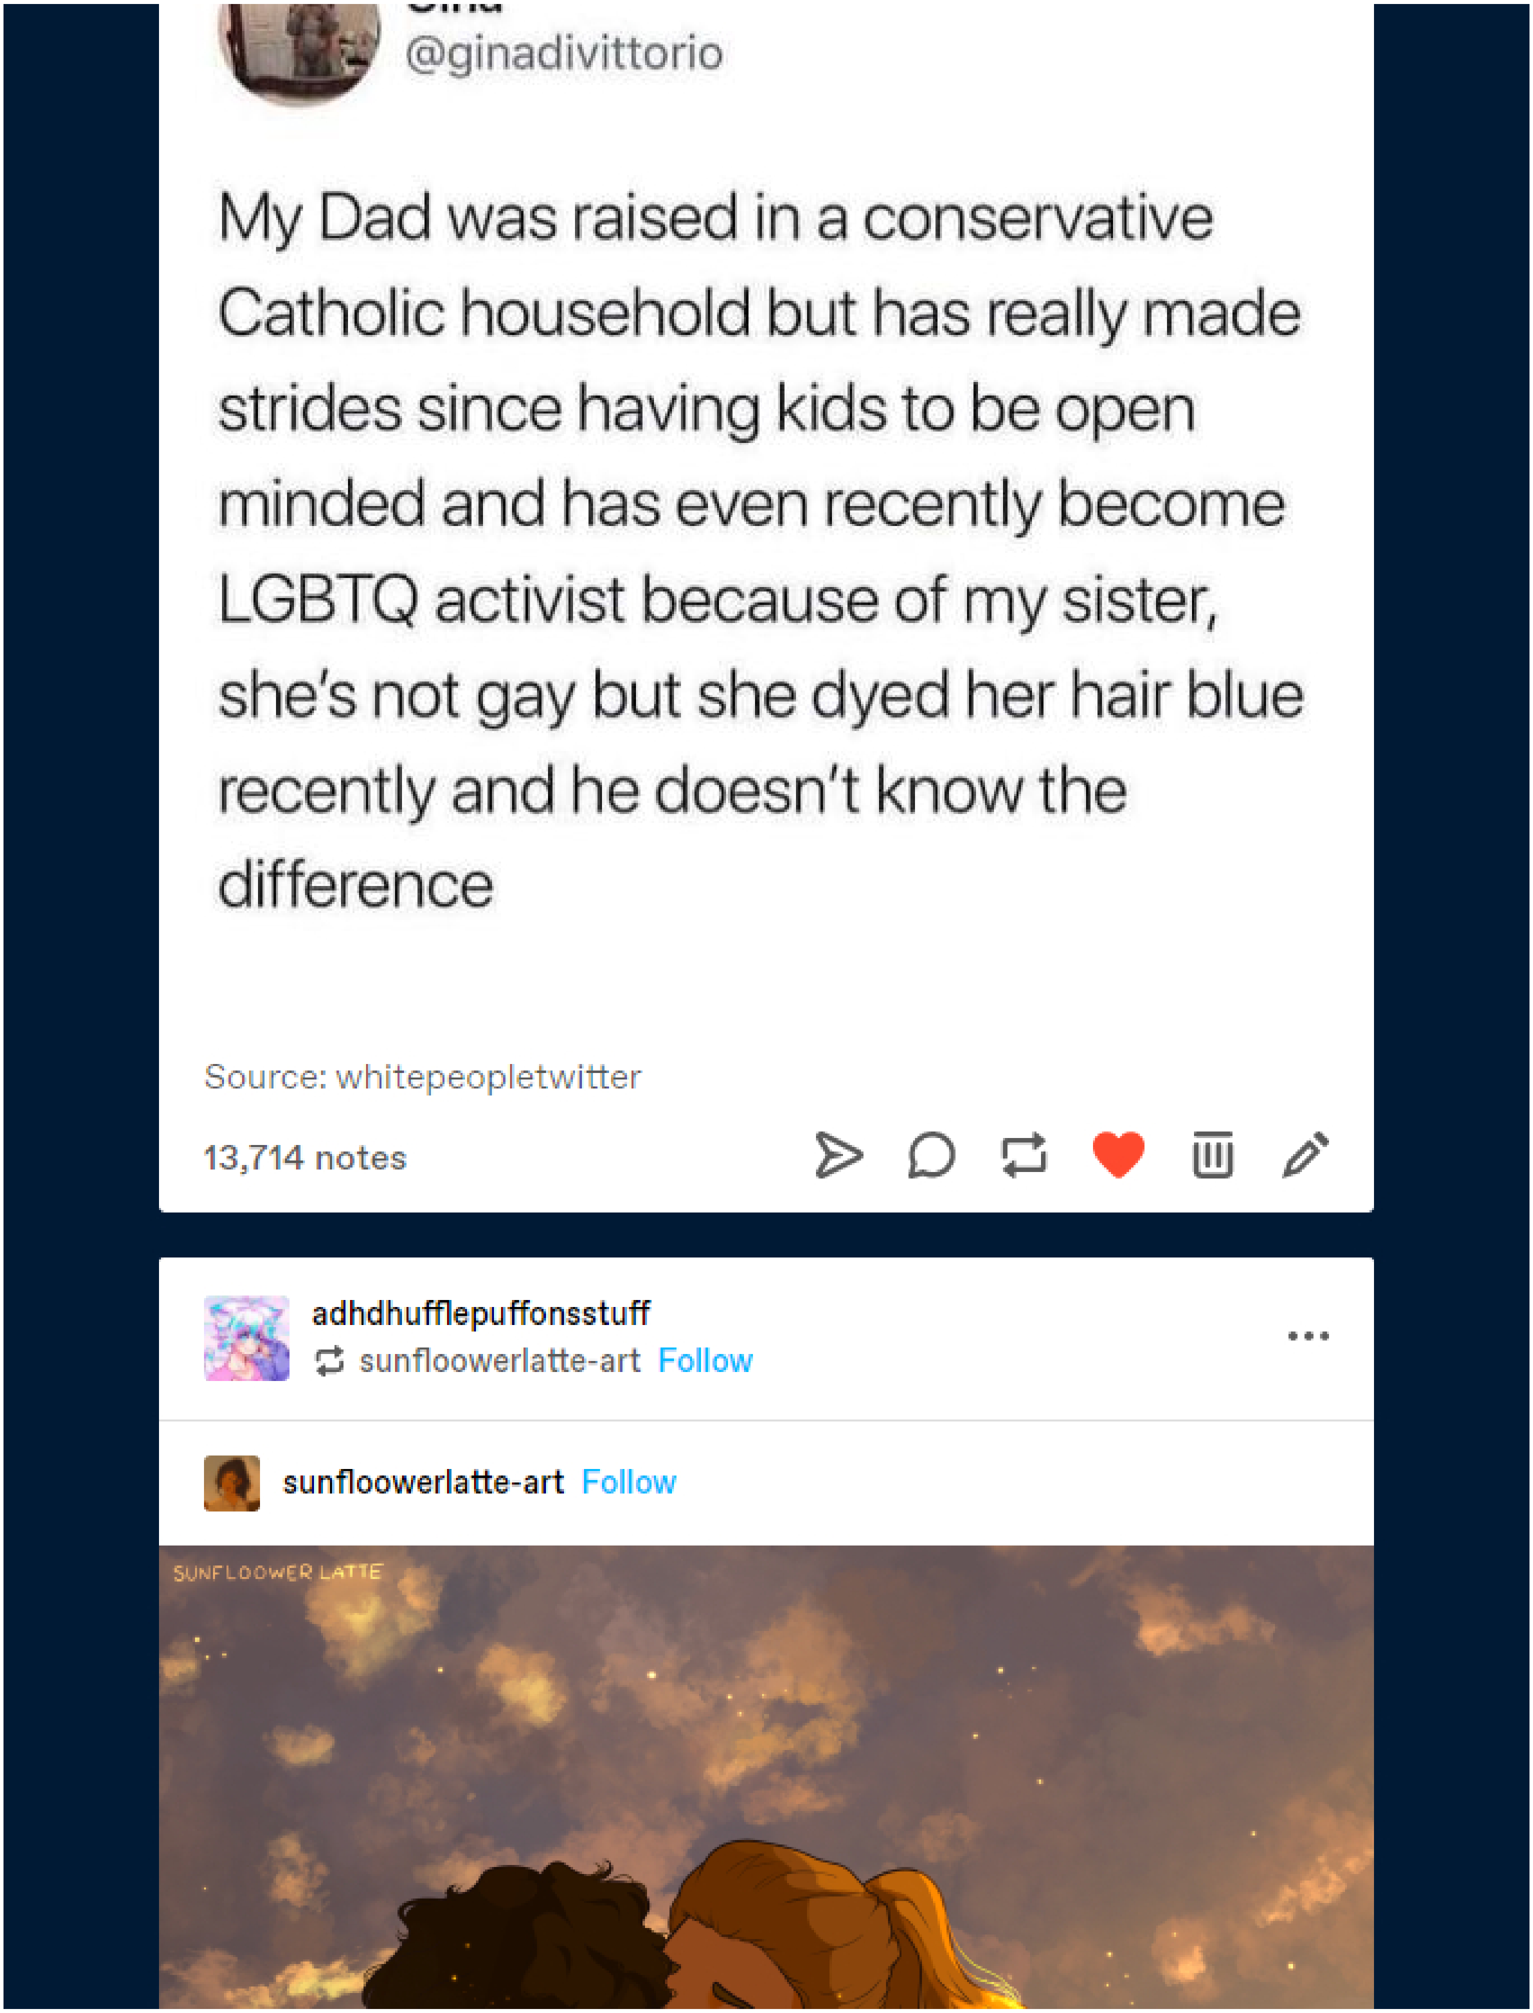
121,680 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

nyx-chews-cherry-gum

whitepeopletwitter

Gina



@ginadivittorio

My Dad was raised in a conservative Catholic household but has really made strides since having kids to be open minded and has even recently become LGBTQ activist because of my sister, she's not gay but she dyed her hair blue recently and he doesn't know the difference

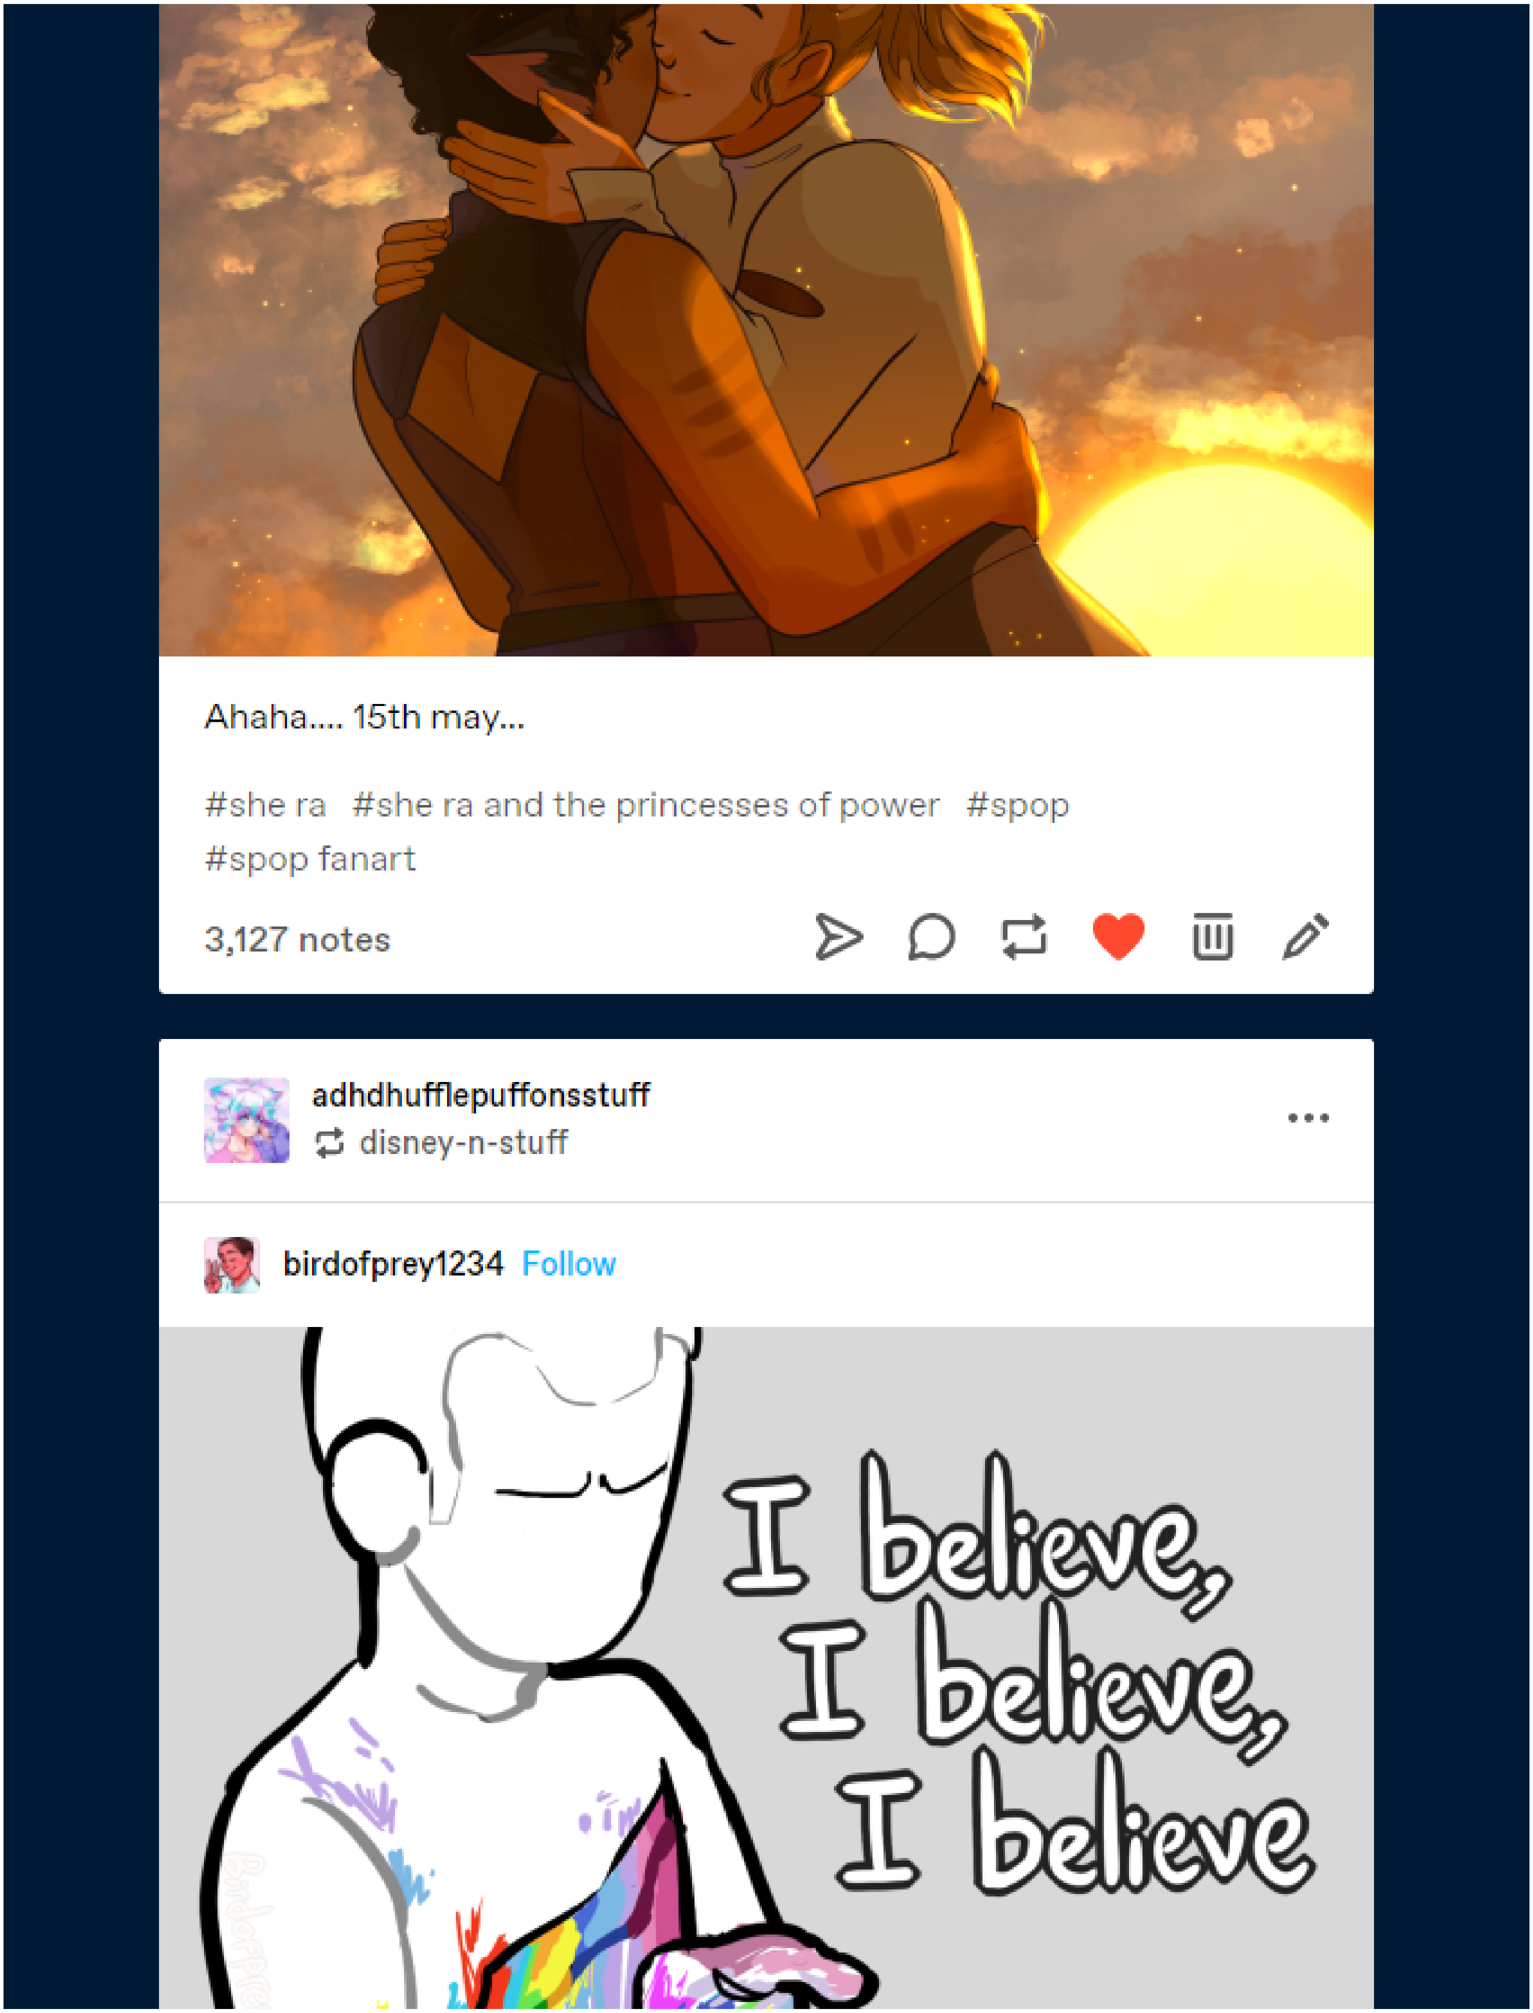
Source: whitepeopletwitter

13,714 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

sunfloowerlatte-art Follow

sunfloowerlatte-art Follow



Ahaha.... 15th may...

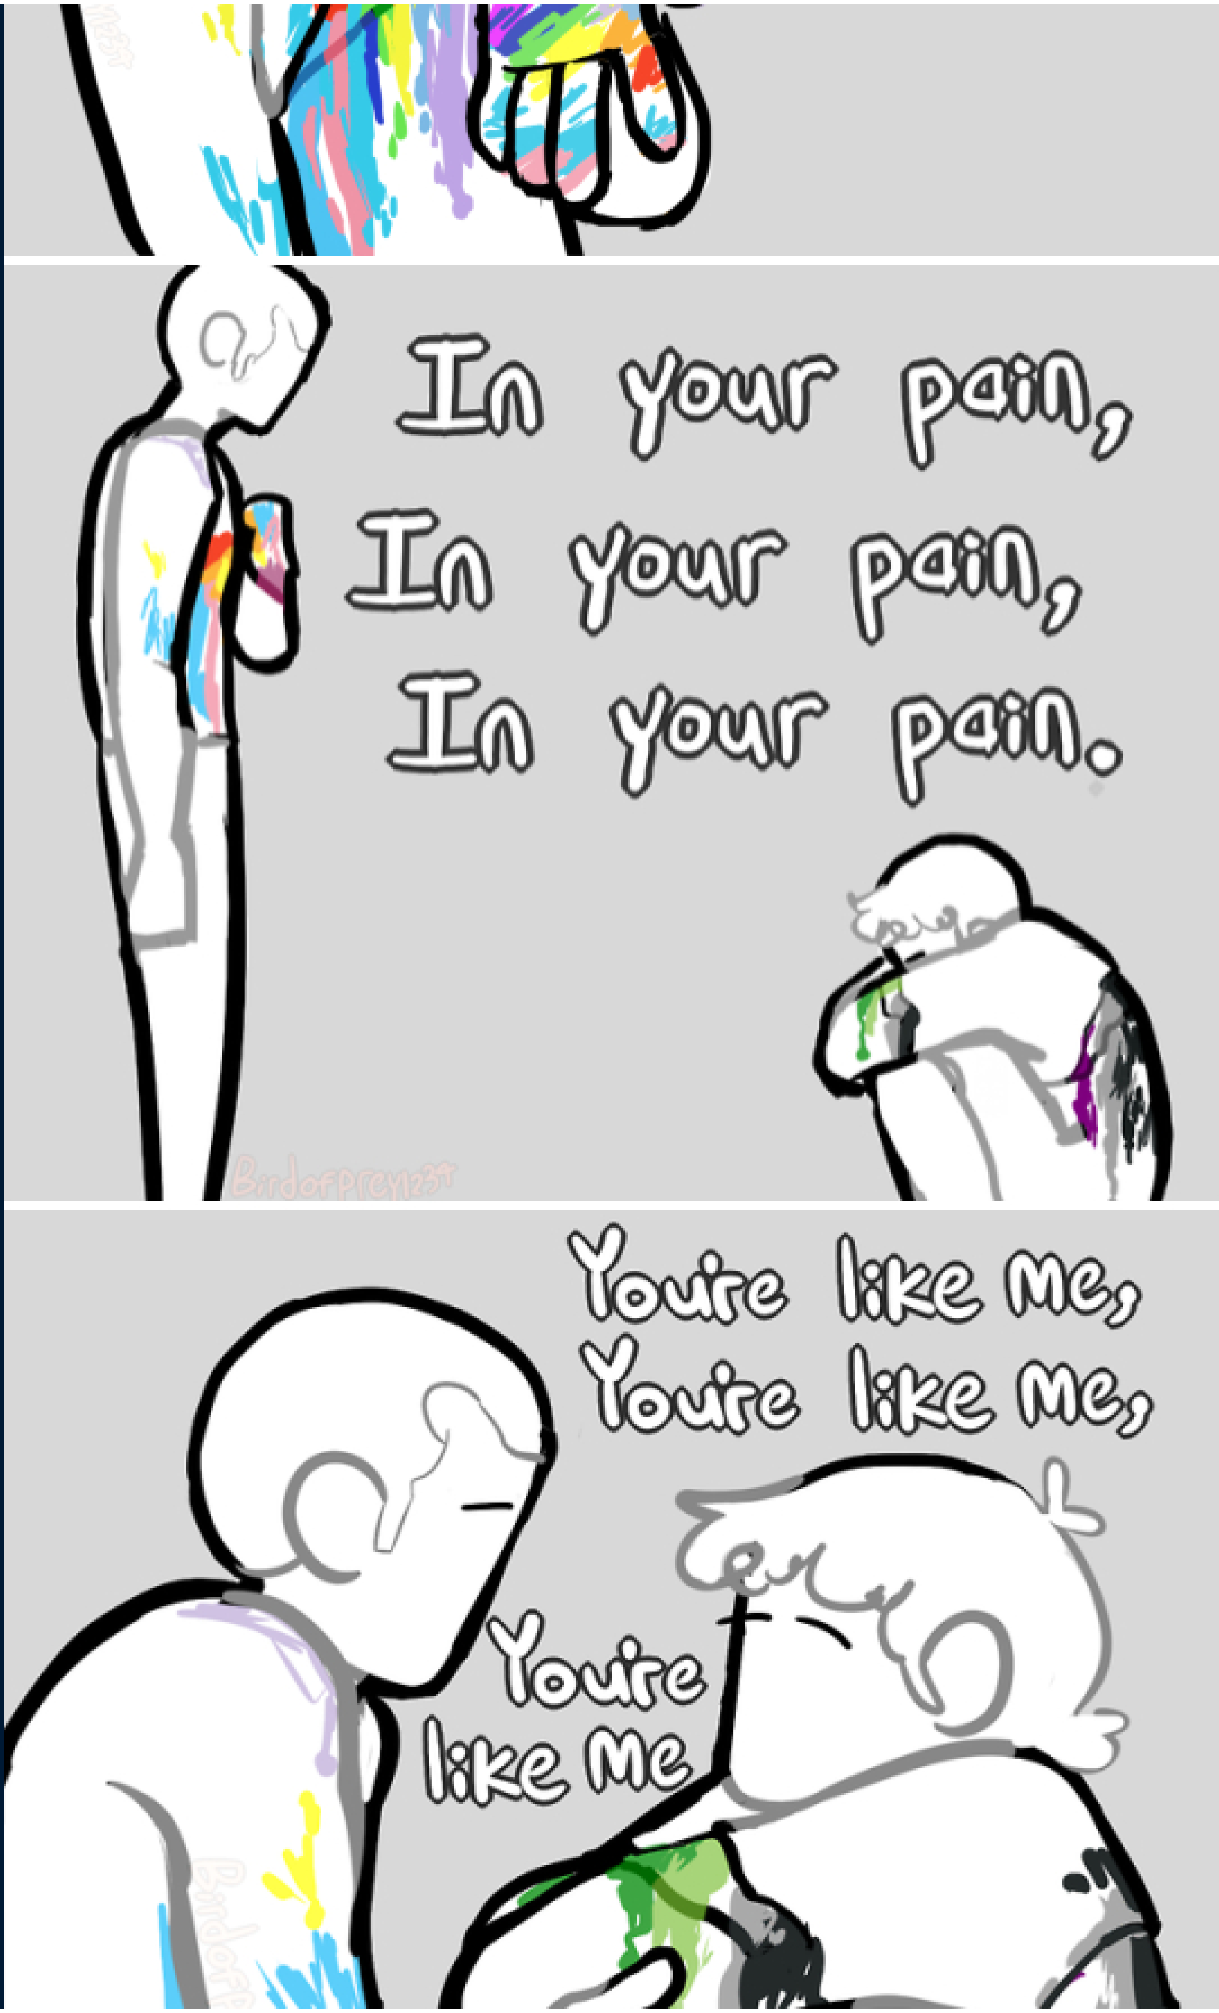
#she ra #she ra and the princesses of power #spop
#spop fanart

3,127 notes

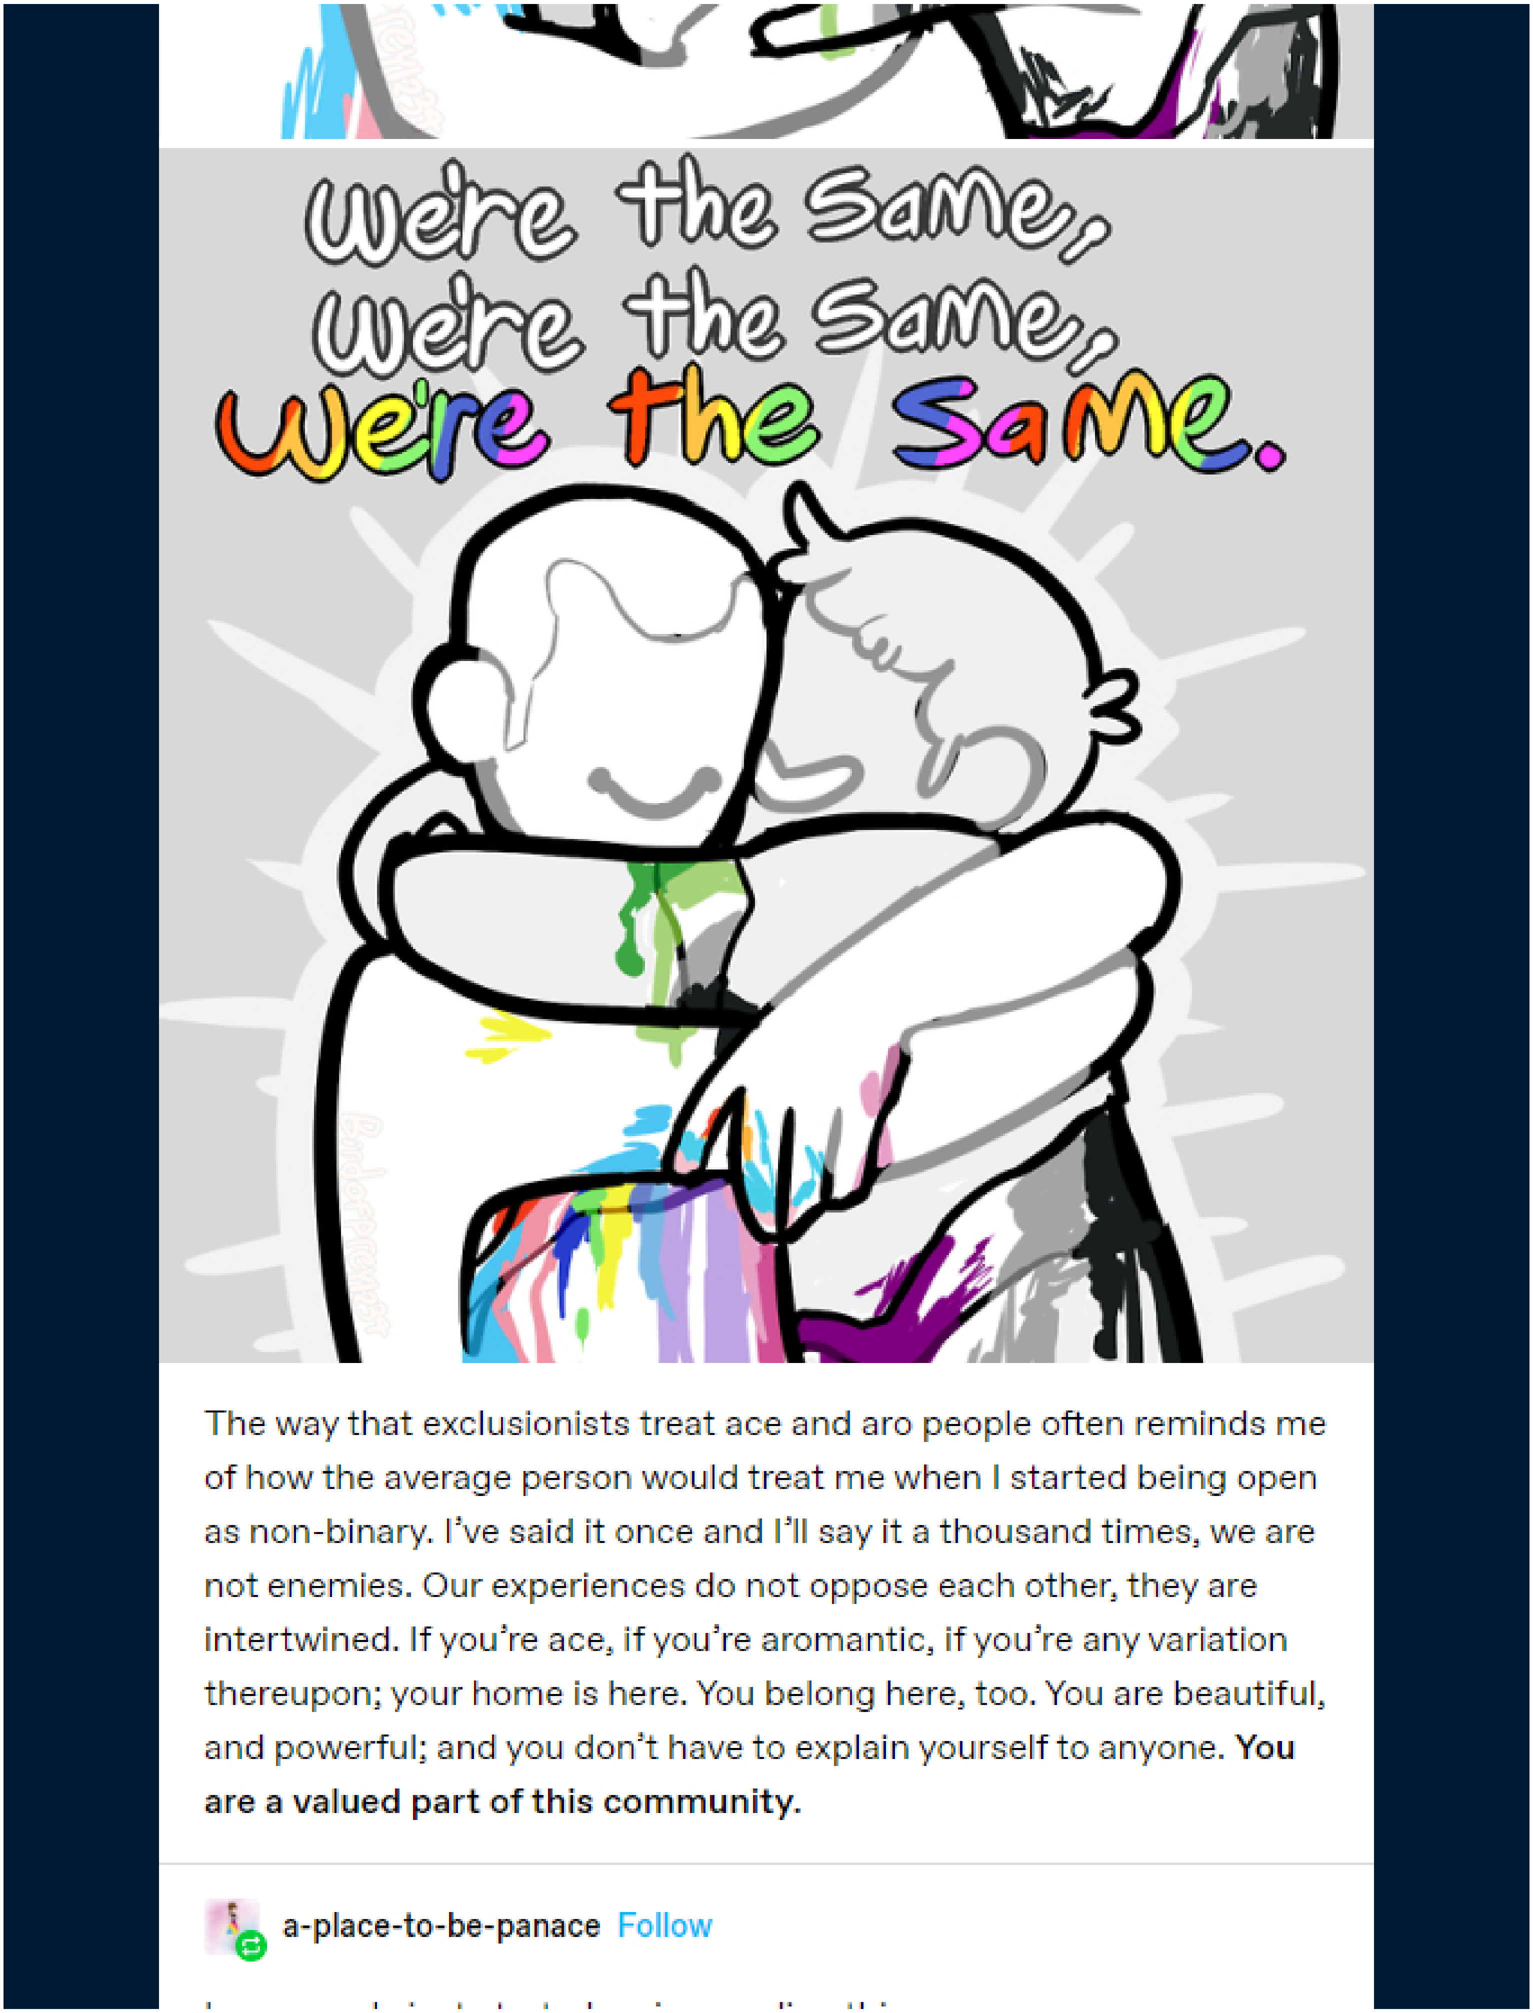
adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
disney-n-stuff

birdofprey1234 Follow

I believe,
I believe,
I believe



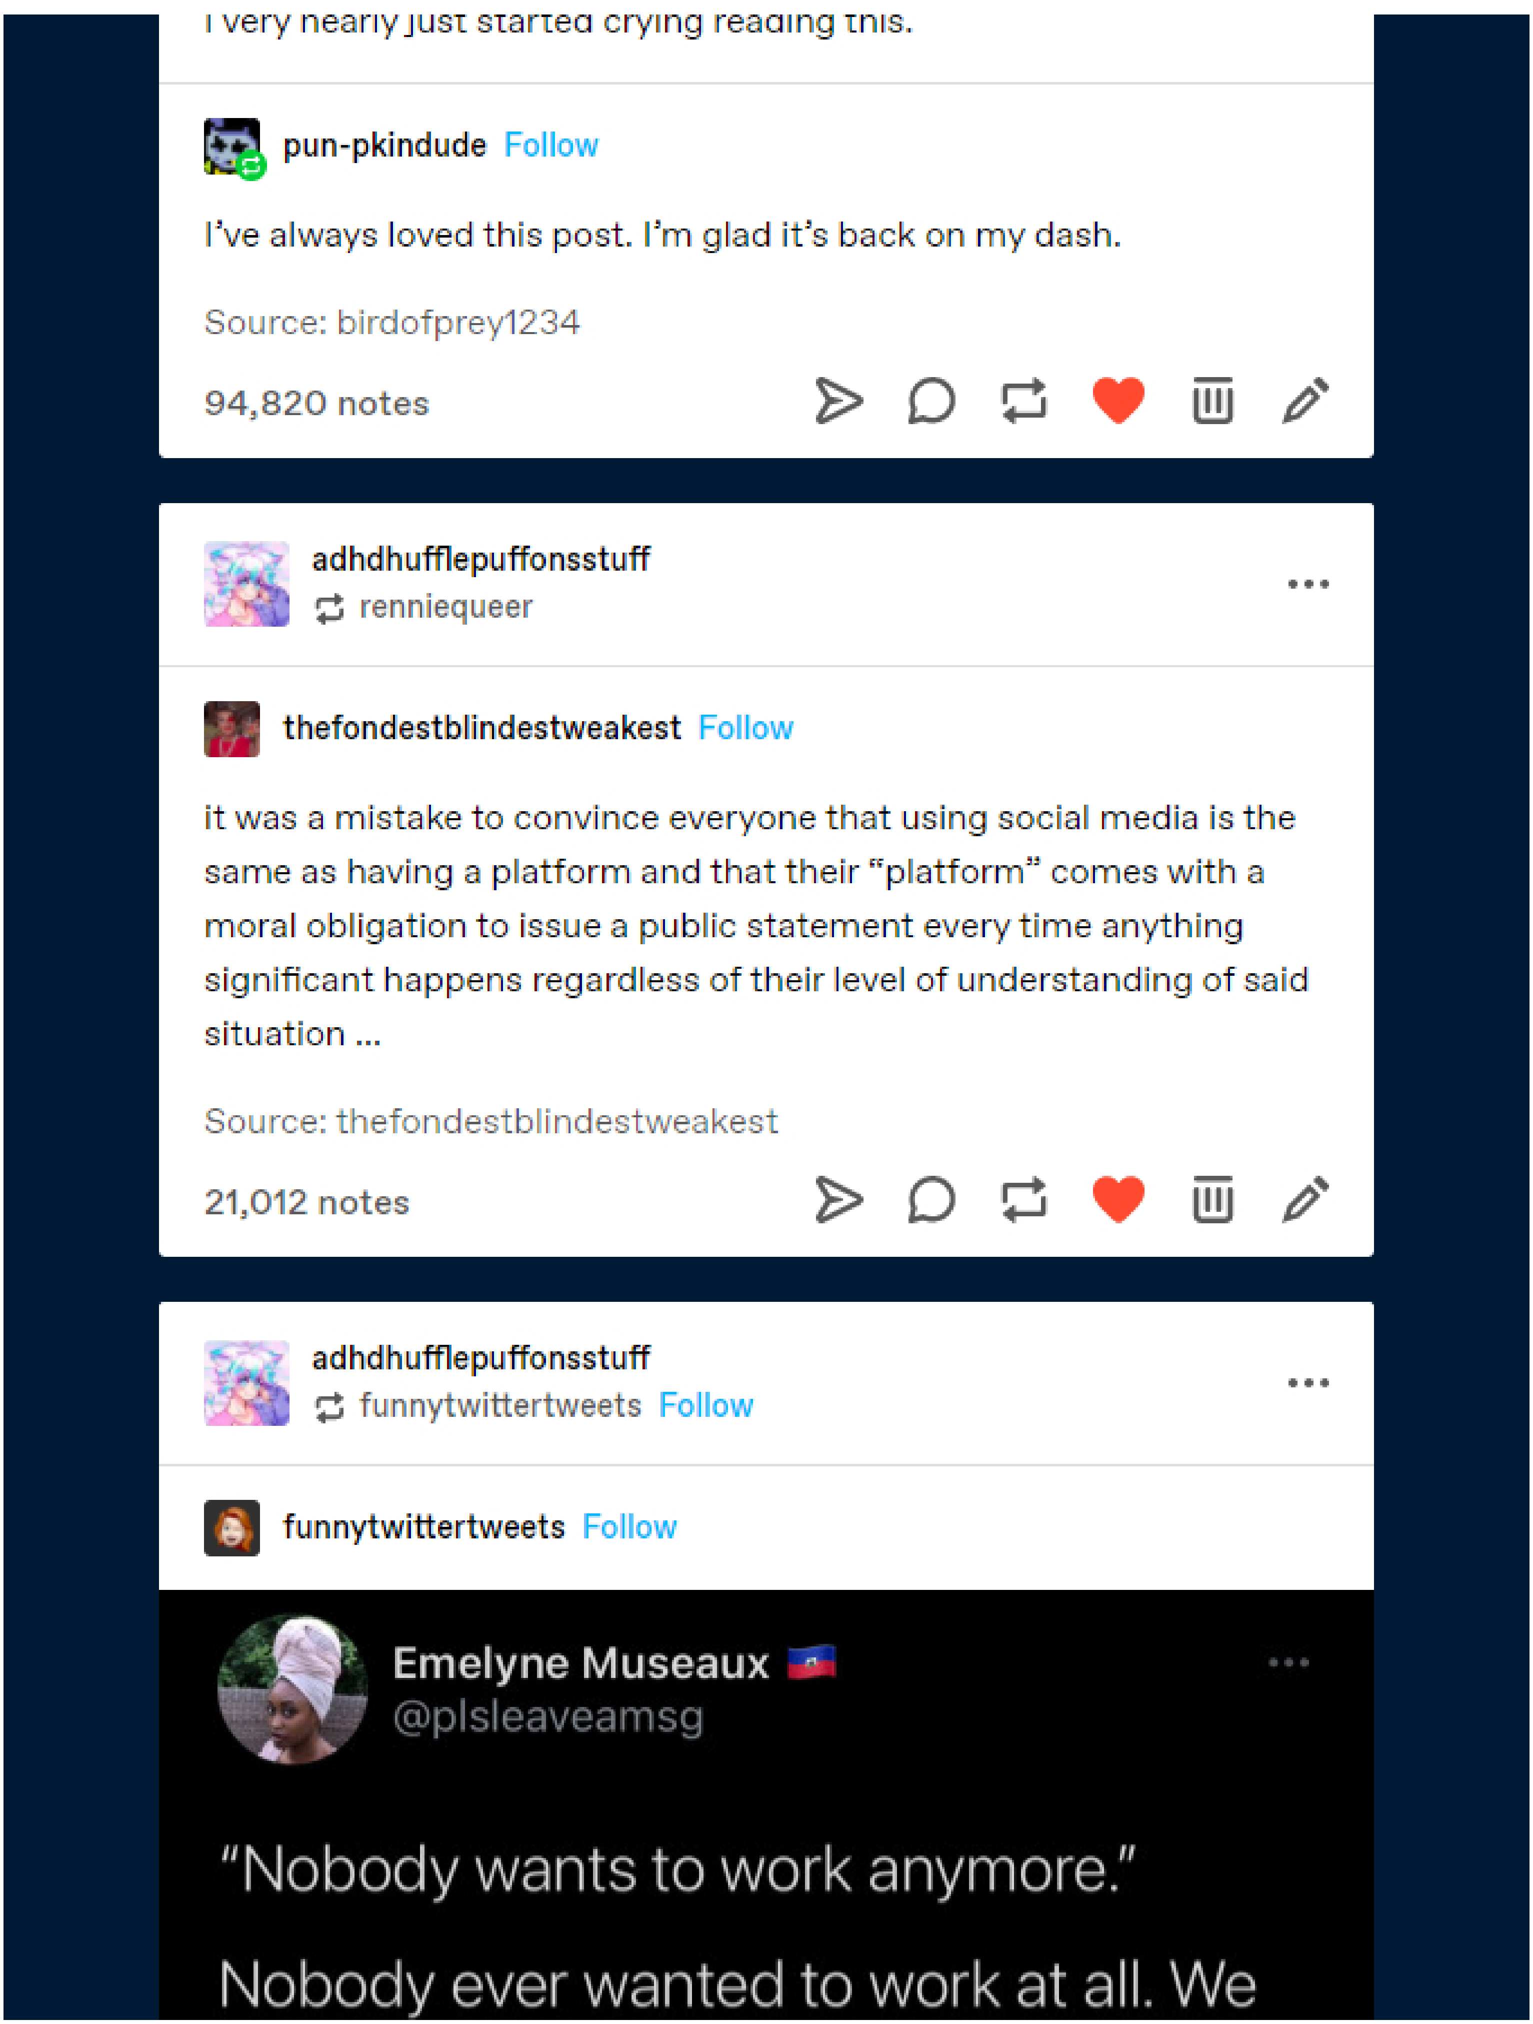
In your pain,
In your pain,
In your pain.
Youre like me,
Youre like me,
Youre like me



We're the same,
We're the same,
We're the same.

The way that exclusionists treat ace and aro people often reminds me of how the average person would treat me when I started being open as non-binary. I've said it once and I'll say it a thousand times, we are not enemies. Our experiences do not oppose each other, they are intertwined. If you're ace, if you're aromantic, if you're any variation thereupon; your home is here. You belong here, too. You are beautiful, and powerful; and you don't have to explain yourself to anyone. You are a valued part of this community.

a-place-to-be-panace
Follow



I very nearly just started crying reading this.

pun-pkindude Follow

I've always loved this post. I'm glad it's back on my dash.

Source: birdofprey1234

94,820 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
renniequeer

thefondestblindestweakest Follow

it was a mistake to convince everyone that using social media is the same as having a platform and that their "platform" comes with a moral obligation to issue a public statement every time anything significant happens regardless of their level of understanding of said situation ...

Source: thefondestblindestweakest

21,012 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
funnytwittertweets Follow

funnytwittertweets Follow

Emelyne Museaux 🇭🇹 @plsleaveamsg

"Nobody wants to work anymore."

Nobody ever wanted to work at all. We wanted to be productive, be creative, be part of a community, be supported, be validated, and have the time and space to truly rest. No one actually wants to trade in hours of their life to "earn" necessities.

6:15 PM · 2021-05-12 · Twitter for iPhone

24.5K Retweets 446 Quote Tweets 83.4K Likes

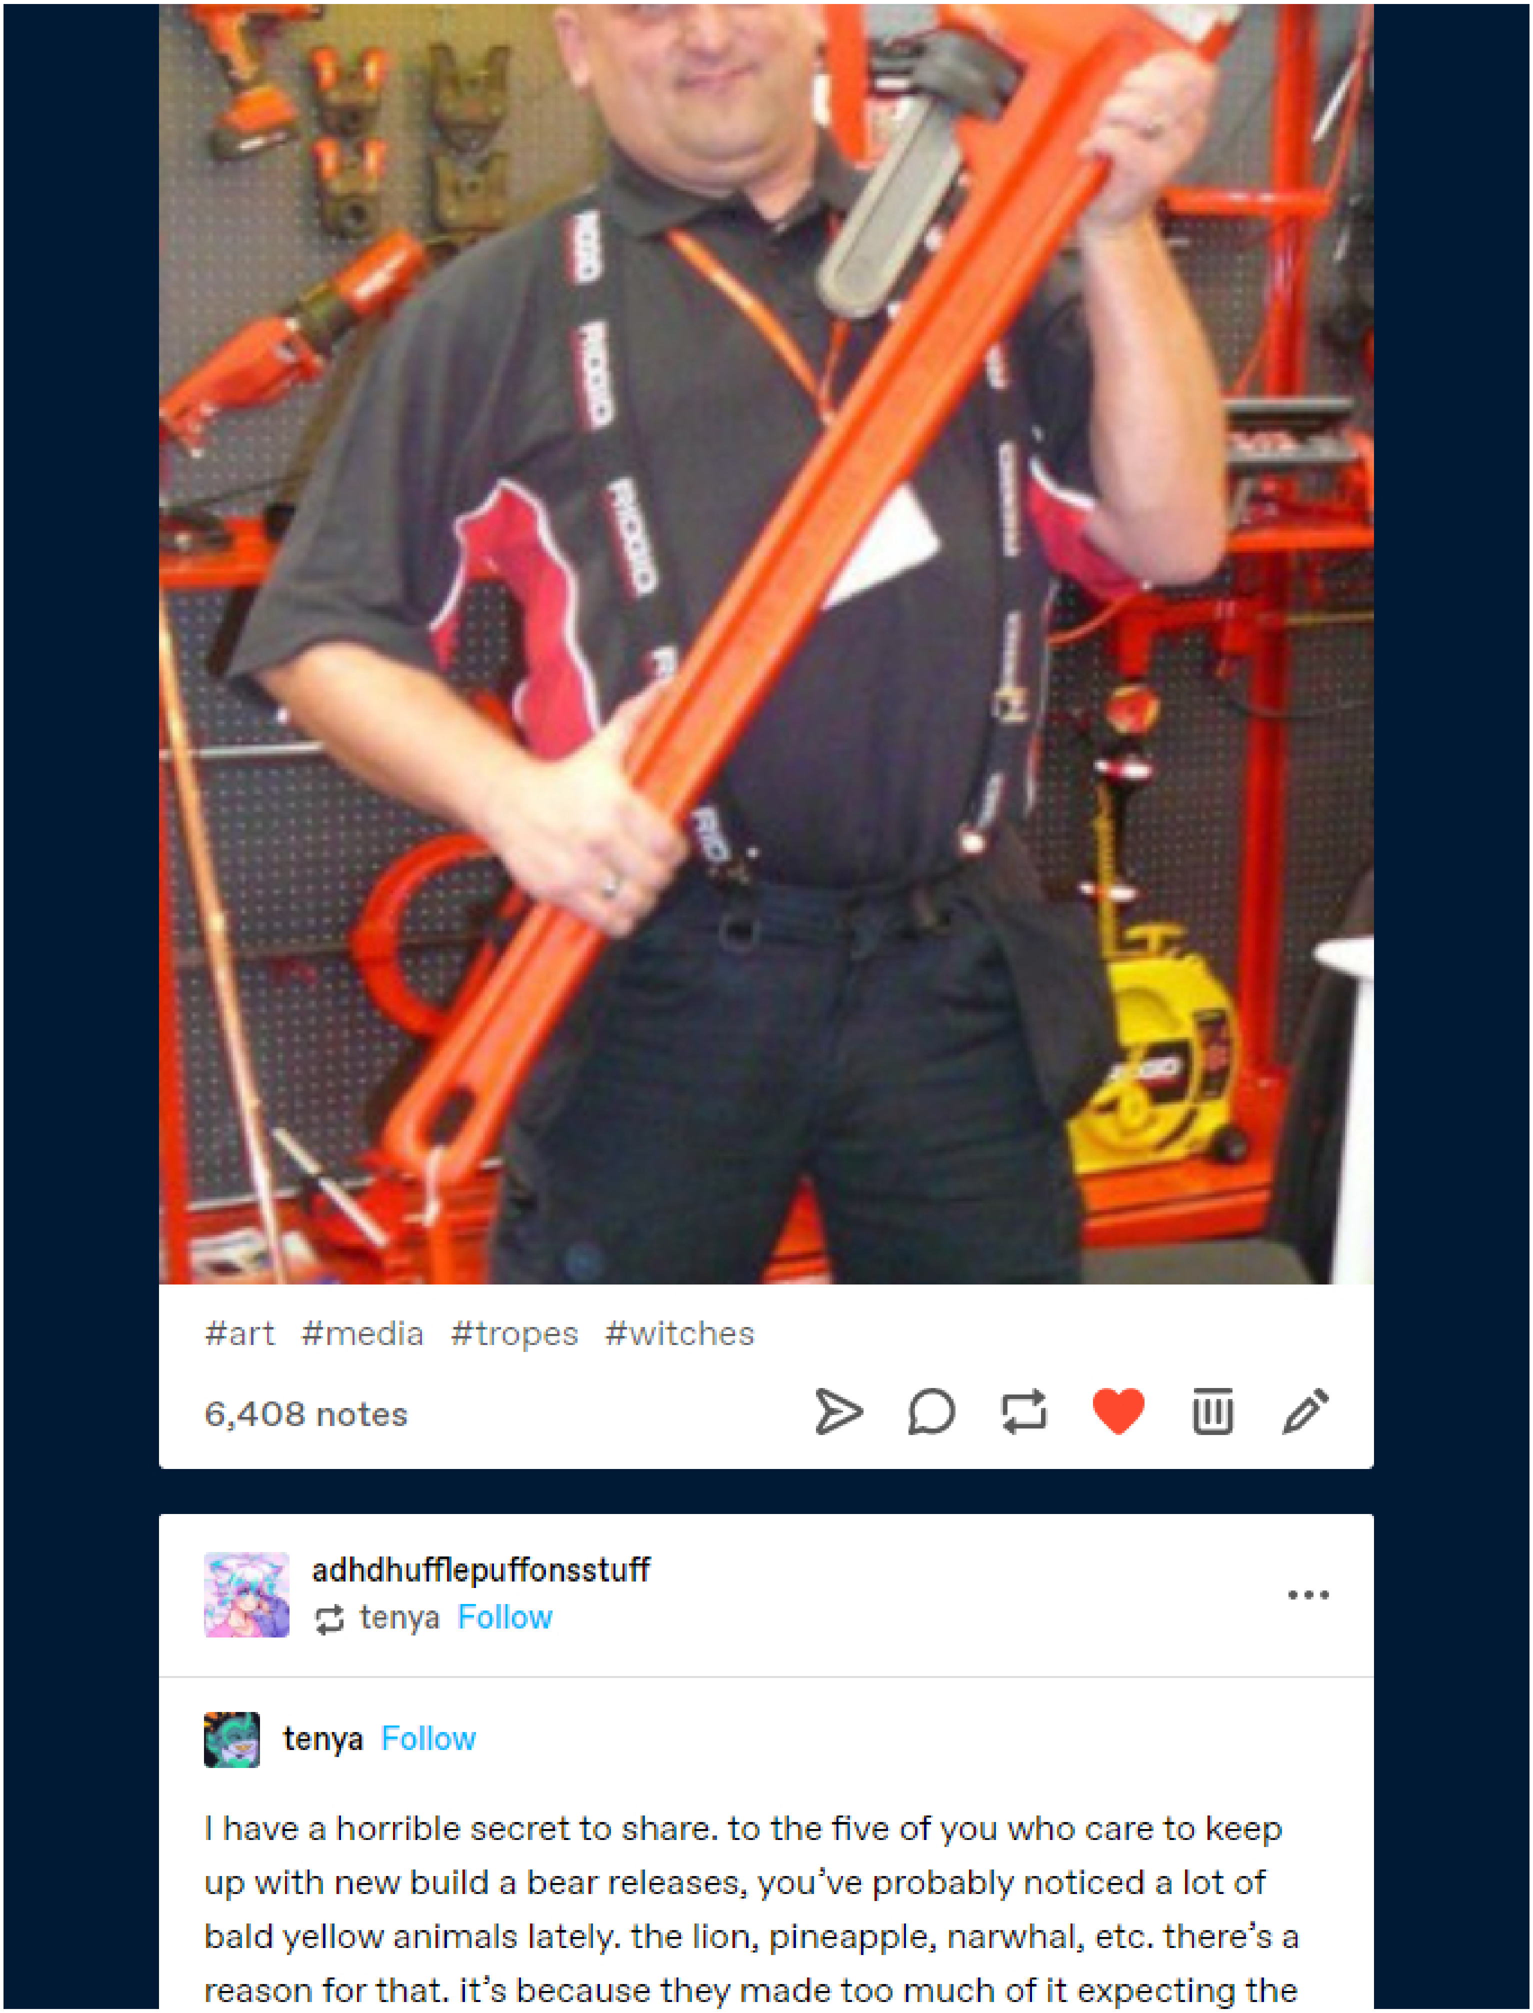
#awesome #meme #fresh memes #memes #tweet #twitter #tweets

30,105 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
prokopetz Follow

prokopetz Follow

Don't get me wrong, witches riding vaccuum cleaners are awesome, but why stop at household implements that are intended for indoor cleaning? I'd like to see grubby garden witches riding leaf-rakes. A stone-witch on a pickaxe. A plumbing-themed witch sitting sidesaddle on one of these:



#art #media #tropes #witches

6,408 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

tenya

tenya

I have a horrible secret to share. to the five of you who care to keep up with new build a bear releases, you've probably noticed a lot of bald yellow animals lately. the lion, pineapple, narwhal, etc. there's a reason for that. it's because they made too much of it expecting the minions from despicable me to sell well. but they didn't. so now they have all this extra yellow fabric to use. so all these new releases? yeah. they're made out of minion skin

63,004 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
danielbruhl Follow

daniellbruhl Follow

good morning/evening everyone, let's read news for toda-

Dracula's castle in Romania proves an ideal setting for Covid vaccinations

Vlad the vaccinator: Dracula's castle lures visitors with COVID-19 jabs

Dracula's Castle In Romania Lures Visitors With Free Covid Vaccine Shots

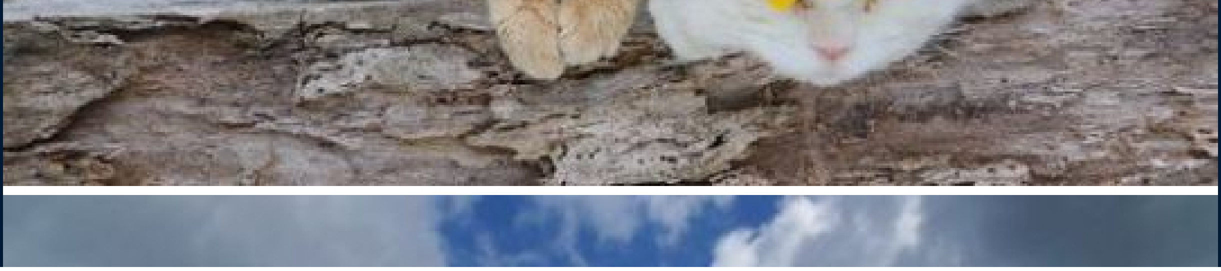
Dracula's castle is offering free Covid-19 vaccinations to anyone brave enough to visit

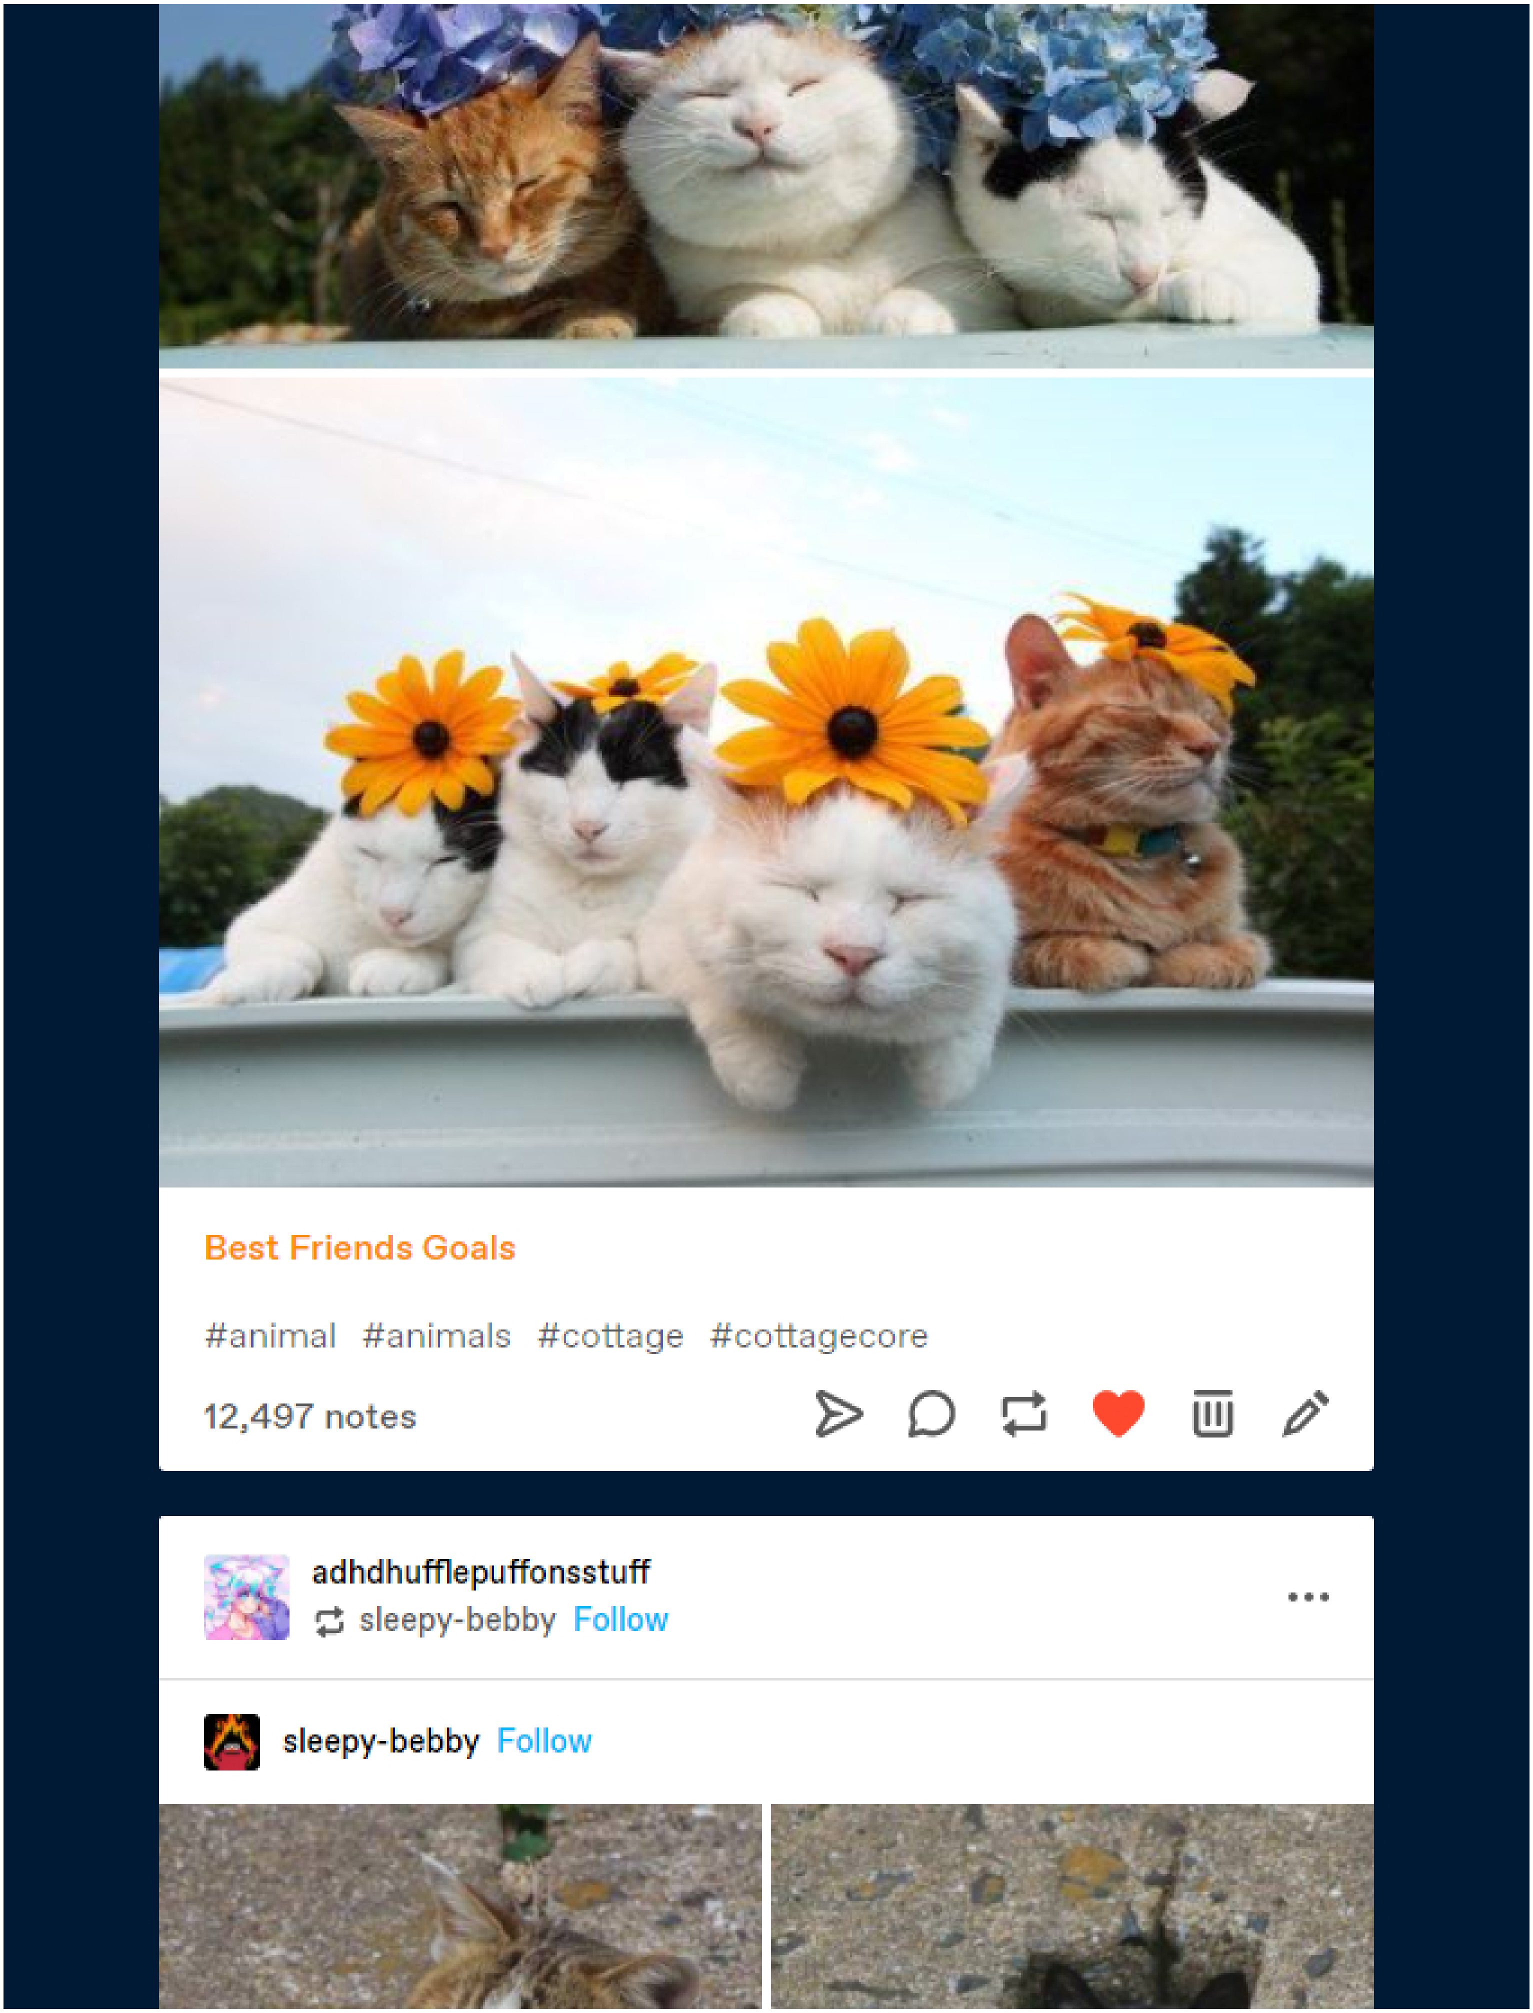
#misc stuff #current events #covid

52,827 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
aesthetic-animals Follow

aesthetic-animals Follow





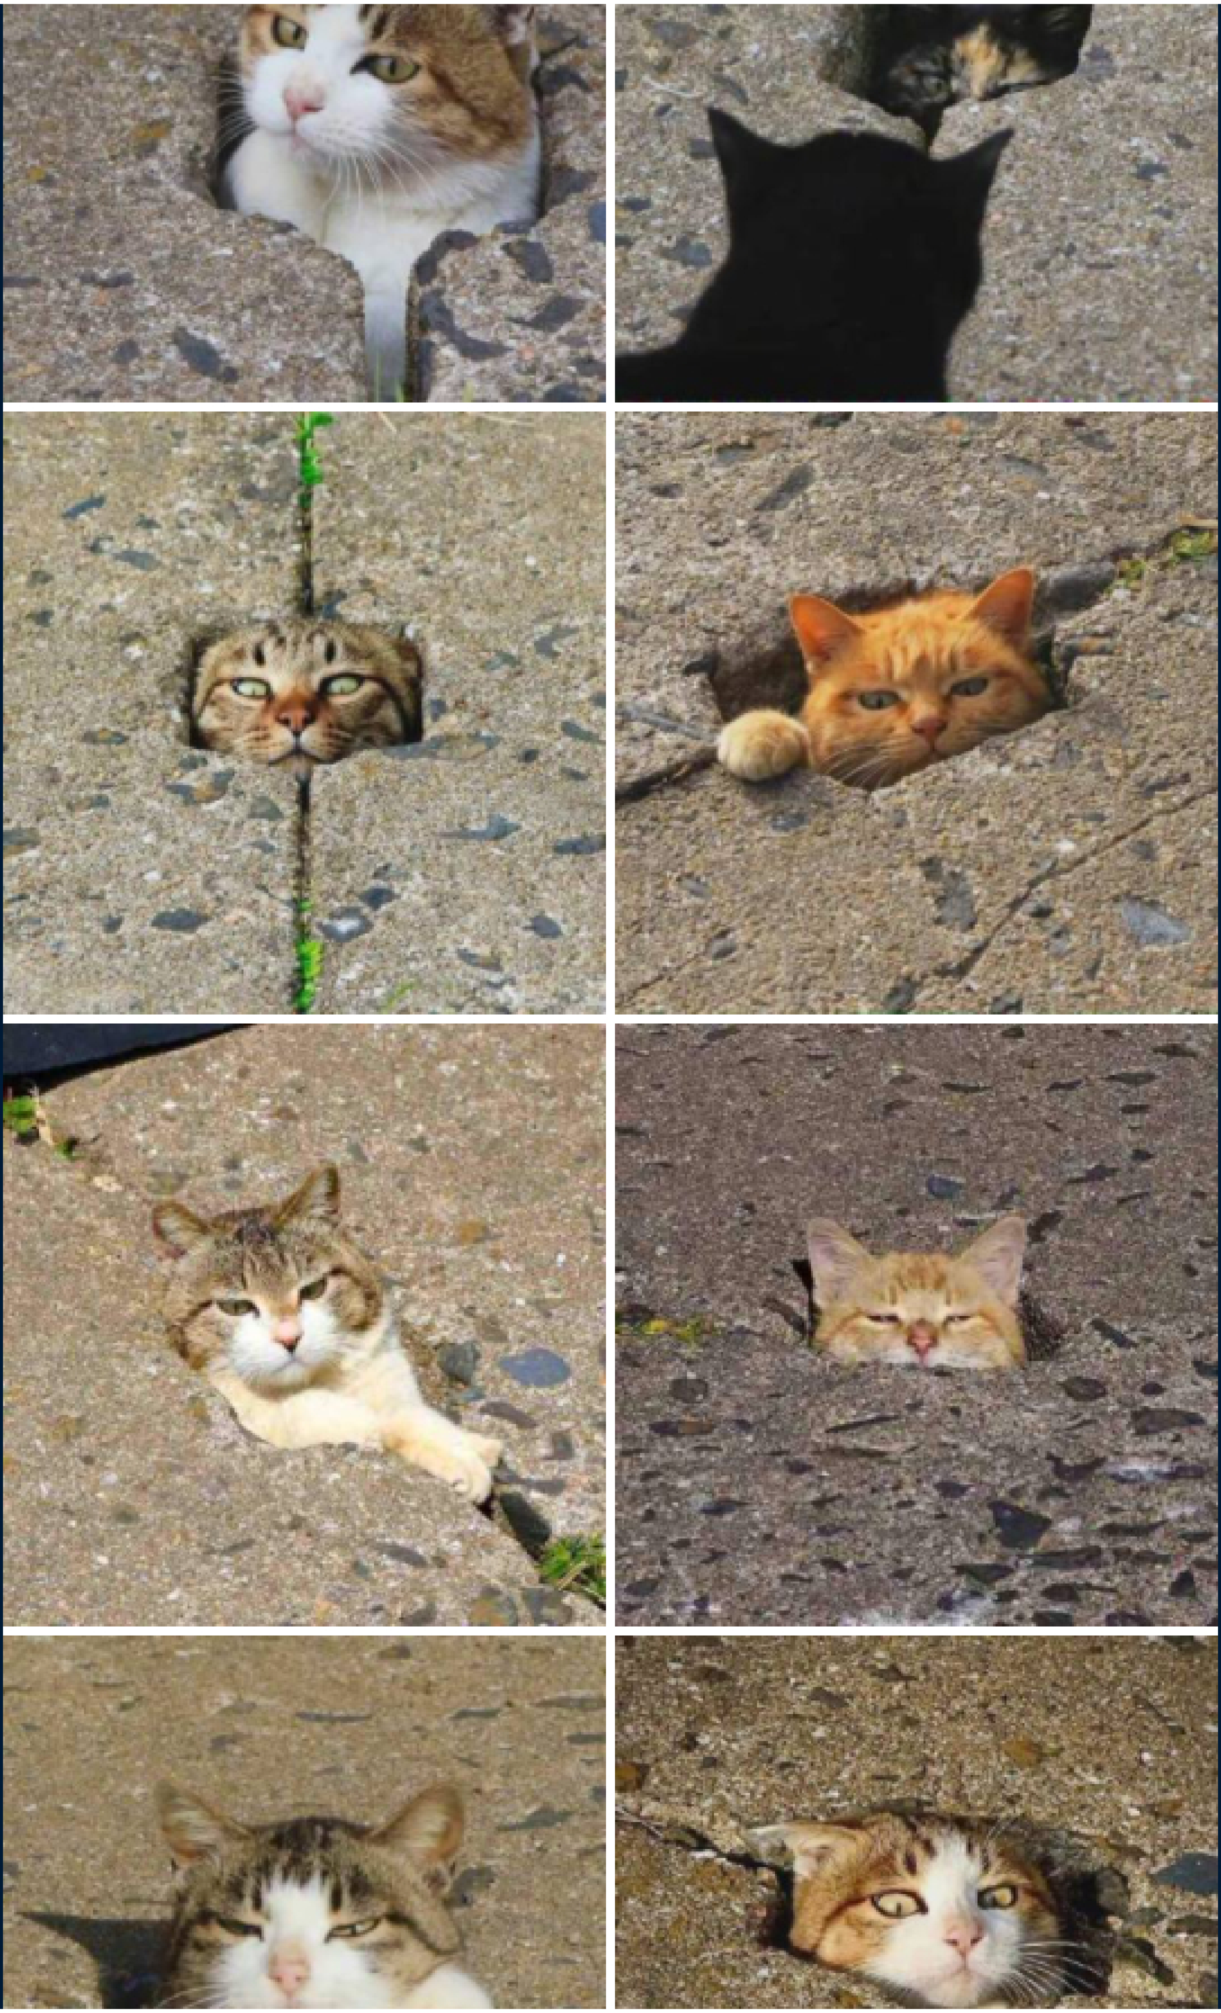
Best Friends Goals

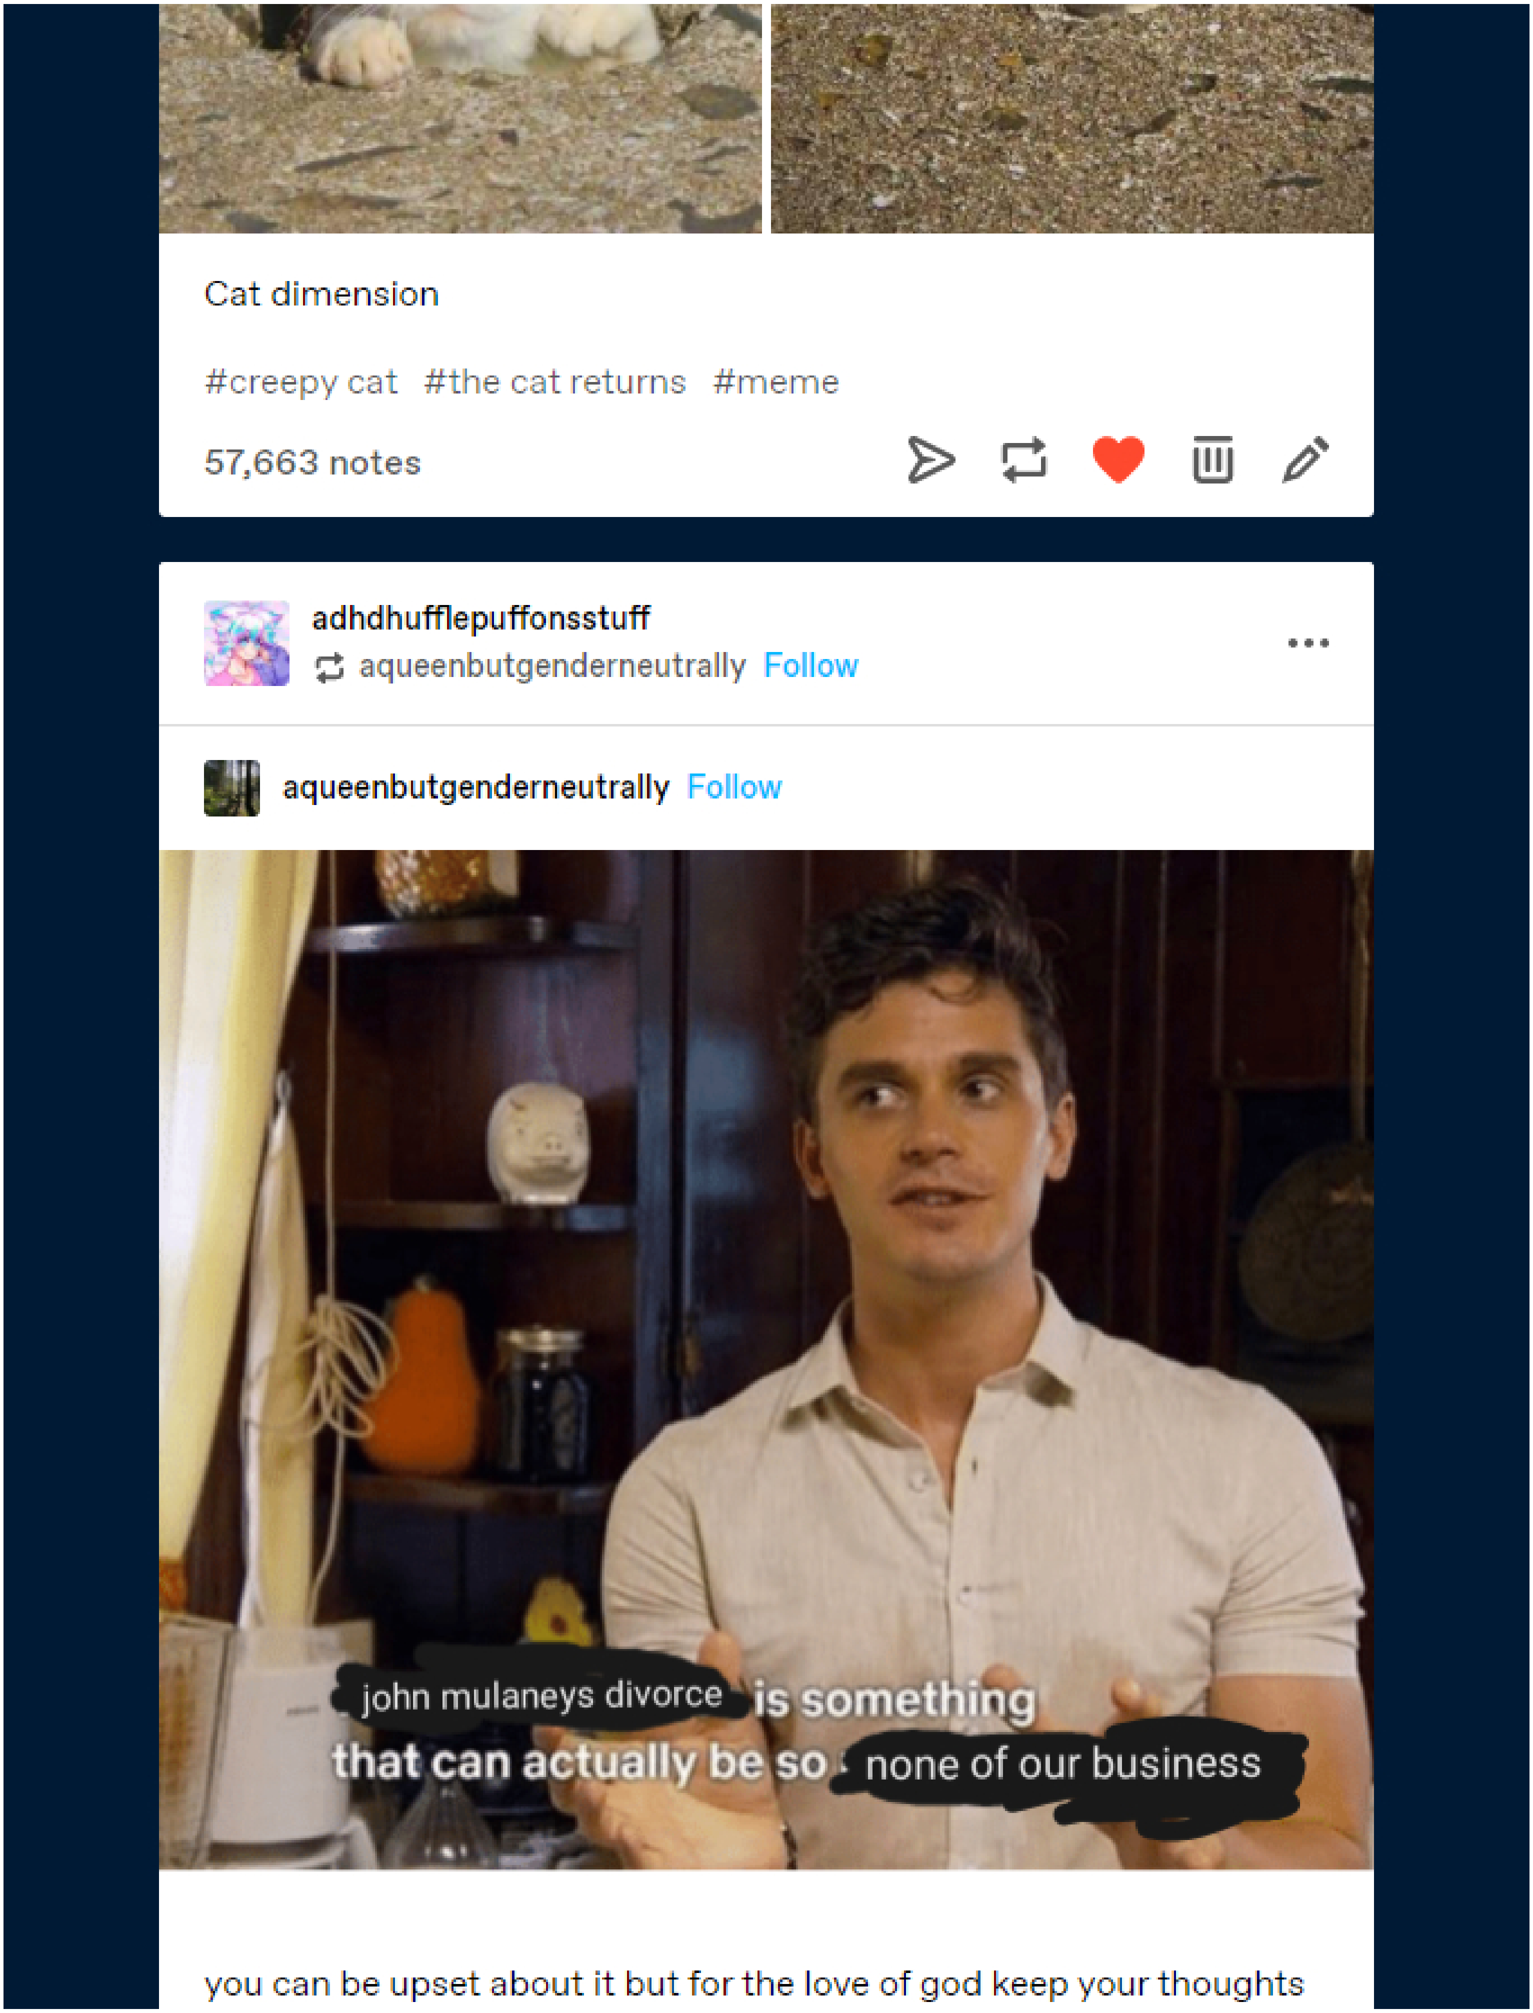
#animal #animals #cottage #cottagecore

12,497 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
sleepy-bebby Follow

sleepy-bebby Follow





Cat dimension

#creepy cat #the cat returns #meme

57,663 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
aqueenbutgenderneutrally Follow

aqueenbutgenderneutrally Follow

john mulaneys divorce is something that can actually be so none of our business

you can be upset about it but for the love of god keep your thoughts to yourself

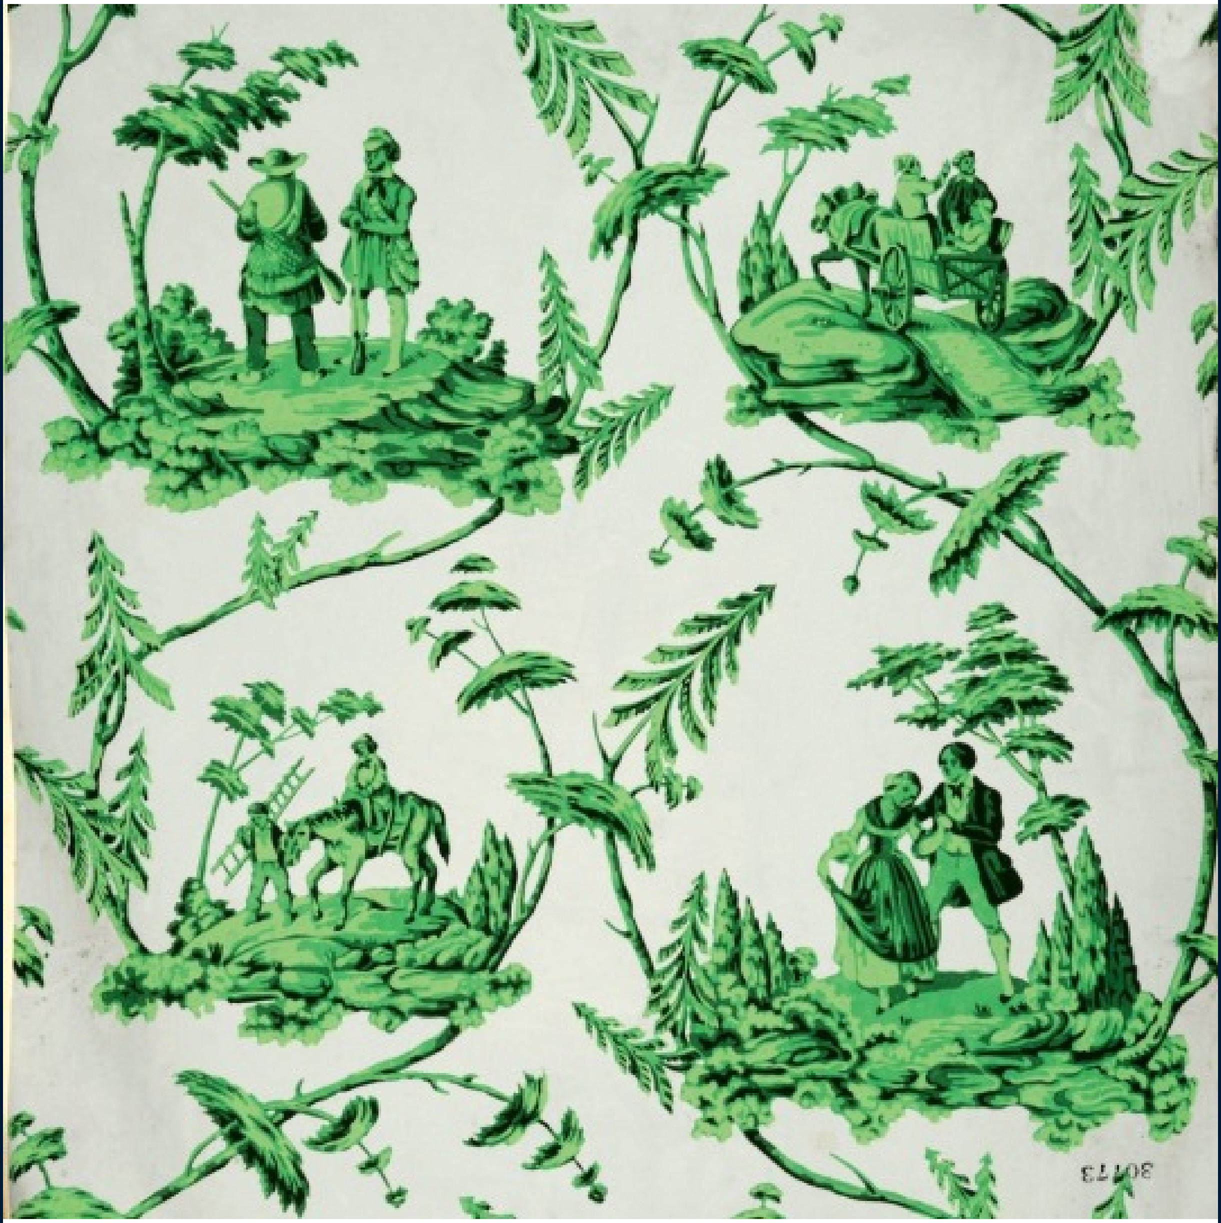
52,138 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
frozencranberries Follow

frozencranberries Follow

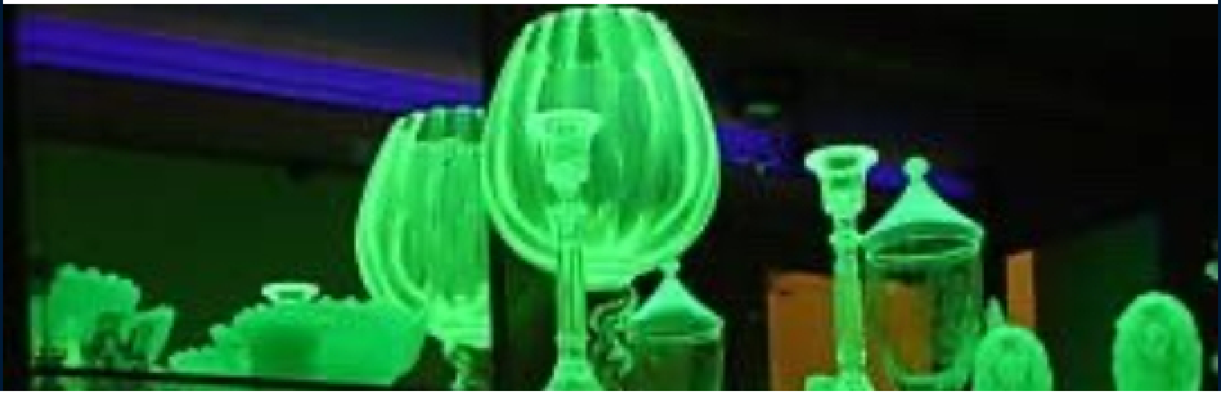
Welcome to my bathroom. Please make yourself at home. I assure you, you will sustain no long term damage from your stay. Now. Wouldn't you like to take a soak in my lovely bathtub?

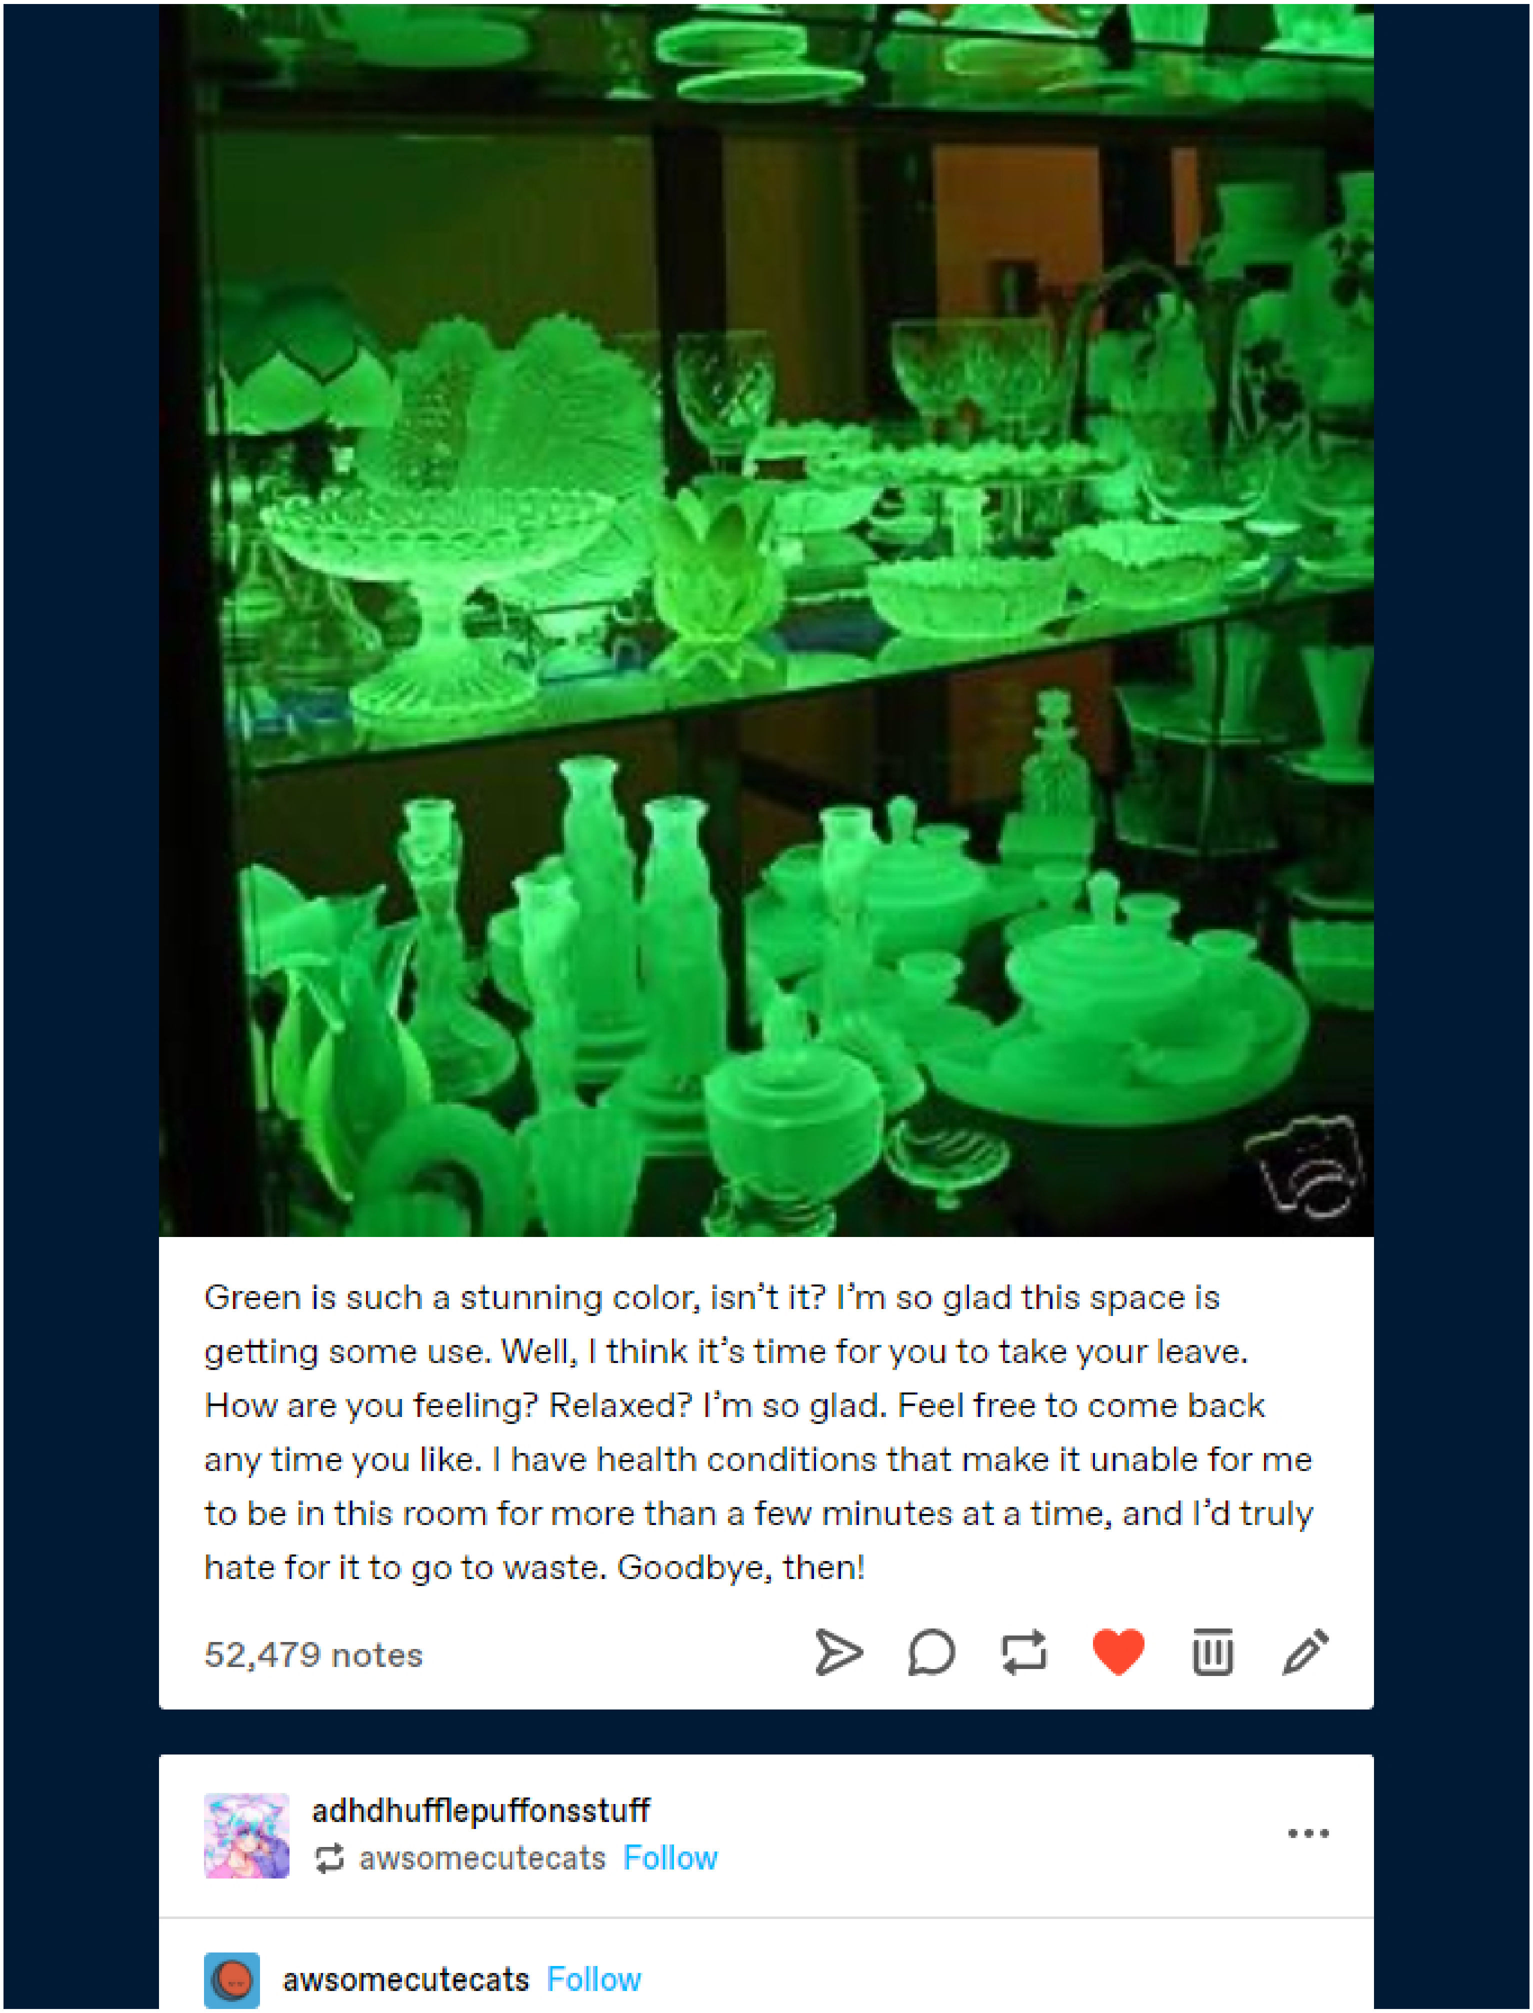
Isn't that comfortable! What's that? You like my wallpaper? I'm so glad!



I went to great lengths to acquire it. You see, they haven't made this color in centuries. But don't worry, i made sure this is genuine.

Now, would you like a cup of tea? You can pick a glass from my personal collection!





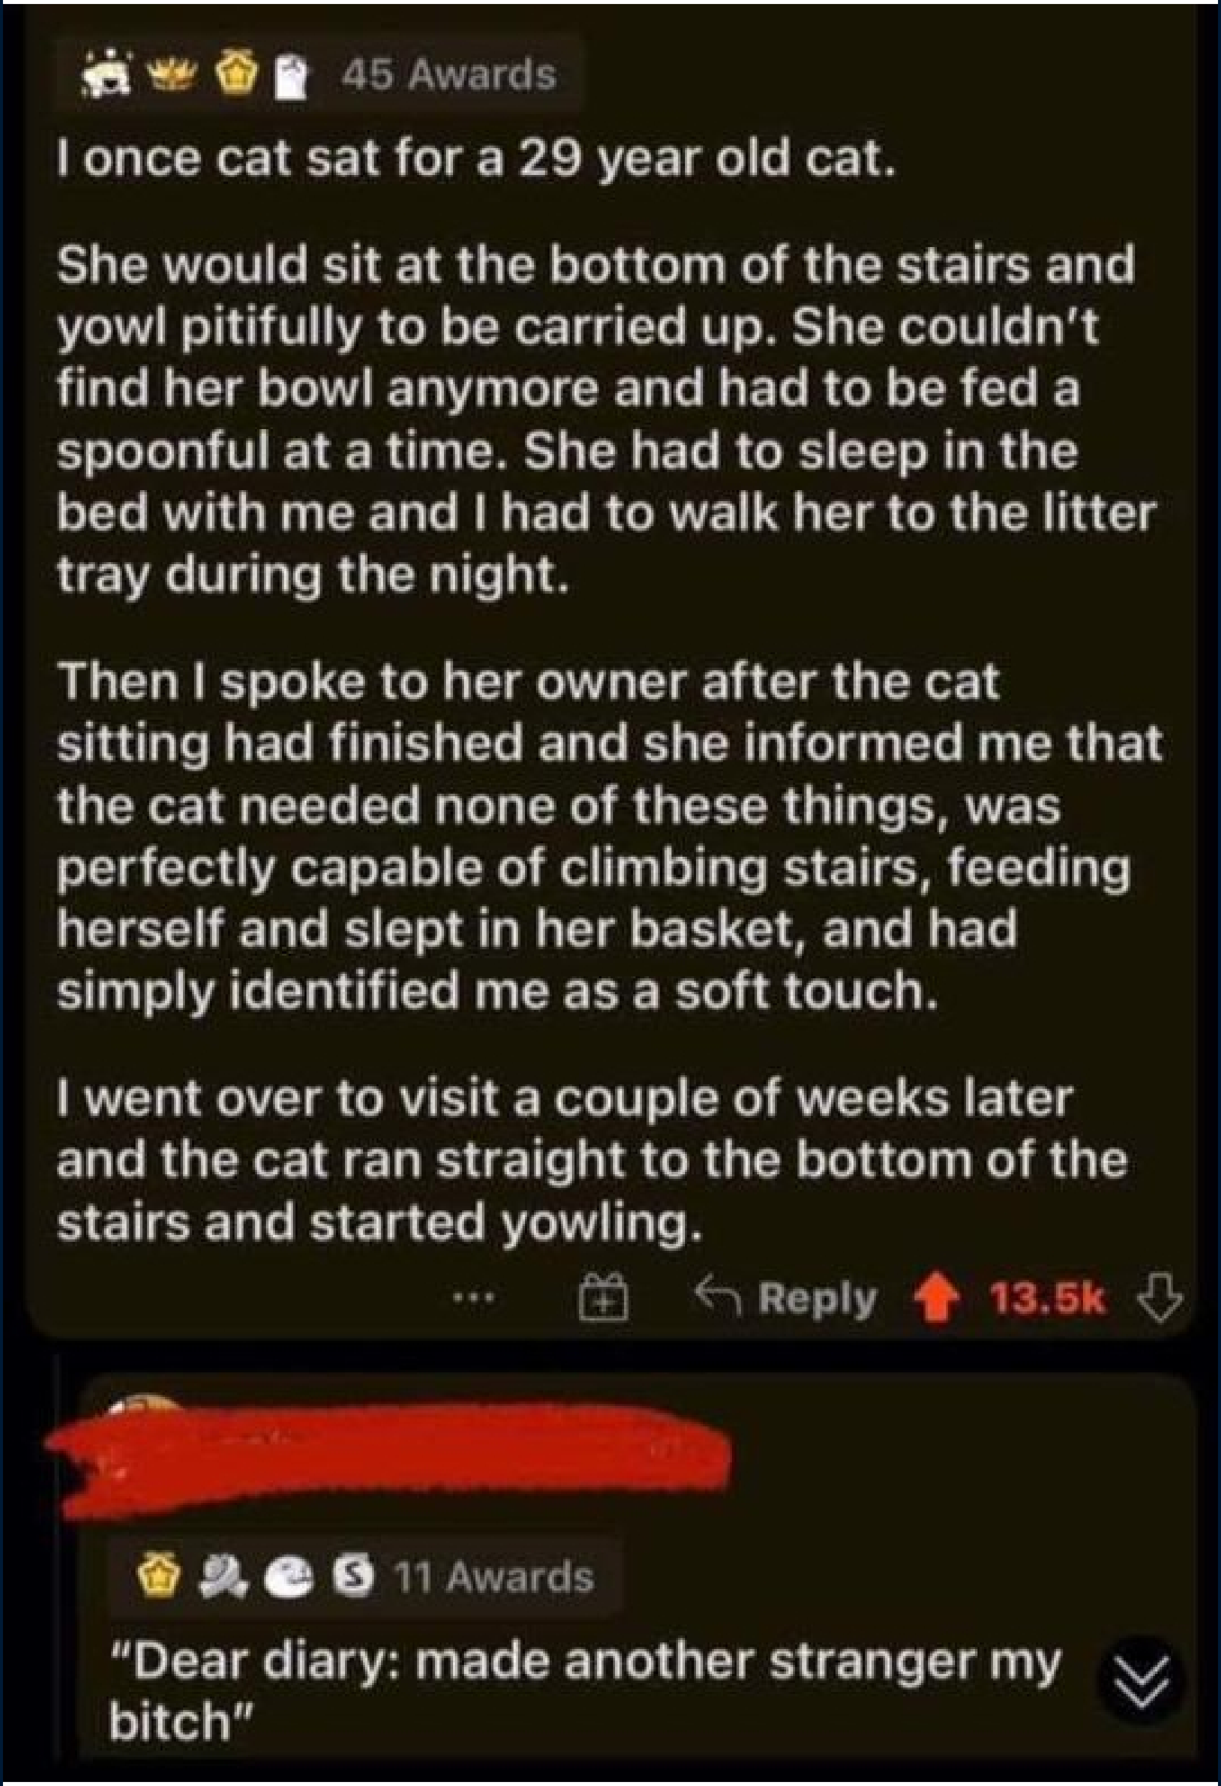
Green is such a stunning color, isn't it? I'm so glad this space is getting some use. Well, I think it's time for you to take your leave. How are you feeling? Relaxed? I'm so glad. Feel free to come back any time you like. I have health conditions that make it unable for me to be in this room for more than a few minutes at a time, and I'd truly hate for it to go to waste. Goodbye, then!

52,479 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

awsomecutecats Follow

awsomecutecats Follow



I once cat sat for a 29 year old cat.

She would sit at the bottom of the stairs and yowl pitifully to be carried up. She couldn't find her bowl anymore and had to be fed a spoonful at a time. She had to sleep in the bed with me and I had to walk her to the litter tray during the night.

Then I spoke to her owner after the cat sitting had finished and she informed me that the cat needed none of these things, was perfectly capable of climbing stairs, feeding herself and slept in her basket, and had simply identified me as a soft touch.

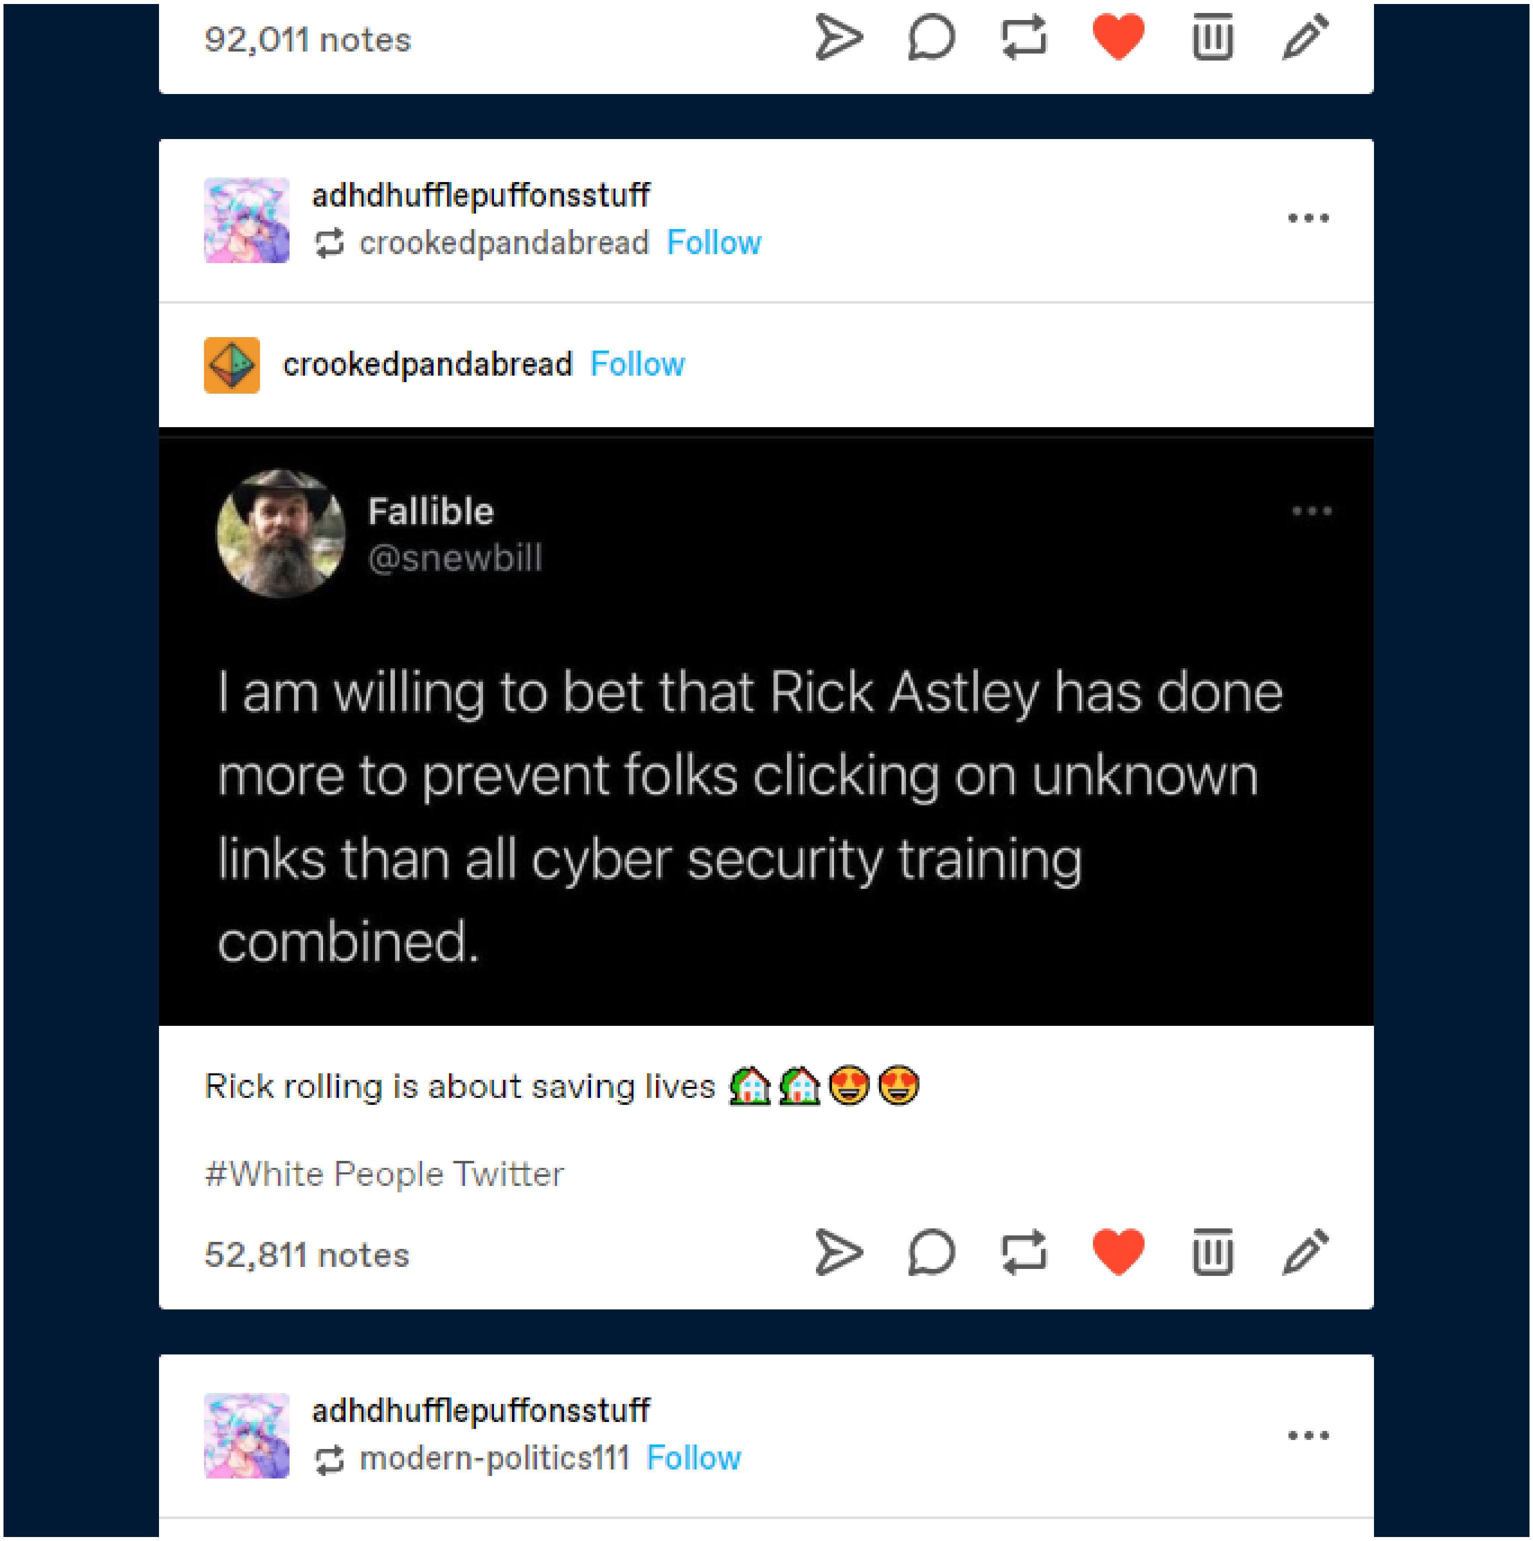
I went over to visit a couple of weeks later and the cat ran straight to the bottom of the stairs and started yowling.

[redacted]

"Dear diary: made another stranger my bitch"

I mean... who could resist...?

#cute #cats #cat #awsome #aww #animal



92,011 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
crookedpandabread Follow

crookedpandabread Follow

Fallible
@snewbill

I am willing to bet that Rick Astley has done more to prevent folks clicking on unknown links than all cyber security training combined.

Rick rolling is about saving lives 🏡🏡😍😍

#White People Twitter

52,811 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff modern-politics111 Follow